Carousel To Go Around Again

magazine articles), one Sunday in August, six of us went to Bristol, Conn., to his place of business."

They were impressed. Since sold, his business has moved to Ohio, destination of the Houghs Neck carousel equipment.

Dan Jones, driver of the huge truck which left Sunday morning, explained the work of restoration:

"We fix missing parts—carve them out of wood and replace them; replace of restore missing legs, repaint, put everything in working order. Some of the horses are worth $18,000 two years ago could make at least $50,000 today."

It was the mutual decision of the DeAngelis children to make this move. Three are still Houghs Neck residents: Clementine (Mrs. Robert) Brill of Central Ave.; Joseph DeAngelis of Shennens St., a contractor, and Gerry DeAngelis, still living in the Fensmere Ave. home. Genevieve "Jennie" Smith lives in Westwood; Dominick DeAngelis, Jr. now of Abington, is the owner in Quincy of J&D Electronics and Video Cove. John DeAngelis lives in Quincy and Ann DeCose, in Brockton.

There are now 22 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The carousel was erected on a section of Houghs Neck once known as Pandora Park, opposite the Quincy Yacht Club. Here stood the Pandora Hotel which became the Fensmere, and later still The Taylor Hotel. It was near the Taylor Ballroom, later DiMarzio's Roller Rink.

The life dream of Dominick DeAngelis was to own and operate a merry-go-round and amusement center. The Houghs Neck carousel was his third and final venture. He was born in 1891 in Torre Noce Pro Aullino, Italy, according to a family heritage essay written by his grandson, the late Robert Brill.

When Dominick was 13, he came to the United States and lived in Boston with an aunt. He worked every day in carnivals, and saved his money. At age 18, he had saved enough to buy a taxi cab, and he became "No. 1," the first licensed "hackey" driver in Boston.

Again he saved his money. Soon he was able to buy slot machines which he distributed at stores throughout Boston. Saving continued as his dream was to one day own his very own carnival. That dream came true some 15 years later.

At age 33, still unmarried, he had saved enough to have his first merry-go-round made by Spillman Engineering Co. in North Tonawanda, N.Y. There were hand-carved "extras" on the animals, and other touches which made the whole carousel very special. He leased land in the Bryantville section of Pembroke, Mayflower Grove. This did very well, but was destroyed by fire.

Soon he was able to borrow money with which he bought Glen Echo Park in Stoughton. There were 35 acres of land, a pond with a boathouse, dance hall, and a hotel—along with an arcade and carousel. Now, at age 39, he married 18-year old Antonetta in 1930, shortly after the stockmarket crash of 1929. Most of his savings were exhausted by 1934, and after the worst summer ever with rain every weekend, he could not borrow even the $60, mortgage payments. The bank foreclosed and sold at auction Glen Echo Park, now worth millions, for a mere $4,000.

The DeAngelis family moved to Roslindale and later to Hyde Park. Dominick rented the first floor of a grocery store and continued to distribute pinball machines. In 1936, Dominick opened a roller skating rink in Swansea. Unfortunately, swept into the ocean during the hurricane of 1938.

By 1940, however, Dominick was able to open another carousel, this time in Quincy where he leased land in Houghs Neck. This venture never made a lot of money—10 cents a ride, three for a quarter. Outdoor movies were shown on summer nights for another small fee. However, he did save enough to build a house on Fensmere Ave. beside the carousel. Here the family lived in summer.

"SILVER" A CAROUSEL STEED of the 1940's was renewed several years ago at a cost of $2,000 to be the companion of bed-ridden Mrs. Antonetta DeAngelis, wife of the late builder of the Houghs Neck Carousel.

Cheney Wants Carousel In Quincy

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney would like very much to see the former Houghs Neck carousel remain in Quincy.

"It could be here in Quincy Square as part of the revitalization of the Downtown area," Cheney said. "Or at the former Quincy Lumber Yard site, which the Metropolitan District Commission is considering taking by eminent domain for a park."

"I feel it is important to preserve this as part of Quincy's heritage. Since Quincy is observing 100 years as a City," he continued, "it should do all it can to encourage preservation of its past and to assist the (DeAngelis) family to take this offer. We have already lost too much of our history."

He said he would approach George Riley, president of the Quincy Business and Professional group, with this idea.

Again, last Saturday, family and friends were on hand to help move the animals and equipment from storage into the truck which took them away. Councillor Cheney was among the helpers.

Possible Quincy locations have been suggested. If not restored to its original site in Houghs Neck, then perhaps

'Long Count' For Plan E Ballot

Ballots cast in Quincy's second Plan E election went through a 16th counting some 64 hours after the poll closed with none of the 31 candidates for City Council reaching the 3,093 vote quota.

Top man was David J. Crowley with 2,585.

Others in the running for the seven seats on the Council were Amelio Della Chiesa, Edna B. Austin, Carl W. Anderson, Frank N. Orcutt, Alfred G. Helfrich, J. Frederick Cutler and David S. McIntosh.

Those with faint hope remaining were Herbert A. Shaughnessey, Robert A. Zottoli, L. Paul Marini, William A. Anderson, John M. Gillis, Thomas J. Maloney and Richard J. Koch.

Thomas J. Gilmartin was eliminated from contention just before the lunch break for counters on Friday.

Also ruled defeated and their ballots redistributed were Irving N. Allen, Louis K. Badger, James Barnett, Frederick W. Carson, Robert E. Duke, Kenneth G. Gardner, John Kolson, Joseph P. McDonough, Mario J. Praderio, Lawrence J. Purtell, Ernest W. Ricker, Guy R. Sargent, James A. Shannon, George C. Smith Jr. and Vernon C.M. Whitman.

Joseph DeGuglielmo, a Cambridge city councillor and authority on proportional representation elections, was assisting City Clerk Hattiemay Thomas in supervising the complicated count.

Sun Publisher Speaker At Jewish War Veterans Breakfast Honoring Siciliano

Henry Bosworth, editor and publisher of The Quincy Sun, will be the guest speaker when the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post honors Anthony "Tony" Siciliano as its "Citizen of The Year."

The award will be presented at a 9:30 a.m. breakfast Sunday at Beth Israel Synagogue, Quincy Point.

Invited guests will include Mayor Francis McCauley, Sen. Paul Harold, past recipients of the award, friends of Siciliano and members of the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post.

Past Commander Irving Isaacson, program chairman, will be the emcee and will present the "Citizen of The Year Award" plaque to Siciliano.

Siciliano, who is Quincy Auxiliary Police Chief and Deputy Director of Civil Defense, will be honored for distinguished service to the community in those two posts and "for his concern for his fellow man."

Bosworth, who founded The Quincy Sun 20 years ago, is a past recipient of the Citizen of The Year Award. He served with the Navy aboard the destroyer USS Coggswell in the South Pacific during World War II.

He has been co-chairman of the Quincy-South Shore Jewish Telethon Committee based at The Quincy Sun for the past 12 years. He and the late Richard J. Koch, chairman, and their committee representing various organizations in the community raised more than $1 million to fight muscular dystrophy.

Quincy Junior College Open House Nov. 16

Quincy Junior College will hold its annual Fall Open House on Wednesday, Nov. 16, from 6 to 8 p.m. in Coddington Hall, 34 Coddington St., Quincy Center.

Faculty members from all of the programs offered by the Junior College will be on hand to present program information and to answer questions. Director of Financial Aid, Elizabeth Goreham, will present a financial aid workshop at 6:30 p.m. in room 303. At 7 Scott Greenberg, the Director of Evening and Summer Sessions will lead a workshop on how to return to College. A drawing for a free course, worth up to $175 will be held. Registration can be done at the reception desk at Coddington Hall.

Those attending the Open House will be able to see demonstrations from some of the programs as well as receiving information about course requirements, major and financial aid. Graduate tours of both college buildings will be held. Also registration will be open for the Spring Semester for anyone wishing to register for courses. Free refreshments will be served.

There will be supervised play set up where parents can leave their children with students in QJC's Learning Childhood Education program.

Open House is an opportunity for those in the community to learn first-hand about the courses of study available at the college. For more information call the Admissions Office at 924-1700.

Class Of 1988 To Be Polled On Career Plans

During the month of November, graduates of the class of 1988 from North Quincy High School, Quincy High School and Quincy Vocational Technical School will be the subject of a telephone survey conducted by Quincy Public Schools to determine their career plans. The calls will be brief and if the graduate is not available at the time of the call, response from the parents or other family members will be acceptable.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE
THIRD NORFOLK DISTRICT

Paid for by McDuff Campaign Funds
216 South St. Quincy

McDuff Vows To Oppose New Taxes

Appearing before a group of senior citizens in Quincy recently, John H. McDuff, Republican candidate for State Representative charged that taxes are too high and that Democrat politicians are "too loose with a buck."

He called on lawmakers to get the state budget back in line.

"Revenues increased nearly $1 billion a year for the last five years," McDuff said, and what do we have to show for it? Lower taxes? No. A balanced state budget? No. My opponent was a state representative for those five years, telling us that he votes with the leadership. Maybe as part of the leadership he can tell us where the money went. Figures just released indicate that the state just borrowed another $225 million to pay its current bills, bringing the amount borrowed since July to $1.225 billion dollars. The interest charges in 3-1/2 months have cost us over $600 million.

McDuff said, "Recent analysis shows that the state budget may be out of balance by as much as $1 billion for 1989, even after cuts in aid to cities and towns and an increase in taxes, fees and fines. Many feel a tax increase is the only way out of this mess of fiscal irresponsibility, but I pledge to hold the line on taxes. "There could be a good saving in getting rid of the 10,000 new state employees added to the state payroll in the past five years, many of them friends of incumbent Democrats. While I've been campaigning I never met a single person who said he was under-taxed, but I met plenty who thought the state was wasting our money."

Harris Supports Senate Version Of Auto Insurance Bill

Richard A. Harris, Republican candidate for state representative in the second Norfolk District, urges Quincy motorists to inform the members of the city's legislative delegation that they support the Senate version of the auto insurance bill.

The House version makes few concessions to consumers, he said. It is essentially a bill that protects special interests, holding the tort threshold down for the trial lawyers and providing for tolling reconciliation to appease the insurance industry, he said.

A conference committee, consisting of members of the House and the Senate, will soon be assigned the task of crafting a compromise version that both chambers can accept, Harris said.

"It is important that those who favor more significant reductions for consumer be able to enter into negotiation from a position of strength," Harris said. "Calls from constituents advocating the $2000 tort threshold and opposing rolling reconciliation will give committee members a clear indication of the extent to which reform is needed."

YMCA Day Care Center At Hospital Marks Anniversary

The South Shore YMCA Day Care at Quincy City Hospital is celebrating its first anniversary with an anniversary special.

Any child enrolled in the month of November will receive one free week of tuition. Enrollment is limited. The center is open Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Late pick-ups available. The center serves children ages two years, eight months to 6 years old.

For further information, contact Mrs. Dea at 775-6100, ext. 3071.

Report Cards Topic For Merrymount PTO

The Merrymount PTO will hear a discussion of the new students' report cards on Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the Media Center.

Participating will be Dottie Greene and Cathy Raider.

Over 3,000 Massachusetts Scientists and Engineers Urge a NO vote on 4

"Ballot Question 4 would permanently shut down the generation of electric power by existing Massachusetts' nuclear electricity plants.

It is an important issue. Nuclear energy supplies 33% of our region's electricity. Our state's nuclear electricity plants alone provide nearly 20% of our in-state power supply.

Of course, the issue goes beyond the threat of electricity shortages, and economic consequences.

It is important to consider the complex scientific questions involved, including the adverse environmental and health effects of the likely replacements to nuclear energy — oil and coal.

When looking at the scientific issues, please consider the views of my colleagues in Massachusetts' scientific community, who overwhelmingly recommend a No vote on Question 4.

— Thank you."

McGrath Wants Progress Review On Presidents Place

Councillor Stephen McGrath has called for a meeting of the Downtown & Economic Development Committee of the City Council in order to review progress of the proposed President's Place development project on the site of the Bargain Center.

In a letter to Committee Chairman Tim Cahill, McGrath indicated that it is his understanding that the so-called public atrium area which was proposed in the Hancock St., Coddington St area will be delayed in construction as will be the second tower.

"Clearly, when the Council approved this project, it was our intention to have the entire project built, particularly with the public atrium area amenities," said McGrath.

"It is now my understanding that the second tower and public area will be delayed, possibly for years.

"I believe this should be addressed as soon as possible by the Council in order to fully review this matter," said McGrath.

McCauley Urges 'Yes' On 2

Mayor Francis McCauley is supporting the repeal of the "Prevailing Wage Law" which appears on the Nov. 8 election ballot as Question Number 2. "The time is now for the repeal of the 74-year old law," McCauley said, adding he urges Quincy voters to vote "yes" on Question 2.

McCauley said he has reviewed material on the subject and has talked with many municipal officials and contractors regarding the law.

Repeal of the law will not only increase competition but the taxpayers will also receive the benefit of this increased competitive market in lower costs of city projects, the mayor said.

According to McCauley, those familiar with the prevailing wage law say that construction and renovation costs and the cost of city improvement contracts for street, sidewalk and infrastructure work cost the taxpayers of a community at least 20 percent more than those projects would cost in the absence of this restrictive law.

Massachusetts taxpayers would definitely stand to gain by the repeal of the prevailing wage law, McCauley said.

According to McCauley, one major project that would be affected by the repeal is the construction of the Deer Island Sewerage Treatment plant. The estimated cost for this project and other facilities necessary for the harbor cleanup is $6 billion.

The mayor said the MWRRA assessments on the communities in its district are increasing rapidly and with property taxes capped by Proposition 2 and a half, "it is vital that public construction projects and contractual service contracts be subject to as much competition as possible."

"This situation can be brought about by voting yes on Question 2 which will repeal the prevailing wage law," McCauley said.

VOTERS OF QUINCY DON'T BE FOOLED BY THE MBTA! VOTE NO ON QUESTION 5

On Tuesday, November 8th, the ballot for the voters of Quincy's 1st Norfolk District will include the following question:

Shall the Representative from this district be instructed to vote in favor of legislation to reactivate the Middleboro, Plymouth and Greenbush Old Colony Commuter Railroad Lines which run through Braintree?

We urge you to vote no and send a strong message to your legislators that you have had enough of the MBTA's inefficient and wasteful spending.

Because the MBTA has no plans to construct any stations in Quincy, you, as a resident will not receive a single benefit from the restoration of the Old Colony Railroad.

However, you will see your community disrupted not only by the commuter trains but also by the freight trains the MBTA will run on this line and by the heavy trucks and equipment needed to construct a new rail bridge connecting Quincy to Dorchester. And this will cost the taxpayers at least $390 million.

Given the MBTA's track record with the Redline imagine what will happen if the Old Colony Railroad is restored and passes through Quincy.

The Ballot Questions

All Quincy voters will be asked to vote yes or no on four state ballot questions on Election Day, Tuesday, Nov. 8.

In addition to the state questions, voters in the 1st Norfolk District will vote on a non-binding question regarding restoration of the Old Colony Railroad. The question was put on the ballot by Rep. Michael Morrissey (D-Quincy).

Question 1 is a referendum petition while Questions 2, 3 and 4 are initiative petitions for a law.

Question 1 deals with increased salaries for state officials; Questions 2 repealing the prevailing wage law, Question 3 regulating treatment of farm animals, and Question 4 stopping electric power plants that produce nuclear waste.

As required by law, question summaries were written by State Attorney General James Shannon.

The five questions and summaries are:

Question 1:

Do you approve of a law summarized below, which was approved by the House of Representatives on May 20, 1987, by a vote of 93-58, and approved by the Senate on May 20, 1987, by a vote of 31-8?

Summary

The law provides a salary increase, effective January 7, 1987, for the members of the legislature and certain constitutional officers of the Commonwealth.

Beginning at a base salary of $30,000, each member of the legislature will receive a salary increase under the law equal to the compounded percentage increase in the salaries of full time state employees who are subject to collective bargaining agreements between the Commonwealth and the ALLIANCE, AFSCME - SEIU, AFL-CIO in effect between January 5, 1983 and January 7, 1987. Thereafter the salaries of each member of the legislature will be increased by the same percentages as the salaries of full time state employees subject to the collective bargaining agreements.

A YES vote would approve the law that increased the salaries of certain state officials.

A NO vote would repeal the law that increased the salaries of these officials.

Question 2:

Do you approve of a law summarized below, which was disapproved by the House of Representatives on May 3, 1988, by a vote of 24-123, and on which no vote was taken by the Senate before May 4, 1988?

Summary

The proposed law would repeal state law requiring that the wages, including payments to health and welfare plans, paid to persons employed in the construction of public works be no less than the wages paid locally under existing collective bargaining agreements and understandings, or by the municipality, for the same kind of work. Under the proposed law, the Commissioner of Labor and Industries would no longer set wage rates for such work or classify jobs.

The proposed law would also remove the Commissioner of Labor and Industries' authority to set the wage rates of employees of contractors who move office furniture and fixtures for the state or a county, city, town or district, and remove the Commissioner's authority to set the wage rates of operators of vehicles and other equipment engaged in public works.

The proposed law would not change the way wages are set for laborers employed by the state Department of Public Works and the Metropolitan District Commission.

A YES vote would repeal the prevailing wage law, which requires the state to set wage rates for certain employees of private contractors doing work for the state or local government.

A NO vote would continue the prevailing wage law, which requires the state to set wage rates for these employees.

Question 3:

Do you approve of a law summarized below, which was disapproved by the House of Representatives on May 2, 1988, by a vote of 2-150, and disapproved by the Senate on May 3, 1988, by a vote of 0-34.

Summary

The proposed law would require the Commissioner of the Department of Food and Agriculture to issue regulations to ensure that farm animals are maintained in good health and that cruel or inhumane practices are not used in the raising, handling or transportation of farm animals.

The Commissioner would issue regulations, effective within four years after passage of the proposed law, about the surgical procedures used on farm animals, the transportation and slaughter of farm animals, and the diet and housing of those animals. The Director of the Division of Animal Health could issue exemption permits for a period of time up to one year and one-half to any farmer

Under the proposed measure, an unpaid Scientific Advisory Board on Farm Animal Welfare comprised of veterinarians and animal scientists would also be established within the Department of Food and Agriculture. The Board would examine animal agricultural practices, issue for publication certain reports on farm practices, and make non-binding recommendations to the Commissioner about specific regulations. If appropriated by the legislature, the Board may allocate an annual sum of not more than ten cents per Massachusetts citizen to assist farmers in adopting methods which are consistent with the purposes of this law.

The Director of the Division of Animal Health would be responsible for enforcing regulations issued as a result of this proposed law. Persons who violate the new law would be punished by a fine of up to $1,000.

A YES vote would require new state regulations concerning treatment of farm animals, and would establish a Scientific Advisory Board on Farm Animal Welfare.

A NO vote would not require new state regulations concerning treatment of farm animals, and would not establish the proposed Advisory Board.

Question 4:

Do you approve of a law summarized below, upon which no vote was taken by the House of Representatives or the Senate before May 4, 1988?

Summary

The proposed law would provide that, after July 4, 1989, there shall be no further generation of electric power by commercial nuclear power plants in the Commonwealth by means which result in the production of nuclear waste.

A YES vote would stop electric power generation by commercial nuclear power plants by means that produce nuclear waste, after July 4, 1989.

A NO vote would not stop electric power generation by commercial nuclear power plants by means that produce nuclear waste.

Question 5 (1st Norfolk District voters only):

Shall the Representative from this district be instructed to vote in favor of legislation to restore commuter railroad service from Boston to the South Shore on the so-called "Old Colony" railroad right of way running adjacent to existing Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) Red Line tracks?

Dukakis Wins Votes In Quincy, Ill.

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

You might say that no issue is too small for Democratic Presidential candidate Michael Dukakis.

Dukakis, while on a recent mid-western campaign swing appeared at a Democratic rally before 6,000 cheering supporters in Quincy, Ill. While most of his speech focused on striking back against his record on crime and prison furloughs, Dukakis cleared the air on another issue that may have puzzled some of the city's 45,000 residents.

"At the beginning of his speech, he told the crowd that Massachusetts has a Quincy, too, but that city's name is pronounced, 'Quin-zee'."

He then said it was great to be in "Quin-zee," said John Webber, a political reporter for the Quincy Herald-Whig, who covered the governor's stop.

"It was light, like a conversation," Webber said of the Dukakis' remark.

And how did the governor do overall?

"He was very warmly received," Webber said.

In addition to covering the governor's stop, Webber also interviewed by telephone his son, John Dukakis. But apparently, John did not get the briefing his father received.

"John Dukakis was not aware of the difference. He did not pick it up," Webber said.

In fact, the governor's reference to the two different pronunciations was the first time Webber, a native of Hannibal, Missouri, heard of it.

"That was the first time I heard Quincy, Massachusetts is pronounced, 'Quin-zee,' he said.

Since colonial times, Quincy, Mass. has been pronounced "Quin-zee." Established Feb. 22, 1792, it was named for Col. John Quincy, great-grandfather of President John Quincy Adams. According to historians, the Quincy family pronounced their name "Quin-zee" and so naturally the town of Quincy, Mass. did the same.

As for Quincy, Ill. and some 16 other Quincy's across the country, they were named in honor of John Quincy Adams, the nation's sixth president.

On March 4, 1825, the day Adams was inaugurated a hamlet of 10 persons was named Quincy, Ill. The county in which he is located was designated Adams County. The hamlet's main street was named John's Square and the hamlet is now the city of Quincy, Ill.

Webber said the different pronunciations can be attributed to "regional colloquism." It is now regarded that of all the nation's Quincys, only Quincy, Mass. is pronounced "Quin-zee."

In addition to the name, there are other similarities and differences between the two cities. Besides being located in Adams County (population 75,000), neighboring the county is Hancock County (population 25,000).

Quincy, Ill., like Quincy, Mass. has a nickname. Known here as the "City of Presidents," there it is referred to as "The Gem of the Midwest."

As for the economy, Quincy, Ill. is primarily an agricultural area, but it also has some big industries, such as chemical and food processing plants.

Regarding politics, Quincy, Ill. has a closed primary process, meaning voters do not have to declare their party affiliation before an election.

And while Quincy, Mass. for many years was well-known for its granite and shipbuilding, Quincy, Ill., located on the Mississippi bottom land, is home to some of the most fertile land in the world.

Dukakis passed the pronunciation test in Quincy, Ill.

But what would George Bush, another Massachusetts native who was born next door in Milton say?

Cheney Asks Second District Winner Be Seated Before Jan. 1

Councillor Michael Cheney announced today that he has forwarded a letter to House Speaker George Keverian, requesting that the candidate who is successful for the Second Norfolk District State Representative seat be sworn in at the earliest possible date prior to Jan. 1.

Cheney noted that the Second Norfolk District has gone unrepresented since the seat was vacated by Thomas Brownell to accept appointment as a Judge, and there are very important issues that affect the taxpayers within the district.

"This amounts to taxation without representation and has gone on far too long," Cheney said. "The people in the Second Norfolk District should be represented at the earliest possible date in order that we may regain a voice in state government."

Cheney says he sees no reason why the successful candidate in the Nov. 8 election cannot be sworn in within a week or two following the election. Running for the office are Democrat Arthur Stephen Tobin and Republican Richard Harris.

Cheney also noted that he looks forward to working in conjunction with the new state representative on issues that affect the City of Quincy, most particularly those issues that deal with the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

Kennedy To Seek Navy Contracts For Shipyard

Quincy's Massachusetts voters. "I welcome the opportunity to work with the shipyard workers. Over a very considerable length of time we've made some progress to ensure that the shipyard prospered."

"I think if you talked with the workers down there you would feel I've been very much in touch with the things that they care most deeply about," he said.

Furthermore, Kennedy said, "What I have tried to recognize is the change in the workforce. Now you have both parents working and therefore there has been a great need for day care."

"And, as one who's been a principal fighter for day care for the working families, I think people in the Quincy area care very much about that."

"I don't believe a parent should have to make a choice between the job that they need and the child that they love," he said.

Turning to the national political scene, Kennedy said the Democratic Party has been successful, despite the fact that it has won the White House once during the last 20 years. Since 1968, only Democrat Jimmy Carter has been elected president, that coming in 1976.

"The fact is, the Democrats have been increasingly successful," he said, pointing out that the party regained control of the Senate by a 55-45 ratio in 1986 after losing it in 1980. Kennedy also said the party has "picked up some governorships" throughout the country and predicted that "we'll pick up one or two seats" in the Senate this year.

"I think the party is alive and well... but hopefully we're going to recognize that on the Republican side we have a packaged campaign, someone who's on glide-control, on automatic pilot, so to speak, and people have to make up their mind whether they want that packaged campaign or whether they're prepared to have someone that's going to challenge the U.S. and offer some important initiatives to lead this country," he said.

In response to a question about whether this has been the most negative campaign in history, the Senator said "It's a relatively new phenomena and I think it's useful for various politicians in order to secure a victory in a political campaign, but it is not helpful to the general voters in trying to illuminate positions of candidates on the issues."

"I've always believed personally that you run for the office -- you state what your position is and how he or she may differ with you and let people make up their minds based on the positions taken."

"What we're seeing now is the growth of distortion and misrepresentation of the candidate's views. I think that's unhealthy in terms of the political process. And it turns a lot of people off."

But it is effective in campaigns so it is an important dilemma for society to face. People on the one hand react to negative campaigning and on the other hand, they're repulsed by it," he said.

Elaborating on this point, Kennedy said, "I don't think you have to be negative about someone in order to differ with them."

"I have my differences with President Reagan but I have a personal relationship with him as well."

In assessing Indiana Senator Dan Quayle's competence as a potential vice president, Kennedy said, "I believe that [Texas Senator] Lloyd Bentsen is so vastly superior in terms of qualifications not only for the vice presidency but also for the presidency.

"The choice is so easy. I would think, in most people's minds. They understand that Bentsen is qualified."

"I would be concerned to have Dan Quayle a heartbeat away from the presidency," he added.

Asked whether Bush was put on the offensive by speeches at the Democratic National Convention including his own, Kennedy replied, "Bush is running as vice president and he ought to be able to at least explain his position on decisions which were enormously important: sales of weapons to the Ayatollah, putting Noriega on the payroll... I think he should speak to those issues."

"It was a vigorous campaign and to some extent an effective campaign, it's really distorting the message of Gov. Dukakis."

Finally, Kennedy commented on the campaign strategy of Gov. Dukakis. "I'm not sure Mike Dukakis would run the same campaign if he'd had a chance to do it over again."

"The essential question is that he is running on the basis of his concern about the human condition. We have an administration now that has done very well for the top third of the economic ladder. The bottom third has been left behind and the middle third is barely able to hold on."

"Under a Dukakis administration, the people in the middle third and bottom third would feel he had their interests in mind. He is concerned about Main St. and I think George Bush is concerned about Wall St."

"I think he's doing well now and getting good crowds and (he) seems to know it's moving in his direction and I'm very hopeful about the outcome," Kennedy said.

Patriot Ledger Moves To New West Quincy Headquarters

The Patriot Ledger is now operating out of its new headquarters at 400 Crown Colony Drive in Crown Colony Office Park, West Quincy.

A fleet of large vans moved the newspaper's computers and other equipment, furniture and accessories from its long-time Temple St. location in downtown Quincy over the weekend.

Nearly 400 employees were involved in the move.

The Ledger, formerly the Quincy Patriot Ledger and now a regional newspaper, is occupying 89,000 square feet on four floors at Crown Colony for its new executive headquarters and for support operations.

"The availability of day care, a first class hotel, and the physical beauty of the park attracted us to Crown Colony," said Frank J. Grueter, chief financial officer of the 151-year-old newspaper company. "This is as attractive a site as any office park in New England. Crown Colony also enables us to consolidate our entire operation on one virtually contiguous site. This unique opportunity accelerated our move by three or four years."

400 Crown Colony Drive is a six-story building featuring a multi-colored granite-clad octagonal office tower. The exterior of the 125,000-square-foot facility is composed of precast concrete panels complemented by polished granite. Visitors will enter a dramatic three-story entrance through glass-topped revolving doors. The building's interior is organized around a central, full-height skylit atrium. To highlight the building within the Park, the tower's facade will be illuminated in the evening.

The building is now fully leased to The Patriot Ledger, the Charles F. Murphy Insurance Company, and O'Connor & Drew, a certified public accounting firm.

"The complete corporate environment we have conceived for Crown Colony has filled a void in Boston's suburbs," said Richard R. Vazza of Vazza Associates. "All the tenants of 400 Crown Colony were locally based, and there is great interest on the part of downtown office users as evidenced by our recent lease to Aetna Life Insurance at 1200 Crown Colony Drive."

Crown Colony Office Park is located seven miles south of Boston at the intersection of Route 93 (the Southeast Expressway), Route 128 and Route 3. Other companies or firms that have already committed to occupy space within the Park include Aetna Life Insurance Company, United States Fidelity & Guarantee, Kennedy & Lehan, Bay State Milling, Murphy, Hessey Toomey & Lehan, Penache Cafe, Amwest Surety, Bromas Associates, Divine & Partners, and Medical Claims Associates.

The Crown Colony master plan provides for a full-service hotel and conference center, a free-standing day care facility and approximately 15 distinctive first class office buildings.

"This is one of the largest developments in the city's history," said Mayor Francis McCauley from the lobby of The Patriot Ledger's new headquarters. "The city will benefit greatly from the tax revenue and jobs generated by the project. We also appreciate the fact that the park will be developed as one complete parcel."

Other Park amenities include Hub Express helicopter service with direct access to and from Logan Airport and other area heliports, retail shops, restaurants and cafes, a fitness center, jogging trails, and medical facilities. Directly across from the Park entrance, and serviced by shuttle buses, is the Quincy Adams MBTA Station.

Vazza Associates, founded in 1965, is a diversified South Shore-based real estate development company. Its portfolio includes over three million square feet of first class office and mixed-use developments, suburban office parks and shopping centers. Edward A. Fish Associates, incorporated in 1951, is developer and manager of over 35 real estate projects throughout New England.

The master planner of Crown Colony Office Park is the architectural firm of Jung Brannen Associates, Inc. The exclusive leasing agent is Meredith & Grew, Inc.

Del Prete, Lordi Join Granite Bank Board

Two former board members of the Abington National Bank, Gerald J. DelPrete and Ralph J. "Gus" Lordi, both of Rockland, have recently joined the Board of Directors at Granite Bank.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It is easy sometimes to lose perspective on the world around us as we pursue our day-to-day activities. There's a tendency to simply take in stride the events at home and in foreign lands. Here in the United States we enjoy certain rights which people abroad can't experience for one reason or another. In many nations governments don't hold elections. And in others they are held only when the leadership wants to conduct them.

In America the right to vote is absolute. But even with this inherent right there is responsibility. Too often Americans do not exercise this right and, therefore, don't meet their responsibility.

Failure to participate in the election is failure to appreciate the importance of this opportunity. We strongly urge all voters to participate in the November elections. In doing so we will be meeting our responsibilities as citizens...

Raiders Tune Up For Waltham Saturday

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy football team tuned up for Saturday night's big game with Waltham at 7 p.m. under the lights at Veterans Memorial Stadium by topping winless Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 26-0, last Saturday at the stadium. The win improved the Raiders' record to 4-3.

Waltham, which lost to North Quincy, 30-14, a year ago, comes in with a 5-2 record. It has defeated Everett, Quincy, Cambridge Rindge and Latin and Brookline, while losing to undefeated Icominster and Arlington. It is 3-0 in the Suburban League.

Ken McPhee's North team completely dominated last week's game against Cambridge. The Raiders had a net of 255 yards rushing, while Cambridge wound up with minus 23 yards. North stuck mainly to the ground and Bill MacDougall completed three of six passes for 57 yards and a touchdown with one interception, while Cambridge's Bobby Mickel was three for eight for only 17 yards. North had 16 first downs to just two for Cambridge.

North's Ryan Craig, who has a number of colleges eyeing him, had another big day, rushing for 155 yards. In six games this fall the big fullback, who is also a brilliant linebacker, has rushed for 835 yards with three games to go.

"What can you say about him?" McPhee said. "He has to be one of the best in the state, both as a running back and a linebacker. He is just a player."

He said the offensive line 90 percent of the credit," aid the modest Craig. "It was just great today as it has been all season and I couldn't do it without them."

Cambridge was without its outstanding runner, Ramon Neves, who has been a bright light in an otherwise dismal season for Rindge and Latin.

"They really missed him, he is outstanding," said McPhee. "We were going to key on him and without him they could do absolutely nothing against our defense."

"People have asked me why I moved Billy MacDougall from wide receiver to quarterback, as he was our best wide receiver the last two years," McPhee said. "Well, we had inexperienced quarterbacks this year and I felt he would be our best bet there. He has made the move very well and has done a really fine job for us. His brother, Kevin, has taken over for him at wide receiver and has done an excellent job."

Defensive coach Mark Mulvaney was extremely pleased with the defense. "I used four tackles, Dave Joyce, Alex Malasi, Steve Kohler and Scott Leonard, and they all played very well," he said. "Sean Glennon and Sean McDonough were outstanding at end and McDonough knocked down two passes. The secondary was excellent with Billy MacDougall, Dan Gilmartin and Kevin MacDougall, and the linebackers, Mike Ainsley, Craig and Jeff Sullivan, were outstanding. Sullivan is a real tough guy and a very versatile player, playing anywhere for you."

McPhee singled out Glennon (eight tackles, three sacks), Joyce, Mike Iacobacci, Malasi, Ainsley and Brian Healy for their work in the offensive line.

"You heard Ryan Craig, the offensive line was tremendous," the Raider coach said. "You have to give these Cambridge kids a lot of credit, they haven't got a win but they stay in there and give it everything they have at all times and that is a credit to their coaches. They are a fine bunch of kids."

North drove from the Cambridge 46 following a short punt for its first touchdown which came on the third play of the second quarter. It took eight plays and Craig drove in from the one. Dave Hutchings' extra point kick was good but North was offside and his second try was blocked.

Cambridge was stopped cold and the Raiders drove from their 28 after a punt and went the 72 yards in 11 plays. A pass from MacDougall to Ainsley for 21 yards and a 16-yard run by Gilmartin sparked the score. MacDougall scored on a quarterback sneak. Hutchings' kick was wide.

Cambridge was halted again and a bad snap from (Cont'd on Page 26)

Quincy, North Suburban Co-Champions

The Quincy and North Quincy girls' volleyball teams are co-champions of the Suburban League and will be among the top-seeded teams in the state tournament, which gets underway Friday with the preliminary round.

The cross-town rivals finished with 16-2 records. They broke even during the regular season and each lost to Newton North.

Both are expected to draw first round byes and are not expected to open tournament play until about next Wednesday.

Quincy and North have dominated state championship play during the past several years. North last year won the state title with a perfect 23-0 record. Prior to that Quincy had won the state crown three times and lost in the finals on two other occasions.

North finished the regular season last Friday by topping Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-1 (15-5, 13-15, 15-4) sparked by strong hitting from Deirdre Murphy and Holly Rendle and fine efforts from Karen Reister and Julie Detwiler.

0 decision over Newton South.

Earlier in the week North defeated Brookline, 2-0 (15-4, 15-9), powered by Debbie Panaro's setting and service. Murphy and Reister also played well.

Quincy defeated Waltham, 2-0 (15-1, 15-6) led by the serving of Christine Barrett and the spiking of Nancy Laitinen and Julie McCloskey.

North, Cambridge Freshmen Battle To 12-12 Tie

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy and Cambridge Rindge and Latin freshman football teams battled to a hard-fought 12-12 tie last week. The tie gave Coach Kevin Kelly's young Raiders a 5-1-1 record.

Cambridge took the initiative and drove to North's two-yard line in the opening quarter. North dug in, but on fourth down Cambridge scored.

North paraded 98 yards to tie the score in the second quarter after Paul Kerr recovered a fumble on the Raider two. Directed by quarterback Sergi Wassiliew, North's talented running backs, Mark Cocuzzo, Desmond Belott and Chris Murray took turns carrying the ball and Belott scored around the right side from the 10 to tie the score.

There was no scoring in the third quarter as both teams played strong defense. Things happened in the final quarter for both teams.

Mark Kelliher, who continues to be outstanding on defense, blocked a punt on the Cambridge 13. Cocuzzo and Murray carried to the five from where Belott scored his second touchdown to give North a 12-6 lead.

Cambridge roared back with a thrilling 97-yard kickoff return for the tying touchdown.

A few minutes later Belott intercepted a pass deep in North territory. Here Kelly came up with the old hook and lateral play as Wassiliew passed to Vin Anderionis for 10 yards and he lateraled to Belott. The speedy Belott almost went through a horde of tacklers, only to be brought down with an open field in front of him.

Kelly praised Chris McCallum, Kelliher, Belott, Cocuzzo, Murray, Brendan O'Connell, Chris Peck, Sean Moran, Chris Campbell and Tim Lampa.

"We may have taken Cambridge too lightly," said Kelly. "They had a well-coached team."

Quincy Freshmen Breeze By Weymouth N., 24-0

The Quincy freshman football team rebounded from its only loss and defeated Weymouth North, 24-0, last week, improving its record to 5-1.

The young Presidents won without their leading scorer, Jason Anderson, who is nursing a sore hip. Coach Earl Metzler hopes to have him back for Friday's game against Medford at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Metzler was able to use his entire squad against Weymouth and used several players at different positions. "Since freshman football is a learning level it is nice to teach the players more than one position," the coach said. "That way they are not limited to one position when they move up to the varsity."

Quincy got off to an early 16-0 lead when Gary Collins passed to Mike Malvesti for 45 yards and Peter Eleuteri scored on a 12-yard run. Collins rushed for both two-point conversions.

Jason Eleuteri filled in the Anderson at tailback and was a key factor in the first two drives, ripping off runs of 15, 25 and 17 yards.

"Jason is a very versatile player and could play any number of positions when needed," Metzler said.

Other long runs included a 25-yarder by Mark Mahorowski.

Collins closed out the first half scoring by sacking the Weymouth quarterback in the end zone for a safety and an 18-0 lead.

"We played a sloppy game and turned the ball over three times and were tagged for several penalties," Metzler said. "Our line did a good job."

Bob Daggart (two sacks), Ed McCabe, Paul Eleuteri, Keith Norris and Ali Sleiman were standouts.

In the second half David Cahill did a fine job in his first appearance at quarterback. Quincy closed out the scoring with a 25-yard interception return for a score by the speedy Greg Warren. "Greg has tremendous speed and does a good job week in and week out at cornerback," his coach said.

Other defensive standouts included Mark Reardon, Mike Lehtonen, Clinton Currie, John Green, John Bertoni, Brian Bellou and Kevin Keane.

North Jayvees Roll By Revere

The North Quincy junior varsity football team defeated Revere, 22-6, to improve its record to 4-1-1.

Dave Kiley scored the first touchdown, going seven yards off-tackle. Jim Bryan directed the march, mixing his plays between running and passing.

Bryan hit Chris Deschler for 32 yards and a touchdown and Evan Kiley for 36 yards and the third touchdown. Freshman Desmond Belott rushed for the two-point conversion after Deschler's

TD and Jim Rayne added the conversion after Kiley's score.

Coaches Tom Carter and Peter Chisom had good words for the defensive work of Bill Farley, Mike Doherty, Mike Oliva and Jason April.

Squantum Yacht Club Wins 'One Design' Honors

The Squantum Yacht Club has been named "One-Design Yacht Club of the Year" by the United States Yacht Racing Union. The prestigious trophy was recently presented to the club by Robert Johnstone at the USYRU annual meeting in Cleveland.

It was accepted by Squantum Commodore Joseph Tessier, rear commodore Thomas Glenon, vice commodore Donald McGilvray and race committee chairman William Grabowski and David Lewis.

The trophy is presented to the club to recognize its administrative excellence, fleet growth, creative programming, regatta support and member contribution at regional, national and international levels of the one-design yacht club of the year.

center fouled a punt try and North had the ball on Cambridge's 28. On the first play Billy MacDougall hit brother Kevin with a perfect pass caught as Kevin went into the end zone. This time Hutchings' kick was good and North had a 19-0 halftime lead.

The Raiders continued to dominate a play but couldn't score their final touchdown until late in the game.

Cambridge took a huge gamble on fourth and 20 and, although Mickle picked up 10 yards, North took over on its own 39 and six plays later Craig scored from the nine and Hutchings kicked the final point of the game. Three plays earlier Craig had run for 28 yards, being brought down from behind on the 19.

"This was a good win, because I was able to get a lot of kids into the game," McPhee said. "I think we'll be ready for Waltham, which always is tough."

Among those used by McPhee in the final minutes was freshman Desmond Belott, who has had a fine season for the freshman team. He carried twice and picked up good yardage.

Youth Girls Team Rallies For Win

The Quincy Youth Girls ice hockey team improved its record in the South Shore Girls League to 3-1 when it defeated Brockton Rebels 4-3, with 1:35 left in the game.

Quincy's Stephanie O'Sullivan scored twice in the first period with Lisa Skehan and Karen McCabe assisting.

There was no scoring in the second period and O'Sullivan put Quincy ahead, 3-0, with her third goal in the third period with Heidi Maguire and Janet Fennelly assisting.

Brockton reared back with three goals to tie the score with Tanya Willow scoring twice and Patty White once. With 1:35 remaining Skehan scored the winner for Quincy with O'Sullivan having an assist.

Kim Down and Amy Bertrand played a strong game defensively for Quincy.

The team lost Jill Rennie and Marisa Zona, who have been with the program for nine years, to college.

The team is made up of players from Quincy and surrounding towns and is coached by Nancy Craig, a former league player, and Mary Ellen Riordan, who starred in the league and at Providence College. The Quincy team in its game, blanked the Nitehawks 11 team, 7-0.

Smeriah Graham and Karen McCabe scored two goals each and Lisa Bent, Tricia Hughes and Lisa Skehan one apiece. Goalies Lisa Singer and Melissa Marder were outstanding.

Other players are Amy Bertrand, Martha Buzzell, Sally Curley, Kim Dowd, Janet Fennelly, Jean Gill, Heidi Maguire, Margaret McSharry, Stephanie O'Sullivan, Pauline Skehan and Marcia Zanardelli.

Presidents Have Tough Task At Malden

Two weeks ago the Quincy football team, which usually depends upon its passing game, altered its offense and rushed for 217 yards in a big win over Brookline.

However, last Friday night, facing a Weymouth North line that averages over 250 pounds, the Presidents came out passing from the start and Chris Noble had another outstanding night with 18 completions for 265 yards and his 12th and 13th touchdown passes.

But, turnovers hurt Quincy and Weymouth North, led by Barry Bourassa, one of the finest running backs in the area, defeated the Presidents, 22-14, dropping their record to a deceiving 2-5.

Jack Raymer's Quincy team faces another tough task Friday night when it plays at Malden at 7 p.m.

Malden has a 3-1-3 record with wins over Revere, Brookline and Peabody (Peabody's only loss this year), while tying Somerville, Arlington and Newton North.

"Weymouth has the biggest line we've seen and I knew we couldn't run against it," said Raymer. "So, we came out passing right from the start and Chris did another remarkable job for us."

"He was 18 for 29 passing, although he was sacked four times, and he ran well. He is one of the best around and has a number of colleges looking at him. He has some fine receivers and Scott Grant, Marc Miele and Jimmy Dennett combined for 14 receptions. Miele did a fantastic job and Dennett continues to play very well. When he isn't running, he is catching passes."

Noble was the only Quincy player to run for any appreciable yardage, rushing for 64 yards, including a 20-yard run. The Presidents had only 22 yards rushing, thanks to Noble's four sacks.

Grant caught five passes for 117 yards including his sixth touchdown and also caught one for a two-point conversion. Miele had five catches for 68 yards and Dennett had four receptions for 47 yards. Dan Hanly, who moved to offensive end only two weeks ago, caught Noble's other touchdown pass.

Bourassa carried 26 times for 157 yards and a touchdown and was a key man on defense as he sacked Noble twice for big losses to halt a late Quincy drive.

"It was another tough loss and we continue to make too many mental mistakes," said Raymer. "Our turnovers led to their first two touchdowns and an unfortunate penalty was costly late in the game after we reached their 12-yard line. The boys continue to play hard and we certainly are better than our 2-5 record."

Weymouth's third and fourth-down plays hurt Quincy. The turning point in the game came early in the fourth quarter when Weymouth, faced with fourth and 12, faked the punt and Bourassa raced for 28 yards to set up the winning touchdown.

Raymer had good words for Don Hamilton, Tony Madden, Tom Morrell, Dave Zupkowska, Brian Norris, Joe Baker, Hanly, Grant and Pete Oliveri on offense.

On defense he singled out Scott Campbell, Quincy's defensive player of the day with eight tackles and an interception at the goal line; Norris, Morrell, Hanly, Frank Ienello, Bobby Austin, Todd Kimmell and Dave Nourse.

Quincy received to open the game and picked up two first downs to Weymouth's 41. A Noble pass was completed but was fumbled and Weymouth recovered.

Quincy held and the Maroons drove to Quincy's 19. Here Campbell intercepted a pass and the Presidents had the ball on the three.

Noble was forced to punt from the end zone and the ball was returned to Quincy's 28. Bourassa scored from the three after racing 21 yards and Bourassa also rushed for the two-point conversion.

Quincy fumbled on the ensuing kickoff and the Maroons recovered on their 45. Bourassa rushed for 20 yards, then 21 and six and Tom O'Malley scored from the one on the first play of the second quarter. The try for two points failed.

Quincy refused to give up and made a fine comeback. O'Brien returned the kickoff to the 30 and the Presidents drove 70 yards in nine plays for their first score. Noble hit Kimmell for 12 yards, found Dennett for 23 more, hit Dennett for seven and finally passed to Grant for 33 yards and the touchdown. The try for the two-point conversion was no good.

The Presidents tied the score in the third quarter, marching from their 34 after a Weymouth punt. Noble passed to Grant for 10 yards, passed to Dennett for nine, ran for 23 yards when unable to pass and, finally, hit Hanly for nine yards and a touchdown. Noble passed to Grant for the tying points.

Bourassa's 28-yard run on the punt brought the Maroons to Quincy's 35 and 10 plays later O'Malley scored his second touchdown from the one. Bourassa rushed for his second two-point conversion.

Quincy wasn't through and a 58-yard pass play from Noble to Grant, with Grant running 35 yards, put Quincy on Weymouth's 22, but the Maroons held and took over on their 31.

A few minutes later, with time running out, Quincy reached Weymouth's 35 and a pass to Campbell was complete to the 12. However, the Presidents were penalized for an ineligible receiver downfield and the Maroons held and the win was theirs.

North Girls Tie Cambridge

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team tied Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 28-28, last week to finish the regular season with a 3-1-2 record.

The Raiderettes, running without freshman standout Lindsey McGovern, who is out with a calf injury, ran to their second tie within a week.

Deena Washington (15:05) of Cambridge edged North's Sherin Quintiliani (15:32) to win a close race. Bridget Toland (16:10) was edged for third place by Cambridge's Nicole Wilson (16:08).

North's Karen Cashman was fifth and Joanne Moriarty sixth. Cambridge took the next four places and North had to settle for the tie when Amanda Young was beaten out for 10th place in a photo finish.

Earlier in the week the North girls took the first eight places to shut out Quincy, 15-50.

Quintiliani won in 15:32, followed by Toland, Rachel Marshall, Cashman, Moriarty, Young, Adrienne Mercer and Carol Wirtz.

Quincy's only finishers in the top ten were Lisa Conolly, ninth, and Joan O'Connor, 10th.

The teams ran Tuesday in the Suburban League championships at Franklin Park and will participate in the state coaches' meet Saturday.

• Swimming

North Girls Defeat Quincy For Best Season

The North Quincy girls' swim team completed its best season ever last week when it defeated Quincy, 102-67, to finish at 10-3.

The Raiderettes and First Ladies are competing in the Suburban League championships today (Thursday) and Friday and will be in the South Sectionals next Friday and Saturday, Nov. 11 and 12, at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

Claire McCarthy in the 200 freestyle and Beth Hughes in the 100 backstroke set school records as Hughes qualified for the sectionals. McCarthy also took 13 seconds off her personal best to edge Quincy's Cindy Galman in the 500 freestyle.

Quincy's Amy Galman set a school record in the 100 breaststroke.

North Quincy winners were Blythe Bumpus, 50 freestyle (29.7); Heather Stee, 100 freestyle (1:14.5); McCarthy, 200 freestyle (2:17.6); McCarthy, 500 freestyle (6:13.5); Sarah Harrington, 100 butterfly (1:22.6); Hughes, 100 backstroke (1:14.2); Debbie Ramos, 200 individual medley (2:38.3); Kelly LeBlanc, diving (139.5 points) and the 400 freestyle relay team of Ramos, Hughes, Bumpus and Sherrin Quintiliani (4:26.2).

Quincy's only winners were Amy Galman, 100 breaststroke (1:21.5), and the 200 medley relay team of Chris Ross, Amy Galman, Cindy Galman and Melissa Costa (2:21.7).

Taking seconds for North were Chris Galman, 100 butterfly; Joanna Vermette, 100 backstroke, and Liz Gormley, diving.

Placing second for Quincy were Costa, 50 freestyle; Stephanie Post, 100 freestyle; Lisa Olsen, 500 freestyle.

Sarah Goodman, 100 breaststroke; and Cindy Galman, 200 individual medley.

Placing third for North were Suzanne Sidahmed, 100 freestyle; Eileen Barbuto, 200 freestyle; Vicki Borek, 100 butterfly; Maria Passalacqua, 100 breaststroke; and Harrington, 200 individual medley.

Taking thirds for Quincy were Adriana Bagu, 50 freestyle; Olsen, 500 freestyle; Ross, 100 backstroke, and Liz Proude, diving.

Earlier in the week North Quincy defeated Waltham, 93-69, as McCarthy set a school record which she broke again in the Quincy meet, and swam her personal best in the 500 freestyle. McCarthy twice during the week broke the 1981 record of 2:19.2 set by Susan Quintiliani in the 200 freestyle. McCarthy qualified for the sectionals.

North's winners were Ramos, 50 freestyle (27.8); McCarthy, 200 freestyle (2:17.7); McCarthy, 500 freestyle (6:28.38); Harrington, 200 individual medley (2:59.1); Harrington, 100 butterfly (1:22.2); Renee Robichaud, diving (158.25 points); Vermette, 100 backstroke (1:24.3) and the 200 medley relay team of Vermette, Passalacqua, Hughes and Robichaud (2:23.5).

Second places were taken by Bumpus, 50 freestyle; Pauline Hamilton, 100 freestyle; Vermette, 200 individual medley; Passalacqua, 100 breaststroke, and LeBlanc, diving.

Placing third were Barbuto, 500 freestyle; Stee, 200 individual medley; Heather Stewart, 100 breaststroke; Jean Chenette, 100 backstroke, and Gormley, diving.

Manets Clinch Regular Season Championship

By STEVE KAVANAGH

The Houghs Neck Manets clinched the regular season championship and the Squantum Sailors moved into second place in the Quincy Youth Football League this past Sunday.

The Manets exploded for 22 second half points to crush a stubborn North Quincy Apache squad, 22-0, and the Sailors wore down the Quincy Point Panthers, 14-6. The loss knocked the Panthers out of contention for the league championship game.

Penalties, turnovers and good defense highlighted the first half of the Manet-Apache tilt as neither club mounted a serious scoring threat.

Houghs Neck linebacker Rich Stone made the pivotal play of the game when he intercepted a Derek Thompson pass and raced 42 yards for a touchdown. Rob Kane tossed a two-point conversion pass to Dan Morrell to give HN a 8-0 lead. The big play gave the Manets momentum and stunned the Apaches.

Early in the fourth quarter the Manets struck again with a big play. Running back Mike Spaur rambled 52 yards with a reverse for another score. Brian Clifford rushed for a two-point conversion.

QYFL Standings

Spaur scored again to drive the final nails into the Apache coffin. Spaur, who had over 125 yards rushing on the day, went 24 yards for the final touchdown making the score, 22-0.

The Manets got strong efforts from Ed Kenney, Clifford, Rob Kane, David Bogan, Spaur, Stone, Morrell, Jamie Schatzl, Jason Curry, Joe Kelly, Jamie White, Sean McArdle, Jeff Craig, and Joe Dorsey.

The Apaches got fine play from Pat Riley, Eric Kane, Marc Swirbalus, Jay Schaw, Dave Carney, Willie O'Donnell, Eric DeLorey, Mike MacDougall, Mark Sinclair, Sean Halpin, Jamie O'Connell and Curt Gifford.

The Sailors kept their playoff hopes alive with the win over the Panthers.

Tom Nutley opened the scoring in the second quarter with a five-yard touchdown run just before halftime. The Panthers stopped the conversion attempt. Squantum's touchdown was set up when the Panthers fumbled the snap while punting from deep in their own territory.

The Panthers tied the score in the fourth quarter when quarterback Jason Simon scored on fourth down from the one-yard line. Simon picked up his own fumble and twisted into the endzone against the pesky Sailor defense.

Nutley scored the game winner on a two-yard run and also rushed for the two-point conversion. The TD was set up by a big pass play from Nutley to end Dave Reinhardt.

The Sailors were paced by Rick McVarish, Nutley, Phil Pacino, Matt Levering, Billy Degan, Sean Skahan, Greg Burke and Reinhardt.

Panther Cheerleaders Fund Raising Drive In Shopping Areas

The Quincy Point Panther cheerleaders will conduct a fund-raising drive at all Quincy-area businesses and shopping centers on Nov. 11-12 to help defray the expenses of the girls' trip to the national championships in Dallas, Tex., Dec. 27-30.

The license board approved a permit for the drive and all team members and cheerleaders will be in uniform seeking contributions to support their effort.

Contributions have been received from the following: B&S Real Estate, Law offices of Fleming and Langlois, Atty. Richard Barry, Bob's Auto Tap, Atty.

George Burke, Cedrone's Luber-Finer Sales, A.H. Campbell and Sons, Christine Cedrone, John Chaisson Family.

Ted DeChristofaro, Dave Dinger Ford, Hancock Tire & Appliance, Thomas Hughes, Coddington Associates, Key Realty, John Ryan Jr., family, Atty. Gerald Kirby, Simmons family of Lil Peach, Sweeney Brothers Funeral Home, Walter Timilty Family, Wollaston Credit Union, Friends of Mike Cedrone, Tom, Kathleen, Evan, Neil and Sarah Kiley, Friends of Mancuso's, New England Livry, Marina Bay

Taxi and Lisa Dunlea.

Also, Atty. John Marani, Dan Raymond, Friends of Comeau Family, Beacon Sporting Goods, Derbes Brothers Construction, 3 n 1 Variety, the William Roche Family, the John Gillis Family, the Matthew McDonnell Family, Glenn, Carol and Kristen McGhee, Finian's Restaurant, Dorothy O'Hare, Weed Family and Bill Cameron.

Anyone wishing to help the cheerleaders reach their objective can send donations to Quincy Point Panthers, 31 Temple Street, Suite 225, Quincy 02169.

Mite Bs Roll Over Wellesley

Quincy's Mite B hockey team evened its record at 1-1 when it rolled over Wellesley, 25-0.

The Quincy coaches suggested that the game clock keep running in an effort not to embarrass Wellesley after Quincy got off to a quick 5-0 lead.

Dennis Allen recorded his first Greater Boston League shutout, stopping the few shots allowed by the defense, led by Paul Markarian, Mark Foster and Steve Ford.

Kevin Regan had a fantastic game with seven goals and two assists, Pat McGinn had four goals and three assists, Mike Gallagher, Matt Flynn and Brian Gates had two goals, Ryan Barrett had two tricks and three assists, Pat Coughlin a goal and four assists and Chris Arthas and Matt Hill a goal each.

Danny Stock, Billy Griffin,

John Laukkanen, Flynn, Gallagher, Carthas and Hill had assists.

Quincy's Bantam B hockey team edged Pembroke, 4-3, to improve its record to 5-0.

Jimmy Smith and Gerard Walsh scored in the second period with assists for Walsh and Sean Hannon.

In the third period Smith and Walsh scored with assists for Hannon and Mathew Riley.

Squirt Bs Win Second

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team, sponsored by Cablevision, won its second game in a row when it handed Wellesley its first loss, 5-2, in the Greater Boston League.

Quincy will host Somerville Sunday at 2 o'clock at the Youth Arena.

Joshua Wingate scored two goals and Chris Grant, Robbie Pirelli and Paul Princiotta one each. Billy Barron had two assists and Jimmy Kelley, Wingate, Pirelli, Tommy Moriarty and Shawn McLomney one each.

McLomney, Grant, Wingate and Jimmy Gallagher did some solid back-checking to keep Wellesley off the puck.

The defense of John Ryan, Joe Bracken, Mike O'Brien, Bruce Stenberg, Eric Oliva

Goalie Jimmy Sheehan had several excellent saves.

Quincy had opened the season with a 5-0 victory over Pembroke with Sheehan outstanding with several good saves, three of which were labeled for sure goals.

Sheehan had lots of help in front of the net as the defense of assistant Capt. John Ryan, along with Matt Jarnis, Eric Oliva, Bruce Stenberg and Joe Bracken, was outstanding, not allowing Pembroke to set up its play in the Quincy end.

Quincy scored first in the opening period when Chris Grant broke past the Pembroke defense on a pass from Capt. Jim Gallagher and Grant beat the goalie, scoring into the top corner.

Tommy Moriarty took advantage of an errant Pembroke pass and set it on the stick of Shawn McLomney, who passed to John Nanning, who scored.

Asst. Capt. Jimmy Kelley and Gallagher combined to set up Grant for his second goal as he waited long enough for the Pembroke goalie to make his move out of the net, allowing Grant to step around and fire the puck past him.

Billy Barron had two goals as he was set up by Robbie Pirelli and Mike O'Brien.

With less than two minutes left, Pembroke went all-out with five attackers but was stopped cold by the Quincy defense. The play of the game came when Oliva broke up a three-on-one at center ice.

Burgin Takes Top Spot

Burgin Platner took over first place in the Squirt House League with an easy 9-1 victory over Doran & Horrigan.

Jon Farrell and Brian Bartkus scored two goals apiece and Mike Ryan, Shawn McLomney, John Ryan, Robbie Pirelli and Tommy Sullivan one each. Pirelli had three assists, Robbie Callow and Jim Kelley two each and Bartkus, Mike O'Brien, McLomney and Sullivan one apiece. Mark Smith scored for Doran and Jamie Murphy assisted.

The Quincy Sun topped Johnson Motor Parts, 6-3, as Eric Wood scored twice and Patrick Tevenan, Chris McArdle, Joshua Wingate and John Healey once each. Steve Barrett, Tim Wood and Eric Joyce had assists. Jimmy Gallagher, Paul Princiotta and Brendan O'Brien scored for Johnson with assists for Jason Fennelly, Eric Griffin and Robbie Winter.

The standings: Burgin Platner, 2-1-0; Quincy Sun, 1-1-1; Doran & Horrigan, 1-1-1; Johnson Motor Parts, 1-2-0.

WEEK OF: November 3,

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Highly imaginative and highly suspicious. Determined and secretive. The various components of your complex personality make you a mystery indeed. The next six months focus on home and health, and family ties strengthen. Late 89 is favorable for career expansion.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19

Enjoy a rare opportunity for promoting your top skills. Platonic relationship is highlighted at this time. If planning a reception, leave no detail to chance.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20

Spectrum of interests seems to widen, thanks in part to an enthusiastic new friend. Watch tendency of protesting too much. Compromise is important, provided both parties bend equally.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20

Professional and personal interests may not blend as smoothly as you'd like. Best to focus your attention on one item at a time. Look forward to news of upcoming visits.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22

Avoid overcrowding your schedule as the week is already a lively one. Friend becomes more open. Family member counts on your accessibility. Loved one's prestige is enhanced.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21

Intuition may pay off by the weekend. Family issues may preoccupy your time on Monday or Tuesday. The period generally is favorable for renewing friendships and contacts.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22

Week has a restless sense about it, yet surprisingly your accomplishments are significant — especially as they relate to educational pursuits. Your taste is splendid. A good week for decorating.

LEO — July 23 - August 22

Financial news brighter may arrive by the end of this period. Loved one is more confident, thanks to your recent support. Education is accented as fall draws to a close.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22

Thanks mainly to your influence, children come closer to realizing their potential. The week sees you involved in a variety of teaching assignments. Expenses may decrease.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22

The object of your affection is becoming more affectionate. Career assignment may take you to an unexpected destination. Good week for attending auctions and fairs.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21

As the year wanes, your energy level waxes and you find yourself involved in at least two major projects. Musical events appear to be highlighted. Economizing pays off.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22

Quiet acquaintance becomes more extroverted, and the two of you find you have common interests. Small luxury item may come your way at this time. Legal affairs demand top priority.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20

Solo efforts bring better and faster results than do group projects. Enjoy the limelight over the weekend. Volunteers look to you as a role model.

Norfolk Division
Docket No. 88E0101-P1

To LAWRENCE PETRIE of QUINCY in said County, BARBARA RAE of CANTON in said County, ROBERTA P. GOULDING of QUINCY in said County, RICHARD M. PETRIE of HULL in the County of PLYMOUTH and to all other persons interested:

A petition has been presented to said Court by DOROTHY LAVENDER of WYOMOUTH in the County of NORFOLK representing that they hold as tenant in common an undivided part or share of certain land lying in Quincy in said County and briefly described as follows:

A certain parcel of land together with the buildings thereon situated in that part of said Quincy known as Germantown, lying on the northeasterly side of Bicknell Street, and being shown on plan by P.E. O'Brien & Son dated May, 1927, duly recorded and bounded and described as follows:

SOUTHWESTERLY by Bicknell Street, seventy-eight and 20/100 (78 20/100) feet;

NORTHWESTERLY by land now or formerly of George I. Swift and land now or formerly of Ima M. Rick, three hundred thirty-three and 17/100 (333 17/100) feet;

NORTHEASTERLY by land of the Sailors' Snug Harbor by a line of granite posts eighty-two (82) feet; and

Containing 26,547 square feet.

Said premises are conveyed subject to restrictions of record if any in so far as the same are now in force and applicable.

Title Reference: Norfolk Registry of Deeds, Book 2161, Page 545, setting forth that she desires that all of said land may be sold at private sale for not less than one hundred and twenty thousand dollars and praying that partition may be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end that a commissioner be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all, or any part of said land which the Court finds cannot be advantageously divided, either at private sale or public auction, and be ordered to distribute the net proceeds thereof.

If you desire to object thereto, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the sixteenth day of December 1988, the return day of this citation.

● 79.9% Voter Turnout ● Tobin Elected State Rep.

Dukakis Winner Here But Bush Nationwide

By ROBERT BOSWORTH
and JANE ARENA

Quincy was in step with Massachusetts but out of step with the nation as it gave Gov. Michael Dukakis the nod over Vice President George Bush in Tuesday's Presidential election.

Dukakis and running mate Senator Lloyd Bentsen earned the city by a 52 to 46 percent margin over Bush and Vice Presidential candidate Daniel Quayle.

Dukakis and Bentsen totaled 20,886 votes in Quincy while Bush and Quayle collected 18,392, a margin of 2,494 votes.

Nearly 80 percent of Quincy's electorate turned out, a slightly higher figure than predicted by City Clerk John Gillis.

In all, 41,057 of the city's record-high 51,536 registered voters turned out.

There were 1,201 blank ballots cast in the presidential election in Quincy.

Quincy also went with the state trend in several statewide offices.

The city went with Edward M. Kennedy in his re-election bid for a sixth term in the U.S. Senate. Kennedy received 24,943 votes or 62 percent while his Republican challenger, Joseph Malone collected 14,276 or 36 percent of the Quincy vote.

In the race for the 11th Congressional seat incumbent Brian Donnelly received 30,948 or 80 percent while opponent Michael Gilleran took in 7,264 or 19 percent in Quincy.

In the Governor's Council race, incumbent Peter Eleey totaled 27,057 or 57 percent while challenger Charles Harrington, an Independent, collected 8,610 or 24 percent of the vote.

Locally, Arthur Stephen Tobin won the state representative seat in the Second Norfolk district by a large margin over challenger Richard Harris.

Tobin, a first-time candidate for public office, received 10,649 or 73 percent of the vote. Harris totaled 3,888 or 26 percent.

In the Third Norfolk

GEORGE BUSH
President

District, incumbent Robert Cerasoli rolled to an easy victory over opponent John McDuff.

Cerasoli collected 5,825 votes or 74 percent in Quincy while McDuff received 1,991 or 25 percent.

Senator Paul Harold, who ran unopposed, topped the ballot in Quincy with 32,089 votes.

As for the four referendum questions posed to Quincy as well as other state voters, the city appeared to be in line with the state trend.

All four questions received a resounding "no" by city voters. The results:

Question 1 which would have given certain state officials a pay raise, 32,866 voters or 85 percent said no while 5,605 or 14 percent voted yes.

Question 2 which would have repealed the prevailing wage law, 25,794 or 65 percent said no while 13,660 or 34 percent said yes.

Question 3 which would have regulated the treatment of farm animals, 26,018 or 67 percent said no while 12,514 or 34 percent said yes.

Question 4 which would have shutdown the state's nuclear power plants, 22,612 voted against the shutdown while 10,622 or 31 percent voted for the shutdown.

In what could be looked at as a surprise, voters in the First Norfolk District voted in favor of Question Five, which was a non-binding question referring to the activation of the Old Colony Railroad.

Placed on the ballot by State Rep. Michael Morrissey, the question asked whether Morrissey, as the state representative, "shall be instructed to vote in favor of legislation to restore commuter railroad service from Boston to the South Shore on the so-called 'Old Colony' railroad on tracks adjacent to the MBTA line."

A total of 9,064 or 59 percent of voters in that district voted yes while 6,046 or 40 percent said no.

The proposal to restore service on the Old Colony railroad has been attacked by several local leaders, including city councillors.

One of the first issues that Tobin said he will address is expanding the state Tuition Remission Program to include municipal school teachers.

Currently, the program allows state employees covered by bargain units to go back to college in pursuit of higher educational degrees, such as a master's degree.

By expanding this program to teachers, Tobin said they would be more apt to be drawn into the teaching profession.

Tobin also said he would look into the cost of expanding the program.

Ultimately, school children will benefit from motivated teachers who are returning to school," Tobin said.

City Nearing $1 Million In Parking Revenues

The city's leased parking areas are on a record breaking revenue pace and could total $1 million once the five-year contract expires in the spring, Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday.

"We're looking for a record year of revenue," McCauley said.

The city's three parking areas are currently in the final year of a five-year lease with Kinney Systems. Kinney operates three parking areas in Quincy: Ross parking garage and parking lot in the Parkway and the Hancock lot across from the Quincy District Court.

The lease began in the spring of 1984 and will expire April, 1989.

According to the terms of the lease, the city was paid $67,000 the first three years and $75,000 the last two years of the lease. Furthermore if Kinney collects between $300,000 and $500,000, the city receives 50 cents for every dollar. If more than $500,000 is collected, then the city receives 75 cents for every dollar.

According to McCauley, the city's share has totaled about $750,000 the past four years. He said if Kinney collects $600,000 this year, Quincy's share would be $250,000, for a grand total of $1 million.

"Based on the first two months (of the agreement) this year, we could hit $600,000," McCauley said. The mayor emphasized that Quincy's share of the lease revenue goes into a revolving account which is spent on the parking areas.

According to Arthur Foley, the mayor's administrative assistant, the money has been used over the past four years for capital projects such as replacing jersey barriers, purchasing toll booths, building an office and rubberizing the decks of the garage to prevent leakage.

The revenue also went towards compensation for the loss of the parking meter revenue. When Kinney began operation four years ago, it

Sewer Leaks Testing To Start Nov. 15

The city of Quincy will begin testing for sewer leaks in the South Quincy and Faxon Park areas beginning Tuesday, Nov. 15.

Crews from the engineering firm of Weston & Sampson Engineers, Inc. and its subconsultant, Sean-N-Seal will conduct the tests on a street-by-street basis.

Smoke and dye will be released into the sewer system via manholes and service connections to identify leaks and possible illegal drainage points into the system. The smoke and dye is odorless and harmless to people and furnishings.

Any smoke within a building should be immediately reported to the crews conducting the tests or call John Bochino at 617-246-3255, ext. 117.

Cooperation is kindly requested.

Tax Bills Lost In Mail

Up to 500 real estate tax bills for the first half of 1989 have been "lost in the mail," according to City Tax Collector, Dana Childs. Residents from the Ward 2 area bounded by Quincy Ave., Southern Artery, Washington St., and Elm St. have been calling the Collector's Office to say their bills have not been received. Childs said the postmaster has been called and that the carrier for the area was said to be "one of the best."

Residents who did not receive their real estate tax bills are asked to call the Collectors Office at 773-1380 or go in person to 1305 Hancock St., so that another bill can be printed.

Childs reminds residents that the bills are due to be paid Nov. 11 and that this problem does not change the due date. There will be an interest charge for any bills not paid by that time.

$2,444,954 In New Construction

Anselmo Keynote Speaker Veterans Day Parade Ceremonies Friday

FRANK ANSELMO

School Committeeman Frank Anselmo, a veteran of World War I, will be the keynote speaker at Quincy's Veterans Day ceremonies Friday.

Anselmo, who is 90 and a member of Quincy Legion Post, was selected as this year's speaker in observance of the 70th anniversary of the end of World War I.

Anselmo will speak at the Doughboy statue at the Quincy Historical Society's Adams Academy headquarters at Adams and Hancock Sts. following the parade.

The parade will start at 10:30 a.m. at Ross Parking-way and School St. and proceed down Hancock St. to the Adams Academy.

The parade and ceremonies are sponsored by the Quincy Veterans Council.

Invocation will be by Joseph Sullivan, Chap. VFW 613 and Veterans Council Chaplain.

Remarks will be by Irving Isaacson, Post Commander Quincy Veterans Council, Robert Manning, commander Quincy Veterans Council, and Mayor Francis McCauley.

After the Veterans Day Address by Anselmo, Edwin Boland, Chaplain Post 294, American Legion, will say the prayer.

After the National Anthem, the benediction will be given by Bryant Carter, Chaplain Wollaston Legion Post.

In observance of the 70th anniversary of the end of World War I, the Quincy Veterans Council has invited School Committeeman Frank Anselmo, a World War I veteran and member of Quincy Legion Post, to be the speaker of the day at the City of Quincy's Annual Observance of Veterans Day, Friday, Nov. 11.

Anselmo was born in Italy and lived in South America until the age of 14 when his parents sent him to the United States to live with an aunt and get an education.

While attending high school he volunteered for service in WWI and served in the Panama Canal Zone.

Anselmo is retired from the U.S. Postal Service and has been a member of the Quincy School Committee for 27 years. He recently celebrated his 90th birthday.

Adjutant, Mary H. Limco, P.C., Quincy Veterans Council.

Officer of the Day Thomas McDonald, P.C., Quincy Veterans Council, Assistant Officer of the Day, William Reeves, P.C., Quincy Veterans Council; Sergeant at Arms Frank Roberts, Quincy Veterans Council.

Aides to Invited Guests: John Gillis, P.C., Quincy Veterans Council and Joseph Callahan, P.C., Quincy Veterans Council.

Aides De Camp for the Parade will include Edwin J. Boland, Finance Officer Quincy Veterans Council; Joseph Sullivan, Chaplain; George F. Bryan Post 613, VFW; Joseph Walsh, Public Relations Officer, Quincy Veterans Council; and David Brown, Historian, Quincy Veterans Council.

Cahill 'Optimistic' On Own Plan McGrath Proposes PUD Zone For Quincy Center

By ROBERT BOSWORTH
Councillor Stephen McGrath has proposed an amendment to an existing Quincy Square revitalization plan which he says is "less disruptive" since it is not a large scale rezoning proposal. "My plan is not a wholesale rezoning of downtown Quincy but rather parcel by parcel rezoning. Each parcel would be judged on its merits," McGrath said.

The highlight of McGrath's plan is the creation of a special planned unit development (PUD) zone in Quincy Center with specific dimensional requirements. His plan would create a PUD district in Quincy Center that would require an applicant to apply for a special permit through the City Council as a special permit granting authority.

The proposal requires that the applicant have a minimum lot size of 38,250 square feet of land area. As for building height, the maximum stories allowed would be eight, the same number allowed under the present PUD ordinance.

Without a PUD permit, the maximum number of stories allowed in Quincy is six.

As for off-street parking, McGrath's plan calls for a minimum of one and a half spaces per unit.

McGrath proposed the plan Monday night at the City Council as an amendment to a plan introduced several weeks ago by Councillor Timothy Cahill.

Under Cahill's plan, a specific "central business district" or "downtown revitalization zone" would be created in Quincy Square.

Also, height limitations would also increase but only in the special zone. The maximum height for commercial projects in the zone would go from 80 to 110 feet.

Residential projects in the zone would also have a maximum height of 110 feet.

Also included in Cahill's plan is the creation of a special permit granting review authority, similar to a board proposed by McGrath. Cahill said this body would give the Council more control over the type of structure proposed by a developer.

McGrath's amendment calls for substituting Cahill's "Special Permit Granting Authority" for a "Board of Appeals." It would basically do the same thing.

According to Planning Director Richard Meade, both plans would give the City Council the ability to impose certain restrictions on developers which is not the case now.

"The council, under the plans, has the authority to modify (developer's) plans. And I think that's important," Meade said.

Presently, if a permit complies with zoning ordinances and building codes, the building commissioner would be inclined to issue a building permit, Meade said.

"If it meets the requirements, then the Council and the Planning Board have no input," he said.

After briefly reading over McGrath's amendment Monday night, Cahill said, "I think mine is a better proposal. It's more competitive."

Furthermore, Cahill said that he considered McGrath's idea while he was drafting his own plan.

"My plan evolved from Steve's plan. I think we have improved it," he said.

McGrath's plan has been submitted to the Downtown Economic and Development Committee, chaired by Cahill. McGrath said a public hearing on his amendment will be held in the near future.

Hearing On Missing Gas Cap Continued

By JANE ARENA

The City License Board continued for two weeks a hearing concerning a police report of Oct. 15 on the Sunoco Station, 325-329 Hancock St.

According to a report to Police Chief Francis Finn from Officer Peter Kendall, three police cars arrived at the Sunoco Station in response to a call about an argument between Ronald Dias, manager of the station and a woman unidentified in the police report.

The woman told the officer that Dias had told her to leave the station when she asked what he planned to do about the missing gas cap, the report said.

Dias, who appeared before the board, said that he had only told the woman to move her car from one lane to the other so that he could continue doing business while handling the situation. He said that cars were backed up behind her.

While the report said that Dias was "argumentative and uncooperative," Dias claimed that the police officers were rude to him when he identified himself as the manager of the station.

Dias told the board that his usual procedure in a similar situation is to have the customer buy another gas cap and bring him the receipt so that he can reimburse them, but, he said, the woman was too upset and "only wanted her own gas cap."

The board continued the hearing so that the police officer and the woman in question can come before the board to testify.

You're covered

By Gall Dann
Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc.

IS TERM COVERAGE REALLY BEST FOR YOU?

Many consumer information publications that discuss life insurance recommend term coverage as the best and lowest priced policies available. Any life insurance policy is a major investment, however, and before you purchase one, it's a good idea to sit down with an insurance professional to get the facts on all of the available options. Term coverage may be the most economical in the short run, but it does have some important drawbacks. With term coverage, your beneficiaries are paid the face value of the policy only if you die during the period of its term. In many cases, however, the term policy will expire before you do. In addition, the payments increase as you get older, so much so that if you reach retirement age, you may no longer be able to afford the high monthly premiums. Your income will most likely go down at the same time your need for coverage is at its peak. For solid, intelligent advice on your insurance needs talk to the professionals at Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. Please call our office at 471-6200 or visit us at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

Kelly Eyes Council At-Large

Former Ward 1 City Councillor Leo Kelly could be back in the local political ring next year. "I'm very seriously thinking of running for councillor-at-large," Kelly says. But there's an "if."

KELLY

If there is no conflict for him to run and keep his job as project manager for the Quincy Housing Authority.

Kelly was elected to his sixth term as Ward 1 councillor in 1983. But he resigned in January just 17 days after taking his oath when he was told he could not serve in the council and take the project manager post with the Quincy Housing Authority. The job at the time paid $25,138.

The post involved two federally funded housing projects in Germantown and West Quincy. The Department of Housing and Urban Development ruled he would have to give up his council seat.

"There was some question back then whether I really had to resign Kelly says. "The laws and regulations have changed since then."

Kelly says he has consulted an attorney who has sent to Washington for the present HUD regulations.

"From what I have heard," says Kelly, "it looks good. I think now in a non-partisan (Quincy city) election I would be eligible to run, win and keep my QHA job."

And if he is eligible?

"I'll run at-large next year then," he says.

And that would set the stage for an interesting race. Councillor at-large Steve McGrath is expected to run for mayor, opening one of the three council-at-large seats.

CHENEY

Councillor Michael Cheney who succeeded Kelly in the Ward 1 seat when the latter resigned has indicated he plans to run at-large next year.

It would mean two Houghs Neck candidates would be campaigning at-large. "Wouldn't they split crucial votes and hurt one another?" Kelly doesn't think so.

With three votes each to a customer he thinks Houghs Neck residents would be apt to vote for both himself and Cheney.

"Last night I was comparing incomes with our baby-sitter..."

The way Kelly sees it, he wouldn't be running against Cheney but with him.

"I don't care who runs," Kelly says. "Really, the more the merrier."

Kelly says he would have run in this year's election for state representative in the Second Norfolk District if he could have campaigned without giving up his QHA post. But because that was a partisan election he would have had to give up the job first.

"But running in a non-partisan election like the city election, I don't think there will be a problem," he says. "Right now it looks pretty good."

The fact that Kelly is even thinking of running for one of the at-large seats will be taken as a further indication that McGrath will be going for mayor next year.

McGrath and Kelly are good friends and even though there are three at-large seats it would seem unlikely Kelly would run at large for one of them if McGrath was to seek re-election.

Kelly was also McGrath's campaign manager last year when McGrath gave up his Ward 5 seat to run at-large. McGrath topped the ticket.

Kelly has remained active in the community since stepping down from the City Council.

He is a member of the Massachusetts Water Resource Authority Advisory Board, was chairman of the Presidents Plaza committee that was instrumental in reducing the height of the buildings and improve the exterior appearance and has served as chairman of the Quincy Bay Committee, the Environmental Control Committee and the first Environmental Fair at Quincy Junior College.

But he says: "I miss government. I miss what you can do for your community. I miss not having that (City Council) vote."

Teenage Suicide Prevention Accented At High School Seminars

By JANE ARENA

The student council of North Quincy High School, Quincy High School and Quincy Vocational Technical School recently sponsored two seminars on the topic of causes and prevention of teenage suicide.

The day-long program was presented through a grant from Dennis Sweeney of the Sweeney Funeral Homes, Quincy.

"The schools were very obliging to the program," Sweeney says. "It was very well-run by the student councils and the students themselves were very open to it. It was well accepted."

The program was entitled "Learning to Face Tomorrow: A Seminar on Coping with Teen Suicide," and featured Rabbi Norman Geller of Auburn and Sabattus, Maine.

A noted leader in the field of Thanatology (the study of phenomena accompanying death), and an internationally known author and lecturer, Rabbi Geller recently published a book entitled "The Last Teenage Suicide."

The program was conducted in three parts, a morning session at North Quincy High School, an afternoon session for students from Quincy High School and Quincy Vocational Technical School, and the final session for school faculty and staff. About 250 students attended each session and about 15 faculty members were present at the final session.

Rabbi Geller's presentation focused on the causes and prevention of teenage suicide and statistics concerning the problem.

"The Rabbi was very interesting," says Martha Turner, student union advisor for the three high schools. "He spoke about the causes of suicide: because there's not enough people who care or people to listen. His message was that if they are thinking about suicide, or if they are a friend of someone who is, that there's help available out there."

Following the lecture, the students broke up into study groups of about 25 students each and addressed the feelings brought on by the presentation. The groups were led by professionals from the school system as well as local community mental health facilities.

"The kids really felt comfortable with the groups," Turner says. "The Rabbi went around to each group and kids talked about how they had thought of committing suicide or their friends had...some of the groups did role-playing and some did questions and answers."

This was the second seminar on teenage suicide held by the student union, and although there are no definite plans for a future seminar, Turner speculates that there will be one.

"The need is there for kids to know that help is out there...it's something we will do again," she says.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Teachers Seek $500 Pay Hike

The 400 members of the Quincy Teachers Association asked the School Committee for a permanent raise of $500 a year, retroactive to Sept. 1. The current median salary of the teachers was about $2,400.

The formal request was made to the School Board by a committee composed of Miss Elizabeth Lawrence, David Meaney, Miss Bernice Stiles and Felix Cutler.

They pointed out that the cost of living had risen 45 percent since 1941 when the median teachers' salary was about $1,900.

TAX HIKE COMING

Mayor Charles A. Ross said the Quincy tax rate probably will go up in 1947 for the first time in five years.

The rate had been pegged at $30 dollars since 1943. The Mayor said the big reason for the predicted increase was a general pay raise given to 1,800 city employees.

But City Councillor Carl W. Anderson charged that the rate hike was not really necessary.

He recommended several ways to save money by streamlining the city government, including combining the offices of tax collector and treasurer.

RUTH GORDON DAY

The city was planning a "day" Nov. 19 for Ruth Gordon, who left her home in Wollaston 32 years ago to seek and find success on the stage.

Among the visitors expected to arrive with her by train at Wollaston station were members of the cast of her latest play, "Years Ago," including Frederic March, Florence Eldridge and Garson Kanin.

They were to be driven to Quincy Square in a cavalcade of 1914 automobiles, commemorating the year in which Ruth Gordon Jones was graduated from Quincy High School.

Other concerns Tobin said he plans to address are tougher drug laws and the city's relationship with the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

Tobin said:

"I am very grateful to the voters of Quincy for their trust and confidence in me to serve them in the state legislature. I look forward to working with my colleagues in behalf of the Second Norfolk District and the city of Quincy."

Elected unopposed was Mary Collins of Quincy for Norfolk County Commissioner.

Re-elected unopposed were:

Senator Paul Harold (D-Quincy).

Representative Michael

Morrissey in the First Norfolk District.

Nicholas Barbadoro of Quincy as Norfolk County Clerk of Courts.

Barry Hannon as Norfolk County Register of Deeds.

James Collins as Norfolk County Commissioner.

29 Quincy Residents Sought For IRS Refund Checks

Twenty-nine Quincy residents are among the state's taxpayers whose Internal Revenue Service refund checks, worth $1,571,835, were returned as undeliverable by the Postal Service last year.

Approximately 2,487 refunds remain unclaimed by state residents and businesses. When refunds are returned by the Postal Service, the IRS attempts to find the taxpayers and deliver the checks, but there are always some who cannot be found.

"Many taxpayers move or change their names and don't notify the IRS," said District Director Gerard Esposito. As a result, thousands of taxpayers nationwide have not received their 1987 refunds.

Some unclaimed refunds date back further.

Taxpayers whose names are on the list should call the IRS toll-free at 1-800-424-1040. IRS personnel can assist them in applying for re-issuance of their refund check.

Taxpayers should be prepared to provide the IRS telephone assistants with proper identification: name, address and social security number.

Quincy residents on the list are:

Suzanne M. Neuner, Dwight D. and Paula J. Doherty; Monica Chetum, Joseph M. Polack, Ramon Gomez, John W. Chase Decd. and Barbara McCusker Pers. Rep; Rinnie A. Sebastyn, Mark T. Riley, Kevin Ryan,

Michael, Kathleen Marini Win Talent, Academic Honors

Michael F. Marini and Kathleen A. Marini, both former residents of Quincy, have recently been honored for their talents and academics.

Michael, a sophomore at Rochester Institute of Technology, Rochester, NY majoring in Bio-Medical Photography was awarded a First and Second Place in the Marine Biological Laboratory's Centennial Photographic Contest entitled, "Cape Cod: A Diversity of Life".

His entries "Girl with a Cat" and "Hand with Microscope" were among the 26 photographs in seven categories chosen from more than 200 entries. The winners' photographs were exhibited at the Falmouth Public Library.

For a second year, Michael has been awarded a scholarship from the Henry Herbert Smythe Trust Scholarship Fund. The scholarship is awarded to a legal Falmouth resident who

Yves Poirier Installed Quincy Kiwanis Club President

Yves R. Poirier was installed as President of the Quincy Kiwanis Club in ceremonies held recently at the Neighborhood Club.

Poirier, a Kiwanis member for eight years, and a Brockton resident, is president of Quincy Memorials on Willard St. He has held all major offices in the club.

He succeeds Richard C. Malmquist, who was presented a past president's pin and a plaque by Richard T. Sweeney, Jr., past Kiwanis president who was master of ceremonies.

Reviewing Kiwanis accomplishments of the past year under Malmquist's leadership Sweeney said:

"Starting with the young boys and girls we have assisted through our major emphasis program, the YMCA camperships for underprivileged children, the three one thousand dollar scholarships enabling qualified Quincy students the opportunity to continue their education, to the nameless children whose lives have been saved because of our contributions, both in dollars and in example, to the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Institute in Boston"

He cited also as successful financial and community involved accomplishments, the Kiwanis annual international youth hockey tournament, and the third annual Kiwanis of Quincy Golf Tournament.

New officers were installed by Timothy Daly of Weymouth, new lieutenant governor of Kiwanis Division 8, past president of Weymouth Kiwanis Club and a Weymouth teacher.

They included Ralph Yohe, Robert Abraham, Allen Kelly and Jeffrey Harsfield, directors for one year; Robert Fitzgerald Jr., Kathryn Roberts and W. Henry Parker, directors for two years.

Stewardship Sunday At Wollaston Congregational

The theme for stewardship Sunday to be observed Nov 17 at Wollaston Congregational Church is "Sharing The Journey."

The Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern will preach a sermon titled "It's Mine."

Members will pledge to financially support the church and its ministry, here and throughout the world.

A hymn sing at 9:45 a.m. will precede the service.

Lay scripture reader will be Mrs. Charles Collins and acolyte Tavey L. Towle. Greeters will be Mr. and Mrs. Henry McDaniel and ushers, Eric and Karl Olson.

Nursery care for infants and toddlers is provided. Church school for grades 1-12 meet at 10 a.m.

The senior choir, under the direction of Donald A. Reade, organist-director, will present two selections by G.F. Handel.

The annual Thanksgiving ingathering for the Protestant Social Service Bureau will take place at the worship hour when non-perishable food items will be collected.

No activities will be held in the social hall during the week as preparations are made for the annual Christmas Fair. From 7:00 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18 and Saturday 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. "An Old Fashioned Holiday" will take place.

Joint Communion Breakfast At St. Joseph's Sunday

Officers and members of Quincy Knights of Columbus will participate in a jointly sponsored Communion-Breakfast Sunday, Nov. 13 at St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, beginning with a mass at 8:30 a.m.

The Rev. Joseph J. Downey, pastor of St. Joseph's Church and Chaplain of the Quincy Knights of Columbus, will be the principal celebrant and homilist at the Mass.

Guest speaker at the breakfast, to be held in the new St. Joseph's Parish Hall, will be Charles Brown, head of the state police drug investigation unit.

A catered breakfast will be held after the Mass. Tickets are available by contacting Malachy Creaven at 773-7557.

Among the special guests at the breakfast head table will be Vincent Cristiani, Grand Knights of the Quincy Council, and his wife.

The breakfast is being sponsored by the Quincy Knights of Columbus members and officers of the Holy Name Societies of St. Joseph Church, Immaculate Conception and Sacred Heart of Weymouth.

Jack Pierce, Knights of Columbus District Deputy, will also be among the invited guests.

The executive offices of the Quincy-South Shore Interfaith Sheltering Coalition for the homeless of the Quincy area recently moved from the Quincy Knights of Columbus headquarters on Foster St., Quincy, to the Coalition's new headquarters called Father Bill's Place on Broad St. near the Quincy Police Department.

For the past three years, the Coalition had an arrangement to use the K of C premises at no charge as an administrative office facility while the former Registry of Motor Vehicles was being converted into a permanent shelter for the homeless of the Quincy-South Shore area.

The new shelter was officially dedicated recently as Fr. Bill's Place in honor of Fr. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church and first president of the Coalition. Fr. McCarthy has been honored by local and state community service organizations for his humanitarian work with sheltering and feeding the homeless of the Quincy area.

The Quincy Knights of Columbus is negotiating with a South Shore community service organization to provide space for administrative office facilities for limited programs and counseling similar to those of the Coalition.

'Covenant Sunday' Observed At Squantum First Church

It was "Covenant Sunday" at First Church of Squantum Sunday as members of the congregation renewed their commitment to God and each other in a special communion service.

The Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached on the topic, "Returning What Belongs to God."

Pianist Janet Williams and organist Mary Ruth Scott accompanied as the congregation sang. The Chancel Choir sang the Ralph Vaughan Williams arrangement of "The Old Hundredth Psalm Tune."

Rev. Dr. Langevin thanked all who helped with the church fair on Saturday and particularly Joan Hansen who served as Chairman.

Choir pins for the most faithful participation in last year's Junior Choir were presented by Choir Director Mary Ruth Scott to Kristen Fluhr, Amy Harper, Kate Johnson, Ian MacRitchie, James Potter, Mark Potter, and Emily Zaehring. Church School Supt. Patti Hurd presented three young people in the Sunday School with Bibles from the church. They are Kate Johnson, James Potter, and Michael Thornton.

Seated with the pastor at the Lord's Table were Deacons Barbara Anderson, Tom Williamson, Kate MacRitchie, Andrew Ogilvie, and Stewart Scott.

Sue Adams and Mary Scott were the greeters. Harry Holmes and Stewart Scott, the ushers. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Virginia Sorenson and Lynda Thornton.

This Sunday will be Stewardship Sunday at the church. Members are asked to bring their completed pledgesheets to church in a white envelope to be collected during the service. The service will begin at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome.

'Much Is Required' Sermon At Bethany Church

There will be two services Sunday, Nov. 13, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddingdon and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon "Much Is Required." Lay scripture readers will be Jean C. Smart at the early service and Harry F. Massey, Jr. at the 10 o'clock service. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will be the liturgist at both hours.

This being Stewardship Sunday, a member of the finance committee, George Nicholson will give brief comments during the Stewardship moment.

During the sanctuary service the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Charles J. Blue, Bethany's organist and choir director, will sing two selections.

The 10 o'clock service is broadcast live direct from Bethany's sanctuary over WJPD, 1300 kc.

Sunday Church School has classes from 10 to 11 a.m. for pre-school through eighth grade. During the same hour a fully equipped nursery and a toddler room are staffed and supervised by Bethany's professional early childhood coordinator, Pamela Ford Curran.

Beginning at 11 a.m. in the Allen Parlor there is a fellowship time for members and friends. Coffee and light refreshments are provided.

Individuals and families from the community are most welcome to attend worship, share in the fellowship and enroll children in the Sunday School.

A confirmation class for young people in the 9th and 10th grades is held Wednesdays, 7 to 8 p.m. Pastor Huntington's office at the Church is open.

A Bible Study group, "Miracles" is taught on Wednesdays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Pastor Arnold in room 300 at the Parish House.

For additional information on Bethany's programs and ministry, contact the office at 479-7300.

School Teams To Begin Project Impact

School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci announces the beginning of Project IMPACT — Project to Initiate, Motivate, Prepare, and Activate Community Teams.

Aimed at addressing problems in the City through school and community cooperation, the Project is made possible by a $20,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Education. The grant allowed the QPS to contract with the Northeast Regional Center for Drug Free Schools and Communities to institute staff and community training.

The Northeast Regional Center will provide technical assistance and further training during the three years of the contract.

Teams of teachers, administrators, and community members from four Quincy schools received training at an eight day conference held recently in Newport RI. The School

Teams were:

Atlantic Middle School — Laura Bogan, Dorothea Craig, Rebecca Goshc, Robert Hanna, Judy McClure. Broad Meadows Middle School — Kevin Marks, Raymond Joyal, Kathleen Morris, Margaret Nigro, Janet Powell. North Quincy High School — Peter Chrisom, Larry Maloney, Barbara McConaghy, Gerald Ridge, Carol Swanson.

Quincy High School — Paula Calcaterra, John Franceschini, John Harrington, Lloyd Hill, Richard Young. Martin Finnegan, Coordinator of Athletics for the City of Quincy, is serving as the Coordinator for the Project.

The training seminar concentrated on teaching the participants to use problem-solving in addressing school and community concerns. Alcohol and drug abuse were seen as part of the problem, but were not the only concerns to be addressed by the teams. Participants in the training returned with renewed enthusiasm to involve staff, students, and community members in establishing new approaches to solve school and community problems.

The teams will present seminar materials to their colleagues and neighbors in the coming weeks. Volunteers will be selected to join present Team Members for a concentrated weekend of further training Jan. 20, 21, and 22, 1989.

The trainings will again take place under the auspices of the Northeast Regional Center, part of a national network of five regional centers. The center assists schools and communities to develop viable prevention and early intervention programs designed to combat the multifaceted problems facing today's youth.

It is expected that these programs, when developed, will inhibit drug and alcohol abuse and impact other negative behaviors.

18 Students Receive Awards For Helping City's Homeless

Eighteen elementary, middle and high school students were recently presented Green Thumb awards and were treated to a pizza and salad dinner at Father Bill's Place in Quincy for their efforts in helping the city's homeless.

The dinner was hosted by the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition. School superintendent Robert Ricci thanked the students for their donations of vegetables and flowers from the youth garden at Lincoln Hancock Community School.

Father Bill's Place will open soon and provide shelter for homeless men and women. It will be located in the former Registry of Motor Vehicles building on Broad St. It is named after Father William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, a longtime advocate for the homeless.

At the thank-you dinner, Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets presented Stephen Cantelli, a teacher at Lincoln Hancock and garden director, with a commendation from the City Council for organizing the program.

Also on hand to thank the students were School Committee members Mary Collins, Margaret Nigro, Christopher Kennedy and Stephen Durkin.

Students receiving awards were:

Radon, Lead Poisoning QCAP Topics Nov. 27

Radon and lead poisoning are subjects of the Quincy Community Action Program's Property Management Workshop on Thursday, Nov. 17, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Quincy City Hall, 2nd floor Conference room.

Speakers will be Rene Lumaghini, Jr., Code Enforcement Inspector of the Quincy Health Department and Paul Hunter, of the Childhood Lead Poisoning

Prevention Program, Dept. of Public Health, Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The workshop is free and is open to the public, with all property managers encouraged to attend.

3 Free Blood Pressures Scheduled

The Special Care Nursing Home Health Services, 1241 Hancock St., Quincy, is offering three free public blood pressure screenings.

These clinics will be held on the last Wednesday of the month, Nov. 30, Dec. 28 and Jan. 25 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Refrigerator magnets and ice scrapers will be given to the first 25 people to attend.

Special Care recently moved to a more visible office at 1241 Hancock St. in Quincy Center to let the local community know that it provides home care health services besides staffing for

ITC Meetings

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

We all like to be praised. We like people to think well of us. We like them to approve of our actions. At the same time sometimes we find it hard to like a certain person... to give praise to that person...

This thought reminds us of a story about a business man who was called upon to address a men's gathering. He decided upon a novel idea. He made a list of those involved in the gathering and set against each name one reason why he liked that person. This was not easy to do because he found he really didn't know some of the men... they had made no impression on him. But since he had resolved to say something good about each one, he was compelled to study them individually in order to find the good.

When he appeared before the gathering, he related his findings. His speech was a hit, but what happened afterwards was the astounding part. A few days later he found a bundle of papers on his desk. As he unfolded each slip of paper, he read a reason why the signer liked him.

There were as many slips of paper as there had been men present at the gathering. His good resolution had returned to him more than fifty-fold... Wouldn't this be a good resolution for each of us to make -- to find something we like in all the folks we meet? ...

Paul D. Kane, Jr., 84 Founded Senior Citizens Groups

A funeral Mass was celebrated Wednesday at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Sea St. for Paul D. Kane Jr., 84, of Quincy, sales manager for Hertz Car Rental, Boston for 15 years and organizer of three senior citizens' groups.

He died Sunday, Nov. 6 at University Hospital, Boston after a long illness. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Mr. Kane was the founding president of Merry Shore Seniors, Quincy, and an organizer of seniors' groups at the Viking Club, Braintree, where he was a member, and South Shore Seniors.

He was a former employee of the Pulman Co. and was an insurance broker.

Mr. Kane was a graduate of English High School in Boston and St. Anselm's Preparatory School and St. Anselm's College, Manchester, N.H.

He was a member of the Boston Passenger Club, the American Society of Travel Agents, and the Stenkl Lodge, Braintree.

A native of Dorchester, he had lived in Cambridge and Hingham before moving to Quincy 39 years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy (Schreiber) Kane, two sons, Paul D. Kane III of Brockton, and Douglas H. Kane of Philadelphia, a daughter, Leslie D. Brown of Quincy, and three granddaughters, Sharlene A. Kane, Sheryl L. Kane and Sheryl L. Kane, all of Braintree.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals.

Oliver M. MacLeod, 74

Oliver M. MacLeod, 74, of North Quincy, a former diesel mechanic at the Metropolitan District Commission's sewer treatment plants at Nut Island in Quincy and Deer Island in Winthrop, died Nov. 1 at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston after a long illness.

Mr. MacLeod worked 16 years for the MDC before retiring in 1979.

In the 1930s, he worked for four years as a fisherman out of Norfolk, Va.

Mr. MacLeod worked in many shipyards, including the Fore River facility where he went on the job as a mechanic in 1963.

He had lived in Dedham and Norwood as a youngster before moving to Quincy. He graduated from Quincy Vocational School.

He is also survived by two sons, Kenneth D. MacLeod of Vernon, N.J. and Douglas C. MacLeod of Hingham, and five grandchildren.

A funeral service was held Nov. 4 at the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Highland Cemetery, Norwood.

Donations may be made to the Wollaston Baptist Church, 81 Prospect Ave., Wollaston, MA 02170.

Frieda C. Dirks, 75 Special Needs Teacher

A memorial service was conducted Sunday at the Quincy Community United Methodist Church for Frieda C. (Albrecht) Dirks, 75, of Washington, formerly of Wollaston, a special needs teacher and coordinator for Quincy Public Schools for 20 years, who died Oct. 19 in Washington.

Mrs. Dirks was a former Mennonite missionary, imprisoned by the Japanese in the Philippines before the close of WWII.

While with the Quincy School system, she initiated the Title One program for handicapped students and served as coordinator of special education for eight years.

A 1936 graduate of Bethel College in North Newton, Kan., she received the Distinguished Achievement Award for her work in special education from the school in 1985.

She was a member of the Boston College Curriculum for the Retarded Effort in 1967 and was a member of the Mass. State Teachers Committee implementing the Special Education Law of 1974 and instituting Chapter 766 in Quincy Schools.

With her late husband, the Rev. Dr. Marvin Dirks, she was a missionary to China and the Philippines from 1939 to 1945 and spent more than three years in Japanese

Marie's Kitchen

By MARIE J. D'OLIMPIO

A Gourmet Sandwich With Green Tomatoes

Do you find yourself with a few green tomatoes out there in that garden of yours. Or have you picked them and brought them in to ripen. Here is a great recipe for using them given to me by my friend Rick while attending a meeting recently.

RICK'S BACON, CHEESE, TOMATO GOURMET SANDWICH

You'll need:

flour
garlic powder
salt and ground pepper sweet basil
some bacon and favorite cheese

Mix the above dry ingredients all together in a small bowl. (Start off with about a tablespoon of flour and as much seasoning as you like). Slice the green tomatoes in quarter inch slices. Dredge them in the flour mixture and fry in oil until golden brown. Put a layer on a slice of toast, some crispy bacon slices and a slice of your favorite cheese. Cover with another slice of toast, then fry like you would grilled cheese. Rick was right, they are truly delicious and different.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point; Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Four Residents Honored By Houghs Neck Council

Four men, each with more than 20 years' residence, were honored at the Houghs Neck Community Council's Honor Awards Night on Saturday at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

Presented with plaques and citations were: David W. Murphy, 1988 "Good Neighbor"; John "Jack" Nigro, civic contributions; Charles Hagen, 80 years, Distinguished Senior Citizen; and Stephen Marsters, 26 years, 1988 Houghs Neck Hero.

Some 150 friends and relatives attended the dinner. Daniel Bythrow, chairman, was master of ceremonies.

Mayor Francis McCauley presented to Hagen a citation from the Quincy Council on Aging, while Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney gave each honored guest citations from the Quincy City Council.

Marsters, credited with saving the life of Harry Towle of Great Hill by using the Heimlich method when he was choking on a lollipop, received also a citation from the Houghs Neck Legion Post presented by Mary Timcoe, past commander.

He was presented also with a large lollipop by Towle, so that he would "always remember the event."

Responding, Marsters said, "I don't believe I'm a hero. I did what I had to do."

Cheney presented each award winner with a replica of his well-known "Houghs Neck Flounder" pin.

Montclair School Celebrating 75th Anniversary With Special Events

The Montclair School in North Quincy is celebrating 75 years of history this year and graduates, teachers, staff members and principals are invited to participate in the celebration.

Principal Lean Gould said a number of activities are being planned for this "nostalgic and affectionate look back" at the school's quality education and dedication to children and the community during the past three quarters of a century.

Gould invites former teachers, staff members, principals and graduates, particularly those of parental and grandparental age, to contact him at the school at the earliest convenience regarding the celebration. Also, anyone who knows of past graduates are asked to contact Gould.

The Montclair School, located at Belmont and West

Squantum St., was built and opened in 1912. During its first year, there were six rooms for 251 students in grades kindergarten through eight.

Today, there are 21 rooms for 327 students in grades K-five. Besides traditional classes, there are also two classes for emotional growth and development; two non-English speaking classrooms and two classes for academically talented students.

People connected with the school's history are also invited to submit pictures, snapshots, newspaper articles, and other items of memorabilia relating to the school and the community at least 25 years ago. Gould emphasized that all articles will be returned.

As a culminating activity, a reunion will be held in the spring.

One activity that has already taken place is a logo contest. The winning logo, a red school house, was designed by Gregory Craig, a fifth grade student. It will be depicted on the 75th anniversary flag.

The second place logo was designed by Thang Li, a fourth grade pupil. His design, a large encircled "M" for Montclair, will be imprinted on the 75th anniversary sweatshirts later this year.

Also helping to kick-off the celebration is a 10-foot long paper banner created from a computer by Cathy McMann, a second and third grade combination class teacher. The banner, which consists of six colors and symbols such as books, graduation caps, bears the message, "Montclair School 1912-1987, 75 Years of Memories."

It has been attached to a wall inside the school and can be seen upon entering the building at the front door on Belmont St.

Other activities being planned include:

- Balloon Day
- Compositions and poetry on "What the Montclair School Means To Me." Famous or prominent school graduates; history of Montclair and similar themes.
- A 75th anniversary flag to be flown on the flag pole along with the national flag.

Gould, who has been principal for 21 years, the longest tenure of any principal in the school's history, said he is looking forward to meeting former students, teachers and principals.

THE MONTCLAIR SCHOOL, as it appeared when it opened in 1912 at the corner of Belmont and West Squantum Sts., is celebrating 75 years of history this year.

Communicate With Children About Drugs

- You must communicate the facts about how drugs harm people - especially young people. Physical harm, slowed growth, impaired coordination, etc. Social harm, being disconnected from society, loss of friendships, loss of interest. Educational harm, impaired memory and attention levels, and reduced motivation.
  - The fact that you (the parent) do not find drug use acceptable. Many children say their parents never stated this simple principle. Don't forget to point out that these drugs are against the law.
  - The fact that there are lots of positive drug-free alternatives, and you will help your children explore them.
  - The fact that you place high value on your child's good, special qualities. Qualities that drugs can and will destroy or diminish.
  - The power to say NO. A clear message about the behavior you expect; your trust in your child to live up to your hopes; and belief that your child, knowing right from wrong, is smart enough to choose the right to say no to drugs.
- Next week: How to communicate these facts to your children.

Raiders Seek 4th Straight At Medford

By TOM SULLIVAN
The North Quincy football team is on a roll and the Raiders hope to take a four-game win streak into the Thanksgiving finale.

Ken McPhee's North team will travel to Medford's Hormel Stadium Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. game against the Mustangs in hopes of reaching that objective.

Dave Hutchings was the key man last Saturday night when the Raiders came from behind for a 16-6 victory over Waltham, their third win in a row improving their record to 5-3.

Medford takes a 3-4 record into Saturday's game, having beaten Waltham, Everett and Revere, while losing to Woburn, Somerville, Brookline and Arlington.

Hutchings accounted for 10 points in last week's win over Waltham. He brought back memories of Ed McAleny and Jack Leone when he kicked a 38-yard field goal in the last quarter to sew up the victory. He threw a touchdown pass to quarterback Billy MacDougall in a play which took Waltham totally by surprise, and kicked an extra point.

"Wasn't that kick a beauty?" asked McPhee. "We knew he had the leg as he has been hitting them long in practice and just missed a 40-yard field goal earlier this year. Dave had a terrific game."

"This was a total team effort and the offensive line was terrific. And the defense came up with some big plays and several times stopped Waltham on fourth down and short yardage."

"Mike Ainsley, who has been outstanding all year long, makes our offensive line better with his fine blocking and he is an excellent pass receiver. Also, give Dan Gilmartin a lot of credit for the work of the offensive line."

On defense McPhee praised Brian Healey, Dave Joyce, who had an especially fine game; Sean Glennon, Alex Malasi, Keith Gott, Sean McDonough, Tim Baker, Ryan Craig and Ainsley.

He also had good words for McDonough, Glennon, Brian Tobin, Scott Leonard, Malasi, Joyce, Gott, Craig, Billy and Kevin MacDougall and Steve Kohler for their work on offense.

Craig had another big night rushing with 126 yards, giving him 960 yards for the year with two games remaining.

Gott also ran well on occasions and had 44 yards rushing, while Billy MacDougall completed five of nine passes and Hutchings had his touchdown pass.

Early in the first quarter Waltham fumbled a North punt and Jeff Sullivan recovered for North. However, MacDougall's pass was intercepted on Waltham's 47 and six plays later John Cavallaro, trapped behind the line, broke loose and ran 36 yards for a touchdown.

On the first play of the second quarter Ainsley intercepted a pass, giving North the ball on Waltham's 40. Seven plays later Craig went over from the four but Hutchings' kick was no good.

For the second time Sullivan recovered a fumbled punt on Waltham's 34 and, with 51 seconds left in the half, McPhee came up with the key play. MacDougall flipped the ball back to Hutchings, who found MacDougall all alone and fired a perfect pass for 34 yards and a touchdown. MacDougall ran about 20 yards to complete the play.

Hutchings kicked the extra point and North led, 13-6, at the half.

The Raiders had a big edge in play in the second half but failed to capitalize as penalties hurt them, stopping several promising drives.

Midway in the final quarter with fourth down and six, Hutchings kicked his field goal. He was helped a bit by the wind, and it was right on target and cleared the bar with plenty to spare.

Manets, Sailors In Title Showdown Sunday

The Houghs Neck Manets and defending champion Squantum Sailors will clash for the Quincy Youth Football League championship Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium. The Manets are the regular season champions with an unbeaten record and the Sailors finished in second place.

North Jayvees Defeat Cambridge, Bow To Waltham

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 14-6, and lost to Waltham, 20-14, making its record 5-2-1.

Cambridge scored first on a 48-yard interception return. From then it was all North Quincy.

Quarterback Jim Bryan hit Evan Kiley with a 31-yard pass to Cambridge's nine and Desmond Belott scored from there. He added the two-point conversion on a pass from Bryan.

North completely bottled up the Cambridge attack in the second half. Bryan again hit Kiley with a 40-yard touchdown pass to end the scoring.

Kevin Heffernan and Scott Leonard for their offensive play and coach Peter Chrisom had good words for Mike Doherty, Bill Earley, Jason April, Mike Oliva and Mark Kelleher for their defensive efforts.

Waltham had lost only to powerful Leominster and wasted no time, marching 57 yards for its first touchdown, a 15-yard pass being good for the score.

North marched to the Waltham 25, led by Mike Gilmartin, Dave Kiley and Jim Rayne, but the drive was halted. Three straight first downs put Waltham on North's 30 from where the second touchdown was scored.

In the second quarter the teams exchanged interceptions with North's Gary Rowdon intercepting and putting the Raiders on their own 25.

Unable to gain, North was forced to punt and the poor kick gave Waltham the ball on North's 30. Waltham scored again to lead, 20-0.

North came back in the third quarter and, on the opening series, Bryan lofted a beautiful 43-yard pass to Dan Gilmartin for a touchdown and Belott added the two-point conversion on another Bryan pass.

North drove to the Waltham six in the final quarter but Waltham held and took over. North tightened up, forcing a kick. April broke through to block the kick on the four. Gilmartin scored from there.

An onside kick was unsuccessful, Waltham took over and ran out the clock.

Broadmeadows Dominates Wrestling Championships

The Middle School wrestling season came to a close with the city championships at the Broadmeadows gym and the host team, with far more wrestlers than any other school, dominated with seven championships in the 10 weight classes.

80 pounds: 1, Ed Kenney (BM); 2, Matt Colantonio (Atlantic); 3, Thuy Ha (A); 4, Oliver Austria (Central).

90 pounds: 1, Peter Penwarden (BM); 2, Sean Zurlita (A); 3, Scott Graham (BM); 4, Dana Rogers (Sterling).

135: 1, Chris Lorio (C); 2, Mike Gomez (BM); 3, Doug

Heavyweight: 1, Lee Dimeo (BM); 2, John DiGiacomo (C); 3, Steve Fernald (BM); 4, Duane Holmes (BM).

The top four finishers in each division received medals.

Coach John Bogan's BM team finished with a 3-0 record in dual meet competition and easily defeated Central, 42-15, and Sterling, 51-6, in its last two meets.

Meadows winners in both meets were Capt. Ed Kenney, Mike Kane and Dave Bogan. Also winning were Peter Perwarden, Joe Dorsey and Lee Dimeo. Central's winners were Mike Kenney, Chris Lorio and Rob Guarnieri. Brendan Zanolini was Sterling's only winner.

In the most exciting meet of the year Atlantic and Central battled to a 26-26 tie, leaving both schools with 1-1 records.

Atlantic winners were Matt Colantonio, Mike Siggia and Anthony Masone by pin and Kevin Barrett and Christian Zurlita by decision. Central winners were Kenney, Lorio, Guarnieri and John DiGiacomo by pin. Juan Zurlita and Jamie Karvelis tied, 3-3.

In an earlier meet Atlantic defeated Sterling, 36-18. Sterling was hampered by forfeits in the first four weight classes. Sterling winners were Sean Moran and Brendan Zanolini by pin and Mike Elder and Mark Nutley by decision. Atlantic's winners were Anthony Masone and Troung Nguyen by pin.

An excellent crowd attended the city championships including city councilors Michael Cheney and Tim Cahill. John Palma, former North Quincy High wrestler, and Brian Laird, a graduate of Slippery Rock College, did an excellent job as referees.

Among those who helped throughout the four-week program was physical education instructor Barbara Winters, who was present for opening ceremonies every week.

Atlantic Boys, Girls Win Cross Country Title

Team depth proved the difference as Atlantic's boys and girls cross-country teams raced to the middle school city championship.

The Atlantic boys won with 35 points, followed by Broad Meadows, 39; Central, 49; Sterling, 129.

Despite a record performance by Broad Meadows' Shawn Herron, the 3-4-5 finishes by Atlantic keyed the victory.

The Atlantic girls also scored 35 points to win, followed by Broad Meadows, 38; Central, 81; Sterling, 93.

Again, Meadows had the first place finisher and also number two, but could not overcome the team depth of Atlantic.

The boys results:
1, Herron (BM), 7:30; 2, Tony Licciardi (C); 3, Wong Chin (A); 4, Taylor Ahern (A); 5, Mark Sinclair (A); 6, Jerry Marshall (BM); 7, Jim Lencki (BM); 8, Rodger Smith (A); 9, Billy Chu (C); 10, Justin Ackerman (C); 11,

21, Tim Hannon (A); 22, Mike Flaherty (A); 23, Keith O'Callahan (A); 24, Mike Downey (C); 25, Shane O'Connor (BM); 26, Mike Shao (A); 27, Wing Lee (A); 28, Seth Mott (BM); 29, Sheldon Wong (A); 30, Brian Kinnelly (C); 31, Ryan Ackerman (C); 32, Shean Chan (A); 33, Martin Shields (A); 34, T.J. ## North Girls Finish Third In League

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team finished up its best season in years as it placed third in the Suburban League championships last week.

North's girls finished ahead of Waltham, to avenge an earlier tie, but were just edged out for second place by a much improved Cambridge Rindge and Latin team. Newton North won easily with 44 points, capping off an undefeated season.

North Quincy's first finisher was Sherrin Quintiliani in third place, followed by Bridget Toland, 12th, Karen Cashman, 16th; and Joanne Moriarty, 20th. All four girls won awards. Rachel Marshall was 36th to close out the scoring.

"I was very pleased with the team's performance," said coach Jeff Hennessy. "All we need to know is how much we improved over last year. Bridget Toland took off 47 seconds and Joanne Moriarty two minutes off their 1987 times in this meet. Everyone ran well, they have reason to be proud."

North has had to perform without the services of Lindsey McGovern, out indefinitely with a calf injury. Lindsey's presence would have made the difference in the ties and close finishes in our final meets," said Hennessy.

The Raiderettes will compete in the state divisional championships Saturday at Franklin Park.

Squirt As Split

Quincy's Squirt A hockey team broke even in its first two games, defeating Somerville, 7-1, and losing to Triboro, 6-4, at Boston University.

In the Somerville game at South Boston, Quincy got off to a quick 3-0 lead in the opening period.

Brendan O'Brien, Steve Barrett and A.J. Carthas had two goals each and Robbie Callow one. Jaime Murphy had four assists and Dan Hughes and Brian Bartkus one each. Mark Smith was outstanding in goal.

Quincy kept the Triboro game close all the way until an empty-net goal with six seconds left in the game clinched the win. Quincy led, 2-0, at one point. Bartkus and Carthas had two goals each.

Tommy Sullivan and Murphy had two assists apiece and O'Brien, Callow and Eric Griffin one each.

Quincy 18, Malden 6

Presidents Host Winless Revere Saturday

Quincy's football team with a 2-5 record, needed a win badly last week at Malden to keep up its hopes of a .500 season.

Things didn't look good in the first half, but the Presidents put together a fine two-way effort in the second half to come from behind and topped Malden, 18-6, to improve to 3-5.

Jack Raymer's Quincy team will be favored to win its fourth game Saturday when it hosts winless Revere in a 1:30 p.m. game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Revere is 0-7, losing to Arlington, Peabody, Malden, Somerville, North Quincy, Medford and Everett.

"We had a very poor first half at Malden, as they scored on the first play of the game and we couldn't get our offensive moving at all," Raymer said. "But we put everything together in the second half as the defense came up big and we moved the ball well. This was a big win and I have hopes of winding up with a .500 record."

"I just hope we don't suffer a letdown playing a winless team after a good effort. We can't afford to look past Revere to the North Quincy game."

Raymer said a key to the victory was Quincy's ability to stop Malden several times on third down plays, something which has hurt the Presidents in the past.

passes for 127 yards and his 14th and 15th touchdown passes of the season.

Scott Grant had a super day as he caught five passes (he has averaged at least five catches a game) and caught his seventh touchdown pass. On defense he played well and deflected a pass in the end zone on the final play of the game. He caught his touchdown pass with just 39 seconds left in the game to clinch the big win.

Raymer had good words for Bobby Austin, Frank Ilenello, Brian Norris, Joe Baker, Dan Hanly, Tom Morrell, Todd Kimmel, Ennio Eleuteri, Dave Nourse, Scott O'Brien, Grant, Scott Campbell and Marc Miele for their defensive work. Campbell made a nice over-the-shoulder interception on the last play of the first half.

Offensively the Quincy coach hailed the efforts of Tony Madden, Don Hamilton, Morrell, Dave Zupkof-ska, Baker, Norris, Noble, Dennett, Peter Oliveri, Grant, Miele and a newcomer, tight end Jody Beaucham, a transfer from Jeremiah Burke High, playing his first game for the Presidents.

"He is good, big boy and he looks good," Raymer said. "He caught two passes and I think he will help us. He needed a waiver from the MIAA to be eligible and this was the first time we could use him."

Dennett rushed for 56 yards, 54 coming in the second half. Miele made a nice pass reception that was nullified by a penalty.

The game started inauspiciously for the Presidents when Malden's Ed Dicks raced 62 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage.

Quincy held defensively for the rest of the half, but couldn't move the ball.

Things turned around in the second half and in the third quarter Dennett capped a long drive with a 12-yard touchdown run to tie the score. Noble completed three passes during the drive.

Early in the fourth quarter a Noble punt bounced off a Malden player and Grant recovered on the Golden Tornadoes' 26. Dennett ran 18 yards and caught a five-yard pass from Noble for the score.

With time running out Noble hit Grant, his favorite receiver, with a 10-yard scoring pass to end the scoring for the night.

Mite As Outlast Pembroke, 9-8

Quincy's Mite A hockey team, sponsored by DAV Post 79, outlasted Pembroke, 9-8, improving its record to 1-0-1.

Pembroke erupted for seven goals in the opening period, while Quincy scored three goals, two by Robbie Winter, who had four for the game, and one by Tim Wood.

The defense, led by Chris DiMattia and Eric Wood, went to work in the second period and held Pembroke to one goal. Goalie Brian Beaton was sharp with some spectacular kick saves and defensemen Betsy Stone, Derek McTomney and Brian Degan provided excellent coverage in front of the net. Winter, Billy Graney and Scott Cooper scored goals to cut Pembroke's lead to 8-6, with assists for Mike Ryan, Jason Snaith, John Bertucci and Stone.

Quincy tied it up in the third period on goals by John Barron and Mike Sullivan and assists for Ryan and Eric Wood. With 22 seconds left, Coach Kevin Mock (Bruce Wood is assistant) pulled his goalie and with a sixth forward on the ice, Winter took the puck from behind his own net, shifted by the Pembroke defense and scored the winning goal.

The Mite A's will compete in the Thanksgiving Classic at the LaConte Rink in Medford.

Quincy Freshmen Edge Medford On Late Pass

A touchdown pass to Pat Gallagher with 33 seconds left in the game gave Quincy's freshman football team a 14-6 win over Medford, improving its record to 6-1.

"Medford was a very tough opponent and we may have looked past them a little bit. We were lucky to win," said coach Earl Metzler.

Quincy scored on a long drive with Jason Anderson and Peter Eleuteri leading the way. Anderson scored from the three-yard line.

Medford scored the tying touchdown on its next possession with a long, time-consuming drive.

Quincy started its winning march with 1:58 left on its own 40. A 45-yard pass to Gallagher scored the winning touchdown and Anderson rushed for the two-point conversion.

Greg Warren was the defensive star, intercepting two Medford passes, the second coming after the winning touchdown to save the win. Other standouts were Bob Daggart, Ed McCabe, Keith Norris, Steve Distasio and Paul Eleuteri.

Bantam Bs Win 6th Straight

Quincy's Bantam B hockey team blanked Somerville, 9-0, to improve its record to 6-0.

Jimmy Smith scored two goals and Gerard Walsh, David Mullen, Mark Zych, Chris Connor, Steven O'Brien, John Gladu and Aidan O'Donoghue one each. Brian Fitzgerald had two assists and Mullen, Mathew Riley, Walsh, Zych and O'Brien one each. Goalie Stephen DesRoche recorded the shutout.

In their previous game the Bantam B's edged Pembroke, 4-3. Smith and Walsh scored two goals apiece. Sean Hannon had two assists and Walsh one.

Squirt Bs Host Braintree

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team, with a 2-0-0 record, will host Braintree tonight (Thursday) at 6:40, Hingham Friday morning at 11:40 and Somerville Sunday afternoon at 2 at the Quincy Youth Arena.

The team, sponsored by Cablevision, defeated Pembroke, 5-0, and Wellesley, 5-2.

Quincy, North Girls In Tourney Action

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy and North Quincy girls' volleyball teams, co-champions of the Suburban League with 16-2 records, opened state tournament play Tuesday night in the East Central Division 1.

Tom Henderson's Quincy team, which has won the state title three times and lost in the finals twice, opened with league rival Brookline.

Mim Rendle's North girls, who won the state crown last year with a perfect 23-0 record, faced Arlington of the Greater Boston League in their opener.

If both teams won Tuesday, one of them will be eliminated tonight (Thursday) when they meet each other at the Vo-Tech gym at 7 o'clock.

The division championship game will be played Saturday night at 7 at Eastern Nazarene College.

Quincy is seeded second and North Quincy third behind Boston Tech (14-0). Pope John (14-2) is seeded fourth, Newton North (15-3) fifth, Arlington (12-6) sixth, Brookline (12-6) seventh and Mt. St. Joseph's (9-5) eighth. Tuesday Boston Tech played Mt. St. Joseph's and Newton North faced Pope John.

The Quincy-Brookline winner will meet the North Quincy-Arlington victor tonight while the Tech-St. Joseph's winner faces the Newton North-Pope John winner.

Quincy and North split during the regular season and each broke even with Newton North.

"Newton North has an excellent team with two of the finest players around (Jodi Rogers and Christine Sullivan)," said North coach Rendle. "I think they will be a real threat to us."

"It should be an excellent tournament," said Quincy coach Henderson. "It is just too bad that Quincy and North, if we win our openers, have to meet in the second round. But there is nothing you can do about that."

Newton North coach Richard Barton is confident of his team's chances. "I think the two teams with the best chance at winning the tournament are our team and North Quincy," Barton said. "North Quincy has a steady offense but an erratic defense. We are just the opposite. We have a strong defense and our attacking game can be strong but it's not as steady as North Quincy's."

Jodi Rogers is one of the top attackers in the state and plays great defense, while Christine Sullivan is a very strong attacker and a superb setter.

Veterans Amy Guidice and Nancy Laitinen have been outstanding all season for Quincy, while Jennifer Richmond and Christine Barrett also have played well.

Also contributing to the First Ladies' success have been Elizabeth Vo, Melanie and Melissa Sullivan, Randi Gaura and Carmin Weigin.

North has been sparked by Holly Rendle, Deirdre Murphy and Debbie Panaro, while Kara Sullivan, Janelle Neilson, Robin Guilfoyle, Karen Reister, Brenda Hayduk, Julie Detwiler and Sharon Stack all have played well.

The South Div. 1 teams are New Bedford (17-1), Bp. Feehan (13-3), Somerset (13-5), Dennis Yarmouth (9-5) and Duxbury (11-7).

Playing in North Div. 1 are Stoneham (16-2), Dracut (16-2), Chelmsford (16-2), Greater Lowell (10-6), Andover (11-7), Billerica (11-7) and Methuen (10-8).

West Central Div. 1 teams are Milford (18-0), Natick

(17-3), Marlboro (15-3), Wellesley (14-4), Walpole (14-4) and Dedham (14-4).

Chinese Art Lecture At Crane Library

Author and art historian Shirley Glubok will present an illustrated talk at the Thomas Crane Public Library in Quincy Square Tuesday, Nov. 15 at 7 p.m.

SHIRLEY GLUBOK

Her program, which is offered to children age nine and older, teens and adults, will focus on aspects of Chinese art and history treated in two of her books, "The Art of China", one of these books, is part of a series of outstanding art books for young readers. In this volume, Glubok surveys the works of Chinese artists and craftsmen from the Neolithic period to the Ming Dynasty, from simple pottery to exquisite porcelain. Reproductions and photographs illustrate scenes of court life and celebrations, landscapes and animals, vessels and buildings, a rich and varied artistic heritage.

"Voyaging to Cathay: America in the China Trade" which Glubok co-authored with her husband, the late Alfred Tamarin, recreates a fascinating period in America's early history. This book traces America's earliest contact with China and the commerce that flourished between the newly independent nation and the exotic ancient country in the Far East.

This special Children's Book Week program is part of a federally funded library project entitled "East Meets West" which provides a forum for cultural exchange between the Asian community and other city residents.

Merrymount PTO Shoppers Stroll Nov. 28

The Merrymount School PTO's annual Shoppers Stroll will be on Monday, Nov. 28 from 6 to 10 p.m. in the school gym.

Quincy Symphony Orchestra Opens 35th Season With Concert Nov. 18

The Quincy Symphony Orchestra will present the first concert of its 35th season Friday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. in the North Quincy High School auditorium.

The orchestra will be conducted by Francisco Noya. Fudeko Takahashi of Wakefield, will be the violin soloist.

The program will include Overture to "Prometheus" by Beethoven, Violin Concerto in G Minor, Op. 26 by Bruch, Symphony No. 8 in B Minor, "Unfinished" by Schubert, and Finlandia by Sibelius.

FRANCISCO NOYA

FUDEKI TAKAHASHI

Noya, conductor and music director of the orchestra for the 1988-89 season, was born in Venezuela and is now a resident of Boston. He recently earned his Master's Degree in Conducting at Boston University. During this past summer, he conducted the Pro Arte Chamber Orchestra of Vienna where he studied with Mr. Julius Kalmar. Since 1986,

Noya has been assistant conductor of the Greater Boston Youth Symphony. Takahashi, violin soloist, has made frequent appearances at international festivals and has concertized extensively in the United States, Europe, Taiwan, and her native country of Japan. The recipient of an Artist Diploma from the New England Conservatory, she has furthered her studies at the Juilliard School.

WEEK OF: November 10

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're highly perceptive, and you understand the motives of others. You also analyze situations methodically. Emotions run strong - which is an asset and a liability. Work brings rewards over the coming year and by late '89 you gain recognition for your achievements. Family relationships improve through early '89.

AQUARIUS - January 21 - February 19
Business ideas are bright, and the good news is that you can implement some of them. But the best news likely comes from a friend, who's finally feeling more independent.

PISCES - February 20 - March 20
Some distractions may make for a lively, although not highly productive, week. News of a friend's holiday plans should suit you well. Be more than watchful if considering investments.

ARIES - March 21 - April 20
Caution is byword if considering a major change, avoid impulsive actions. Workload may increase after the weekend. Don't procrastinate in making arrangements for the year end.

TAURUS - April 21 - May 22
Business has an old-fashioned, nostalgic feeling. Perhaps you hear from a dear old aunt or have the opportunity to visit a favorite old haunt. Older relative teaches important lessons.

GEMINI - May 23 - June 21
As the year draws to a close you experience a surge in energy that can lead to new challenges. Romance accents the lucky side. Friends are optimistic, thanks to your influence.

CANCER - June 22 - July 22
Good week for sharing ideas and enthusiasm with members of the younger set. Routine tasks become more intriguing, likely because of one of the participants. Friend makes fewer demands.

LEO - July 23 - August 22
Information from a usually reliable source requires clarification before you act on it. A more contemporary approach brings small successes at home. Health survey is a priority.

VIRGO - August 23 - September 22
A touchy family matter can be gracefully handled, but patience is your operative word. Small but steady financial gains may be on tap. Education and travel blend well.

LIBRA - September 23 - October 22
You generally see both points of view, but this week sees you taking an emphatic stand on a cause you believe in. After the weekend the focus is on accounting and budgeting tasks.

SCORPIO - October 23 - November 21
You seem to have a knack with figures this week, and scientific pursuits are accentuated as well. Intuition, however, isn't your strong suit. Best to take a logical approach.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22 - December 22
As year starts to close, make an added effort to tie up loose ends. Status of relationship is likely to improve, but compromise is important. New income opportunity opens up.

CAPRICORN - December 23 - January 20
High points of the week may include local travel, a new work project, and a reunion. Relative is eager to close the generation gap, but may be shy about making first moves.

BORN THIS WEEK
November 10th, actress MacKenzie Phillips. 11th, actor Jonathan Winters. 12th, singer Neil Young. 13th, singer Paul Simon. 14th, actor Brian Keith. 15th, singer Petula Clark. 16th, actor Burgess Meredith.

City Nearing $1 Million Mark In Parking Revenues

replaced 1,800 meters in the parking areas. Asked whether he was satisfied with Kinney's service, McCauley said, "Financially it has been good and it's a plus for the downtown area," adding that only the streets have meters. But the mayor also noted that there have been some "minuses" regarding Kinney's operation. "Clean-up has been a problem. My administration has tried to respond to complaints on trash."

"We have seen an improvement but I don't think it's where it should be," McCauley said, adding that he and his aides routinely inspect the areas. The mayor also said he would address the problem of finding a permanent replacement for the jersey barriers that are found in the lots. "They serve a purpose but aesthetically, they are not a nice thing. We have to find something that does the same thing but looks a little better," McCauley said.

Prior to the City Council meeting Monday night, a representative from Kinney fielded questions about the company's operation in Quincy.

Ed Crehan, regional vice president for Kinney, was asked questions pertaining to the maintenance and upkeep of the city's three lots.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney asked Crehan how often the lots are swept and cleaned. Crehan responded that the lots are swept with a power sweeper three or four times a year for sand and dirt. Furthermore, he said employees pick up debris and glass daily from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Crehan also pointed out

"continual follow up is needed" in order to remove graffiti.

"The graffiti problem is not indigenous to Quincy Square," he said, referring to the Quincy MBTA station.

"There's always room for improvement but I am 85 percent satisfied," Crehan said.

Asked what steps should be taken to make the lots cleaner, Crehan said that would require more men "but that is not a 100 percent guarantee." He also said the public should be educated "to take pride in their community's land."

Despite the answers, Cheney said, "I am not satisfied and I don't think the residents of Quincy are satisfied." He added that he has seen the same trash stay in the same place day after day.

Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan asked Crehan to look into the possibility of having the lots power-swept more than four times a year.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets asked Foley to supply the Council with a list of capital improvements that the city has funded within the lots.

"We could do a lot more to improve the appearance of the Ross parking garage such as plantings. We must invest more money to make the parking areas more attractive," he said.

Next April, a decision will be made whether to renew the contract or resubmit a bid for another company, the mayor said.

McCauley said he is against having the city operate the parking areas.

"I don't favor having the city run it. I favor Kinney or some other private company," he said.

McGrath Proposes PUD Zone For Downtown Area

Cahill, who is "cautiously optimistic" that his plan will be approved, said he hopes it is voted on before the end of the year.

Prior to the City Council meeting Monday, Cahill's plan was discussed. Several concerns, such as traffic, parking and the future character of downtown Quincy were talked about.

Councillor James Sheets said he was concerned about the importance of identifying the potential character for downtown before any zoning changes are made.

Sheets said before a zoning change is made, an objective of the future character of downtown Quincy should be established.

"We must make a decision on what type of character we want downtown Quincy to have. For downtown to be successful, it needs to become a focal point of all of Quincy," he said, adding that the future of downtown should include aspects for residents of all ages to enjoy such as a cultural center.

Sheets said "If we're going to talk seriously about the future of downtown Quincy," then an objective must be established.

"Once we have that, we should make the decisions to accommodate it."

Cahill replied, "We have to create a character but we have to look at the entire picture."

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney said a no height limit ordinance enacted in 1973 failed to attract developers during that decade. Cahill replied that the period was not a good time to work and develop in Quincy.

Cheney also said the plan might have adverse effects on parking and traffic in the area.

"We have to address the traffic problems, parking is a very real issue," he said.

Cahill responded that one plan has already been unveiled to improve traffic flow in the square.

"This plan is very sound. We are addressing the traffic problems."

In defense of his plan, Cahill also vowed to "fight" any developer to ensure that a project is "good for the city and good for the neighborhoods."

He added that if his plan is implemented, it does not mean every 110 foot building proposed would be approved. In fact, his plan would give the Council the right to modify a developer's proposal.

"This is not a blanket zoning change," Cahill emphasized.

"There are no guarantees here. It is only a first step. I want to send a message that we want to encourage a healthy, vibrant downtown."

"This is not an attempt to change downtown Quincy. It is an attempt to encourage it to grow," Cahill said.

Last week, a public hearing was held to discuss Cahill's plan. About 80 people attended, mostly from such groups as the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the Quincy Citizens Association and the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Cahill said the discussion was generally even between opponents and proponents of his plan. One argument raised against the plan was that it is not a plan but rather a zoning change within a specific boundary.

Cahill responded, "I feel it is a plan and it's a step in the right direction."

Cahill emphasized that he is not promoting "sky scrapers" for Quincy Square. "It will now dwarf the historic nature of downtown Quincy. It will allow us to build 30 feet higher with control."

As an example, Cahill said that under this plan, no building could be built higher than the South Shore Bank Building nor the Quincy Center Plaza Building. South Shore Bank is about 110 feet high while Quincy Center Plaza is about 135 feet high.

"I am not promoting sky scrapers for downtown. I'm only promoting height which is comparable with what is already downtown."

"We're talking about building the same types of quality buildings that are presently in the square."

"We're looking to attract quality developers but they have to be willing to work with elected officials. If they don't want to work with elected officials, then they shouldn't come to Quincy," Cahill said.

hearing on Dairy Mart on Oct. 18.

According to a letter written to Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue from Inspector Charles J. Vlassakis, the fan does not constitute noise pollution under Mass. General Laws, the fan registered five decibels above normal noise level while the Department of Environmental Quality engineering regulations state 10 decibels above normal constitutes noise pollution.

Burke told the board that Khan has agreed to shroud the fan and insulate it in an attempt to lessen the noise level to the neighbors.

The board continued the hearing to give Khan the chance to rectify the noise problem and also to obtain a building and electrical permit for the fan.

Hearing Continued On Dairy Mart Complaints

By JANE ARENA

The City License Board Tuesday continued for three weeks a hearing concerning complaints from neighbors about conditions at Dairy Mart East, Inc., 200 Sea St. The complaints concerned illegal pinball machines in the establishment as well as a noisy air conditioning unit which was installed without proper permits by the previous owners.

Atty. George G. Burke, representing Dairy Mart owner Mohammad A. Khan, told the board that the pinball machines had been removed "a long time ago." The board agreed that the pinball machines were no longer an issue.

The fan had been checked by Health and Building inspectors after a previous hearing on Dairy Mart on Oct. 18.

According to a letter written to Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue from Inspector Charles J. Vlassakis, the fan does not constitute noise pollution under Mass. General Laws, the fan registered five decibels above normal noise level while the Department of Environmental Quality engineering regulations state 10 decibels above normal constitutes noise pollution.

Burke told the board that Khan has agreed to shroud the fan and insulate it in an attempt to lessen the noise level to the neighbors.

The board continued the hearing to give Khan the chance to rectify the noise problem and also to obtain a building and electrical permit for the fan.

Point Panther Cheerleaders Plan Weekend Tag Days

The Quincy Point Panther Cheerleaders will conduct a fundraiser this weekend as part of their effort to raise money for a trip to the National Cheerleading Championships in Dallas, Texas in December.

The Panthers squad, the New England Regional champions, will conduct a Tag Day beginning Friday, Nov. 11 and continuing through the weekend at all Quincy area businesses and shopping centers.

The fundraisers are necessary to defray the cost of the trip to Dallas for the championships Dec. 27-30.

If enough money is raised, they would become the first Quincy Team to compete for the national title.

Docket No. 88E0101-P1
To LAWRENCE PETRILLI of QUINCY in said County, BARBARA RAE OF CANTON in said County, ROBERTA P. GOULDING of QUINCY in said County, RICHARD M. PETRILLI of HULL in the County of PLYMOUTH and to all other persons interested.

A petition has been presented to said Court by DOROTHY LAVENDER of WEYMOUTH in the County of NORFOLK representing that they hold as tenant in common an undivided part or share of certain land lying in Quincy in said County and briefly described as follows:

A certain parcel of land together with the buildings thereon situated in that part of said Quincy known as Germantown, lying on the northeasterly side of Bucknell Street, and being shown on plan by P.F. O'Brien & Son dated May, 1927, duly recorded and bounded and described as follows:

SOUTHWESTERLY by Bucknell Street, seventy-eight and 20/100 (78 20/100) feet;

NORTHWESTERLY by land now or formerly of George F. Swift and land now or formerly of Ema M. Rich, three hundred thirty-three and 17/100 (333 17/100) feet;

SOUTHWESTERLY by land now or formerly of the heirs of William F. Hodgkinson, three hundred thirty and 20/100 (330 20/100) feet.

Containing 26.547 square feet.

Said premises are conveyed subject to restrictions of record if any in so far as the same are now in force and applicable.

Title Reference: Norfolk Registry of Deeds, Book 2161, Page 545; setting forth that she desires that - all - of said land may be sold at private sale for not less than one hundred and twenty thousand dollars and praying that partition may be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end that a commissioner be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all, or any part of said land which the Court finds cannot be advantageously divided, either at private sale or public auction, and be ordered to distribute the net proceeds thereof.

If you desire to object thereto, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the sixteenth day of December, 1988, the return day of this citation.

OPEN LETTER TO OUR CUSTOMERS

Recent news articles have announced the closing of Teel's Cabin Restaurant, a South Shore landmark for years, and the opening of The Charlie Horse in its place. We regret the confusion that this has caused and we would like to reassure our customers that The Homestead is still open for business with the same offerings of quality furniture, gifts, accessories, framed prints, potpourri, baskets, hand-made crafts and more, that we have been carrying at reasonable prices since acquiring the store in the Spring of 1987. Back then we saw an opportunity to offer a unique blend of home furnishings and accessories in a country store setting and we continue to be excited about our merchandise. Removed from the hustle and bustle of the malls, and with plenty of free parking, you can shop in peace. You can find the prettiest present, the most charming chair, the perfect print, or the best piece of occasional furniture.

If you have been to "the cutest store on the South Shore", you know what we are talking about. If you haven't been, maybe it's time you stopped in ...

at your leisure, of course.

Who Will It Be?

Nominations Open For 'Citizen Of The Year Award'

Nominations are now open for The Quincy Sun's fourth annual "Citizen of the Year Award."

The award was established in 1985 to recognize an individual for outstanding community service.

Sun Publisher Henry Bosworth emphasized that this is not a popularity contest. A person receiving the most nominations is not necessarily sure of being the final winner.

Anyone nominated just once has the equal opportunity to being named the recipient.

First winner was Tony Siciliano, Deputy Director of Civil Defense and Auxiliary Police Chief. He was selected from 31 nominees.

The second recipient was Ruth Wainwright of Houghs Neck, long-time community volunteer. She was chosen from 43 nominees.

Last year, the award was presented posthumously to Richard J. Koch Sr.

Mr. Koch, active in many charitable and community causes for four decades, died in August of 1987. He was selected from 35 nominees.

The award was presented to his wife, Mrs. Simone Koch, at a reception attended by more than 100 persons, including family members, city officials and representatives of the many organizations he was associated with.

Those nominated the past three years are eligible to be nominated again this year.

Deadline for nomination is Saturday, Dec. 31.

Nominations are now being accepted. Sun readers have the opportunity to nominate the person they feel is the most deserving.

After the nominations close Dec. 31, a judging panel will be selected to make the final choice from the nominations submitted.

A nomination ballot to help the selection process is on Page 5 of this week's issue of the Sun.

If you know someone you would like to see recognized with this award, fill out the form and mail it to:

Nominations may also be dropped off at The Sun office at the above address. Those submitting nominations should identify themselves.

Those submitting nominations can also attach to the ballot a letter describing in more detail the reason for the nomination.

Nominees can be someone in elective office, a member of an appointed board, a clergy member, a teacher or school administrators, a police officer or firefighter, someone in the business community, a sports figure or someone next door who has given freely of his or her time to a worthy project or cause.

Remember, the deadline for the nomination is Saturday, Dec. 31. The name of the winner will be announced in January.

Here is the opportunity for you to voice your opinion as to who should be the Quincy Sun's "Citizen of the Year" for 1988.

Two-Phased Repair Project

Central To Remain Closed Until Spring

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

According to a two-phased repair schedule devised by Quincy officials and the city's engineering firm for the closed Central Middle School, students would return to the school sometime in the spring at the earliest.

School officials including School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci, Mayor Francis McCauley, Building Inspector Matt Mulvey and associates from Gale Engineering announced the schedule at a meeting Monday in the Mayor's office.

Some 476 Central students had to be divided by class and sent to three other Quincy schools last month after it was discovered that a beam supporting the school's roof had shifted. This shift created deep cracks in the ceiling and walls of the school's learning center, making it unsafe.

The School Committee voted unanimously to divide the students by grade and send them to North Quincy High, Broadmeadows Middle School and Squantum Elementary School while Central is closed for repairs.

"It seems to be, from my observations, that everything is going well," Ricci said, referring to the plan.

At Tuesday's meeting, the temporary and permanent repair phases were outlined.

According to Mulvey, the repairs include:

- Stabilizing the roof system with some horizontal "ties."

Tobin To Seek 100% Exemptions On MWRA Rate Increases

One of the top priorities of newly-elected State Rep. Arthur Stephen Tobin is to file a bill that, if passed, would make Quincy residents 100 percent exempt from any Massachusetts Water Resources Authority rate increases.

"It is very possible that this will be the first bill that I file," said Tobin, a landslide victor in the race for state representative in the Second Norfolk District.

However, Tobin will have to wait until early next year before he has a chance to file the bill. After researching the possibility of being seated early in the state legislature, Tobin discovered that he will not be able to because of constitutional restraints.

Instead, he will be sworn in with the rest of the State House delegation in early January.

Tobin said his plan to file the bill stems, in part, from his concern that significantly higher water bills will burden city residents, especially fixed-income households such as the elderly and low-income households.

Revenue from the higher bills will be used to fund the $6 billion cleanup project of Boston Harbor. Referring to the water rates, Tobin said, "These are going to increase steadily."

"My primary concern is for those who are elderly or those who are low-income that are going to have to absorb these increases when it's already difficult to get by," he said.

"We have a lot of people out there who are going to feel this pinch," he added.

Tobin is also concerned about the major role Quincy is being asked to play to solve regional problems, namely the cleanup of Boston Harbor.

Quincy will host an interim sludge processing facility at the Fore River Shipyard for five years, from 1991 to 1996.

"Quincy is contributing an awful lot to help solve regional problems and Quincy ought to benefit in a meaningful, tangible way."

"This would be one way Quincy residents would benefit from their cooperation and sacrifice," he said.

Tobin added, "It's now time to do the right thing and give Quincy citizens some consideration that they deserve and need."

New Contract Agreement:

Four Pay Raises For Police Dept.

The city and the Police Department have reached a contract settlement that includes pay raises for patrolmen and superior officers.

Patrolmen will receive four pay raises over their base salaries. They are:

- Three percent as of July 1, 1987.
- Two percent as of June 30, 1988.
- Six percent as of Jan. 1, 1989.
- Six percent as of Jan. 1, 1990.

The first two increases are retroactive.

Superior officer salaries now have steps of 19, 21 and 23 percent increases over three years.

For example, sergeants will receive increases of 19, 21 and 23 percent over a patrolman's salary; lieutenants will receive those increases over a sergeant's salary and captains will receive the increases over a lieutenant's salary.

Another term of the agreement regards light duty.

If a superior officer is out injured for 30 days, on the 31st day the city has the right to send him to a physician for evaluation.

If the city's physician disagrees with the officer's physician, a third physician will be chosen. Based on the third doctor's evaluation, the officer may be requested to return for light duty, such as answering phones.

Under no circumstances would an injured officer be asked to return for full-duty before 60 days.

Other terms of the agreement include:

- $75 increase in clothing allowance.
- $20 a day sick leave buy back. The city will buy back any left over sick days at $20 a day.

Early News Deadline For Next Week's Sun

Because of Thanksgiving Day next week's Quincy Sun will be published a day earlier.

Package Store License Suspended Two Days

By JANE ARENA

The Quincy License Board Tuesday suspended the license of M.R.H.T., Inc., doing business as Murphy's Package Store, 385 Hancock St., for a period of two days — Thursday, Dec. 2 and Friday, Dec. 3 — after the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission approved the decision in an appeal hearing.

The offense occurred on May 20 of this year when Murphy's sold a case of Budweiser beer to Maurice McCarthy, then age 19, police said.

McCarthy was stopped outside the store by Quincy police who found several pieces of identification in his wallet, including his own which showed him to be 19.

McCarthy told the police officer he had used a driver's license with the name Robert Nichols showing an age of 21.

The ABC Commission report stated that the photo on the Nichols license "was obviously not McCarthy."

The clerk at Murphy's Package Store contended that McCarthy had shown another Mass. driver's license, but no other license was found by Quincy police and there was no supporting evidence of this issue produced by Murphy's before the local board or at the Commission hearing.

The ABC Commission ruled that the two-day suspension action by the Quincy License Board was warranted and approved it.

Seven new firefighters to the Quincy Fire Department were sworn in by City Clerk John Gillis during a ceremony Tuesday in Mayor Francis McCauley's office.

Three of the seven firefighters live in Quincy.

They are:
Jimmy Wong, 25, of 10 Standish Ave., Quincy;
Robert Shea, 32, of 21 Woodward Ave., Quincy;
James Silcox, 25, of 14 Winthrop St., Quincy;
Edward Barnes, 23, of 65 Wayland St., Dorchester; Michael Davis, 27, of 27 Whiting St., Boston;
Adam Gaines, 24, of 32 Bailey St., Boston; and Luis Ruiz, 22, of 626 Tremont St., Boston.

The seven men were selected from a Civil Service list that contained 68 applicants.

Of the 68, 18 were selected to be put through the background investigation

Radon, Lead Paint Testing Seminar Topics

The Quincy Health Services Division of the Department and the Housing Quincy Community Action

Programs Inc. are co-sponsoring a seminar for property owners to be held Thursday (tonight) from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room at City Hall.

Topics to be discussed are Radon testing and Lead Paint testing.

Guest speakers will be Rene Lumaghi, Jr., Housing Inspector for the Health Department, and Paul Hunter, Director of Field Operation at the Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention program, Mass. Department of Public Health.

The program is free and open to all area property owners.

License Board Briefs

The Quincy License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from David Jenkins, representing Citizens Organized to Defend the Environment (CODE), to hold a gathering of fifty people to read a proclamation in front of The United First Parish Church, (facing City Hall), Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 12:30 p.m.
- Granted a request from

Joseph Majari, representing Joe's Pub, 132 East Howard St., for a cabaret license to allow dancing. The board granted the request on a probationary period of six months.

• Granted a request from Edward Lappen of 111 Realty Trust, 94 Liberty St., for a license to store 20,000 gallons of anti-freeze and other automotive products, to occupy the building as a warehouse distribution center.

Quinoil Discusses $5 Million Marina Plan With Residents

Robert Melchin, president of Quinoil Industries, recently met with Quincy Point residents to discuss the proposed $5 million plan to renovate and expand the existing Continental Marina.

The company plans to rename the Marina Bay Pointe Marina. The meeting was arranged by Ward 2 Councillor Ted DeCristafaro.

Quinoil, which has owned the property for a number of years, plans to completely clean, refurbish and renovate the site without significantly altering the use of physical characteristics.

The proposed project, pending a waterway license from the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering and permits from the Army Corps of Engineers, has already received approval from the Quincy Conservation Commission.

Included in the project will be the construction of a 12-foot wide public walkway with two public gazebos. The walkway will be approximately 600 feet in length.

The project will also increase the existing marina by adding 78 berths for a total berthing capacity of 248. A new facility to house approximately 40 recreational boats during winter months is also proposed as well as a repair facility.

Plans also call for the construction of a small restaurant for boaters and local residents as well as a family picnic area which will be highlighted with historical marine items.

$5.7 Million Contract For Pier At Nut Island

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority awarded a $5.7 million contract to the Sciaba Construction Corporation to build the Marine Facilities Pier at Nut Island.

The pier will allow construction materials to be delivered and sludge and demolition debris to be removed from the island by barge.

The roll-on-roll-off pier will reduce potential truck traffic and alleviate additional stress on Quincy's streets.

The pier will extend 370 ft from the Nut Island shore, measure 30 ft wide at its narrowest point and 80 ft at its widest point.

Sciaba Construction Corporation was among six general contractors competing for the project and was the lowest bidder.

The MWRA will also be soliciting bids for construction of freight piers at the Fore River Staging Area in Quincy as well as the former Revere Sugar Refinery, Charlestown.

Adams Historic Site Closes For Season

The Adams National Historic Site which includes the "Old House" or Adams Mansion at 135 Adams St., and the John Adams Birthplace and John Quincy Adams Birthplace at 133-141 Franklin St., have closed for the season.

The site will reopen again April 19, 1989.

The grounds of both sites are open to the public year round, and visitors are welcome.

Durkin Seeks Official Policy On School Building Inspections

School Committeeman Stephen Durkin has recommended to Supt. Robert Ricci that the School Committee adopt an official policy regarding the annual inspection of school buildings.

In a letter, Durkin requested that a policy be adopted at the next school committee meeting which was scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 16.

The letter states: "In the wake of the controversy surrounding the temporary closing of the Central Middle School, I think it would be appropriate for the School Committee to adopt an official policy calling for the annual inspection of all school buildings to ensure that all are structurally safe.

"I would suggest that buildings should be inspected thoroughly each summer by school maintenance personnel, together with the city building inspector, and that the superintendent of schools report to the School Committee regarding such inspections prior to the opening of school each year.

"It is still beyond my comprehension how a dangerous structural condition, such as that found at Central, could have been overlooked. We can only be thankful that the problem was discovered and that a potential catastrophe was averted.

"For the current school year, I would suggest that all of our school buildings be thoroughly inspected for structural soundness.

"I request that these matters be placed on the next School Committee agenda so that official action may be taken," Durkin wrote.

Red Sox Manager Grand Marshal For Quincy Christmas Parade

Joe Morgan, manager of the American League Eastern Division Champions Boston Red Sox, has been selected as the Quincy Christmas Parade Grand Marshal, announces George White, general chairman of the Christmas Festival Committee.

This year's event, the 37th edition, will be held Sunday, Nov. 27 beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Morgan's grandson will accompany him along the parade route, White said.

With the Red Sox nine games out of first place at the All-Star break, Morgan took over as manager and led the Sox to the American League Eastern Division crown. He was recently named the United Press International's "Manager of the Year."

The Christmas Festival Committee unanimously agreed to honor Morgan in recognition and in respect for his dedication and success in the providing of family sporting entertainment for millions of people.

White said, "The Christmas Festival Committee is extremely pleased that Mr. Morgan, along with grandson, will participate as this year's parade grand marshal. We look forward to welcoming him."

Past grand marshals include Gov. Michael Dukakis and his wife, Kitty, Bobby Orr, K.C. Jones, Luis Tiante and John "Jake" Comer, former national commander of the American Legion.

The theme for this year's parade, billed as the largest Christmas parade on the East Coast, is "Enchantment of Christmas."

Thousands are expected to turnout and line the three-mile parade route.

117 Wiring Permits Issued

The Quincy Wire Inspection Department issued 117 permits for an estimated $1,499,951 in wiring during October, reports Wire Inspector Thomas Purpura.

A total of $4,886 were collected in fees during the month.

There were 74 certificates of approval to the Massachusetts Electric Company.

The Wire Department performed 229 inspections and nine reinspections.

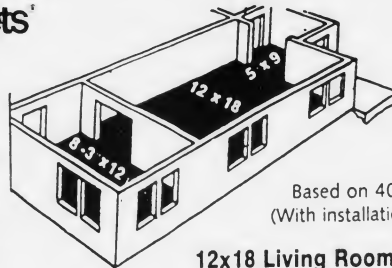

Purpura said two of the major projects for which a wiring permit was issued for is the six unit condominiums at 210 Center St. and the wiring of three elevators in high rise buildings.

Now You Can 'Adopt An Island'

Mayor Francis McCauley and Councillor Timothy Cahill announce the city has begun an "Adopt-An-Island" program.

Traffic islands and small city-owned green spaces can be adopted by businesses, residents, non-profit organizations and service clubs.

Sponsors will be responsible for planting and maintaining the islands from May through the first frost in the fall. The city will provide each island with a sign indicating the sponsor's name.

A list of available islands is being inventoried by the Park Department and will be published in December. Applications will be available at that time.

McCauley said he became familiar with the "Adopt-An-Island" program while visiting Peabody for a recent Massachusetts Mayor's Association monthly meeting. As chairman of the Downtown Economic and Development Committee, Cahill has been concerned with the upkeep of city green spaces, specifically in the downtown area.

Both McCauley and Cahill said this program will aid in the beautification of all of Quincy's neighborhoods.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro has also expressed his support for the program and has been responsible for beginning the program in his area. The Ward 2 Civic Association and Quincy Neighborhood housing Services are maintaining the new Veterans Park at the corner of Southern Artery and Washington St.

Anyone interested in more information should contact Brian Buckley of the Park Department at 773-1380 ext. 267.

Sam's And Jimmy's Night

It was Sam Mele's night and the tributes flowed freely and sincerely from his former Red Sox Teammates.

Sam's long-time friend Ted Williams — mellowed, charming, traditional sport-shirt-no-tie and still very much The Kid at age 70 — said if Sam were playing today, "he'd be a million dollar player."

"Well," he paused, "maybe $900,000."

MELE

"And, he's a great guy!" That kind of set the tone for the tribute to Mele at the Quincy Neighborhood Club's salute to Sam Sports Night last Friday night.

Sam was toasted and roasted — mostly toasted.

The comradery of the Red Sox players of the 1940's and 1950's was quite evident to the full house of smiling club members and their sons.

They and others of their day played baseball pretty much for the game itself and counted hits and strikeouts before money.

And played better and for a lot less than many of today's breed who can't move without an agent holding their hand.

Williams is concerned about today's escalating salaries and wonders where it is all going to end. He thinks it can ruin baseball.

If some of today's players are worth $2 million, or $3 million a guy like Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Mickey Mantle, Jackie Robinson or Willie Mays would be worth $20 million. Maybe more.

The event was also a reunion for the 1947 Red Sox outfield: Williams (left), Dom DiMaggio (center) and Mele in right field. That was Sam's rookie year. Sam played in 123 games that year, hit 12 homes runs, and had 73 RBI and batted .302.

Also on hand was Bobby Doerr, who with Williams, made two Hall of Famers paying tribute to Sam.

Others on hand: Johnny Pesky, Frank Malzone, Eddie Pellagrini, Walt Dropo, Ted Lepcio, Maury McDermott and more current vintage, Mike Andrews, Marty Barrett and general manager Lou Gorman.

And, fellow Quincyite, Dick Donovan.

DOERR

PESKY AND PELLAGRINI introduced Sam to Quincy's pretty Connie Clemens when Sam came to the Sox.

They had met Connie at a Jordan Marsh promotion. Pesky recalled he had Connie's name and phone number on a piece of paper in his wallet and his wife, Ruth, found it.

Pesky said he told her he had the name and phone number for Sam Mele who was coming in from Scranton.

Pesky was the happiest guy around when Sam and Connie started dating.

They were married in January, 1949 and that's how Sam got to be a favorite Quincy adopted son.

YOU MIGHT SAY Connie was a typical young bride — Sam recalled soon after they were married, she decided to surprise him by whipping up a spaghetti dinner.

"One of the meatballs rolled off the table," he laughed "and almost killed the cat."

INCIDENTALLY, if your organization is looking for an entertaining speaker, latch onto Pellegrini. He's a one-man riot. Samples: "One year Ted Williams and I hit 48 home runs together." (He hit two and Williams 46.) And, on Walt Dropo who was also called "The Moose": "He's the only player drafted by both the Red Sox and the Franklin Park Zoo." And Pellagrini gets better as he goes on.

McCAULEY

and Williams quickly found a common ground at a social before the dinner: both are Republicans.

Later there was a "drawing" among the Red Sox teammates of Mele's conducted by McCauley. The purpose was to make one of them an Honorary Citizen of Quincy.

McCauley said the drawing would be by their old uniform numbers. And, then No. 9 was drawn.

Williams' eyesite is still as sharp as when he was knocking baseballs out of the park. He quickly noticed his name was already on the citizenship citation McCauley had stacked the drawing with No. 9's.

McCauley told Williams that with the honor goes a responsibility. Now that he was an honorary citizen of Quincy he was subject to an annual excise tax.

LOOKING AT THE turnout for Mele, McCauley noted that Mele could run for mayor and win and asked him to "wait until I get out of office."

McCAULEY also had a citation from the City of Quincy along with one from the Massachusetts Senate from Senator Paul Harold.

"If I don't get my trash collected tomorrow," said Sam. "I'm giving this back."

It was not only a night for Sam but for the Jimmy Fund, too.

Sam, who would rather applaud others than take a bow himself, consented to being honored on one condition: that all the proceeds go to the Jimmy Fund. He hit a grand slam.

Goodwill Auctions On Wednesdays

Every Wednesday at 7 p.m. there will be a Goodwill auction at the Goodwill Bargain Basement Store, 126

LIFE INSURANCE

Let's try to determine the purpose of life insurance, a true financial vehicle to fulfill a need in everyone's personal life. Life insurance basically is a death benefit based upon a moral obligation to our loved ones. It fills a void of needed income caused by the death of the insured. The life insurance industry today is in a tremendous state of transition. The transition evolved around the 1987 tax law which simply states that there is to be no tax on the cash value and dividends of a life insurance until the policy is cancelled and the cash balance is withdrawn. The presumption behind such a law is, of course, that by the time the insured withdraws cash on the policy, he or she will be at retirement age and in a lower tax bracket.

Many people fear discussing life insurance for any number of reasons. Our Agency knows you and your family on a personal basis. We will listen to you, then decipher and prepare what you need. We'll give you several alternatives you can afford.

At Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. our insurance professionals are happy to discuss the many protection options available today. Please give us a call at 471-8200 or stop by our office at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

Kenneth Worth:

His Bad Back Results In New Teaching Career And Help For Those With M.S.

By JANE ARENA

Sometimes bad luck can bring about good changes. That was the case with Quincy Vocational Technical School teacher, Kenneth Worth.

In 1962, Worth had his own construction business, a trade he loved and still loves. Back surgery that year had him laid up for a month, after which he was back in construction. In the early 1970s though, when he began missing work due to his back problems, he made the decision to go back to school to get his Vocational Education degree.

In 1971 he began teaching cabinet making at Quincy Vo-Tech. Seventeen years later, he's still there, a respected and much admired instructor.

His back problems also brought about another change. As a form of physical therapy, Worth always an avid bicyclist, began riding his bike even more frequently, sometimes 40 or 50 miles a day.

Worth's bicycle is much more than a hobby for him though, it's a tool for invaluable charity work.

Teacher Profiles

He has participated in numerous road races for the Multiple Sclerosis Foundation, and is the oldest member of their "$2,000 Club," having raised $2,265 in the 150 mile "Great Mass. Escape Race."

His dedication to M.S. is largely for personal reasons. He has a brother who is victim to the disease.

"I've watched how the disease has dilapidated him," he says, "he had to retire...I just want to do what I can. I hope that I can help so that someday they can find a cure for it."

This same sort of dedication is evident when he talks about his teaching as well, although he's quick to admit that teaching wasn't always something he wanted.

"My wife nagged me for years," he says playfully, "and for years, I resisted...she wanted me to go into something more stable, like teaching."

But, having made the decision, Worth is obviously happy with it.

"I enjoy working with kids," he says, "I'm not crazy about the system, but I love working with the kids."

When he recalls former students, he talks about them with an almost paternal pride.

"There was one young woman who came recommended by the Special Needs people," he says. "She was sort of a rebel. She came into the program and isolated herself from the boys in the class, she was the only girl. She completely isolated herself. Eventually she really became a part of the group and that was great to see. She went on to Wentworth and is now on her way to a degree in Architectural Engineering."

Worth says he has seen many students come to Quincy Vo-Tech for the wrong reasons. ("Because their girlfriend is there, or they think the studies will be too hard in another school") but he's seen many more serious students and is plainly happy to have had a part in their lives.

"When a student comes back to me later, that's gratifying. If I didn't have that, I wouldn't do it," he says.

Remembering a former teacher of his own who helped him overcome a stuttering problem when he was a boy, Mr. Worth truly understands the potential value and responsibility of teaching receptive minds. He knows first hand the mark a teacher can leave on a student.

"I'm happy to have some influence on their lives," he says of his students. "That's a very satisfying feeling, and that's the best part of teaching."

"Any serious teacher will tell you," he continues, "that it's the successes your students become that's the best part. No serious teacher will mention the summer vacation, or the hours, or anything."

Worth and his wife of 39 years, Ursula, have two grown children of their own, Jeffrey and Heidi, and he talks about their success with as much pride as he does about the students he's influenced.

His daughter, he explains, announced at the age of 12 that she was going into medicine. What's more, she also said that she'd study at Harvard. Her intentions have since been realized.

At nearly 60, Worth says he can't imagine knowing so completely, and at such an early age, exactly what you want to do with your life.

"I love teaching," he says, "But I might change my profession tomorrow if I thought I could."

Worth has enough experience in other areas so that one gets the feeling that he probably could make a career change if he really wanted to, regardless of his age.

Aside from teaching, woodworking, and bicycling, he is also interested in photography, having served in Germany in the Army Signal Corps in Communications. In addition, he is certified by the National Rifle Association as a rifle and pistol instructor. He is currently a coach on the Quincy Rifle Team.

Kenneth Worth is obviously happy with his life. He is proud of his teaching career, he is a devoted husband and father, and is dedicated to charity work.

But at the same time he gives the impression that he's not entirely content and far from set in his ways. At moments his face betrays an almost child-like curiosity and general excitement.

"I still want to do everything that there is to do!" he says.

"If I had my druthers, I'd still have my own construction business," he says infallibly but without regret. "I really did love it...it keeps you in good shape and I love the outdoors...if I hadn't had a bad back I wouldn't have gone into teaching, but I wouldn't have found the joys of teaching either."

Quincy's Yesterdays

Local Ballots Protested In State Election

The election was over but the problems lingered on. Democrats supporting losers John E. Swift for lieutenant governor and John P. Buckley for attorney general protested every ballot cast in Quincy as being in violation of state election laws.

They complained to City Clerk Emery L. Crane that precinct wardens failed to seal the votes in envelopes; instead, placed them in unsealed envelopes and sealed the envelopes in a package.

Meanwhile, Crane refused to accept a petition from Ray P. Clisham of the Leander-for-Mayor Committee asking a recount in Ward 6. Crane said it was requested only to settle an election bet.

Carl A. Leander finished third in the Mayor's preliminary contest, gathering 510 votes to 1,450 for Thomas J. McGrath and 1,449 for Charles A. Ross, whose names would appear on the December ballot.

In yet another post-election squabble, City Solicitor J.J. McAnarney ruled that Park Board Chairman William M. Trusselle, one of six successful nominees for City Council, could not withdraw his name.

Marie's Kitchen

By MARIE J. D'OLIMPIO

Sue's Apple Delicious

Our daughter Sue had been visiting from Germany and every once in a while she welcomed the change from two babies to do some cooking. And so it was one night when she prepared the whole meal from soup to dessert. Here is a dessert she made with those great fall apples so prevalent these days.

SUE'S APPLE DELICIOUS

4 cups apples
1 cup flour
1/4 tsp nutmeg
1/4 tsp cinnamon
2 Tbsps white sugar
2 Tbsps brown sugar
4 oz shredded cheddar cheese
(the sharper, the better)
1 stick butter

Peel and slice the apples. Place in a lightly greased casserole dish. Mix all the dry ingredients together. Cut the butter in squares and then add it to the dry ingredients using your hands if you have to until the mixture resembles coarse oatmeal. Add the cheddar cheese. Pour all of this over the sliced apples. Bake in a 350 degree oven uncovered until top is crisp, (about 30 minutes). Serve either plain or with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream. It was so easy to make and can be prepared ahead of time.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point; Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Pilgrim Women Topic For Quincy Women's Club

"A Day in the Life of a Pilgrim Woman" will be the subject of Dorothea Bowles of Plimoth Plantation at the Tuesday, Nov. 22 meeting of the Quincy Women's Club at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell St., Quincy.

A coffee hour will be held at 12 noon, followed by a business meeting with Mrs.

John Dobbie, president, presiding.

Hostesses will be the American Home Committee, with Mrs. Arthur Peterson, chairman.

QHS Vo-Tech 1978 Class Reunion Nov. 25

The Quincy High School-Quincy Vocational Technical School Class of 1978 will hold its 10th anniversary reunion Friday, Nov. 25 at Blue Hills Country Club, Canton beginning at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $15 per person and include hot and cold hors d'oeuvres and a roast beef dinner. A cash bar and dancing will also be available.

Tickets must be purchased in advance and are available by calling Richard Coose at (508) 559-2087, Dan Walsh at (617) 770-1614 or Randi (DiPietro) Ives at (508) 697-7575.

'Diamond Starlight Tophatters' A Benefit Hit For Fr. Bill's Place

By EDNA ABBIATTI

A recent benefit for "Father Bill's Place," a Quincy shelter for the homeless, was held at the Viking Club in Braintree.

Those who attended were more than rewarded with a delightful evening of music and entertainment. The program, "The Diamond Starlight" was performed by the "Tophatters."

The cast, all members of the choir of the Church of St. John the Baptist, costumed in tuxedos and glittering tophatters, performed with professionalism.

A backdrop painted by John Ross provided an effective addition to the cafe stage set.

Credit for the success of the evening is due in large measure to Phyllis Ross, organist at St. John's Church. Miss Ross not only composed the words and music for the entire program, but directed the cast and was the accompanist. Also, as piano soloist, she performed her own composition, "For You Alone, My Concerto."

As master of ceremonies, Father Gary Sullivan of St. John's Church, outdid himself as a performer. He regaled the enthusiastic audience with impersonations of well-known personalities as he introduced each number. The highlight of his performance came when, introduced as "Fr. Anthony Newley," he sang, "Please Think of Me."

Soloists included Paul Delorey, Jim Hubbard, Mary Kirby, Roger Laberge and Yolanda Romanelli.

Francine Jancaterine and John Ritchie performed dance numbers.

Other cast members included Rosemary Cutone, Claire Daley, Mrs. Russell

Fruzzetti, Mrs. Jeff LaPointe, Mrs. Richard LaPointe, Mrs.

Steve Lindsay, Mrs. Paul Todd and Ginny Ross.

"Father Bill," the Rev. William R. McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, for whom the shelter has been named, was unable to attend as he is recuperating from a recent illness.

Although he was missed, the cast as his substitute, sang his number, "We're Singing A Happy Song."

Among the final selections was "Father Bill's Place," an appropriate offering written especially for the program.

In closing the program, Miss Ross thanked all those who participated.

The committee which planned the successful benefit included Mrs. Daniel Shea, chairperson; Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald and Mrs. Peter Caciccia, ticket chairpersons; Mrs. Thomas Kenney and Mrs. Richard LaPointe, decorations; John Ross, scenery.

$47,500 Grant To Replace Roof On Pagnano Towers

Secretary of Communities and Development Amy S. Anthony announces an award of $47,500 to the Quincy Housing Authority which will be used to replace a roof on the federal public housing development Pagnano Towers.

The award is part unique state effort to target $50 million in state funds to rehabilitate public housing which was built with federal assistance decades ago.

The $47,500 awarded to Quincy will be used to install a new roof on the Pagnano Towers development.

Anthony noted that without the state's support this project could not begin at this time.

"The federal government has simply not provided the money necessary to complete the repairs that must be done," said Anthony. "These state funds will allow the Quincy Housing Authority to begin work right away and complete this important project."

A total of 12 housing authorities will share approximately $50 million as part of the state's federal public housing modernization program.

Project Impact Teams Present Drug, Alcohol Abuse Programs

Project Impact team members recently presented programs to the faculty at Atlantic and Broad Meadows Middle Schools and North Quincy and Quincy High Schools after receiving eight days of training at the Northeast Regional Training Center Conference.

Project Impact (initiate, motivate, prepare, activate community teams) addressed the issue of drug and alcohol abuse.

The team members listed their objectives as follows: Understanding substance abuse prevention, identifying model prevention and early intervention programs; Understanding how attitudes and values contribute to alcohol and drug abuse;

Identifying and using local regional resources; Developing action plans; Developing policies and procedures regarding alcohol and other drugs of abuse; and mobilizing the efforts of parents and other community members.

Each team also presented two action plans to address problems within their own school or community.

Members of the school faculty will be asked to present problems they see and new teams will be formed to select, analyze, suggest solutions, idealize goals and set strategies to solve these problems.

This is the next step in the relationship between the Quincy Public Schools and the Northeast Regional Training Center. The leadership conference for administration, residential training, and re-entry outreach phases have all been held.

The next step will be the expansion training phase during which forty additional trainees will be selected from schools and communities to join those presently involved. This training will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, January 20 through 22.

School and community members are invited to attend a presentation similar to that given to faculty members to be held at the Quincy High School Method Center on Monday, Nov. 28 at 7:30 p.m.

Drugbusters Program At NQHS Thursday

Sara Edwards of WBZ's Evening Magazine will lead a Drugbusters' program at North Quincy High School tonight (Thursday), at 7:30 p.m.

Several hundred fifth and sixth grade Quincy students will participate in the special substance abuse program, "Drugbusters." Sponsored by the Governor's Alliance Against Drugs, in cooperation with WBZ-TV 4 as part of their For Kids' Sake Campaign, this program has been brought to more than 50,000 students throughout Massachusetts over the past three years.

"The Puppet Trio," includes three skits emphasizing peer pressure, drug abuse, and family communication. Following each skit, audience participation will be coordinated by Sara Edwards, co-host of Channel 4's Evening Magazine.

Drugbusters is presented during evening hours so that parents may attend with their children and have the opportunity to learn skills to assist them in helping their children make important decisions about their health.

Students from parochial schools have been invited to participate in this community approach to reach all of Quincy's young people on this issue. Students and parents will receive several visual aids and may select from a variety of substance abuse materials which will be available to them.

More information about the program may be obtained by calling Louis A. Marciano, Quincy Public Schools, at 786-8755 or 786-8700.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Many people are afraid to face their troubles and problems head on. They often feel, if they ignore the problem, it will either go away or eventually correct itself. But no problem corrects itself. Nor does it normally go away. Many times problems are like snowballs ...

they just keep growing and growing.

Everyone in this old world of ours has had his share of problems and troubles ... major and minor. It seems human life and human nature, being as it is, combines to keep us from being perfectly satisfied with our lot in life.

Granted, it does help to realize that one is not alone ... there are others on whom misfortune lights. Let us remember others are fighting their battles with trouble and problems and are winning them. And we can, too. Let us count our blessings as well as our burdens and try to do our best ...

Couldn't it be said that 'when it gets right down to it,' it's not what happens to us, but what we do about it that really counts?

Any comments on this or any other thought you read here are most appreciated and welcome ...

Children To Bake Thanksgiving Bread At United First Parish

Sunday is Thanksgiving Sunday at United First Parish Church, "Church of the Presidents."

The children of the Church School will bake Thanksgiving bread and then distribute, still warm from the ovens, to the adult congregation at the end of the 10:30 a.m. service. There will be an in-gathering of canned foods for the Protestant Social Service Bureau and fresh vegetables for DOVE, "Domestic Violence Ended," a shelter for battered women. The children will enter in procession at the beginning of the service bringing the vegetables to the communion table as the congregation sings "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come."

Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will deliver a sermon titled "Season and Savior." The church choir, under the direction of Norman Corey, will sing anthems by Mendelssohn and Willan. Mr. Corey will also play organ works by Bach, Wyton and Scheidt.

The youth choir, under the direction of Sally Bohl, will sing "Now Thank We All Our God."

The service begins at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome and are invited to the Social Hour following the service. Susan McKeon, Elaine McKeon and Lillian Cullum will be hostesses. During the Social Hour, Norma Cairns, with the Church World Service, will be offering for sale a display of crafts by artists in third world countries.

Historic First Parish Church is located in Quincy Center at 1306 Hancock St., opposite City Hall. Call 773-1290 for information.

Ecumenical Thanksgiving Service At Blessed Sacrament

The 13th annual Ecumenical Thanksgiving Worship of peninsula area churches will be held Sunday, Nov. 20, at 7:30 p.m. at Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Darrow and Sea Sts., Houghs Neck.

Rev. Richard DeVeer of St. Boniface Church will give the message.

Senator Paul Harold will read the Governor's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Rev. Denis O'Driscoll, pastor of Most Blessed Sacrament Church, and Rev. Joseph Veneto, Senior Priest in residence, will take part, along with James Curtin, pastor, and Sister Regina Harrington of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount.

Also participating will be Rev. Gary Jones of Bethel Church of the Nazarene; Rev. Francis Kelley of St. Boniface Church; Rev. Dr. Peter V. Corea and Rev. M. Alicia Corea of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church.

The offering will be given to Father Bill's Place.

Organist will be Jeannine Horan of Most Blessed Sacrament Church, while John Flavin of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church will direct an ecumenical choir of singers from the various churches.

Parishioners and minister of the Quincy United Methodist Church, Rev. David Hoyt, have been invited to join with members of the five peninsula churches.

A fellowship hour at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall will follow with members of Most Blessed Sacrament Church as hosts. Others are asked to bring refreshments to share.

'We Have Everything' Wollaston Congregational Topic

Thanksgiving Sunday will be observed at the Wollaston Congregational Church, Lincoln and Winthrop Aves., with a sermon entitled "We Have Everything" delivered by Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern.

Lay scripture reader will be Joseph Pinel and acolyte will be Jennifer Walker. Greeters will be Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pinel and ushers, Mr. and Mrs. John Zinkus.

Nursery care is provided for infants and toddlers. Church school for grades 1 through 12 will meet at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary. Following the children's service they will go to their respective classes.

The senior choir, under the direction of Donald A. Reade, organist-director, will present selections and the congregation will sing "Now Thank We All Our Lord."

A fellowship hour will follow the service.

The Youth Fellowship will hold its meeting in the Social Hall on Sunday from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

The Task Force will meet Monday in the Social Hall at 7:30 p.m.

On Tuesday the Worship Study Group will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mary and Paul Gifford.

The annual Christmas Fair will be held Friday, Nov. 18 from 7 to 9 p.m. and on Saturday, Nov. 20 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

'Psalm of Thanksgiving' Covenant Congregational Topic

The 10:45 a.m. worship service sermon at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., will be delivered by Rev. Fred Lawson and will be entitled "A Psalm of Thanksgiving."

The choir, directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, Minister of Music, will sing "Anthem for Thanksgiving" by Billings. Luisa Dano, soprano soloist, will sing Handel's "Thanks Be To Thee," the prelude will be "Nun Danket" by Bach and the postlude will be Bach's "Fanfare Fugue."

Sunday School, with classes for ages nursery through adult will be held prior to the service at 9:30 a.m.

During the service a nursery will be available for children ages five and under. The attendant will be Nancy Johnson. For children up to 12, there is a junior church led by Linda Day.

Weekly activities at the church include Choir rehearsal on Wednesday at 7 p.m., "Coffee with the Editor," sponsored by the Patriot Ledger on Thursday (tonight) at 6 p.m., and a meeting of the Trustee Board on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

On Wednesday, Nov. 23, the traditional Thanksgiving Eve service will be held at 7:30 p.m. The sermon will be entitled, "Overflowing Blessings." Choir rehearsal will precede the service at 6:45 p.m. A fellowship hour will follow in Person Hall. Each family is asked to bring a pie to share.

For further information on any church activities, call the church office at 479-5728.

Thanksgiving Celebration At Bethany Sunday

A Thanksgiving celebration will be held Sunday, Nov. 20, at the 10 a.m. worship in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, Coddingdon and Spear Sts., Quincy Center. The usual early morning chapel worship will be omitted.

Fruits, flowers, vegetables, corn stalks and pumpkins will decorate the altar and chancel, arranged by John and Lisa Andre and Bruce Byorkman, with their committee.

Persons attending the service are requested to bring a food offering of canned goods, dried or packaged food, in family or individual sizes. This could include baby food, dried milk in packets, canned meats, soups, spaghetti and canned vegetables.

All good will be dedicated at the altar. Following the service, all items will be taken by the Youth Fellowship to the Protestant Social Service Bureau's "Pantry Shelf," to be distributed to the needy.

Church School children will attend the first portion of the service, and then go to their classrooms for half-hour sessions. Provisions are available for babies and toddlers, directed by Pamela Ford Curran, Bethany's early childhood coordinator.

Pledges of giving by members and friends of Bethany in support of its 1989 budget will be brought forward during the service and dedicated on the altar as a "Thank Offering."

The Chancel Choir directed by Charles J. Blue, organist, will present Handel's "Thanks Be To Thee" as the offertory anthem. Bach's "Now Thank We All Our God" will be the hymn-anthem in which the congregation will join in singing.

The Cherub Choir, directed by Marsha Archer and Sandi Jones, will sing "If I Were A Butterfly," composed by Brian Howard. Lora Huntington, guitarist, will accompany them.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon, "Gratitude: A Style of Life" based on the Gospel of Luke 17:11-21. Darryl K. Mikami will be lay scripture reader.

Louise B. Forsyth, church moderator, will read an excerpt from the 1623 Plimoth Journal of Gov. William Bradford. Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will be liturgist and lead the "Responsive Prayer of Thanksgiving."

The Thanksgiving Service will be broadcast over South Shore Radio Station WJDA, 1300 kc.

A fellowship time with light refreshments will follow the worship in the Allen Parlor.

For additional information concerning any of Bethany's programs and ministers, those interested may call the church office at 479-7300.

CODE Citizens Group Formed To Fight Waste Incinerator

Residents from Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree and Hingham have formed a group called CODE Citizens Organized to Defend the Environment.

The organization has been established for the purpose of stopping the construction of a hazardous waste incinerator on the Weymouth Fore River by Clean Harbors, Inc., the largest hazardous waste firm in the Northeast. The proposed incinerator site is surrounded by several heavily populated neighborhoods and would burn 90,000,000 pounds of hazardous waste yearly, CODE members said.

Members of CODE gathered in front of Quincy's United First Parish Church Wednesday to read and sign

The Citizens' Notice of Intent, which announces CODE's formation and its intention to stop construction of the proposed hazardous waste incinerator.

The document also declares that residents of the South Shore will not negotiate their health and safety and will not trade lives or dollars.

Paul Shanahan, CODE member and vice president of the North Weymouth Civic Association said,

"The Citizens Notice of intent shows that people are not going to settle for anything less than the complete withdrawal of the incinerator proposal. We have no intention of tolerating this abomination."

CODE member David Jenkins noted: "People in our communities have worked too hard and long developing their homes and raising their families to allow their health and their quality of life to be threatened by the improper and inappropriate siting of a hazardous waste incinerator in their midst."

Jenkins read the Citizens Notice of Intent and then representatives of various area civic groups signed the document.

Robert Jabaily made the closing remarks.

"We have drawn the line and told Clean Harbors and the state government not to cross that line," he said.

Jabaily urged all concerned to join CODE and called upon public officials to join the battle against the incinerator."

Gasoline Storage At Muffler Shop Approved

By JANE ARENA

The Quincy License Board Tuesday granted a request from Joseph Cappadonna of JAC, Inc., doing business as Meineke Discount Muffler Shop, 662 Southern Artery, for 120 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of about six cars, and 30 gallons of miscellaneous inflammable gasoline to work on automotive exhaust and brake systems.

The board told Cappadonna that the area has a lot of traffic, especially during the summer months, because of its proximity to a boat yard and other area business including Eddie's Auto Body Shop which is located in the rear of the building.

The board also said that parking may be a problem at the site as well.

Atty. Carl Johnson, representing JAC, Inc., told the board that Cappadonna had spoken to the landlord of the property and that parking will be available in the rear of the building, separated from Eddie's Auto Body Shop by a fence.

Johnson also told the board there would be no more than 20 to 25 cars at the site for service during a business day, but that there would only be about six cars at any one time.

Johnson said Cappadonna plans to spend $50,000 on improvements to the existing building and property, including a new office, a waiting area for customers, and a lift for the cars.

Ward 2 Councillor Ted DeCristafaro said he has no problem with the license being granted as long as there is ample parking available.

After going to the site in person to view the parking availability, the board granted the license.

Saturday Science School At Quincy High

Quincy High students who have fallen behind in their science studies now have the opportunity to attend remedial sessions on Saturday mornings.

The Saturday program, which is also open to students seeking enrichment, is funded by a Horace Mann Grant.

Students are referred to the Saturday School by their regular science teacher. The teacher then submits a lesson plan for each student to the Saturday School teacher, who supervises the student's work on Saturday mornings. The Saturday School staff includes Janet Corrigan, John Sullivan, and Ray Whitehouse, all of the Quincy High School Science Department.

The goal of the Saturday School program is to encourage each student to be as successful as possible in his/her study of science at Quincy High School.

The Honors Program also offers a variety of social, recreational and cultural activities such as speaker series and films. Honor students also have the opportunity to live with other Honors students in the University dormitories.

School Committeeman Frank Anselmo, a veteran of World War I, was the keynote speaker at Quincy's Veterans' Day ceremonies held last week.

Anselmo, who recently turned 90, was chosen as the keynote speaker by the Quincy Veterans Council in observance of the 70th anniversary of World War I.

He spoke at the Doughboy statue at the Quincy Historical Society's Adams Academy headquarters, Adams and Hancock Sts. in front of a crowd of about 150 people.

Anselmo, who also served three years in World War II, spoke not only about the wars in which he served, but went back as far as the Revolutionary War, noting that "in order to appreciate the present and the future, we must look back at where we've been."

He said that all American wars were fought "to make the world safe for democracy." "That's why I volunteered with thousands of others in World War I," he said, "to make the world safe for democracy."

Anselmo also made observations about the future, stating that, because of the men who have fought for their country in the past, "we have nothing to look forward to but a better life and a better future, not for us, because or (generation's) work is practically done, but for the youth of this generation and generations to come."

Anselmo was born in Italy and had lived in South America until the age of 14 when his parents sent him to live with an aunt in the United States.

While attending high school, he volunteered for service in World War I and served in the Panama Canal Zone.

"In my heart there is nothing but gratitude," he said, "I came as an immigrant to this country... I consider myself a lucky man."

Annual vaccination against influenza is recommended for the following people:

Adults and children with long-term heart or lung problems, residents of nursing homes and other chronic care facilities, healthy people over age 65, people of any age who, during the last year have regularly seen a doctor or have been admitted to a hospital for treatment for kidney disease, cystic fibrosis, anemia (low blood pressure) or severe asthma; people who have a type of cancer or immunological disorder (or use certain type medications) that lowers the body's normal resistance to infections after checking with their physician; children and teenagers (6 months-18 years) on long-term treatment with aspirin who, if they catch the flu, may be at risk of getting Reye Syndrome; Health care workers or others providing care to high risk persons, anyone who wishes to reduce his or her risk of catching the flu.

Persons who would not be given the flu shot include those with an allergy to eggs or egg products.

Anyone who has ever been paralyzed with Guillain Barre Syndrome, as well as women who are or might be pregnant, should seek advice from their doctor about special risks that might exist in their cases.

Persons who are ill and have a fever should delay vaccination until the fever and other temporary symptoms have gone.

Stewardship Sunday Observed At First Squantum Church

It was Stewardship Sunday at the First Church.

The financial pledges for the year 1989 made by members and friends of the church were dedicated with the morning offering.

The topic of the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin's sermon at the service was "The Light That We All Need."

Prayers of intercession were offered by Dr. Langevin for Tore Wallin in Deaconess Hospital, Ann Johnston's husband in the Massachusetts Respiratory Hospital, Helen Miller, now at home again, Barbara Anderson at Quincy City Hospital, Leif Thornton at the West Roxbury Veteran's Hospital, and Jack and Ruth Westerbeck in the recent loss of Ruth's brother.

Stewart and Mary Scott were the greeters, Harry Holmes and Stewart Scott, the ushers, and Ellen and Lori Ogilvie hosted the Fellowship Hour after church.

The Board of Christian Education is planning the annual "Hanging of the Greens" for Nov. 26, the Saturday after Thanksgiving, at 6 p.m. Patti Hurd, chairman of that board, made a request to the congregation for certain unusual craft supplies. Visitors from the community will be welcome to attend and participate.

The Board of Trustees met this week Wednesday evening. The Nominating Committee will meet Sunday, Nov. 20, at 7:30 p.m. The Board of Deacons will meet Monday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m. The Bible Study Group will meet again Tuesday, Nov. 22, at 7:30 p.m.

This Sunday will be Thanksgiving Sunday. The morning will begin with an every-member breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and will continue at 10:30 a.m. with the morning service. Reservations for the breakfast can be made by calling 328-4367.

Sits In On Budget Session

Tobin Gets Warm Welcome At State House

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Although newly-elected State Rep. Arthur Stephen Tobin will not be seated early, he has already gotten his first political feet wet at the State House.

Tobin sat in on Monday's House Ways and Means Committee budget meeting attended by key officials, including Secretary of Administration and Finance Frank Keefe and Richard Voke, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Tobin, who wanted to be seated early, was told by House Clerk Robert MacQueen that he could not because of constitutional restraints. As a result, Tobin will be seated with the rest of the State House delegation in early January.

While at the State House Monday, Speaker George Keeverian recognized Tobin and the delegation gave him a standing ovation.

"It made me feel proud and optimistic," Tobin said.

Tobin said he attended the House Ways and Means Committee meeting in order to better understand the state's budget problem. He said the meeting isolated on the need to reduce spending.

According to Tobin, the meeting "confirmed many of our worst fears as to the status of the budget."

He said the deficit projection for the first half of fiscal 1989 is around $600 billion.

One of the reasons for that deficit projection is the fact that the fiscal growth during the first four months of this year has been only 2.1 percent.

The budget was formulated on 10.9 percent growth.

"We need 14.7 percent of financial growth in the last eight months to reach 10.9 percent growth the (budget) expenditure was predicated," Tobin said.

"That is extremely optimistic. We're not going to get 14.7 percent. It's not realistic and it's just not going to happen," he said.

Tobin blamed the budget problem on the unrealistic growth projection.

Even though Gov. Michael Dukakis has not ruled out any tax increases to cope with the state's budget woes, Tobin repeated his pledge against raising taxes.

"I think the budget can be balanced without raising taxes," he said.

Instead of raising taxes, Tobin favors cutting waste from state programs that can afford to be trimmed.

Tobin said his stand is "Trim the waste before you raise our taxes."

"I'm going to be a watchdog. I'm going to make sure that cuts don't come from Human Services. Needy people don't have to suffer."

"I'm committed to looking to trim all unnecessary fat from the budget," Tobin added.

One measure that Tobin supports to deal with the budget is personnel attrition. Through this measure, once a vacancy in state government is created by retirement or resignation, the vacancy is not filled.

"This is not an easy thing to do," Tobin said.

Another measure Tobin favors is removing the governor's conditional veto. As it currently stands, the governor can withhold all money for a project or program until the proper conditions are met.

Lastly, Tobin is against delaying projects such as the third Harbor tunnel and the Boston Harbor cleanup.

"That would be mortgaging our future to solve short-term problems," he said.

Quincy Students To Take Part In Volunteerism

A campaign was started yesterday (Wednesday), to provide an opportunity for Quincy's secondary school students to become involved in volunteer projects throughout the city.

The city's three high schools will be utilized as a model for a media on volunteerism by WBZ-TV and Radio. Through the Thomas Jefferson Forum, a non-profit group providing guidance on volunteerism to schools throughout Massachusetts, students are invited to participate in this kick-off campaign.

Martha Turner, a Special Education Teacher at Quincy Vocational Technical School, said volunteering opportunities are available with Quincy City Hospital, the YMCA, the Interfaith Shelter, Thomas Crane Public Library, and Quincy Community Action. Emily Lebo, a Health Science Instructor, will assist her.

"This will provide everyone an opportunity to give back something," said Joseph A. Mazzarella, Director at Quincy Voc-Tech, noting that the project was beginning during the pre-Thanksgiving season. "After all, every single community in this nation was developed through contributions from volunteers, and I see this clearly as part of the education to develop an awareness about being involved and becoming a good citizen."

Coordinators at Quincy High School are Sherry Curns and Edward Holland. At North Quincy High School, Carol Swanson and Kathy

Swanson are faculty coordinators.

According to Mazzarella and Turner, Quincy is the only city in the state with three high schools involved in the Thomas Jefferson Forum.

Central To Remain Closed Until Spring

- Stabilizing the roof beams with bracing.
- Removing the entire learning center ceiling.
- Removing the learning center balcony.

Mulvey said many options were explored before a final repair plan was reached.

"Our best determination is that the balcony designed back in 1907 was never entirely correct. It has been worked on (over the years) but we've determined that it's best just to remove it entirely," Mulvey said.

Ricci said a decision to reopen Central will be made once the permanent repairs are made in the spring.

No estimates for the costs of the temporary or permanent repairs have been announced.

The permanent repairs will be done after the temporary repairs are made.

McCauley said he hopes to announce a contractor for the temporary repairs next week. The contractor needs state approval before work can begin.

The mayor also said the city will invoke emergency powers and not go out to bid for the temporary repairs.

Once a contractor is selected and approved by the state, it is expected that the temporary repairs will take four to six weeks to complete.

While the temporary work is being done, Gale Engineering will work on engineering plans and drawings for the permanent repair.

The mayor said the engineering for the permanent repair work would probably continue until the end of the year.

After the engineering is completed, the city will go to bid for the final repairs, McCauley said.

Because of the bidding procedure and the contractor selection, the permanent repair work would begin in the early part of 1989.

The mayor said if all goes according to plan, then permanent repair work would probably be completed sometime next spring.

"We've done a awful lot of work on this situation and we feel this is the best way to go," McCauley said.

Progress Report On Police Dept. Recommendations

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Mayor Francis McCauley has released a progress report on the implementation of the recommendations contained in the 1986 study of the Quincy Police Department by the Massachusetts Municipal Association.

The mayor asked Police Chief Francis Finn for the report.

Finn said the "accreditation process is viewed ultimately to be the vehicle to not only answer the studies recommendations but also the means by which this department can reestablish its position as one of the finest in the Commonwealth."

The following recommendations were outlined by the Massachusetts Municipal Association field Services Division.

Corrective measures and or improvements made are listed in response to each recommendation.

Recommendation: The Chief of Police should take immediate steps to create a viable management team.

Response: Re-establishment of weekly staff meetings with captains, lieutenants and sergeants on alternate weeks. These meetings identify problem areas and outline proposed solutions.

Recommendation: Eliminate favoritism in the department.

Response: New job descriptions and position requirements have been written. Requirements listed have been used to fill vacancies in specialist positions. Written criteria is now available for candidates seeking these positions to eliminate any appearance of favoritism.

Recommendation: Create a task force for planning and goal setting.

Response: Goals and objectives have been developed and published for fiscal year 1989. Division commanders are responsible for the submission of quarterly progress reports documenting steps taken towards the attainment of these goals.

Recommendation: Record all complaints against the police and forward them to the chief.

Response: The Internal Affairs Unit (administrative assistant to the chief) was established and a policy outlining all aspects of the internal affairs investigation process has been developed and will be distributed. The position of Human Resources officer was also established and handles all issues of a civil rights nature.

Recommendation: Involve training officer in development of training budget. Training officer should monitor training programs. Require regular firearms training for all members of the department.

Response: Training Division elevated to a staff position reporting directly to the chief.

• Annual firearms training established.

• 100 percent attendance at Massachusetts Criminal Justice Training Council in Needham weekly in-service training program.

• Training files on all officers established and maintained, written evaluations implemented.

• Field Training officer program established in Aug. 1988.

Recommendation: Assign an adequate number of sergeants and lieutenants to the Patrol Division.

Response: Three additional patrol sergeants were added to the Patrol Division. Supervision is now provided by two sergeants on each staff.

Recommendation: Implement a system of one officer patrol cars.

Response: One officer patrol car system was implemented on July 15, 1988 and is ongoing.

Recommendation: Assign responsibility for conducting crime scene investigations to Patrol Division.

Response: Training and purchase of equipment for crime scene investigation is presently being considered by command staff.

Recommendation: Develop comprehensive management training for top command staff.

Response: Members of the top command staff continue to attend courses at Babson College.

Recommendation: Involve members of the command staff in formulating budget programs and priorities.

Response: Commanders submit capital outlay requests and are becoming involved in budget preparation.

Recommendation: Develop long-range planning capabilities.

Response: The position of director of Planning and Research was funded and staffed in January, 1988.

Recommendation:

Revise rules and regulations.

Response: The department's entire Rules and Regulations Manual has been rewritten and is presently in the process of being published and distributed.

Recommendation: Develop methodology to monitor patrol manpower allocation and deployment.

Response: Crime analysis system has been developed and is being manually maintained. Crime analysis reports are distributed weekly and monthly outlining Patrol Division activities.

Recommendation: Equip police vehicles with safety cages.

Response: Police vehicles are equipped with safety cages and additional safety equipment including safety holsters, tactical masks and surgical gloves. The acquisition of bullet proof vests is presently being studied.

Recommendation: Continue School Traffic Supervisor program and monitor it carefully.

Response: Position of Traffic Liaison Officer was established and staffed in July, 1988.

Recommendation: Gain access to BAPERN system.

Response: BAPERN capability maintained.

Recommendation: Revise the written directive system.

Response: The written directive system was revised and includes three classes of Orders and five classes of Bulletins.

Recommendation: Initiate a formalized Field Training Officer program.

Response: Field Training Officer program was established in August of 1988.

Recommendation: Develop a computerized management information system.

Response: The computerization of the Police Department has been studied and the request for proposals is presently being advertised.

Recommendation: Design and construct a new facility.

Response: Phase I of the new facility construction is complete. The problems identified in the old facility concerning the cell block have been corrected with the completion of the new cell block area.

Tobin To Seek 100% Exemption On MWRA Rate Increases

"If we are asked to help, I'm going to seek some relief. I'm not looking for a reward."

"What I am asking for is relief and we deserve some financial relief," he said.

According to Tobin, the exemption bill would be similar to an abatement bill filed by a Winthrop representative that would grant the community some form of exemption from MWRA water hikes.

That bill is currently in committee.

Regarding his own plan, Tobin said, "It would have to be shepherded along through committees and I'm willing to argue its merits and I hope to convince a majority of my colleagues that this is in the best interest of Quincy citizens and residents of the Commonwealth."

QUINCY quarterback Chris Noble, who leads Div. I in touchdown passes, goes back to pass to his favorite target, Scott Grant in win over Revere. The pass was completed for a good gain. Jim Dennett is 33 and Peter Olivieri is 28.

Quincy 37, Revere 0

Noble, Olivieri, Defense Click Big

By TOM SULLIVAN

It wasn't Quincy's best game of the season but it was plenty good enough to hand Revere its 20th successive defeat, 37-0, last Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium as the Presidents improved to 4-5.

Jack Raymer's Quincy team has won its last two and three of its last four going into the Thanksgiving game.

"We played a sloppy game but Chris Noble had another fine game. Peter Olivieri ran well and the defense played excellent ball," said Raymer.

"The boys have played very well over the second half of the season and we are looking for a .500 season. We lost two tough one-point decisions and we are a better team than our 4-5 record indicates."

Noble, although not passing as well as usual, completed nine of 20 passes for 152 yards and had four touchdown passes, giving him 19 on the season, the best in Division I. He had several other strikes dropped.

Scott Grant continued to shine as a pass receiver, catching four for 74 yards and his eighth and ninth touchdown passes of the year. Marc Miele caught two for 45 yards, and a touchdown, Jim Dennett two for 29 and newcomer Jody Beauchamp, a transfer from Jeremiah Burke High who played his first game two weeks ago, caught a touchdown pass.

Quincy rushed for a net of 136 yards with Olivieri having 52 and sophomore Mark Bogan carrying for 40 yards in Quincy's last drive and scoring a touchdown.

Quincy Season Scoring

|           | TD | PAT | Pts |
|-----------|----|-----|-----|
| Grant     | 9  | 2   | 56  |
| Dennett   | 5  | 0   | 30  |
| Miele     | 3  | 2   | 20  |
| Noble     | 2  | 6   | 18  |
| Norris    | 0  | 7   | 7   |
| Hanly     | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| Caldwell  | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| Bogan     | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| Beauchamp | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| O'Brien   | 0  | 2   | 2   |
| Spaur     | 0  | 1   | 1   |

Revere rushed for only 67 yards, 52 of them by hard-running Paul Coleman. Bob Donnelly completed three of five passes for only 13 yards. Quincy had 15 first downs to Revere's five.

"The defense did an excellent job and the boys gave the game ball to defensive coach John Taglieri," said Raymer. "They really wanted to get a shutout for Tag."

Taglieri praised Dave Nourse, Tod Kimmell, Brian Norris, Frank Ienello, Bobby Austin, Dan Hanly, Scott O'Brien, Grant, Tom Morrell, Scott Campbell and Miele for their defensive work.

Morrell had two quarterback sacks and Hanly had one.

Raymer had good words for Noble, Grant, Miele, Dennett, Olivieri, Don Hamilton, Tony Mdden, Morrell, Dave Zupkofska and Beauchamp for their offensive efforts.

Quincy scored the first touchdown late in the first quarter on a picture-perfect 41-yard scoring pass from Noble to Grant, who took the perfectly-thrown ball over his shoulder as he went into the end zone. Norris kicked the extra point.

On the first play of the second quarter Quincy recovered a fumble on Revere's 19. Noble hit Grant for 15 yards and passed to Beauchamp for the final four yards. Noble's pass for the two-point conversion was blocked but it bounced back into his hands and he went in for the two points.

There was no more scoring in the first half with neither team posing a serious threat.

Quincy received to start the third quarter and drove 63 yards for another score. Noble passed to Miele for 17 yards, Olivieri and Noble each rushed for 11, Olivieri added six, Dennett two and Noble passed to Grant for three yards and the score. Noble rushed for the two-point conversion.

Revere had the ball for exactly three plays in the final quarter as Quincy added two more touchdowns.

A Noble pass was intercepted in the end zone but Revere quickly fumbled the ball away again and five plays later Noble passed to Miele for 17 yards and the score. Norris kicked the point.

A third Revere fumble was recovered by the Presidents on the Revere 40. Raymer put his shock troops in, sophomore quarterback Mike Flavin ran the team well and Bogan rushed for 40 yards and scored from the four. Allan Spaur kicked the final point of the game.

Quincy, North Get Extra Points On All 10 TD's

For the past several seasons the Quincy and North Quincy football teams have had troubles with their points after touchdowns and it has cost both teams.

Last Saturday may have set some kind of record as each team converted after all five touchdowns.

In Quincy's win over

Revere Brian Norris kicked two extra points, Chris Noble rushed for two conversions and Allan Spaur kicked a point.

In North's win at Medford, Dave Hutchings kicked the extra point after each of Ryan Craig's five touchdowns.

The failure to convert cost Quincy twice as it lost one point decisions to Waltham and Peabody.

The failure to convert also cost North once as it lost by one point to Weymouth South.

These points could mean a lot on Thanksgiving as Quincy High and North look to be the most evenly-matched in some time.

Q-N Freshmen, Jayvee Saturday

The annual Quincy-North Quincy freshman and junior varsity football games will be played Saturday morning at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The freshman game at 9 o'clock looks like one of the best in years with Quincy, under new coach Earl Metzler, having a 7-1 record and North, under new coach Kevin Kelly, owning a 5-2-1 record. At 11 o'clock the Quincy junior varsity, coached by Bob Noble, will meet the North jayvees (6-2-1), coached by Peter Chrisom and Tom Carter.

Early Sports Deadline For Next Week

Point Panthers In Bowl-a-thon To Raise Funds For Dallas Trip

The entire Quincy Point Panthers organization will join in a bowl-a-thon this Sunday at Olindy's Lanes as a final fund-raiser for the trip to Dallas.

Team members, coaches, parents and cheerleaders have solicited sponsors for each pin knocked down. Their final score indicates what each sponsor will donate.

The cheerleaders are practicing as well as raising funds toward a $10,000 goal and a Dec. 27-30 trip to Texas for the national cheerleading championships.

The Panthers squad is the N.E. regional champion and through donations and fund-raising, they hope to be the first Quincy team to compete for the national title. Last year 340 cheerleading teams competed.

The team is halfway toward its goal and it is hoped the bowl-a-thon will put it well on its way to its goal.

Contributions have been received from as far away as California.

Contributions have been received from the following:

Quincy Savings Bank, Rep. Mike Morrissey, Sons of Lebanon, Quincy Police Betterment Assoc., Joe's Pub, B&M Homes and Plumbing of Weymouth, Quincy High Football Parents Club, Ralph Pill Electric, F.X. Messina Enterprises, Mike Dolinger, Phil Cuddy, James M. Walker, Frank and Maureen Brillo, Delia Barrett, Mary Frusin, Atty. A committee has been formed of coaches, parents and boosters to support the girls in this once-in-a-life-time opportunity. As members of the Quincy Youth Football League, the team is independently operated and does not have any sponsors.

Anyone wishing to contribute is asked to send donations to Quincy Point Panthers, 31 Temple St., Suite, 225, Quincy 02169.

Finian's Holds Olindy's Lead

Finian's still holds a one-point lead in Olindy's Junior All-Star Bowling League over Lombardi's Auto Cleaning and Scarry Realty.

The standings: Finian's, 25-11; Lombardi's and Scarry, 24-12; Tony's, 23-13; Dom's, 22-14; Mike's Auto Body, 16-20; Marchionne Insurance, Eco Muffler and Quincy Savings Bank, 15-21; Patriot Glass, 13-23; Goodhue's, 12-24; and Fore River Motors, 10-26.

The team of the week was Lombardi's, bowling a high single of 351 and high three of 1010 and taking six points from Mike's Auto Body. Joshua Knowles rolled 82-230, Michael Lombardi 100-288, Jen Hayward, 60-215, and Mike Carr, 107-273.

Bowlers of the week were Jim Russo, who bowled 52 pins over his average with a high string of 118; Joshua Knowles, 35 pins over his average, Kerry Jellison, 24 pins over his average with a high string of 79, and Susan Sweeney, 32 pins over her average with a high string of 98.

Brian Noonan leads the boys with a 95 average, followed by Michael Lombardi, 93; Jason Earl, 90; Robie Manupelli, 89, and Jamie Webber, 88.

Sharon Durgin paces the girls with an 84 average, followed by Karen Mezzetti, 77; Susan Sweeney, 74; Jen Hayward, 70, and Melissa Scarry, 62.

Quincy Girls Clinch Title, Move On To State Tourney

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy girls' volleyball team won the East Central Div. I championship and has moved into familiar territory, the state championship semifinals.

Tom Henderson's First Ladies, who have won three state championships and lost in the finals two other times, clinched the sectional crown with a 3-0 (15-10, 15-13, 15-9) victory over Suburban League rival Newton North last Saturday night at Eastern Nazarene College.

The Quincy girls met Milford, the West Central champ, last night (Wednesday) at Waltham High and if victorious they will face the winner of the Stoneham (North titlist)-Bp. Feehan (North winner) game in the championship match Saturday night at 7 at Waltham.

Although Quincy won in three straight games over a team it had split with during the league season, all three games were highly competitive and hard-fought.

The First Ladies were led by their twin towers, Amy Guidice and Nancy Laitinen, as Guidice sparked the offense and Laitinen the defense.

"We served aggressively and picked our spots on the floor for the win," said the pleased Henderson. "We didn't miss too many shots. In the last two matches Amy has been the leader. She's hitting the ball real well and Nancy did a fine job up front."

Randi Gaura and Jennifer Richmond also played well, contributing to the win with strong service.

Henderson had some idea of what to expect from Milford, having seen them in a September jamboree.

The sectional semifinals earlier in the week saw one of the finest volleyball matches ever witnessed in Quincy as the First Ladies outlasted defending state champion North Quincy, 3-2 (11-15, 15-3, 15-17, 15-5, 15-12).

"That's some of the best high school volleyball I've ever seen," said Henderson. "I don't care who gets to the state championship, I have to believe this was as good as anything that game will produce. Amy (Guidice) and Nancy (Laitinen) played well for us as did Deirdre Murphy for North Quincy."

Quincy led, 10-3, in the opening game, North made it 10-8 on the serving of Karin Reister and the Raiderettes allowed Quincy just one more point before Holly Rende put the game away with a superb play at the net.

Quincy stormed to a 14-1 lead in the second game with the help of several North errors and went on to win easily.

North got off to a 5-0 lead in the third game before Guidice took over at the net, giving Quincy a 9-8 lead. The turning point came with North ahead, 11-10.

Rende dove to dig out a ball going out of bounds and hit her head on the floor. The fall opened a large gash above her left eye, requiring 30 stitches, 20 external and 10 internal, at Quincy City Hospital. She was released after treatment.

"Psychologically, losing Holly had to take some of the wind out of their sails," said

Henderson. "We picked up a lot of points going at people who were replacements."

"She said she wouldn't have minded what happened to her if it didn't mean she had to miss the rest of the match," said her father, North coach Jim Rende. "We really missed her in the last two games."

North won that third game, 17-15, but again fell victim to a Quincy blitzkrieg in the fourth game. The First Ladies rolled out to a 14-1 lead and tied the match at two games, 15-5.

In the deciding game Quincy took the lead for good at 12-11 and ended it on three straight spikes by Guidice.

"Without Holly it is extremely difficult to beat a team like Quincy, but what we wanted to do was play to our full potential and I think we did that," said Rende.

"That was one of the finest volleyball matches I've ever seen and both teams were a real credit to their coaches and their schools," said Athletic Coordinator Marty Finnegan. "It was a shame what happened to Holly Rende. I can't see any match in the state championships being any better than that."

Quincy and North, co-champions of the Suburban League with 16-2 records, had little trouble winning their opening tournament matches.

Quincy defeated league rival Brookline, 3-0 (15-5, 15-11, 15-1), while North ousted Arlington of the Greater Boston League in a short match, 15-4, 15-1, 15-5, which took just 45 minutes to complete.

Mite Bs Lose, 5-3

Quincy's Mite B hockey team lost a hard-fought 5-3 decision to Charlestown in a game played in South Boston.

Quincy out-skated the winners for most of the game but Charlestown took advantage of Quincy's few mistakes and scored only 49 seconds into the game. It scored two goals within 15 seconds of each other in the second period. Other than those defensive lapses, Quincy played near-perfect hockey.

Billy Griffin scored Quincy's first goal, his first of the season, tapping in a pass from Steve Ford. Pat McGann, who also assisted on the goal, scored the second when Danny Stock stole the puck at the blue line and hit McKinn with a perfect pass. Mike Gallathier scored the final goal on a breakaway set up by Chris Carthas.

Goalie Dennis Allen played an excellent game, making many spectacular saves.

Squirt As Wallop Wellesley

Quincy's Squirt A hockey team improved to 2-1 in the Greater Boston League with a convincing 9-3 victory over Wellesley.

Quincy, sponsored by South Boston Savings Bank, broke out to a 5-1 lead after two periods and never looked back.

A.J. Carthas had two goals and Ron McGann, Brian Bartkus, Steve Barrett, Robbie Callow, Dan Donahue, John Healy and Brendan O'Brien one each. McGann and O'Brien had two assists apiece and Barrett, Carthas, Tom Sullivan, Eric Griffin and Jenna Nolan one each.

North Quincy 35, Medford 20

Craig Scores All 5 TDs For Raiders

It was the Ryan Craig show last Saturday at Hornell Stadium in Medford as the big North Quincy fullback scored all five Raider touchdowns and went over the 1100 mark in rushing as North Quincy pounded the Mustangs, 35-20, in a game not nearly as close as the score.

The win was the fourth in a row for Ken McPhee's North team and gives it a 6-3 record, assuring a winning record regardless of the outcome of the Thanksgiving Classic.

Craig, who now has 14 touchdowns, ran for 136 yards, giving him 1106 on the season. And he missed one game this fall. His five touchdowns tied a school record set by Jackie Brown in 1980.

Dave Hutchings, who had a 38-yard field goal the preceding week, kicked all five points after touchdowns as the Raiders ran out to a 28-0 lead in the third quarter.

McPhee pulled all his starters but, when Medford came back with two touchdowns, he returned the starters and Craig added an insurance touchdown.

"Ryan was unbelievable again, and Billy MacDougall did another super job at quarterback," McPhee said. "Billy doesn't get the credit he deserves, due to Craig's great running. He does a real fine job and runs the team well."

"Hutchings kicked the ball very well. It has been a long time since anyone has kicked five extra points in a game and he kicked off well, including a couple of onside kicks, one of which we recovered. One boy I want to mention in particular is Jeff Sullivan, who recovered a fumble punt (his third in two games) and plays a terrific game both ways. He will play anywhere for you and does a good job no matter where he plays."

Mike Ainsley played his usual fine two-way game, making some fine catches and standing out on defense.

McPhee had good words for Kevin MacDougall, Keith Gott (a pass interception to set up a score), Danny Gilmartin, Sean Glennon, Sean McDonough and Brian Tobin for their defensive efforts.

On offense, Hutchings, with some fine blocking, Gott, who ran well, Billy MacDougall, Glennon, Dave Joyce, Brian Mahoney, Alex Malasi, Brian Healy and Ainsley were standouts.

MacDougall completed four of six passes for 93 yards and rushed for 49 yards.

Quan I.e., who played late in the game, got off a 28-yard run and also made a fine tackle on a kickoff.

Tim Baker intercepted a Medford pass in the opening quarter but North couldn't capitalize.

Four of the five touchdowns were set up by Medford turnovers as the Raider defense was alert at all times.

Early in the second quarter North drove from its 37 yard line with MacDougall going nine yards and passing to Ainsley for 18. Craig ran 35 yards for the game's opening touchdown and Hutchings kicked the first of his five extra points.

Later in the second quarter, Sullivan recovered his fumbled punt on Medford's 47 and Craig capped the drive with a three-yard TD run.

In the third quarter Gott intercepted a pass and returned it from Medford's 46 to the 13 from where Craig scored his third touchdown.

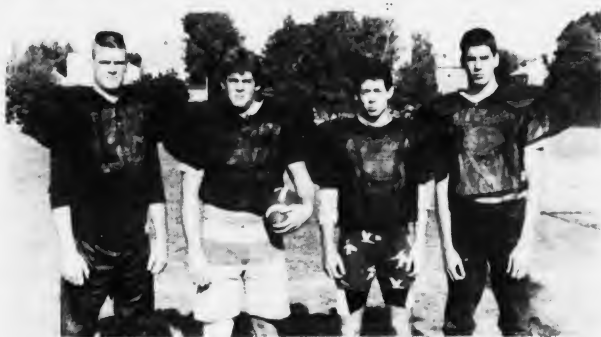

North made it 28-0 when Kevin MacDougall recovered a fumble on the Medford 39 and Craig scored from the two.

With North's subs in action, Medford's David Morey scored on a 17-yard run in the final quarter and John Meagher passed to Rod Patten, who lateraled to Jim Martorana for a 42-yard touchdown play and it was 28-14.

North's starters returned, Malasi recovered a fumble on Medford's 19 and Craig went over from the one.

With North's reserves back in, Medford's Patten scored on a 69-yard pass from Meagher.

Quincy Freshmen Roll By Cambridge, 18-12

The Quincy freshman football team defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 18-12, last week to improve its record to 7-1 going into the annual North Quincy game Saturday.

Pat Gallagher, starting his first game at quarterback, engineered a 70-yard drive which ate up the entire first quarter. Gallagher made four big plays passing to Mike Malvesti and, on the final play of the drive, on fourth down at the four, passed to Peter Eleuteri, who made a fine one-handed catch for the score. Capt. Jason Anderson (18 carries, 127 yards), made some key runs during the drive.

"Gallagher is one of the best athletes on the team and did a great job in his first stint at quarterback," said coach Earl Metzler. "He's a fast learner."

On the next kickoff Cambridge ran it back to Quincy's five with Malvesti making a touchdown-saving tackle. On the next play Paul Eleuteri made a hard hit, causing a fumble on John Fink recovered for Quincy.

Gallagher went to work again and engineered another fine drive, with the help of Anderson, and Anderson scored on a 35-yard run just before the end of the half.

"Jason is a real leaper. He had been sick all week with the flu but was able to come out and give us 110 percent, as usual," said Metzler. "He really fires up the team."

Cambridge returned the second half kickoff for a touchdown but Peter Eleuteri returned the favor, racing 85 yards for a touchdown on the ensuing kickoff. Cambridge scored late in the game to make the final score 18-12.

"Peter, Jason and Paul Eleuteri, all brothers, turn in fine efforts every week," said Metzler. "Jason intercepted a pass and returned it 25 yards. Our line is back doing the job we expect from them, led by Bob Daggart, Paul Eleuteri, Keith Norris, John Fink and Steve Distasio. They opened some big holes."

Mark Zaboroski did a fine job on the special teams and other standouts included Jeff Berton, Clinton Currie, Kevin Keane, Mark Reardon, David Cahill, John Green, Brian Bellou, Greg Warren and Aly Sleiman.

North Jayvees Defeat Medford In Final Seconds

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football coaches hoped for a tough game in preparation for the annual game with Quincy and they got it when the Raiders came from behind to top Medford, 12-8, in the final 22 seconds of the game. North improved to 6-2-1.

Both teams played rough, tough football from the opening kickoff with Medford having an edge. The Mustangs led, 8-0, at halftime.

North came to life in the third quarter when a Jim Bryan to Evan Kiley pass clicked for a 43-yard score. The conversion try failed and the Raiders still trailed, 8-6, going into the final quarter. Dave Kiley and Jim Rayne set up the touchdown with some hard running.

With time running out, Bryan hit Wayne McCulley twice for 37 yards, and found Chris Desher clear for 25 yards to the Medford 18. North shifted into a running offense with Dan Gilmartin going to the eight and going the remaining eight yards for the win.

A matter of only 13 points separated the team from an unbeaten season.

Undefeated Manets Shut Down Sailors For Title

By STEVE KAVANAGH

"Defense wins championships" is a familiar sports cliché and one that may be applied to the 1988 Quincy Youth Football League season.

The Houghs Neck Manets capped an unbeaten season by blanking the defending champion Squantum Sailors, 8-0, in an intense QYFL championship game at Veterans Memorial Stadium Sunday.

The Manets recorded their fourth shutout in a row and allowed just two touchdowns in six games this season.

The Sailors were unable to generate any offense against the stingy Houghs Neck defense, but Squantum also got a great defensive effort which kept the game close throughout.

Manet running back Mike Spaur scored the winning points in the first quarter on a 31-yard reverse. Quarterback Rob Kane hit end Dan Morrell with the two-point conversion pass for an 8-0 Houghs Neck lead.

The defense, sparked by the strong play of Jamie White, Spaur, Brian Clifford, Dave Bogan, Kane, Rich Stone, Jason Curry, Ed Kenney, Morrell, Jim Reilly and Mike Gomez, made the early TD stand up.

Kenney made a key interception in the first quarter to kill a Squantum drive and Kane picked off a Sailor pass in the fourth quarter to ice it.

The Sailors almost came up with a big play in the fourth quarter when Tom Nutley threw deep to a diving Dave Reinhardt but the officials ruled the ball was trapped.

Squantum got strong efforts from Sean Skahan (interception), Greg Burke, Joe Powers, Bill Degan, Matt Walsh, Reinhardt, Nutley, Phil Pacino, Rick McVarish, Matt Levering and Mike McAdams.

The Manets were coached by head coach Dan Morrell and assistants Steve Craig, Dana Pringle and Mike McArdle.

The North Quincy Apaches downed the West Quincy Elks, 24-6, in a junior varsity contest preceding the championship game.

Pat Donoghue raced 72 yards for a touchdown with the opening kickoff, but that was all the scoring the Elks would do.

On the next series the Apaches drove to the Elk eight yard line but West Quincy's Dave D'Olimpio pounced on an Apache fumble.

North Quincy came right back when Eric Kane picked off a pass and returned it to the Elk 15. A few plays later Kevin Mantville rumbled 11 yards for the tying touchdown. Pat Riley added a two-point conversion run for an 8-6 NQ lead.

Riley scored an eight-yard TD set up by a Mark Sinclair interception in the second quarter. Adam Fitzpatrick rushed for the two-point conversion.

Mantville recovered a fumble at the Elk 37-yard line to set up the final scoring drive. Fitzpatrick spun into the end zone from one-yard out and QB Dan Duncan handed off to Mantville for the two-point conversion.

The Sailors clinched a chance to defend their title when the Quincy Point Panthers outplayed the North Quincy Apaches, 22-14, last week. The loss eliminated the Apaches from playoff contention.

The Panthers finished a frustrating season on a positive note despite being knocked out of contention for the title game a week earlier.

Quincy Point jumped out to an early 8-0 lead by scoring on its first series. Running back David Jolley streaked 50 yards to the NQ eight-yard line. Noel DiBona then scored the touchdown on an eight-yard run. Jolley rushed for the two-point conversion.

The Apaches trimmed the lead to 8-6 in the second quarter when Kevin Mantville scored on a five-yard run.

The key play of the game happened in the third quarter. The Panthers faced a fourth down-and-long situation and lined up to punt. Instead of snapping the ball to punter Jolley, the center snapped to DiBona who raced 46 yards for a touchdown. Matt Dwyer threw a key block for DiBona along the way. NQ stopped the conversion but trailed, 14-6.

Quincy Point extended the lead to 22-6 later in the third quarter when quarterback Jason Simon passed to Andy Smith for a 35-yard touchdown play. Simon rushed for the two-point conversion.

The Apaches got their second touchdown in the final period. Pat Riley scored on a three-yard run and also added a two-point conversion run.

The Panthers were sparked by Steve Carterman, DiBona, Rob Cibotti, Ken Downey, Walter Spadorcia, Mike Sugrue, Jolley, Simon Tommy Foley, Smith, Tom Courtney, Dwyer and Marc Lomanno.

The Apaches got good efforts from Mantville, Riley, Dave Carney, Justin Diks, Jay Shaw, Mark Sinclair, Sean Halpin, Mike MacDougall, Adam Fitzpatrick, and Willie O'Donnell.

Squirt Bs Take First Place

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team took over first place in the Greater Boston League as it rolled to an 18-2 victory over Somerville.

Chris Grant and Tommy Moriarty scored four goals apiece and Joshua Wingate added three. Shawn McTomney scored two and Capt. Jim Gallagher, Asst. Capt. Jim Kelley, John Ryan, John Manning, and Billy Barron one each.

Gallagher had six assists, Grant and Robbie Pirelli three each, Moriarty, McTomney and Manning two each and John Ryan, Joe Bracken, Eric Oliva, Bill Barron and Mike O'Brien one apiece.

Bruce Sterling, who played outstanding defense, set up several goals as he broke up play after play at center ice. Timmy Sheehan was solid in goal.

In their previous game the Squirt B's edged Hingham 4-3. Moriarty and Pirelli scored two goals each. Gallagher and Wingate had two assists each and Grant, Kelley, O'Brien and Barron one apiece.

Ryan, O'Brien and Jarnis played outstanding defense. The key play came as Quincy kept the play in the Hingham end with under three minutes to play, not allowing Hingham a chance to pull its goalie. Sheehan had another excellent game in goal.

Earlier Quincy lost to Braintree, 9-4, as Braintree scored six unanswered goals only seven minutes into the game.

Quincy never gave up as Grant sparked his team with a goal late in the first period with Gallagher and Kelley assisting.

Quincy came out fired up in the second period and scored three quick goals, Grant scoring his second and McTomney and Wingate also scoring. Gallagher, Moriarty and Barron assisted as Quincy cut the lead to two goals. Braintree went on to score three more goals. Jason Healy, in net for the first time did well as did Sheehan after Braintree's early blast.

Grant leads the team in scoring with seven goals and three assists for 10 points, followed by Gallagher, 3-6-9, Moriarty, 4-4-8, Pirelli, 1-7-8, and Wingate, 5-1-6. Sheehan is 3-0-0 in goal.

The Squirt B's will play South Boston Saturday at 8:30 a.m. at the Neponset rink.

Bantan Bs Tied By Hyde Park

Quincy's Bantam B hockey team had its winning streak snapped at six games but remains unbeaten after playing Hyde Park to a 1-1 tie.

Brian Fitzgerald scored Quincy's goal in the second period with Jimmy Smith assisting.

Quincy's forwards are Fitzgerald, Sean Hannon,

John Lewis, David Mullen, Steve O'Brien, Aidan O'Donoghue, Smith and Sean Vermette.

Defensemene are Chris Connor, John Gladu, John Jarnis, Mathew Riley, Gerard Walsh and Mark Zych and the goalies are Ed Fanhao and Stephen DesRiche. Paul McDonald is the coach.

Maver's Team Defeats Randolph

The Acton-Boxboro High football team, coached by former Quincy High all-scholastic and later coach Bill Maver, made its only South

Shore appearance last Saturday and defeated Randolph, 20-12.

Maver's team is 7-2 and co-champion of the Dual County League.

At Neighborhood Club Night:

Star-Studded Lineup In Tribute To Sam Mele

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

If there were a Hall of Fame for decent, respected and just plain nice people, Quincy's Sam Mele would surely be enshrined.

And last Friday's Sports Night for the Jimmy Fund held in Mele's honor at the Neighborhood Club in Quincy could have served as the induction ceremony.

Mele, a former major league baseball player for several teams including the Boston Red Sox and manager who now devotes his time as a Sox scout and instructor, was overwhelmed by the praise of many past and present Sox stars as well as baseball executives, city officials and local media representatives.

"I'm the luckiest man alive, really. A great family, great friends out here and great people up here," he told the overflow crowd.

"I am thrilled. Believe me, I had no idea. I have the fondest regards for these people. God bless you all and thanks," Mele said overwhelmed.

Mele knew the Neighborhood Club was going to honor him but he did not know who would be there.

The guest list was a star-studded lineup.

Among those who turned out to pay tribute to him were former teammates Ted Williams, Bobby Doerr, Walt Dropp, Johnny Pesky, Dom DiMaggio, Frank Malzone, Mickey McDermott, Eddie Pellagrini, Ted Lepcio and Eddie Yost as well as former player Mike Andrews, current player Marty Barrett and General Manager Lou Gorham.

Joe Castiglione, who shares the radio broadcast booth for Sox games with Ken Coleman, was the emcee.

Also on hand were Mayor Francis McCauley and Sen. Paul Harold, who presented Mele with certificates of recognition.

After extending the city's greeting to Mele, McCauley declared the week of Nov. 11 to 18 as Jimmy Fund Week in Quincy.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution should send their donation to the Mayor's Office, City hall, 1305 Hancock St. Quincy, MA 02169 or to the Quincy Sun, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy, MA 02169.

Mele, who would rather applaud others rather than take a bow himself, agreed to let the Neighborhood Club honor him.

But on one condition: all the proceeds would go to the Jimmy Fund, the Red Sox charity for the Dana Farber Cancer Institute in Boston.

According to Harry Carlson, program chairman and past president of the Bosox Club, the event will raise over $5,000.

Mele also received personal honors from Sun Publisher Henry Bosworth and sports cartoonist Eddie Germano.

Bosworth presented Mele with a special front page of the Quincy Sun highlighting his career and the special night. The headline reads: "Sam Hits Grand Slam For The Jimmy Fund."

Germano, a well-known sports cartoonist for the Brockton Enterprise and the Boston Globe, gave Mele a cartoon of himself depicting him as "The Original Bonus Baby."

Mele had some special and memorable moments during his 10 year major league career.

During his rookie season with the Red Sox in 1947, Mele hit 12 homeruns and drove in 73 runs for a .302 average.

While with the White Sox in the early 1950s, he hit a three-run homer and a bases-loaded triple in the same inning for a record-tying six RBI against the Philadelphia Athletics.

Mele also managed the Minnesota Twins from 1961 to 1967, leading the Twins to the American league pennant and into the World Series in 1965. That year, he was named American League Manager of the Year.

During the past 20 years, Mele has been a scout, advisor and top instructor for the Red Sox.

Last Friday in his adopted hometown of Quincy, he was given a "Hall of Fame" tribute.

Williams, perhaps the greatest hitter ever, said in all his years associated with baseball, he hasn't known a more likeable player, coach and executive than Mele.

Comparing Mele with today's players, Williams said, "I say today that Sam Mele is a $900,000 hitter. He really was a good hitter."

"I'm honored to be here tonight. You're honoring a terrific guy and best to all of you."

Doerr, another Hall of Famer, said he thought Mele would become one of the all-time Red Sox greats when he first came up in 1947.

After a sensational rookie year, Mele was plagued by injuries in 1948 was eventually traded to the Washington Senators in 1949.

"It just made me sick when they traded Sam away," Doerr said.

"Going through this world, you run into some real class people and Sam is one of those fellows that I run into."

"He's a real class guy and I just think it's wonderful that we're honoring Sam. And I'm real happy that I could be invited to be here," he said.

Andrews, a member of the 1967 "Impossible Dream" team that won the American League Pennant and now Executive Director of the Jimmy Fund, also spoke highly of Mele.

"I am very happy to be here for Sam's night because I consider Sam not only a friend to the Jimmy Fund, which he has been for many, many years, but he's also been a friend of mine."

"When you're looking to people who are nice people, you just don't get any better than Sam Mele."

Andrews said that many players and executives, including Mele, have helped raise money for the Jimmy Fund. "They all have and Sam is right there with them."

Andrews recalled the many occasions when Mele drove several hours in a snowstorm to attend a benefit sports banquet in such places as Groton, Conn.

"A tough trip but Sam was always there for us," he said.

Andrews, in pointing out that the Dana Farber Cancer Institute is number one in the world, added, "we've come a long way but we still have a long way to go."

Others paying tribute to Mele were Pesky, DiMaggio, Pelligrini, Barrett and Gorham.

Pesky, who has been a close friend of Mele's for many years, said, "Sam has meant an awful lot to a lot of us. We've been great friends."

"One thing about Sam is that he's always willing to do something for people," Pesky said.

DiMaggio, who roomed with Mele while they were teammates, said, "I think you're doing justice by honoring (Sam) tonight."

Gorham described Mele as a "dedicated, hardworking guy."

"He's a credit to the Red Sox, a credit to our organization and I'm proud to be associated with him."

The committee that organized the sports night was headed by Karl Briggs, Neighborhood Club president; Dick Settles, entertainment chairman; Roseann Falvin, donations chairman, and Carlson.

As a special gift, Briggs presented Mele with a video cassette recorder in behalf of the Neighborhood Club.

Sharing Mele's special night with him were his wife the former Connie Clemens, who grew up in Quincy, and their five sons and daughters; Marsha Mele, Scott Mele, Steven Mele, Sherry Mele and Marilyn McCabe. Connie's mother, Kay, was also there.

For Sam, his family and all of Quincy, it was a night to remember.

SPECIAL FIRST PAGE of The Quincy Sun was presented to Sam Mele at dinner honoring him.

Crafts Expo Saturday and Sunday

The sixth annual South Shore Crafts Expo will be held at Florian Hall, located off the Granite St. Exit of the S.E. Expressway, on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 19 and 20.

The Expo features professional artisans and items such as hand-painted clothing, quilts, ethnic dolls, toys, German paper cutting, folk and primitive art, porcelains and wood-carved objects.

Florian Hall offers free parking and is convenient for the handicapped.

2 Quincy Residents In 'The Dining Room'

Two Quincy residents are in the cast of six for Curtin Call Theatre's fall production, "The Dining Room," to be presented at Thayer Academy, Braintree, on Nov. 17-18-19.

Curtin Call Theatre is entering its 27th year, with members from neighboring communities. Richard J. Carey and Scott Kradolfer of the Company Theatre of Weymouth in "Godspell," "Sweeney Todd," "42nd Street" and "Little Shop of Horrors." He took part in the Hingham Theatre's production of "Evita," and also in presentations by That New Theatre and the Turtle Lane Playhouse.

Kradolfer, a Quincy High School senior, has been performing with Curtin Call Theatre for several years. He began his career with Dianne Purdy's Children's Workshop of Quincy, and has appeared with the MIT Community Theatre.

Tickets to the evening performances at Thayer are available in advance for $5, full-time students and senior citizens, and $6 adults, and for $6 and $7 for ticket purchases at the door. Further information may be obtained by calling 479-8744.

QHS Students Win Music Festival Honors

Four Quincy High School students have won places in the prestigious South East District Music Festival to be held at Brockton High School Jan. 13-14.

The students are Lisa Brangiforte, alto; Ruthie Hernandez, alto; Scott Kradolfer, tenor; and John Porcaro, bass.

These students competed for the honor against several hundred students from more than 50 schools.

Porcaro's particularly high audition score earned him a recommendation for the all-state music festival.

The musicians are members of the Quincy High School Chorus, directed by Mr. Salvatore Bartolotti.

WEEK OF: November 17

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're known for your personal magnetism. You're secretive and mysterious, and very few are able to get a glimpse of your real personality. The year ahead favors research projects and sees you earning an award for a major accomplishment. Family becomes more supportive and the generation gap starts to narrow.

AQUARIUS - January 21 - February 19

Important time for issuing invitations, either to very small or rather large events. Your sense of humor makes an important admirer on the job scene. Fanatic friend becomes less intense.

PISCES - February 20 - March 20

Changes in home setting are indicated through the week, and this period may be favorable for moves as well. Sticking to your ideas -- even unpopular ones -- eventually pays off.

ARIES - March 21 - April 20

Your ability to concentrate is awesome -- use this gift to its fullest through the week. Social life becomes livelier. Acting assignment may come your way at this time.

TAURUS - April 21 - May 22

Situations involving shared finances require extra consideration. Be super cautious before making a commitment. Unhappy friend becomes more carefree thanks to your intervention.

GEMINI - May 23 - June 21

Excellent week for spontaneous gestures. Your gift at languages could lead to a plum assignment. Overdue news may arrive, be sure that the message is complete.

CANCER - June 22 - July 22

Important to speak your mind -- but not intensely. New job may have a surprise wrinkle. Your off the cuff comments may be taken more seriously than you expected.

LEO - July 23 - August 22

Self-confidence says, but it should be only a temporary phenomenon. Assertive neighbor may start to interfere. You rescue at least one project at this time.

VIRGO - August 23 - September 22

Correspondence that comes your way demands extra careful attention. Documents require a reading between the lines. Work scene finds you receiving praise from on-high.

LIBRA - September 23 - October 22

Timing is almost everything this week. Talents are bright -- this is a good period for auditioning. On-the-job rivalry requires a creative approach. Partnerships require review.

SCORPIO - October 23 - November 21

Intense Scorpio may take a more casual approach to life, thanks to a new, upbeat acquaintance. Leadership assignment appeals to you. Good week for making preliminary social plans.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22 - December 22

Week is favorable for drawing up a blueprint of short term goals. Health-connected activities demand attention. You may be enrolling in a self-improvement program.

CAPRICORN - December 23 - January 20

Good week for designing handmade gifts. Social life can perk up, provided you take the initiative and, for example, join a sports team. Unexpected invitation may arrive.

1200 Crown Colony Drive Topped Off

Vazza Associates and Edward A. Fish Associates have topped off 1200 Crown Colony Dr., a six-story, 235,000 square foot building within Crown Colony Office Park in Quincy.

Construction began this June.

Aetna Life Insurance has pre-leased 115,000 square feet in the first class office building, relocating its New England headquarters from Copley Place in Boston. Occupancy is scheduled for next spring.

1200 Crown Colony will feature a landscaped atrium, cafeteria and gift shop. Typical floor size is 30,000 square feet, offering an under floor duct system and individual tenant flexibility.

There are 100,000 square feet available.

"Our goal is to make Crown Colony the most exciting office park in the Northeast," said Rick Vazza, project manager for the development. "It offers businesses a strategic location, high profile presence, and a people-oriented work environment. Crown Colony is truly the complete corporate address," he said.

"Crown Colony provides an unparalleled array of park and area amenities such as health clubs, banks, postal services and dry cleaners," said David Pergola, senior vice president of Meredith & Grew, Inc. "All of this plus proximity to public transportation, an on-site day care center and a medical center were critical criteria to Aetna," he said.

Meredith & Grew is the leasing agent of Crown Colony.

Crown Colony is a 175-acre development located in Quincy, seven miles south of Boston, at the intersection of Route 93 (Southeast Expressway), Route 128 and Route 3.

Other companies or firms committed to occupy space within the park include: The Patriot Ledger, Charles F. Murphy Insurance Co., O'Connor & Drew, United States Fidelity & Guarantee, Kennedy & Lehan, Bay State Milling, Murphy, Hessey, Toomey & Lehan, Penache Cafe, Amwest Surety, Bromas Associates, Divine & Partners and Medical Claims Associates.

The development plan includes a full-service hotel and conference center, a free-standing day care facility, and approximately 15 first class office buildings.

Other amenities include: Hub Express helicopter service with direct access to and from Logan Airport and other area heliports; retail shops, restaurants and cafes, a fitness center, jogging trails and medical facilities.

The Quincy Adams MBTA Red Line Station is located across from the park entrance. The station is serviced by shuttle buses.

Vazza Associates, founded in 1965, is a South Shore-based real estate development company. Its portfolio includes more than three million square feet of first class office and mixed-use developments, suburban office parks and shopping centers.

Edward A. Fish Associates, incorporated in 1951, is developer and manager of more than 33 real estate projects throughout New England.

The master planner of Crown Colony Office Park is the architectural firm of Jung Brannen/Associates, Inc.

enthusiastic about the future. "Our success has been the result of hard working, dedicated employees and the support of our loyal customers. We look forward to many more years of involvement with the city of Quincy and with the South Shore community."

A commemorative plaque was presented to them by Richard Beecher, zone manager for Buick Motor Division New England.

Established in 1963, South Shore Buick was purchased by Costello and Fitzgerald in 1963 at its present address.

Commenting on the presentation, the two owners said,

"Deciding to come to Quincy and the South Shore has been a rewarding experience. The South Shore is a vibrant area, and we are

Stop & Shop Honors 5 Residents

Five Quincy residents were among 75 employees of Stop & Shop and Bradlees Department Stores inducted into the company's Quarter Century Club.

They are: Anna Downey, Antonette Sheehan, Frank Sweet, Arnold Salvatore and Gerard Murphy.

The club was established in 1947 to honor employees who have contributed 25 years of continuous service to the company.

A luncheon was held at Lombardo's of Randolph to celebrate the event. The Quarter Century Club now includes 1512 members.

Snug Harbor Teacher Publishes Special Education Textbook

Dr. Allan G. Osborne, Jr., Ed.D., of the Snug Harbor Community School faculty has recently written and published a textbook, announces Richard DeCristofaro, Snug Harbor principal.

The book written by the special education teacher is, "Complete Legal Guide to Special Education Services. It was published by the Business and Professional Books Division of Parker Publishing Company, a subsidiary of Prentice-Hall, Inc.

Dr. Osborne's book is intended to be a guide for practicing school administrators, counselors, psychologists, and teachers. He explains how professionals may work within the boundaries of federal and state special education laws so that both their overall program and day to day special education decisions are legally sound.

The book is based on a comprehensive study by the author of thousands of court decisions affecting the operation of special education programs in the public schools.

Included are the development of appropriate programs for handicapped students, the rights of access handicapped students have to educational programs, the related or supportive services that must be provided, and the special disciplinary procedures that must be used with handicapped students.

In addition to his position as a special education teacher at the Snug Harbor School, Dr. Osborne has lectured at Bridgewater State College. He was previously employed by the Bellingham Public Schools, and has 15 years experience as a teacher, professor and administrator in special education.

He holds degrees from Boston College, Fitchburg State College, and a bachelor's degree in psychology from the University of Massachusetts.

DEPARTMENT

Docket No. 88F0101-P1

To LAWRENCE PETER III of QUINCY in said County, BARBARA RAE of CANTON in said County, ROBERT A. P. GOUTING of QUINCY in said County, RICHARD M. PETER III of HULL in the County of PLYMOUTH and to all other persons interested.

A petition has been presented to said Court by DEWMOUTH in the County of NORFOLK representing that they hold as tenants in common an undivided part or share of certain land lying in Quincy in said County and briefly described as follows:

A certain parcel of land together with the buildings thereon situated in that part of said Quincy known as Germantown, lying on the northeasterly side of Bicknell Street, and being shown on plan by P. E. O'Brien & Son dated May, 1927, duly recorded and bounded and described as follows:

SOUTHWESTERLY by Bicknell Street, seventy-eight and 20/100 (78-20/100) feet.

NORTHWESTERLY by land now or formerly of George F. Swift and land now or formerly of Emma M. Rich, three hundred thirty-three and 17/100 (333-17/100) feet.

NORTHEASTERLY by land of the Sailors Snug Harbor by a line of granite posts eighty-two (82) feet.

Containing 26,547 square feet.

Said premises are conveyed subject to restrictions of record if any in so far as the same are now in force and applicable.

Title Reference: Norfolk Registry of Deeds, Book 2161, Page 545, setting forth that she desires that - all - of said land may be sold at private sale for not less than one hundred and twenty thousand dollars and praying that partition may be made of all the land aforesaid according to law, and to that end that a commissioner be appointed to make such partition and be ordered to make sale and conveyance of all or any part of said land which the said finds cannot be advantageously divided, either at private sale or public auction, and be ordered to distribute the net proceeds thereof.

If you desire to object thereto, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the seventh day of December 1988, the return day of this citation.

Witness, Robert M. Ford, Esquire, First Justice of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of October 1988.

Firm Selected For Emergency Repair Work At Central

Dorel Steel Erection Corporation, 17 Fayette St., Quincy, has been selected to do the temporary emergency repair work at the closed Central Middle School, announces Mayor Francis McCauley.

The mayor said he will ask the state to approve the selection this week.

Once approved, the firm will go on site to begin work. The emergency repair work is expected to be completed in four to six weeks, the mayor said.

Project costs has not yet been determined, McCauley said.

The school will not reopen until both the temporary and permanent repairs are finished. The permanent repairs are expected to begin in the early part of 1989 and be finished in the spring.

If the school is not reopened next spring, it will next fall.

While the temporary work is being done, Gale Engineering will work on engineering plans and drawings for the permanent repairs.

The repairs include stabilizing the roof with bracing, and removing the entire learning center ceiling and balcony.

Last week, the mayor said the engineering for the permanent repair work would probably continue until the end of the year.

After the engineering is completed, the city will go to bid for the final repairs, McCauley said.

Because of the bidding procedure and the contractor selection, the permanent repair work would begin in the early part of 1989.

Quincy Savings Petitions To Close Downtown Branch

Quincy Savings Bank has petitioned the Commissioner of Banks to close the Quincy Center branch located at 1374 Hancock St. in Quincy Square. Declining customer activity and a consolidation of business to the main office located at 1200 Hancock St. are the principal reasons cited for the petition.

"The main office, built 14 years ago, is a few hundred yards from the Quincy Center Branch," said Charles R. Simpson, President Statistics show a steady decline in activity at the Quincy Center branch as customers have availed themselves of the services at the Main Office. The Main Office offers ample free parking, automated teller machines, safe deposit boxes and walk-up and drive-thru windows. Unfortunately the Quincy Center branch simply cannot provide these services."

Quincy Savings Bank owns and operates 9 branches around the South Shore. A wholly-owned subsidiary of Excel Bancorp. Inc., Quincy Savings has assets of 629.8 million dollars.

Park, Basketball Court Dedicated

Robert 'Quackie' Lingoos Remembered

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

City officials, neighbors and youths gathered in Germantown Saturday to dedicate the Taffrail Road Park and Basketball Court in the memory of Robert "Quackie" Lingoos, a well-liked 18-year old who died tragically this summer.

Lingoos died July 31 after being stabbed while trying to break up a fight. In September, more than 600 young residents of Germantown petitioned the Quincy Housing Authority to dedicate the park and court on Taffrail Rd. in his memory.

A stone memorial was unveiled on the site with the inscription, "This Park is Dedicated to the Memory and Spirit of Robert 'Quackie' Lingoos, January 22, 1970 to July 31, 1988 by his Friends and the Youth of Snug Harbor."

The ceremony was attended by Lingoos's mother, Mrs. Patricia Lingoos. She thanked friends and neighbors after the memorial was dedicated.

The memorial was unveiled by friends of Lingoos.

John "Jake" Comer, executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority, presided over the ceremony.

Among the officials who spoke were Mayor Francis McCauley, Sen. Paul Harold, Rosemary Wahlberg, chairperson of the Quincy Housing Authority, and Joseph A. Mazzarella, director of Occupational Education for Quincy Public Schools.

The Rev. Richard S. DeVeer of St. Boniface Church delivered the invocation.

"O Lord God, you really don't care who wins basketball games but you really do care about how people treat each other and this morning we are remembering Quackie, who really did treat everyone with openness and acceptance."

"And Lord as we pray in his memory knowing he is with you in peace, we also pray in his memory to help those of us left behind to treat each other with acceptance and with welcome," Rev. DeVeer said.

"And Lord," he continued, "we ask as these courts are used that no matter who people are or no matter where they're from or no matter what they look like or what they feel, that they can welcome and accept and enjoy each other's company and play with good sportsmanship and respect for each other."

"Lord, help Quackie to teach all of us the meaning of being one people who really care about each other," Rev. DeVeer said.

Wahlberg, who did not personally know Lingoos, said she learned what type of person he was from her son, Danny Wahlberg.

By talking with her son, Wahlberg said she discovered the "special thing" about Lingoos which was "how much he loved his mother and how unashamedly he talked about that."

"And to we mothers of sons, we know boys get to a time where we have to know they love us because they don't talk about it a lot," she said.

"But Danny said that Quackie never minded talking about it and that he talked about what he was going to get her and what gifts he would give her."

"You see, he was a responsible young man. He considered himself her partner."

Wahlberg asked Lingoos's friends to speak with his mother and tell her stories about "Quackie" during her time of need.

"And I know that these special things that it's going to be hard to do. It's easy to avoid the grieving mother."

"The grieving mother has to hear from you. These special, wonderful stories about Quackie," she said.

Wahlberg also asked another favor from Lingoos's friends.

"That this place in Germantown be special and be protected and that it not be defaced; that it be kept nice and kept special because he was nice and he was special

Where Were Secret Servicemen That Night?

It still bothers me. It just won't go away. It has been nagging at me since -- the assassination of John F. Kennedy that Nov. 22, 1963 in Dallas. And actually, three years before -- back to another date -- Nov. 10, 1960.

That's when it first bothered me as I stood there in the living room of former Ambassador Joseph Kennedy's house in the Kennedy compound at Hyannisport waiting for the President-elect to appear.

Where were the Secret Servicemen I wondered. I wasn't even supposed to be in the house but no one seemed to care.

My name could have been Lee Harvey Oswald or someone like that for all anyone knew. Or cared.

I could have been a nutcase with a gun in my pocket. I could have been there waiting for Kennedy -- waiting with a gun in my pocket.

Word among the press was that 18 Secret Service agents had been assigned to protect the next President of the United States. That they had moved in swiftly after Richard Nixon had finally conceded defeat in the see-saw election.

But if they were around the house -- inside or out -- that night, they were invisible. They sure weren't checking on anyone.

Earlier that day, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th President-to-be had held a press conference at the National Guard Armory in Hyannis which had served as press headquarters during the election. The headlines kept changing fast all day.

"Hoover, Dulles To Stay"

"Like Asks JFK Meet Him Soon On Takeover"

"Kennedy Says Election Reputates No One"

Hyannis and Hyannisport had become international datelines.

Nixon had conceded. The election sweatout was over. Now the whole Kennedy clan had gathered at the armory to hear the President-elect make a short victory statement. Standing proudly at his side was Jacqueline, 31, radiant and expecting their second child in a few weeks.

On the rostrum were his parents, Joseph and Rose Kennedy, his brother, Bobby, with Ethel, Ted, sisters Eunice Shriver, Jean Smith, Pat Lawford and somewhat in the background, brother-in-law Peter Lawford.

All listened intently to what actually was a preview of the theme of his inaugural address as he said:

"The election may have been a close one. But I think that there is a general agreement by all of our citizens that the supreme national effort will be needed in the years ahead to move this country safely through the 1960's."

There appeared to be tears in his eyes as he thanked "all those who worked so long and so hard in this campaign."

He made quite an impression on me.

And I was replaying that scene in my mind as I stood there in Joseph Kennedy's living room that evening waiting for the President-elect. Waiting with me were maybe 40 or 50 other newsmen.

But at least three of us were not supposed to be there. We were party crashers. The invitation had been extended to members of the press that had traveled with Kennedy throughout the campaign. No one mentioned the local press.

PRESIDENT-ELECT John F. Kennedy and Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth chat at Barnstable Airport Nov. 11, 1960 following Kennedy's election. Behind them are Kenneth O'Donnell and Pierre Salinger.

I was covering the election for The Boston Traveler, Dave Farrell was for The Boston Herald, and the late Frank Kelly of Wollaston, was taking photos for both The Traveler and Herald.

The three of us had decided that this was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity and we weren't going to miss it.

The bus to take the invited press to the Kennedy compound was parked outside the Hyannis armory. The three of us had proper press credentials -- but only to get us into the armory for the actual election coverage.

We walked down the street after eating and stepped aboard the bus. No one questioned us. No one asked to see our credentials. When everyone was aboard, the bus left for the compound in Hyannisport.

We entered the compound. No one asked for credentials. We entered Joseph Kennedy's house. No one checked us.

Anyone could have gotten aboard that bus and rode into the compound that night.

None of the Kennedys were in sight when we arrived so we started browsing around the living room. On the wall were framed letters written by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to Ambassador Kennedy.

On the fireplace mantle was a model of the USS Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. the destroyer named after the son whose planned political career went down in flames in a World War II mission plane crash.

The dining room connected with the living room. On the dining room table was a punch bowl and some cups. Someone said to help ourselves. So we did.

Everyone headed back into the living room. I didn't care too much for the punch and was returning my cup to the dining room table when a screen door leading into the room swung open and in stepped John F. Kennedy.

He walked over to me and we shook hands. "Congratulations, Mr. President," I said. It wasn't the correct protocol. He was still officially Senator Kennedy. But, he seemed to enjoy being called, "Mr. President" and smiled.

We were alone in the room for a few moments. The others then spotted him and we were soon surrounded.

Kennedy was smiling but he looked tired. His eyes were red from the strain of the campaign and the final agonizing hours when the election could have gone either way.

One reporter asked him what he thought made the final difference in the election.

"He (Nixon) stayed around too long in the South," Kennedy replied. (Stayed wasn't the exact word he used.)

Soon the other members of the Kennedy family joined us; Jacqueline, beautiful and pregnant with John John; Rose Kennedy looking as trim as the Kennedy sisters, Bobby Kennedy and Ted, Sargent Shriver. But Joseph Kennedy was no where to be seen.

The President-elect revealed he was flying to Palm Springs, Fla. the next morning. He said he would relax and "maybe play a little golf."

"But don't mention the golf," he laughed. He didn't want the country to think it was getting another golfer for President.

I got to chatting with Rose Kennedy and we were soon discussing Quincy-born Presidents John and John Quincy Adams. She wanted to know all about them and Abigail, too. I told her all I knew and said when I got back home I would have Quincy's historian, William C. Edwards, send her more information. (He did.)

Someone then produced a number of Christmas gift wrapped bottles of bourbon, scotch and rye from under the counter in the kitchen. And then came a sight you could never forget. There was the next President of the United States pouring drinks and carrying ice cubes for the press.

It was a night to cherish and fondly remember.

The following morning the Kennedy party flew out of Barnstable airport in Hyannis aboard the family plane "Caroline."

I remember seeing Joseph Kennedy there. And Caroline, not then quite three and as cute as little Shirley Temple.

I got one more chance to take with Kennedy before the plane took off. Pierre Salinger and Kenneth O'Donnell were standing behind us as we talked.

"Good luck, Mr. President," I said to him again in farewell as we shook hands. "Thank you," he said breaking into a wide grin getting a kick out of being called "Mr. President" for the second time.

After the plane was airborne, I kiddingly told Farrell and Kelly that someday I would write the story of how we crashed the Kennedy compound. I would wait until he was out of office, I said, because the party that night was "off the record."

I figured it would not be for at least eight years before I got around to writing the story. I thought for sure Kennedy would be re-elected to a second term. And, of course, he would be a world famed figure for many years to come, sought after for his comments and opinions.

It still pains me on each anniversary of his tragic death in Dallas because on each anniversary I recall telling Farrell and Kelly:

"And do you know what I'm going to write about after he leaves office? I'm going to tell how we got by the Secret Service that night. I'm going to write how I could have assassinated John Fitzgerald Kennedy over the punch bowl in the dining room of his father's house."

But who could have foreseen back then as I said those words what was to happen three years later?

I can't help wondering about the Secret Service that night in Hyannisport. And I can't help wondering about them that morning three years later in Dallas.

It keeps nagging at me. It has for 25 years. It always will.

Great Grandmother Clocks 22,366 Volunteer Hours At Quincy Hospital

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Quincy City Hospital recently honored its 186 volunteers, Auxiliaries, pastoral care students and eucharistic ministers at an Evening of Appreciation for their 32,000 hours of service in 1987-88.

Betty Keith, with 22,366 hours of volunteer service, was among them. A charter auxiliary member, it took her 35 years to pile up her impressive record.

This is the equivalent of 559 40-hour weeks. Had she received a $5 per hour nominal wage, she would have contributed $111,800 in savings to Quincy City Hospital.

Mrs. Keith, 79, a North Quincy resident, has lived in the same house for 50 years. Her sons are Robert Keith, recently retired from the CIA and Capt. Stephen Keith, U.S.N. She has 10 grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren "and two more coming."

She works most often behind the counters of the Hospital Gift Shop run by the Auxiliary which in 1987-88 contributed $32,335.39 in gifts to the hospital. These included a pace maker, bookmarks for patients, Pediatric Christmas Party, and a $25,000 donation.

Mark Mundy, Hospital Director, said the Auxiliary over the past three years has contributed more than $190,000 for the building program, medical equipment, and patient comfort aids.

He listed also improvements which Quincy City Hospital is adding to its equipment to better serve the public: A magnetic resonance machine (MRI) added at a cost of $2,000,000, making Quincy the first community hospital in Massachusetts to be approved for this. Dr. Minta Phillips and Mary Sweeney, Director of Planning and Marketing, were responsible for securing this approval, he said.

A new Occupational Health Service for citizens of Quincy will operate with Fileen Erickson as director.

Other speakers who praised services of the volunteers were Mayor Francis X. McCauley, State Senator Paul Harold, City Councillor James Sheets, and Margaret E. Crehan, Director of Volunteers. A letter from David B. MacIntosh, Board of Managers chairman who was unable to attend, was read by Gertrude Buckley, secretary.

Auxiliary officers introduced were Mrs. Ruth Dahlgren, President; Mrs. Carol Herbai, 1st vice president; Mrs. Esther Grossman, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Rita Lynch, treasurer; Miss Natalie Fossati, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Matilda McKicken and Mrs. Martion DeSantis, recording

Bradford, Bates Campaign For Mayor Heats Up

Political campaigning heated up in Quincy as Election Day neared.

Mayor William A. Bradford, seeking a second term, held a rally at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murdock Cameron, 482 Beale St., Wollaston, and defended himself from attacks by the challenger, former Mayor Gustave B. Bates.

Atty. John D. Mackay, a Bates supporter, assailed Bradford as "the hand-picked candidate of the bankers and the millionaires" and chided him for making extravagant claims for his administration's accomplishments.

Charles French, formerly of Quincy and ex-mayor of Concord, N.H., told a Bates rally sponsored by the Montclair Improvement Association that Bates was handicapped during his term as mayor in 1916 by a City Council that was against him.

French charged that Health Commissioner Dr. F.E. Jones, a Bradford appointee, was using city-owned automobiles for private business while the city was paying for gas, oil, tires and repairs. Jones denied it.

IRS Taxpayer Publication Available

The Internal Revenue Service has published a four page publication outlining the rights and responsibilities of all taxpayers in dealing with the IRS.

The publication, entitled "Your Rights As A Taxpayer," contains information on how to obtain assistance when preparing a tax return, how to reschedule an audit if needed and how to make an arrangement if you received a bill and cannot afford to make payment in full.

The IRS plans to enclose the publication in most first notices issued involving a tax examination or collection matter. It will also be available at local IRS offices.

A copy can also be ordered by calling the toll-free number, 1-800-424-3676.

Easy Bake Potatoes For Thanksgiving

Because of a recent accident in which I have been "temporarily handicapped," cooking is taking twice as long as usual. However, with Thanksgiving Day here, I got a great mashed potato recipe from my sister-in-law Anita that can be made a day ahead. I am using five pounds of potatoes, which will serve at least eight to ten persons.

EASY BAKE POTATOES

5 Lbs potatoes
1 large package cream cheese
1 small container sour cream
1 stick butter or margarine
Enough milk to mash
Salt & pepper to taste
Peel and boil potatoes for mashing.

Add the milk and all the other ingredients slowly mashing as they are added. Put in a slightly greased casserole dish and bake in a 325 degree oven until top is bubbly. Cool for about 10 minutes and serve. If you make it ahead, refrigerate it after the above process and then bake when ready. Happy Thanksgiving!

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point; Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

CARNEY HOSPITAL recently honored long-term employees at a Service Awards Dinner at Lantana's in Randolph with John Logue (left), President, and Sr. Mary Walter, Chairman of the Board, are Quincy award recipients from left, Nancy Ramponi, 15 years; Marion Rogan, 10 years; Christine Hicks, 10 years; Frances Langille, 20 years; Irene Manning, 15 years and Grace McManis, 5 years.

The mayor also spoke, describing Lingo's death as a "tragic and senseless act."

"We're not going to be able to bring him back we can all learn from the tragedy that happened," he said.

McCauley also voiced an important message to the Germantown youth.

"Be part of the good things that are happening in Germantown. You're the important people because you are the future, you're the future of Germantown and the future of the city."

The mayor also applauded the efforts of the Germantown youth for initiating the dedication drive.

Residents Invited To Learn About Alcohol, Drug Program Nov. 28

Residents of the community are invited to learn about a new drug and alcohol training program that has begun in the Quincy Public School system Monday, Nov. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Method Center at Quincy High School.

As part of its long-standing commitment to work effectively with the community to resolve the problem of drug and alcohol abuse, the Quincy school system has entered into a contract with the Northeast Regional Center for Drug-Free Schools and Communities.

Funded by the U.S. Department of Education, the NRC's mission is to train faculty, students, parents and community members to work together in solving problems concerning drug and alcohol abuse.

A critical component of this process is the development of a positive school and community climate, a prerequisite for effectively dealing with the issue.

Presently, there are 20 teachers and administrators who have received eight days of concentrated, intensive training. These participants have expressed overwhelming support for the process and the insight they have received from the training.

On Monday, Nov. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Quincy High Method Center, participants of the eight-day training workshop will share important elements of the program in an effort to include community members in this process.

At this time, community people will be invited to take part in an expanded version of this training program from Friday, Jan. 20 to Sunday, Jan. 22 at a location within an hour of Quincy.

Faculty have already received a similar presentation.

At Monday's program, those who have already been trained will demonstrate to interested citizens some of their skills in problem solving that they have acquired.

The training was done by the Northeast Regional Center for Drug-Free Schools and Communities which is under the leadership of Dr. Gerry Edwards.

The NRC assists schools and communities to develop viable prevention and early intervention programs designed to combat the multifaceted problems facing today's youth. It is expected that these programs, when developed, will inhibit drug and alcohol abuse and impact other negative behaviors.

School district and community members are trained to analyze their school and or community, and design new drug and alcohol prevention intervention programs.

In some instances, teams may choose to modify existing programs.

The objectives of the training are to:

- Provide an in-depth understanding of the drug abuse field: pharmacological aspects and psychosocial causes of alcohol and drug abuse.
- Identify model prevention and intervention programs and strategies.
- Increase participants' awareness of how attitudes and values contribute to the alcohol and drug abuse syndrome.
- Identify and utilize local and regional resources.
- Develop action plans.
- Develop policies and procedures regarding alcohol and drug abuse and school discipline.

• Mobilize the efforts of parents and other significant community members.

The ultimate objective is to train personnel to focus their efforts on the causes of drug and alcohol abuse among young people and to develop programs that address these causes.

Through such programs, young people will be less likely to become society's casualties and more likely to become responsible, self-reliant, productive citizens.

Those who attend the weekend program in January will be added to four existing teams. Each team has five people: a school principal, one academic teacher, one non-academic teacher, a guidance person and a member of the community.

The community member acts as a liaison between the team and the community.

The teams are in four schools: Broadmeadows Middle School, Atlantic Middle School, North Quincy High and Quincy High.

There are plans to expand the program to all Quincy schools.

"The ideal goal for the Quincy Public School system is to create an atmosphere in the schools and the community which makes faculty, students and citizens create a better climate from which to live in," said one school administrator connected with the program.

"The important thing now is get people interested and get the teams working together," he said.

"Only through this sharing among faculty, students, parents and interested citizens shall we change our 'problems' into opportunities to create a better environment in which positive, caring relationships can thrive."

The program is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education and Quincy was one of four school systems in the state selected for the grant. The others are Winchester, Andover and Revere.

You're covered

By Gail Dann
Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc.

HOMEOWNER'S CONTENTS COVERAGE

Quite frankly, homeowner's contents coverage is a nightmare for most professional insurance agencies. Most homeowner's policies cover contents for 1/2 of the amount on the coverage on the home.

Say, for example, you insure your home for $100,000. You would then have $50,000 of contents coverage. If you know that your contents are well within that figure, then there is no problem. But, are you fully aware of their cash value? In all our years of experience, we have never found a homeowner who knows the value of their contents. Therefore, when considering a homeowners policy, we recommend a complete inventory of your belongings.

For example, you might try a small experiment. Start with your bedroom. Count the pairs of shoes in your closet. Take a piece of paper and inventory that number with a dollar amount. You'll be amazed at the actual cash value of your shoes alone. This will be an indicator of how valuable your possessions really are. Then do the same with your entire home. You should keep this inventory in a safe place off the premises. If you have a video recorder available to you make a video record of your belongings.

For professional advice on all of your insurance needs please contact the experts at Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. Call us at 471-6200 or stop by our office at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

At St. John's Church

Memorial Mass Saturday For 4 Victims Of Thanksgiving Accident

A first anniversary memorial Mass for four young Quincy friends who were killed in a tragic two-car accident Thanksgiving Day last year will be celebrated Saturday, Nov. 26 at 11 a.m. at St. John the Baptist Church, Quincy Center.

The Mass, which is open to the public, will be celebrated in the memories of William P. Marston, Richard A. Miller Jr., Timothy F. Tobin and Matthew D. Tobin.

The four friends, were the occupants of one of the cars involved in the accident. The accident occurred early Thanksgiving morning on Nov. 26 in Wollaston.

They were 22 years old at the time of the accident.

Three of the four friends, Marston, Miller and Timothy Tobin, died the day of the crash. Matthew Tobin died a week later.

Timothy Tobin and Matthew Tobin were cousins. Timothy was the son of Quincy Police Officer and Mrs. Timothy G. Tobin. Matthew Tobin was the son of Quincy District Court Clerk Magistrate and Mrs. Arthur Tobin.

Members of St. John's Church clergy as well as other priests, including the Rev. Daniel Graham, will participate in the memorial Mass. Father Graham, a former associate pastor at St. John's, is now at St. Brendan's in Dorchester.

Family members and friends who attended the four funeral Masses at St. John's Church last year are expected to attend the memorial Mass Saturday.

Three scholarships and a memorial fund have been established in the four friends' memories.

The scholarships are in the names of William Marston, Richard Miller and Timothy Tobin. The memorial fund is in the name of Matthew Tobin.

This week, a total of $1,200 from the Tobin Memorial Fund was presented to 12 separate agencies and organizations. Among them were Rosie's Place for Women, Pine St. Inn, Salvation Army and Father Bill's Place.

"These were the types of things (Matthew) was concerned about," said Arthur Tobin.

The scholarships and the memorial fund will continue annually.

California Man Seeks Quincy Family

The Mayor's Office has received a letter from a California resident who is seeking the whereabouts of a former Quincy resident's family.

Frank Joy of Burbank, Calif. wrote the letter as an attempt to contact the family of John (Jack) Dennison. Joy said he has been looking for the family for 43 years.

According to the letter, Joy attended a reunion last month and was told Dennison was buried in France. Joy also wrote that he knows Dennison had lived in Quincy in the early 1940s "as he always talked about it."

The short letter does not give an explanation as to why he is trying to contact the Dennison family. Joy says "it is a long story."

Anyone with information pertaining to this matter can write to Frank Joy, Box 3142, Burbank, CA 91504.

Durkin Urges Central Repairs Be Expedited

School Committeeman Stephen Durkin has written Mayor Francis X. McCauley urging that the repair process at the Central Middle School be expedited.

In a letter, Durkin wrote "Over the past several days, we have all received many telephone calls from parents of Central Middle School students regarding the time line for the expected repair and reopening of Central. Parents have expressed concern that the school may not be ready for occupancy until the end of the school year."

"It has been explained that temporary repairs could be completed on an emergency basis without going through the formal bidding process, but that permanent repairs could only be started after the city completes an often time-consuming competitive bidding procedure."

"I would request that every effort be made by the Mayor's office and the city building inspector to expedite this process and to explore whether all of the repair work could possibly be done on an emergency basis, thereby bypassing the time-consuming delays of the formal bidding process."

"Failing that, I would urge the city to include in its contract for the permanent repairs start and completion times so as to avoid further delays. These start and completion deadlines should carry with them penalty clauses to further protect the city and to ensure that Central Middle School students are able to reoccupy their school at the earliest possible date."

'Into The Desert Of Our Lives' Advent Sermon At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday, Nov. 27 at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

To mark the first Sunday in Advent, a large Advent wreath will be placed in the center of the chancel. The ceremony of readings, prayers, and the lighting of the first Advent candle will be led by George and Kathleen Nason and their son, Kurt Kim.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both services on the theme "Into the Desert of Our Lives."

Lay scripture readers will be William F. Greene in the chapel and Edmund A. Alusy in the sanctuary.

At the 10 a.m. service, the Chancel Choir under the direction of Charles J. Blue, organist, will present two selections. The anthem will be "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" by J.S. Bach and the offertory Carl Mueller's composition "Laudamus Te."

The worship is broadcast "live" direct from Bethany's sanctuary at 10 o'clock over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc. In addition, a cassette tape of the service and sermon can be obtained from the church office at a cost of $2.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m.

with classes for children pre-school through 8th grade. Nursery care for babies as well as a Toddler's Class are provided under the supervision of Bethany's professional early childhood coordinator, Pamela Ford Curran.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and the fellowship, and to enroll children in the church school.

For additional information concerning Bethany's programs and ministries, contact the church at 479-7300.

'York Rite Masonry Night' At Quincy Masonic Temple

"York Rite Masonry Night" will be observed by Rural Lodge AF & M on Thursday, Dec. 1, during their regular meeting at the Quincy Masonic Temple, 1170 Hancock St., Quincy.

Masons, their friends, including women, have been invited, along with State dignitaries of the Masonic Order.

Dinner will be at 6:30 p.m., with entertainment at 7:15 p.m.

At 8 p.m. in the main lodge room, there will be a program featuring a talk on "Masonry and the Family" by Worshipful Roderick D.

Morrison, a past master of Rural Lodge.

Also, Most Illustrious Leslie C. Banks, Most Illustrious Grand Master, Grand Council of Royal and Select Master of Massachusetts, and Right Eminent Robert J. Allen, Grand Commander, Grand Commandery.

For dinner reservations, or to secure information on Masonry, persons interested should call Al Cugini at 767-4299 or Harry Johnson at 479-1601.

Community Thanksgiving Service At Wollaston Nazarene

Twelve churches of the Interchurch Council will hold a Community Thanksgiving Service on Wednesday (Nov. 23) at 7 p.m. at Wollaston Nazarene Church, 37 East Elm St.

Churches participating include Wollaston Baptist Church, Church of the Nazarene, Wollaston Lutheran Church, Wollaston Congregational Church, Church of the Good Shepherd, Sacred Heart Church, Memorial Congregational Church.

Church of Squantum, Union Congregational Church, Star of the Sea Church, and Quincy Community United Methodist Church.

Parishioners of all churches are invited. A collation will follow the service.

Religious Freedom First Parish Church Topic

This Sunday's 10:30 a.m. worship service at United First Parish Church, Unitarian, "Church of the Presidents," will feature a sermon entitled "The Crisis for Religious Freedom: Unitarians in Romania." The sermon will be delivered by Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, Minister.

Dr. Bennett will speak about the oppressive regime of Romania which threatens 150 to 200 Unitarian churches in the country.

Child care is provided during the service.

Visitors are welcome and invited to attend the Social Hour following the service.

Historic First Parish Church is located in Quincy Center at 1306 Hancock St. (opposite City Hall). For further information call 773-1290.

'Hanging Of The Greens' At Squantum First Church

Worship at the First Church of Squantum on Sunday, Nov. 27, the first Sunday in Advent, will be at 10:30 a.m.

In preparation, on Saturday at 6 p.m., the Board of Christian Education will sponsor the church's annual "Hanging of the Greens." This is an evening of decorating the church for Christmas, making Christmas ornaments and crafts, and enjoying Christmas refreshments. It marks the beginning of the Advent season. As always, visitors from the community are welcome.

Thanksgiving Sunday, members and friends met for a breakfast and special worship service. Proceeds from the breakfast will be used for youth ministries sponsored by the church. Worshipers brought canned goods to the service to be given to people in need.

"Practicing Thanksgiving" was the sermon by the pastor, Dr. Gene Langevin. It was based on texts from Jeremiah 23:1-6, Psalm 93, and Luke 2:36-38.

Using a bowl of handmade fruit sewn by Paulette Potter, Dr. Langevin illustrated his talk to the children, "What God Harvests." Tiny crafts were given to the Sunday School children.

Dr. Langevin offered prayers of intercession for Iore Wallin, at home, Ann Johnston, whose husband is in the Mass. Respiratory Hospital; Leif Thorton at the Veterans Hospital in West Roxbury; Helen Miller, at home; Barbara Anderson, at home and David Williams in the recent loss of his mother.

Congregational hymns were accompanied by Janet Williamson, pianist, and Mary Ruth Scott, organist. The Junior and Chancel Choirs sang Evelyn and Sandy Ahern were guests. Harry Holmes and Stewart Scott, ushers, and Adelaide Nelson and Ruth Swenson, hostesses for the Fellowship Hour.

The Bible Study Group will meet on Nov. 29 at 7:30 p.m. a final meeting before Christmas. The Nominating Committee will meet Sunday, Nov. 27 at 7:30 p.m.

Encouragement Concepts Topic For St. Joseph's PTO

Jack Agati will address St. Joseph PTO Wednesday, Nov. 30 at 7:45 p.m.

Agati is connected with the "Encouragement Concepts Association" in Derry, NH.

He will speak on the concepts of encouragement and praise with children. He will also address the topic of how does the birth order in a family affect a child's growth and development.

Agati speaks all over the country.

All parents and those who work with children are welcome to attend. Donations for the evening is $2.

St. Andrew's Day At St. Chrysostom's

St. Chrysostom's Church, Hancock and Linden Sts., Wollaston, will hold a St.

Andrew's Day Celebration on Sunday at 6 p.m.

The celebration will feature The Rev. Brian C. Black Scottish music and bagpipes.

300,000 Expected At Christmas Parade

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A longstanding holiday tradition in Quincy and on the South Shore will be renewed Sunday, Nov. 27 when the 37th annual Christmas Festival Parade steps off at 12:30 p.m. in Quincy Center. Approximately 300,000 people are expected to line the 2.8 mile parade route and experience the sights and sounds of this year's theme, "The Enchantment of Christmas."

More than 70 units, including 21 colorful floats, 24 musical marching bands, 22 specialty units including five color guard groups will be featured.

This year's grand marshal will be Joe Morgan, manager of the Eastern Division Champion Boston Red Sox. Morgan, who led the Sox to their second division crown in three years, will be accompanied by his grandson.

Morgan, LPI's "Manager of the Year," was given the honor by the Festival Committee in recognition and respect for his dedication and success in providing of family sporting entertainment for millions of people.

"The Christmas Committee is extremely pleased that Mr. Morgan, along with his grandson, will participate as this year's parade grand marshal," said Festival Committee Chairman George White.

"We look forward to welcoming him," he said.

The parade is the highlight of a series of holiday events to be held this weekend in Quincy.

The turning on of Christmas Lights will get things rolling on Friday, Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall Plaza. Among those making an appearance will be local dignitaries, Disney characters, Rick Cobban the "One-Man Band" and of course, Santa Claus, who will hand out candy canes to children after the lights are turned on.

Santa will officially arrive in Quincy by parachute from a plane on Saturday, Nov. 26 at 12:30 p.m. He and several of his elves will land at Faxon Field behind the Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Candy canes will be distributed to children in attendance by Santa and his elves. Santa will then be transported by fire truck to the Cummings store in downtown Quincy Center where he will reside until Christmas Day.

The parade on Sunday will begin at Elm and School Sts. and proceed north on Hancock St. for almost three miles to East and West Squantum Sts. at North Quincy High School.

The parade, which attracts thousands of people from all over the region and beyond every year, is expected to last two hours.

Returning favorites include miniature horses standing 32-inches high in Christmas attire, Ronald McDonald, 12 antique cars and Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, White pointed out.

Also returning for an encore performance will be eight Hallamore Clydesdale horses. "They're a perennial crowd pleaser," White said.

"We are pleased to have the continuing participating of the Carney Hospital, St. John's Church, CYO, Germantown Yacht Club, Woodward School, Sacred Heart youth and the Koch Club for their continued float participation," he said.

White also thanked several commercial businesses, the Carney Hospital, Bank of Boston, Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, South Shore Bank, the Patriot Ledger and Jack Conway Realty Company for their continued participation.

As a tribute to Quincy's 100th anniversary as a city, there will be a special parade section including a Centennial float and a birthday cake float, White noted.

Other new floats include entries by the Quincy School Committee, Wollaston Credit Union and Quincy City Hospital.

Jane Teevens, who submitted the winning entry for this year's parade, will be transported along the route and will receive a special gift of appreciation at the awards ceremony following the parade.

Her entry was chosen from hundreds of entries in the parade theme contest held earlier in the year.

White said the Christmas Parade Festival appreciates the cooperation of Foley Chrysler in North Quincy for providing convertibles to transport celebrities along the parade route.

Major sponsors of the event are the City of Quincy, Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Patriot Ledger.

A number of streets will be roped off at the sidewalk and White asks the cooperation of parade spectators in keeping behind the ropes.

The streets are: Hancock St. from Granite to School Sts., St. Ann's Rd. to Old Colony Ave., West Elm Ave. to Beale, Billings Rd. to East and West Squantum Sts. as well as McIntyre Mall.

Floats illustrating the theme of "The Enchantment of Christmas" will compete for prizes and money in the commercial and non-commercial categories.

In addition, trophies will be presented for the Best Overall Float. First place entrant will receive the Fr. Thomas Tierney Trophy and $1,000; second place, $500; third place, $300 and fourth place, $200.

Other trophies to be awarded are: The Mayor's Trophy for the Best Quincy Float, Best Commercial Float and the special category, the Festival Committee Christmas Trophy.

Floats will be judged on originality, use of materials, use of color, appearance and adherence to theme.

Float entries are: Koch Club, City of Quincy Centennial, Quincy School Committee, Woodward School, Germantown Yacht Club, Quincy Junior College, South Shore Bank, Bank of Boston, Wollaston Credit Union, St. John's CYO, Jack

Conway Realtors, Quincy Bay Race Week, Bernie's Modern Formal, Carney Hospital, the Patriot Ledger, QCBPA Santa Float, Sacred Heart Church, Quincy City Hospital, Sen. Paul Harold and Quincy High School.

Judging the floats will be John O'Rourke of the Quincy Art Association, Mary Goode, founding president of the Randolph Art Association and Ruth Duquet, a past theme winner.

Bands participating are: David Prouty, the Klassy Clowns, Chicopee Comprehensive, Canton Post, Pittsfield High School, Norton High School, East Bridgewater High School, Lawrence High, Marshfield High, Weymouth North, Southbridge High, Agawam High, Weymouth South, Chicopee High, Milford High, Holbrook High, North Quincy High, Quincy High, Plymouth North, Abington High, 215th Army Band, Waltham Post, Douglas High and Shepherd Hill High.

The band judging will be held in the Cottage Ave. vicinity of Hancock St.

High school bands will be competing for the state and New England High School Championship. The winner will be eligible to appear in the Cotton Bowl Parade in Dallas, Texas, on New Year's day, 1990.

After the parade, both band and float awards will be presented in the North Quincy High School auditorium.

Admission is by ticket only.

Among the specialty units are: Theme winners, 12 antique cars, North Quincy and Quincy High Beauty Queens, Ronald McDonald Motor Home, McDonald Train and Characters, Hallamore Clydesdales, Hi Wheelers, Scituate Safety Car, Toys for Tots, Miniature Horses, Trolley Car Characters, and Pooper Scoopers.

Also, Quincy Civil Defense, Quincy Police Color Guard, Color Guard Competition, Bryan Post Color Guard, Quincy Fire Department pumper vehicle, Quincy

Police vehicle and motorcycles, State Color Guard, Ladies Auxiliary, MBTA motorcycle drill team, Elementary School Christmas poster contest winners and Rick Cobban.

State, county and city officials will also march.

Other sponsors are: the National Fire Protection Association, The Quincy Sun, WJDA, Continental Cablevision, Bank of Boston (Old Colony), Bank of New England-Hancock, Baybank-Norfolk County, Quincy Savings Bank, Quincy Cooperative Bank, State Street Realty, Shawmut

Banks, Marina Bay, North Quincy Business and Professional Association, George F. Bryan Post, Burke Distributing (Miller-Miller Lite), Stop and Shop Supermarket Companies, Bradlees Department Store, Raytheon, First American Bank for Savings, Quincy Sons of Italy, South Boston Savings, Jack Conway Realtors, Wollaston Credit Union and Barry's Ship-Haven-Barry's Deli.

Rain date is Sunday, Dec. 4. Postponement announcements will be made over WJDA and other stations available at 6 a.m. Sunday.

Christmas Lights To Be Turned On

The turning on of the Christmas Lights in Quincy Square will be held Friday, Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall Plaza.

The festive occasion will begin at 6:15 p.m. as Rick Cobban the "One-Man Band", performs a one-hour show.

At 7:20 p.m., city, state and local dignitaries will be introduced. Mayor Francis X.

McCauley, Quincy Center Business and Professional Association President Robert Colman and Christmas Festival General Chairman George White will speak.

After the lights are turned on at 7:30 p.m., Santa Claus will make an appearance and distribute candy canes to children.

Several Disney characters will also be present.

Santa Arrives By Plane Saturday

Santa Claus will once again arrive in Quincy in dramatic fashion on Saturday, Nov. 26 at 12:30 p.m. when he and three elves parachute from a plane and land at Faxon Field behind the Quincy Vocational Technical High School.

After his landing, Santa, along with several Disney characters, will be transported to Hancock St. where he will reside until Christmas.

Candy canes will be handed out to youngsters at noon.

Over $1,200 In Prizes At Wollaston Festival

By JANE ARENA

If you need a little Christmas there will be plenty of it around when the Wollaston Holiday Festival begins on Saturday.

The festival will feature holiday music by choral singers and bell ringers, the lighting of Christmas decorations and the drawing of prizes worth over $1,200 from Wollaston shops and businesses. (See coupons in this issue).

There will also be a special movie matinee and, of course, a personal appearance by Santa Claus himself.

The festival will get underway at 3 p.m. with a showing of "Gremlins" at the Wollaston Theater, 14 Beale St.

After the movie, the business district will wait for Santa's arrival, scheduled for 5 p.m. Santa will ride aboard a Fire Department truck down Beale St. to the Bank of New England where the official lighting of the Christmas decorations will take place.

Mayor Francis McCauley will assist Santa with the lighting ceremony set for about 5:15 p.m. in the bank parking lot.

Sen. Paul Harold, Rep. Michael Morrissey, City Council President Patricia Toland, Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan, and Councillor at Large Stephen McGrath will also attend the ceremony.

Please Turn Page For Coupons

As an added feature this year, children will be escorted by volunteers to the Wollaston Theater after the lighting ceremony where they can have their picture taken with Santa until 6:30 p.m. Pictures will cost $3 each.

The musical entertainment will begin at about 5:45 p.m. Performing holiday music will be the Quincy Choral Society, the Beechwood Chamber Players, and the Wollaston Congregational Church Bell Ringers. There will also be entertainment by the South Shore Juggling Club.

Throughout the festival free balloons and lollipops will be available.

The Holiday Festival will conclude at about 7 p.m.

when participating businesses from the Wollaston Business Association will conduct the drawings for prizes from coupons in this week's Quincy Sun.

Participating merchants and their prizes include:

Aladdin Antiques, 3 Elm Ave., $10 gift certificate.

McCauley Wants State To Pay Share Of Local Costs

Mayor Francis McCauley announces he has requested State Senator Paul Harold (D-Quincy) to file six bills for consideration during the 1988 session of the State Legislature.

The bills request that:

- The state pay the cost of security in senior citizens housing.

- The state pay certain amounts in lieu of taxes for senior citizen housing.

- The state be prohibited from penalizing communities in the state aid distribution formula for free cash surpluses.

- The Ethics Commission inform individuals of the identities of persons making complaints against said individuals

- The Commonwealth of Massachusetts pay 50 percent of the cost of Massachusetts Water Resources Authority assessments of the communities in the MWRA district.

- The state pick up the entire cost of Quinn Educational Incentive Bill for police officers

Quincy Girls State Volleyball Champs

The Quincy girls' volleyball team is the state champion for the third time in seven years. The First Ladies completed a 21-2 season last Saturday night when it swept Bp.

Feehan, 3-0 (15-9, 15-7, 15-7), in the championship game at Waltham High.

The Quincy girls won the state title in 1982 and 1984 when coach Tom Henderson was assistant to Ray Whitehouse. They lost to Stoneham in the state semifinals in 1983, lost to Chelmsford in the finals in 1985 and lost again to Chelmsford in the semifinals in 1986.

Last season, for the first time in six years, they failed to make the championship series as they were beaten by North Quincy's undefeated state champions in the East Central sectionals.

After finishing as Suburban League co-champions, with North Quincy, the First Ladies swept by Brookline, North Quincy and Newton North to win the sectionals and polished off Milford in the state semifinals earlier last week.

Quincy swept all tournament matches in straight games except for the North Quincy match, which went the full five games.

"I haven't been in the winners' circle since 1984 and the feeling is indescribable. It's like nothing I've ever experienced," Henderson said. "I'm very happy that our senior co-captains, Amy Guidice and Nancy Laitinen, finished up with a state title after missing out the past two years. They were just outstanding this season."

Quincy wasted no time in taking advantage of Bishop Feehan's championship match inexperience (it was their first time in the state final) and, behind the serving of sophomore Christine Barrett, took a 5-0 lead. Guidice served for four points and a 9-0 lead only to have Feehan rally to make it 9-7. Junior Randi Gaura served through three points and Guidice served for a pair.

Feehan picked up two more points before Guidice's spike earned the first-game win.

In the second game Quincy had an 8-7 lead, increased the lead to 11-7, sophomore Jennifer Richmond served for two points and Guidice won the game, 15-7, with two kills.

The First Ladies finished the match by breaking open a 6-6 tie in the third game with an 8-1 run. Barrett aced a serve. Quincy won the last five points with Laitinen having two spikes, while Feehan's returns fell long and wide three times.

"You have to commend them. I told my kids that they were not going to give up," said Henderson. "Our defense, blocking of the ball and keeping the ball alive helped us a lot. There were some situations when the ball went at some crazy angles. That always helps."

The Quincy girls defeated Milford, 3-0 (15-10, 15-6, 15-11) to gain the finals.

Guidice has an outstanding night and launched missiles at the overmatched Scarlet Hawks in leading Quincy to the victory.

Quincy executed Henderson's game plan to perfection, that was to negate Milford's powerful hitting by keeping it on the defensive.

"Historically, Milford has strong offensive teams," he said. "But they have trouble passing the serve and once you do that, it takes them out of their offense. They can't go to who they normally do."

The lead changed several times in the first game as Guidice and Milford's Amy Bruscia traded spikes at the net. Laitinen gave Quincy the lead for good at 7-6 and Jennifer Richmond served the final two points for the 15-10 win.

The First Ladies took control of the second game as Guidice's blistering serve helped them to an 8-1 lead. The score got as close at 10-6 before Quincy's Gaura served for three points. Barrett, who had a strong game setting, served the last two points.

In the third game Milford erased a 4-2 Quincy lead to lead, 5-4, and ran off three unanswered points to break a 7-7 tie before Quincy came back, behind Guidice and Gaura, tied the game at 11-11 and Richmond served the last four points of the match.

North Girls Complete Successful Season

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team completed a successful season with some outstanding performances in state level competition.

In the state coaches meet, Amanda Young, Rachel Marshall, Judy Young, Amy Wong and Carol Wirtz competed in the freshman-sophomore division over a 2.3-mile course. Although no one won any awards, all gained valuable experience.

In the junior-senior 3.1-mile race, Sherrin Quintiliani finished eighth and received a medal and Joanne Moriarty also ran. Several girls did not compete due to college boards.

In the Eastern Mass. state championships, the North girls turned in their finest team performance in four years, placing 13th out of 35 teams in large school Division I with 426 points.

The Raiderettes avenged earlier ties with Cambridge Rindge and Latin and Waltham by beating both schools. Quintiliani was 24th, Bridget Toland 39th, Karen Cashman 90th, Joanne Moriarty 97th, Adrienne Mercier 176th, Carol Wirtz 195th and Rachel Marshall 196th. More than 200 girls competed.

"We pointed to the Eastern Mass. meet all year long," said coach Jeff Hennessy. "We had two goals, one was to look sharp as a team, the other was to get into the top 15 teams in the division so people would know we were back. We did both these things in fine fashion. We are now ready to return to the top in the Suburban League and in the state like we were in the Lou Tozzi years (1980-84 when North won five straight class titles and one all-state grown)."

"Sherrin Quintiliani did a great job for not really being able to run every day as she has shin splints. Bridget Toland took off almost 30 seconds from her time in the league meet and, more importantly, beat people who had beaten her earlier in the year. She just keeps getting better and better and she is due for a fine indoor track season.

Adrienne Mercier clinched it for us as she improved 2:47 from the league meet. If it weren't for her, we couldn't have reached our goal. She can only get better as she is only a sophomore.

"Carol Wirtz also took off 1:33 from her time in the league meet but she is more of a sprinter and look for her on the indoor track scene. With the resurgence of the sport here at the high school and the excellent middle school program, the future looks bright.

I would like to thank athletic director Marty Finnegan, principal Peter Chrisom and middle school coaches Jerry Butler of Atlantic and Jerry Finch of Central for their invaluable help.

Squirt Bs Rout South Boston

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team, sponsored by Cablevision, routed South Boston, 10-0, at the Neponset rink to maintain its lead in the Greater Boston League.

Quincy's defensemen, Mike O'Brien, Matt Jarnis, Bruce Stenberg, Joe Bracken and Eric Oliva stood out for the first seven minutes and the forwards were allowed to set the pace as Chris Grant, Shawn McInerney, Billy Barron, Tommy Moriarty and Jimmy Kelley scored. John Manning had two assists and Moriarty, Kelley, Rob Pirelli, Joshua Wingate and McInerney one each.

In the second period Wingate picked his spot and fired in his own rebound, with Pirelli and Stenberg assisting.

With a six-goal lead going into the third period, coach Bob Pirelli moved the defense up and dropped the forwards on the defensive as the coach had the players pass three times before shooting.

Pirelli also requested that the clock run in the final minutes and Quincy continued its attack with goals by Wingate, Manning and Moriarty, with assists by Pirelli, Barron, Kelley, Oliva, Jimmy Gallagher and Grant. The final goal was picture perfect as Barron and Pirelli exchanged passes and found Stenberg in front of the South Boston net. He stopped the puck and lifted it over the outreached glove of the goalie.

Goalie Jimmy Sheehan recorded his fourth win and second shutout.

The Squirt B's will play Canton at the MDC rink in West Roxbury Saturday morning at 8:30.

Girls Tie Canton, 2-2

The Quincy Youth Girls Ice Hockey team skated to a 2-2 tie with the Canton Chargers in South Shore Girls League action.

Quincy staked itself to a 2-0 lead but Canton rallied in the second half of the game to forge the tie.

Janet Fennelly opened the scoring assisted by Stephanie O'Sullivan in the first period.

O'Sullivan made it 2-0 Quincy in the second period with an unassisted goal. Canton's Wendy Farrell cut the lead to 2-1 with a second period score.

Sharon Martin tallied the tying goal in the final period. Both clubs played a strong, well-balanced game. Sheila Graham and Martha Bizzell excelled on defense for Quincy.

Raymer: 'We Must Contain Craig'

Presidents Have Eye On .500 Record

Last year the Quincy football team got a bit of satisfaction from a winless season when it came from behind to tie favored North Quincy, 14-14.

Thursday the Presidents will have more at stake as they hope to end the season with a .500 record (5-5) and finish with three wins in a row and four of their last five.

"This is going to be a truly great game," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer. "I hope it is a good day and a dry field. All Quincy-North games are great but this should be one of the best as both teams have been hot."

Quincy Season Scoring

|           | TD | PAT | Pts |
|-----------|----|-----|-----|
| Grant     | 9  | 2   | 56  |
| Dennett   | 5  | 0   | 30  |
| Miele     | 3  | 2   | 20  |
| Noble     | 2  | 6   | 18  |
| Norris    | 0  | 7   | 14  |
| Hanly     | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| Caldwell  | 1  | 0   | 6   |

| O'Brien   | 0  | 2   | 2   |
| Spaur     | 0  | 1   | 1   |

QUINCY quarterback Chris Noble, the leading passer in Division I, hopes to end an outstanding career by steering the Presidents to a win on the holiday. Noble has 19 touchdown passes.

points and throwing three passes for two-point conversions.

His favorite target is Scott Grant, who has nine touchdown receptions. He has a lot of speed and has outrun the defense on many occasions.

Quincy's big offensive weapon is quarterback Chris Noble, who has had a brilliant season and is ending an outstanding career.

Chris, who will have his pick of several colleges, is the number one passer in Division I with 19 touchdown passes. He has accounted for 138 points this fall, scoring 18 points and throwing three passes for two-point conversions. This far, if North can halt Noble, the Quincy coach feels Jim Dennett, who has gained 1000 yards overall via rushing and passing, and Peter Olivieri, can give the Raiders trouble.

"I respect this North Quincy team, it has a lot of balance and is hard to stop," Raymer said. "They have allowed the second fewest points in Division I, behind Brockton. And we have scored the second most points, also behind Brockton."

"I know we can't stop Ryan Craig, but we hope to contain him. And I have an awful lot of respect for their quarterback, Billy MacDougall, one of the best wide receivers a year ago who has made the move to quarterback easily and has had a fine season."

Raymer will start with an offensive line of Grant and Marc Miele as wide receivers, Jody Beauchamp at tight end, Joe Baker and Brian Norris tackles, Dave Zupkolska and Tom Morrell guards and Tony Madden or Don Hamilton center.

Noble will be joined by halfback Dennett and fullback Olivieri in the backfield.

Also expected to see service on offense are sophomore Mark Bogan and Joe Zaborowski as running backs, guards Dan Hanley and Phil Daley, ends Ken Caldwell and Mike Falco and wide receiver Bob Cinquegrano.

The defense, which has done an excellent job over the second half of the season, will find Hanley and Morrell at end, Frank Ienello and Norris at tackle, Bobby Austin nose guard, Todd Kimmell and Nourse linebackers, Ennio Fleuteri and Scott O'Brien cornerbacks and Miele, Scott Campbell and Grant defensive backs.

Among others who will play on defense are cornerback Dennis Plant, linebackers Jim Munroe, Alan Spaur and Eric Wirtz and tackle Baker.

McPhee: 'We Must Stop Noble'

Raiders Have Several Special Objectives

By TOM SULLIVAN
The North Quincy football team (6-3) has several objectives in Thursday's 56th Thanksgiving Day.
The Raiders have won four straight games, hope to end up with a 7-3 record, avenge last year's 14-14 tie and maintain at least its 10th position in the Div. 1 standings.
"This should be one of the best games in the series, as both teams have been playing very well," said North coach Ken McPhee. "We have won our last four games and Quincy has won three of its last four."

North Season Scoring

|            | TD | PAT | Pts |
|------------|----|-----|-----|
| Craig      | 14 | 2   | 86  |
| B          |    |     |     |
| MacDougall | 4  | 0   | 24  |
| Hutchings  | 0  | 11  | 14  |
| Gott       | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| K          |    |     |     |
| MacDougall | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| Baker      | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| McDonough  | 1  | 0   | 6   |

"The boys remember last year's 14-14 tie and are out to get even. It was a frustrating one to our season and they felt actually bad. And we are rated 10th in Div. 1 and hope to at least maintain that position or possibly move up with a win."

McPhee expects it to be a tough game for Quincy and the Raiders have been putting extra time into working on their pass defense in preparation for facing Chris Noble, the top passer in Div. 1.

"We must stop him and that is the key to our hopes," said McPhee. "He is as good as any passer we have faced and we have to put him on the defensive right away. We have to have a good pass rush. We also have to closely watch his favorite target, (Scott) Grant, who is an excellent pass receiver and very fast."

"Although our number one job is to stop Noble and Grant, I have respect for their passing game. I know (Jim) Dennett and (Peter) Olivieri are fine ball carriers and Noble also runs very well."

THE MAIN TARGET for Quincy on the holiday will be North fullback Ryan Craig, who has rushed for 1106 yards and scored five touchdowns in his last game.

McPhee doesn't expect to change anything for the big game and will go with what has taken North this far.

"We have to stop Noble, but they have to stop Ryan Craig, one of the finest running backs and line backers I have ever coached," said McPhee. "And we also have a fine passer in Billy MacDougall and fine receivers in Mike Ainsley, Kevin MacDougall and Tim Baker."

Craig, a 215-pound fullback who has many colleges eyeing him, has rushed for 1106 yards despite missing one game. He scored five touchdowns last time out and has 14 for the season.

"He is also a phenomenal line backer and so is Ainsley. They are two of the best anywhere," said the Raider skipper.

McPhee will open with an offensive line of Baker and Co-Capt. Ainsley ends, Alex Malasi and Brian Healy Hutchings will be at quarterback with Keith Gott and Dave Hutchings halfbacks and Co-Capt. Craig fullback.

Hutchings could be a key man in the attack with his kicking. He kicked the extra points after all five touchdowns at Medford and has a 38-yard field goal to his

Craig, Grant Top Team Scorers

North Quincy's Ryan Craig, who scored five touchdowns in his last game, leads all scorers in the Thanksgiving game with 86 points.

The big fullback, who has rushed for 1106 yards, has 14 touchdowns and has added a two-point conversion for 86 points.

Wide receiver Scott Grant is Quincy's leading scorer with 56 points on nine touchdowns, all on passes from Chris Noble, and added a two-point conversion, also on a pass.

Quincy Freshmen, Jayvees Sweep North

By PETE ZOIA

The Quincy junior varsity and freshman football teams swept their North Quincy rivals last Saturday, as the Jayvees won, 26-8, and the freshmen took a hard-fought 21-14 decision. It was the Quincy freshmen's first win over North in six years.

After a scoreless first quarter, Quincy's freshmen, who completed a line 8-1 season under first-year coach Earl Metzler, drove 57 yards for a touchdown. Quarterback Gary Collins scored on a 10-yard run.

A few minutes later Quincy recovered a fumble on the North 16, pounded its way to one and a fumble into the end zone was pounced on by Peter Eleuteri for the score. Collins kicked the point and the young Presidents led, 13-0.

A smart heads-up play by Chris Murray of North put the young Raiders on the scoreboard. The diminutive halfback stripped the ball from a Quincy runner and raced 54 yards for the score.

North soon took the lead when Mark Cocuzzo raced 59 yards around the left side for the touchdown and Cocuzzo added the two-point conversion to give North a 14-13 lead.

Quincy was not to be denied and stormed back for the winning points. A 51-yard run by Jason Anderson put Quincy on the North eight and Collins hit Jason Eleuteri with a quick pass for the score. Collins added the two-point conversion to end the scoring.

North, under first-year coach Kevin Kelly, finished at 5-3.

Led by the sharp passing of Mike Flavin and the receiving of Chris Lay, the Quincy Jayvees scored on their first possession. Mark Bogan ate up large chunks of yardage to put the ball on North's 27. Flavin lofted a pass to Lay for the first touchdown. Bogan rushed for the two-point conversion.

North came right back with a line drive which reached Quincy's eight, with Bill Farley registering 46 yards on four carries. But Quincy held and took over on its seven. Losing no time, and springing a surprise call, Flavin flipped a short over-the-middle pass to Lay, who made an excellent catch on the run beyond a North defender and raced for a touchdown, capping a 93-yard play.

The Raiders started a promising drive as Jim Rayne went up the middle for 17 yards into Quincy territory but two dropped passes stopped the threat and Quincy led, 14-0, at the half.

North put on its best offensive in the third quarter and scored its only touchdown. Starting from the Raider 42, Jim Bryan engineered a well-executed drive. Dan Gilmartin, Rayne and Farley all made fine runs to reach Quincy's five. Bryan rifled a quick pass to Chris Deshler in the right hand corner of the end zone for the score. Bryan passed to Gilmartin for the two-point conversion.

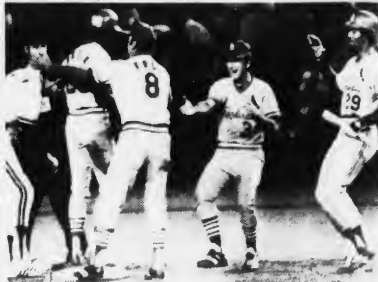

Quincy quickly retaliated with a touchdown, marching from its 39 to score in seven plays. Bogan continued his hard running and went 37 yards on a sweep to his left to score standing up.

North filled the air with passes to no avail. A quarterback sack, an intentional grounding penalty and incomplete passes enabled Quincy to take over on North's 25. Bogan carried to the 14 and Flavin threw his third touchdown pass, this time to Bogan, to end the scoring for the day.

Air Power Vs. Ground Attack

Although there will be plenty of other players on the field, most eyes will be on the offensive standouts for Quincy and North, who have had brilliant seasons.

North Quincy fullback Ryan Craig has rushed for 1106 yards despite missing one game and has scored 14 touchdowns, five in the last game at Medford.

Quincy quarterback Chris Noble has thrown 19 touchdown passes, the most in Division one. He has completed 94 of 174 1503 yards. He passed for 366 yards in one game and 265 in another.

His favorite receiver, Scott Grant, has caught nine touchdown passes.

5 Ties

Quincy Has 27 Wins To North's 23

Going into Thursday's 56th game, Quincy has won 27 and North Quincy 23.

Five games have ended in ties. Four have been scoreless ties in 1934, 1937, 1940 and 1983, while last year's game ended in a 14-4 tie.

Quincy has the longest win streak in the series, winning five in a row from 1954 through 1958. Quincy also won four straight from 1946 through 1949.

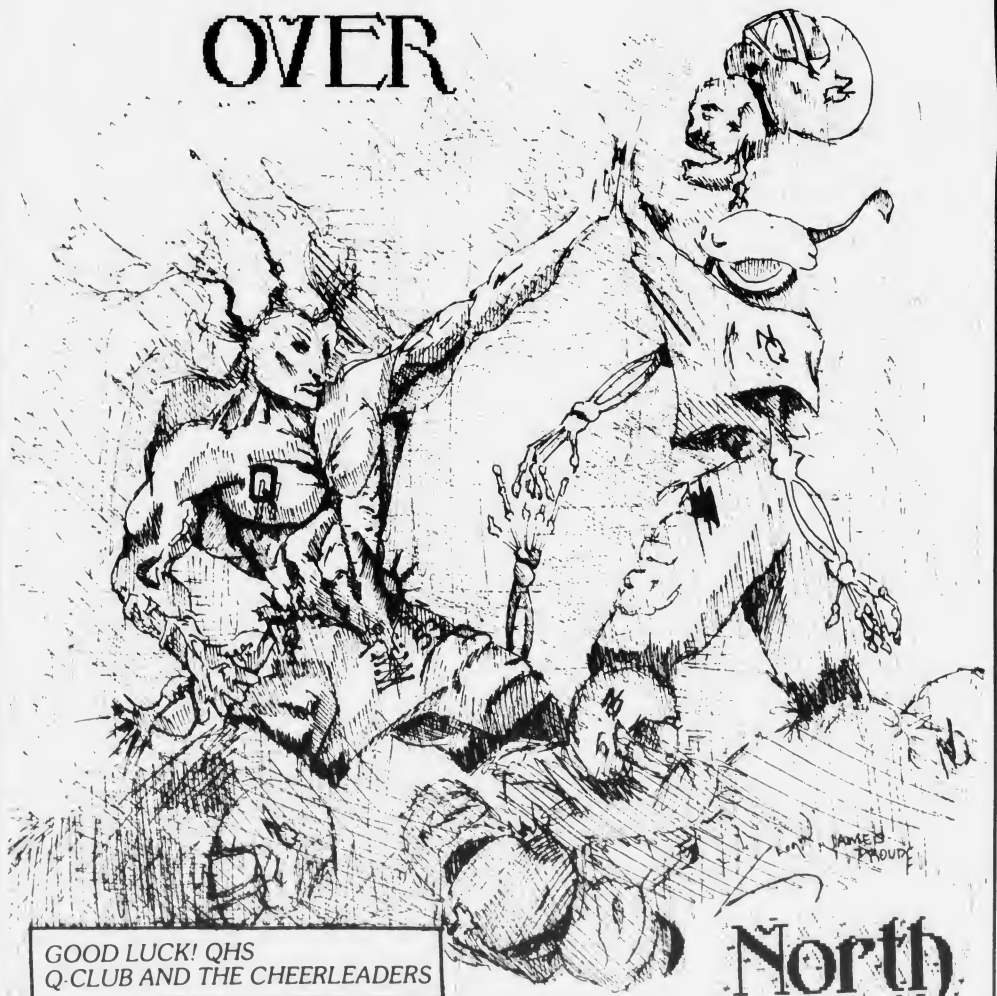

North's first five teams were unbeaten in the series, winning in 1933, 1935 and 1936 and playing to the scoreless ties in 1934 and 1937.

Pee Wee Bs Post 8-2 Record

Quincy's Pee Wee B hockey team, sponsored by A&I Movers, are off to a good start with an 8-2 record.

In the Greater Boston League the team has scored 59 goals in four games and hasn't allowed a goal. In non-league games the team has scored 30 goals and given up only eight.

Goalie Michael Manganaro has been outstanding and the forwards, Brian Connolly, Michael Dern, Billy Coughlin, Eric Zimmerman, Patrick Connolly, Steven Provost, Lee Hughes, Jimmy Kunz and Chris Geary have played extremely well. The defense of Andrew Vermette, Jay Evans, Dennis Pateras, David Pacino, Kevin Flaherty and Paul King has been tough.

The team is coached by Brian Connolly and Ernie Zimmerman.

Pee Wee As Tie

Quincy's Pee Wee A team, sponsored by the Quincy Elks, is tied with Belmont for the Greater Boston League lead with a 5-0 record.

Quincy defeated Somerville, 4-1, as Mike DesRoche had a hat trick and Brian Wood a goal. Kevin Boylen had two assists and Jeff Craig and Rob Guarnierie one each.

DesRoche, Wood, Jamie Schatzl and Matt McGowan had a goal each in a 4-3 win over Pembroke. Boylen, Craig, Guarnierie and Teddy Miller had assists.

Kevin Barrett had two goals in a 5-2 win over Westwood and Brian Sullivan, Craig and Guarnierie scored one each. Schatzl and Scott Joyce had assists.

With 32 seconds left in a 3-3 game, Joyce scored on a blistering slap shot from the point to secure a 5-3 win over Wellesley. Wood had two goals and Schatzl and McGowan one each. Craig, Guarnierie, Miller and Nolan added an assist each.

In a game dominated by the Boylen, Schatzl, Miller line, Quincy romped over Canton, 10-3. Boylen had a hat trick and three assists, Schatzl a hat trick and two assists and Miller had three assists. Wood had two goals, Sullivan a goal and assist, McGowan a goal and Craig and Barrett an assist each.

Goalie Tim Wassiege has been outstanding. The defense has 2.4 goals-against average and the team has a goal production of 5.6 goals a game.

The coaches thank practice coaches Steve DesRoche and Teddy Miller, team treasurer Bob Guarnierie and telephone mothers Clare Barrett and Cathy Wood for their assistance.

WEEK OF: November 24.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Your pursuit of knowledge keeps you young and enthusiastic. A caring friend, you sometimes overextend and overcommit yourself -- but those who love you wouldn't have it any other way. Year ahead finds you simplifying your life. Early 1989 highlights career advancement; late '89 offers prospects for travel.

AQUARIUS -- January 21 - February 19
Career path is less rocky thanks to your recent initiatives. Good week for exploring a new avenue of creative expression. Important that you don't procrastinate in money matters.

PISCES -- February 20 - March 20
Business and travel blend favorably. Avoid impulses, especially through the weekend. Monday-Tuesday find you acting with your head and your heart -- and the results are worth cheering about.

ARIES -- March 21 - April 20
Good week for making purchases, provided you do some logical comparison shopping. Romantic intuition pays off. In matters involving shared finances, caution is the operative word.

TAURUS -- April 21 - May 22
Creative streak surfaces -- this is a splendid week for turning a talent into a profit-making activity. Romance proves favorable, provided the setting is appropriate.

GEMINI -- May 23 - June 21
You play the part of diplomat in a family or community standoff. Casual acquaintance becomes a closer friend. Good week to consider going back to school. Job description is clarified.

CANCER -- June 22 - July 22
Your objective approach helps you plan your next career moves effectively. Community service is highlighted in a bright way. Travel ideas benefit from further research.

LEO -- July 23 - August 22
Career path becomes more direct, and relationships generally become smoother. Some friction in the community may be unavoidable; the key is to maintain your sense of cheer.

VIRGO -- August 23 - September 22
Good week for expanding wardrobe and, generally, for decorating jobs. Judgement is sharper and you understand where relationship is going. Small windfall may arrive after weekend.

LIBRA -- September 23 - October 22
Spotlight is on creative activities and group functions. You take on a leadership role after the weekend. A long-awaited reply may arrive by Monday or Tuesday.

SCORPIO -- October 23 - November 21
Household jobs may prove surprisingly complex. Your stubborn streak may have to yield. Volunteer assignment appears attractive, but check it out. Romance is on a steadier course.

SAGITTARIUS -- November 22 - December 22
Some financial gains make this a generally favorable week, be careful, however, of slick salespeople. You enjoy taking a back seat -- a welcome change for everyone. New project requires concentration.

CAPRICORN -- December 23 - January 20
Week sees you climbing to new career heights as you excel in a leadership role. Communications coming your way bring unexpected messages. Be extra careful in your interpretations.

BORN THIS WEEK
November 24th, actress Geraldine Fitzgerald; 25th, singer Tina Turner; 26th, impersonator Rich Little; 27th, producer David Merrick; 28th, actress Hope Lange; 29th, singer John Gary; 30th, host Dick Clark

Quincy Centennial Exhibit At Historical Society

A QUINCY FIRE Department exhibit is one of the many displays included in "100 Years and Counting" exhibition now being shown by the Quincy Historical Society in the Adams Academy Building. The display features helmets worn about 100 years ago, when Quincy became a city, along with photographs of the era.

ELLIOT HOFFMAN, director of the Quincy Historical Society, talks about one of the displays in the "100 Years and Counting" Exhibition which illustrates the 100-year history of Quincy as a city. The exhibit is now on display at the Adams Academy, Quincy Center.

AN EXHIBIT on Quincy's famous granite quarries featuring a memorial marker, front, and two polished granite columns and some early stonecutters' stools is now on display at the Adams Academy as part of the Quincy Historical Society's exhibition on Quincy's 100-year history as a city.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

On Thanksgiving Day, let us be grateful that we, as Americans, live in a country which is committed to the conviction that there are extraordinary possibilities in ordinary people.

Let us, as Americans, be grateful that in our country a man can go as far as his God-given talents and his determination will take him.

Let us, as Americans, be grateful that in our country every man is held endowed with certain unalienable rights and among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Let us, as Americans, be grateful that our country is dedicated to unity without uniformity, oneness without sameness, and that each racial or cultural or religious group is encouraged to be true to itself and thus contribute its distinctive note to the symphony of our democracy.

Above all, let us, as Americans, be grateful that we are free to express our love for our country by criticizing it, by pointing up its till unfinished business, by trying to make it a better country tomorrow than it is today ...

Philomena McCormack, 88 Was Retirement Board Secretary

A funeral Mass was celebrated Nov. 19 in St. Ann's Church for Philomena A. (Gallagher) McCormack, 88, a lifelong resident of Quincy and retired secretary for the city retirement board.

She died Nov. 17 at Carney Hospital in Boston after a brief illness. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery, West Quincy.

Mrs. McCormack had worked for the board for 20 years before retiring 25 years ago.

She was a graduate of the Woodward School for Girls. She is survived by her husband, John H. McCormack Sr., two sons, John H. McCormack Jr. of Braintree and James S. McCormack of Dover, a daughter, Phyllis A. Slattery of Abington, a sister Anne Irwin of Scituate, 16 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, Hancock St., Wollaston.

Memorial donations may be made to Children's Hospital Development Department, 300 Longwood Ave., Boston, 02115.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The City of Quincy will begin testing the South Quincy and Faxon Park areas for sewer leaks beginning November 15, 1988. Crews from the engineering firm of Weston & Sampson Engineers, Inc. and its subconsultant, Scan-N-Seal will be conducting the tests on a street-by-street basis. Smoke and dye will be released into the sewer system via manholes and drainage points into the system. The smoke and dye is odorless and harmless to people and furnishings.

Any smoke within a building should be immediately reported to the crews conducting the tests or call John Bocchino at 617-246-3255, ext. 117.

Thank you for your cooperation.

'No Value To City'

RR Restoration Runs Into Heavy Opposition

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The project manager for the proposed restoration of the Old Colony Railroad by the MBTA ran into some stiff opposition Monday night as one state representative, several city councillors and area residents spoke out against the idea.

For three hours, councillors and Project Manager Stephen Polechronis discussed the impacts of diesel rail service if it were to run non-stop through Quincy. Among the issues were noise and vibration, traffic, air quality and Red Line service.

Project cost and the possibility of transporting freight on the line were also debated.

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley, chairman of the Public Transportation Committee, led the charge against the proposal.

"There are a lot of issues here and if its going to be built, it won't be built until the year 2000 and it won't go through Quincy."

"Looking at all the facts, this would be bad, really bad, for Quincy," he said.

Council President Patricia Toland said, "We in Quincy don't have much to gain from this. I hope we never see the day when this comes.

"I think it would downgrade the city," she said.

Other councillors along with State Rep. Robert Cerasoli came down hard on the proposal.

The MBTA is examining the restoration of commuter rail service between the Old Colony area and Boston along three Old Colony railroad lines. The main line would run north to south from Boston non-stop through Quincy to Plymouth and Scituate.

The area most impacted in Quincy would be along the Hancock St.-Burgin Parkway-Newport Ave. traffic corridor.

About 50 residents, many of whom live near the traffic corridor, attended the hearing. About five area residents, including two from Quincy, spoke out against the proposal while one Norwell resident stood up in favor of it.

It is estimated the project would cost $391 million for construction and equipment and $28 million to operate. As currently planned the state would pay for 50 percent of the project and the other half would come from the federal government.

Polechronis began by explaining the MBTA's analysis of the Old Colony

Wollaston Without Fire Ladder Truck For 3 Months

By JANE ARENA

The Quincy Fire Department's ladder truck No. 2 stationed at the Wollaston Fire Station, was sent out for repairs Monday for a period of three months, leaving Wollaston without a ladder truck during that time.

Originally the Quincy Fire Department had arranged to borrow a ladder truck from the Boston Fire Department as requested by Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, but this arrangement was discarded by Mayor Francis McCauley, according to Quincy Fire Chief Thomas Gorman.

Gorman said that the decision not to borrow a truck from the Boston Department was based on a legal matter. Gorman said the contract written by the BFD did not clearly state who would be held responsible for the truck in the event of an accident or breakdown, the City of Quincy or the City of Boston. There is a fifty thousand dollar value placed on the Boston truck, Gorman says.

"It's a matter of who's going to get sued," Gorman says. "It's more of a legal thing than anything else." He said that he agrees with the Mayor's decision "at this time."

Representing the Quincy Firefighters Local #792 Union, firefighter James McCarthy said that Ladder Truck No. 2 is "the busiest ladder in the city" due to the two high-rise buildings in the area (80 and 91 Clay St.) and "the homes on the hill." McCarthy says that a ladder truck is needed for these locations.

Ladder Truck No. 5, stationed at the North Quincy Fire Station, is usually the second ladder for Wollaston and will be called now in place of the Wollaston ladder, McCarthy said. He said he is worried about the possibility of a delay from the North Quincy truck.

"The North Quincy Ladder No. 5 is less than a quarter mile from (the Wollaston Station)," Chief Gorman said. "It would be nice to have a spare truck, but we don't have that."

There are a total of four ladder trucks and one tower truck in Quincy, McCarthy said.

The 18 year old ladder No. 2 is undergoing extensive repairs and refurbishing at Middleboro Fire in Middle-

How Mean Can You Get!!

The nativity scene at historic Hancock St. Cemetery was vandalized for the second year in a row when the statues of baby Jesus and a lamb were smashed on the sidewalk Saturday night.

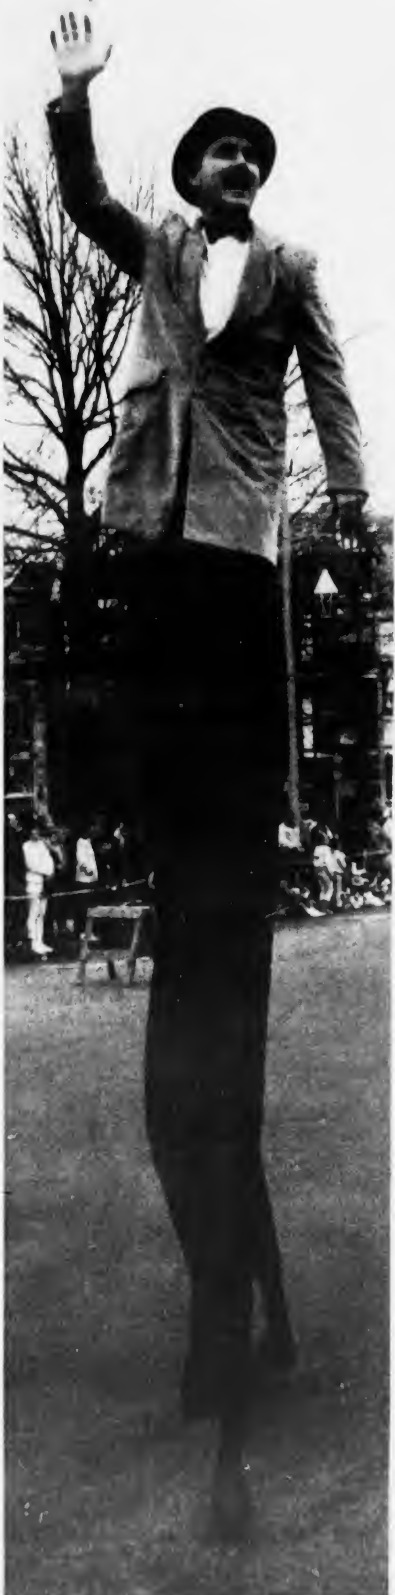

Ray Cattaneo, Director of Park and Cemetery Departments, said he is "totally disgusted" with the vandals.

Quincy Police are investigating the matter but have no suspects as yet.

The cost of the baby Jesus statue is $70 and the lamb is $125.

Cattaneo said the lamb will not be replaced as there are other lambs in the scene. The baby Jesus statue will be replaced by Heavenly Rounds of Hancock St.

Cattaneo said the statue will be replaced within a couple of days.

New Gift Gimmick

A Bottle Of Polluted Boston Harbor Water

By JANE ARENA

How many times have you looked at the hot-selling gadgets and gimmicks like the "pet rock" or the "rubik's cube" and said to yourself "Why didn't I think of that?"

Like Kravitz, 63, of Quincy doesn't need to say that in the case of one potential new fad — he thought of it.

Together with his wife, Selma, Kravitz is bottling the now-famous polluted water from Boston Harbor in his kitchen and selling it for $2.99 per 6 oz. bottle.

The label tells you it's "100% Authentic, Undiluted, Polluted," but you hardly need to read it; the bottles are filled with a brownish-grey, murky water, complete with bits of seaweed and an occasional dead bug. Yeah, it's the real thing all right. The idea is to get it before it's finally cleaned up.

So far about 20 dozen bottles have been sold and are available locally in Colman's in Quincy Center. They've also been sold to a Hallmark store in Wellesley and the Beacon Hill Market in Boston. Kravitz has sent one bottle to a man in California who deals exclusively with selling gimmick items and another bottle was sent to a lawyer in Washington to obtain a copyright on the idea.

"The idea just struck me about a month ago," Kravitz says, adding that it had nothing to do with George Bush's press conference held at the Harbor during his presidential campaign. "I thought of it about a week before that," he says.

Kravitz, semi-retired from the trucking business, maintains that the gimmick is not intended to be insulting to Boston Harbor. A member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary for 25 years, a former charter boat operator, and an avid fisherman, Kravitz says he loves Boston Harbor.

"It's all just for fun," he says, "we love the ocean and we fish all the time. We've been on the sea for years."

Kravitz is well aware that the presidential campaign and its emphasis on the pollution of the harbor makes his idea possible, but he says there is nothing political about it.

"Bush people would love it," Selma says, "but I wouldn't want Dukakis to see it. We can't blame Gov. Dukakis for this."

Nevertheless the fact remains that if he'd thought of the idea about two months ago, Kravitz might be a very rich man today.

"It's just for fun," he says again, "We don't want to become an enterprise. Our plans are uncertain at the moment."

Kravitz may not become an enterprise, but with the holidays just around the corner, he's sure to draw some attention.

What better gift for out-of-staters or Bostonians who want a little bit of history in a bottle?

Spillane Appointed Police Legal Counsel

Attorney David M. Spillane of 116 Willow St., Wollaston, has been appointed legal counsel to the Quincy Police Department by Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

Spillane succeeds Attorney Paul Barbadoro who resigned in September. The salary for the position is $33,000 per year. Spillane, who will begin his duties Monday, Dec. 5, has been an alternate member of the Zoning Board of Appeals for the past several months. He has resigned from the position.

McCauley said he will shortly announce Spillane's successor on the Zoning Board of Appeals as well as a new member to the Conservation Commission.

A cum laude graduate of the University of Massachusetts, he received his law degree cum laude from the New England School of Law. Spillane maintains a private law practice at 43 Quincy Ave., Quincy.

He is married to the former Maureen Stewart, a registered nurse. They have three children.

Q: What's up and coming in health care? A: The New QCH!

Quincy City Hospital has begun an impressive $5.7 million renovation. Almost two-thirds of the buildings and other facilities will be repaired — all part of a dramatic plan to better serve the growing and changing health care needs of the South Shore.

The focal point of the new hospital complex will be a brand new six-story building that will contain 200 patient beds as well as all of the necessary patient care support services.

Since its founding in 1890, Quincy City Hospital has been in the forefront of health care on the South Shore. With our new facilities we'll continue to deliver the highest quality health care services with warm, personal attention.

A: QCH — we're building for the future, in a proud past.

Radon Test Kits To Be Distributed Saturday

Radon test kits and informational materials will be distributed to Quincy homeowners during the city's flu clinic Saturday, Dec. 3 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Quincy Vocational School, Mayor Francis McCauley announced.

Homeowners can purchase a single test kit for $8.50 or a double test kit for $16.25 in the form of cash or check made payable to the Nitron Corp., the company selected to distribute the kits.

According to McCauley, Nitron Corp. of Lexington will supply kits, analyze results and submit test result letters to survey participants within two business days of their receipt.

Nitron Corp. is headed by Dr. Lee Grodzin, professor of physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

McCauley said Nitron meets the Quincy Health Department's criteria sent to radon screening organizations in the New England area.

Nitron will also distribute educational materials on radon and will report radon concentrations on an anonymous survey questionnaire at the request of the Quincy Health Department.

The health department will compile the results for use in identifying areas in the city with high radon levels and thus begin developing a knowledge base to determine radon preventive measures for homeowners and builders. Double kits will be available because in the past, homeowners have sought to double test to better understand their health risks.

For example, if the basement in a home should have high radon levels and the first floor living area much lower levels, the families health concerns and need for immediate remedial actions are greatly reduced.

Homeowners living in areas without basements obviously would desire only one test kit.

John "Jake" Comer, executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority's Snug Harbor and Riverview Project, requests double test kits for placement in one unit and first floor apartment per complex.

As each unit in the complex has the same foundation base, the testing of one unit per complex will provide an assessment of radon levels in all floor units per complex.

The specific dates for this radon testing program will be announced following the Dec. 3 distribution date.

Health Department Housing Inspectors Paul Barry, Rene Lumaghini Jr. and Mike Shaheen will receive training shortly from radiation scientist William Bell of the State Department of Public Health.

This training by an expert in the field will assist the inspectors in helping individuals interpret their test results and in understanding the measures available to correct the problem, if necessary.

Bell, along with Quincy

Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue and the housing inspectors will present an educational program for cable television to be aired before Dec. 3.

Residents unable to attend the Dec. 3 clinic or should the radon test kit supply be depleted before 1 p.m., the health department will distribute test kits, surveys and educational information on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. to noon in the first floor auditorium, 1120 Hancock St., throughout December if needed.

The health department recommends that individuals take advantage of this testing program.

The presence of high levels of radon gas in homes does present a serious indoor air pollution problem.

The simple screening test will either alleviate an individual's unfounded fear or exposure to radon in their homes through knowledge of their actual levels of radon or provide them with the information they need to correct the problem.

Here Are The Parking Regulations For Snow Storms

Public Works Commr.
Paul Anderson has issued several reminders to Quincy residents regarding the impending snow season.

Odd-Even Parking Regulations:

Unless otherwise posted, parking is allowed on the EVEN numbered side of the street during 1988 and on the ODD numbered side beginning Jan. 1, 1989.

Overnight parking requires a Police Department permit.
This is particularly important on narrow streets giving the plow a straight path to follow when plowing the street.

No Parking on Major Arteries:

During snow emergencies parking is not allowed on main roads posted as emergency arteries.

Emergency Telephone Numbers:

In the event of a snow storm the following telephone numbers are available for public use:

Days Monday through Friday: 773-1380 ext. 232 or 231.

Nights and weekends: 773-1369 and 773-1709.

Owners of businesses with parking lots are reminded to keep the snow on the private property. Plowing of parking lots into the roadway is hazardous to vehicular traffic and will not be tolerated:

Business in commercial zones are required to clear the snow from the sidewalk in front of their business.

In general, the Department of Public Works appreciates the courtesy extended by motorists and residents to our snow fighting personnel. The patience and cooperation of the public is vital to a successful snow fighting effort.

INSURE THE VALUE OF YOUR HOME

R
R

If you are like many people, you purchased your home, bought your homeowner's policy and sat back feeling comfortable. That comfortable feeling is good for a while, but don't be lulled indefinitely. Without fail, the insurance value of your home should be reassessed at least every three years.

There are essentially three values on your home assessed value by your town or city, market value, and insurance value. Although it's good to be aware of the former two, today I'd like to explain "insurance value." It is calculated in a slightly different way.

Two methods are commonly used the square foot method and the unit count method. Either is acceptable.
When these means are used neither the foundation nor the value of the land is calculated. This is because the land and the foundation remain intact after many disasters that can destroy the rest of your house. Fire is an excellent example of this.

If the insurance value on your home hasn't been determined in a while, "come on down," as they say. The experience will be interesting, pleasant, and informative.

If you are considering protection get in touch with the insurance professionals at Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. Please visit our office at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy or give us a call at 471-6200

A Decision For Collins

Will there be a vacant seat in next year's School Committee race?

Maybe.

Mary Collins, Peggy Nigro and Frank Santoro are due up for re-election.

Nigro and Santoro look like sure bets to run again.

The question mark is after Collins' name.

Collins upset Norfolk County Commissioner George McDonald in the September primary election which was tantamount to election in the November final.

She will take office in January—the first woman ever elected to the Norfolk County Commission.

Question now is whether she can handle both the county commission and school committee posts simultaneously.

She can, legally.

But she wants to see if she can handle both jobs from a time standpoint. Would meeting schedules conflict?

The regular County Commission meetings
(Wednesday afternoons) and Quincy School Committee meetings (Wednesday evenings) do not present a problem. But four County Advisory Committee meetings are usually held Wednesday evenings. If they coincide with School Committee meetings the same Wednesday night, it might be a problem.

"I'll decide by April whether there is a problem and if there is, I will not seek re-election to the School Committee," Collins says.

She says she would make up her mind by April to give anyone thinking of running for the seat time to effectively launch a campaign.

If she feels there is no problem holding both jobs, she will probably seek re-election to the School Committee.

□

THERE'S ALREADY ONE candidate planning to run for the School Committee regardless if there is an open seat or not.

That's John McDuff, unsuccessful
Republican candidate for state representative in the Third Norfolk District.

McDuff, who has run for the City Council and School Committee in the past says this will be his last shot.
If he doesn't win, he'll hang up the running shoes.

THERE WERE A lot of Quincy rooters in the stands in Dublin when Boston College rolled over Army.

"B.C. was the sentimental favorite in Dublin," reports George Riley, executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.
"Naturally, there are strong ties between Ireland and the Boston area."

Also among those taking in the game were City Clerk
John Gillis, developer Peter O'Connell, City Councillor
Steve McGrath, Police Lt. Frank Mullen and wife, Mary; former City Planning Director James Lydon,
Atty. Matt McDonnell, Robert Quinn of South Shore

Salvation Army Launches Christmas Kettle Appeal

The Salvation Army
Quincy Corps, 6 Baxter St., Quincy, has officially kicked off its traditional Christmas Kettle Appeal to raise funds to help the needy this year.
Last year, a little over $72,000 was collected at various locations including Osco Drug and Bradlee's in

Quincy, Jordan Marsh and Sears at South Shore Plaza in Braintree, Caldor's, Zayre and Harborlight Mall in Weymouth, and many large supermarkets such as Stop and Shop, Purity Supreme and Shaw's.

Workers can be found at these locations again this year from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Major Paul Carlino, commanding officer of the Quincy Salvation Army, said a goal of $90,000 has been set to meet the increasing demands of human need, not only at Thanksgiving and Christmas but all year round.
More than 2,000 people will be served this Christmas providing food baskets for families and individuals, toys for children, personal visits and gifts distributed at area nursing homes and hospitals by Salvation Army volunteers and Christmas group parties involving all ages from preschool nursery to senior citizens.

The Salvation Army appreciates the opportunity to serve the less fortunate on behalf of all who so generously give of their gifts to make the work possible.
We believe the same spirit of generosity and support will be forthcoming again this year.

It's Not A Gain,
It's A Loss

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

When a person saves money, it should be a gain, not a loss! Yet the Quincy City Council doesn't seem to know the difference, and I expect they believe, the average Quincy homeowner doesn't know the difference either!

I'm a life-long Quincy resident, have now owned my own Quincy home for 18 years, and was educated from grades 1-9 in the Quincy School system. Let's for just a minute, take a look at the $44 figure that five City Councilors have saved the average homeowner this year (based on the real estate tax).

On my piece of real estate, there are three small businesses that pay my corporation rent. The yearly rent is calculated to include the normal 3.5% increase in real estate taxes, to be paid by me, the landlord! A 7 percent increase above what was projected, is certainly not expected by anyone, but it happened. As a result, rents must increase between the three businesses by a minimum of two percent each, above the projected cost (a loss of one percent of my corporation's income). The retail establishment must increase its prices by two percent to meet this added expense, in order to maintain its small profit margin to survive. Now, how does this affect the homeowner (consumer)?

Just for the sake of discussion purposes, let's keep the figures even and small, to simplify the matter. A family spends $100 per week for groceries. Now add two percent and the groceries now cost $2 more per week. Multiply this by 52 weeks and you now have spent $104 more for groceries to save $44! Did you gain or did you lose?

Before you leave, just add this two percent to everything you buy in Quincy, over the next 12 months, and you will soon discover, that to save $44 this year, has cost you hundreds of dollars more to survive! What if there is only one store on the property, and the prices must increase by seven percent.

With this in mind, wouldn't you rather pay the $44 and save hundreds instead? I certainly would. In the coming months, don't be mad at your retailer, and accuse him/her of price gouging. Instead, call or write the five City Councilors who don't understand the simple arithmetic of gains/loss. As a result of this action, Quincy retailers will have higher prices, and you will shop elsewhere, our business income will decrease, but our tax increase will remain.

Is there little wonder why we are saying that this tax increase will put more of us out of business? The "Hot-Air Balloon Has Exploded!"

Takes Issue With Mayor
On Harris Remarks

(The writer of the following letter has submitted a copy to The Quincy Sun for publication.)

Dear Mayor McCauley,
Your remarks re David Harris in the 11/3/88 Quincy Sun showed a lack of understanding of the relationship between the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights and Mr. Harris.

Harris is not "invited in" upon occasion to stir up matters. Harris has been with the Coalition since its inception. In fact, Dave Harris refused its Presidency upon its founding because of the pressure of his business and personal life. His awareness and sensitivity to racial problems in this area cannot be questioned. Without such clear, courageous voices many human rights issues would have died. We need to be constantly reminded of how far we have yet to go—rather than becoming defensive if our reactions have not been strong enough or early enough to be meaningful.

So, with all due respect, Mr. Mayor, David Harris is one of us. We are all part of a larger community and we must continue to approach those prophets in our midst who point the way.

Commends Sweeney
Funeral Home For Teenage Suicide Seminar

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As an educator in Quincy Schools, I wish to convey my gratitude and appreciation to Sweeney Funeral Homes for sponsoring the recent high school seminar on teenage suicide.

It is not a pleasant subject, but the grim statistics clearly demonstrate that we must face this issue whether we are teachers, parents, law enforcement personnel, clergy or teenagers.

Dennis Sweeney is to be complimented for his commitment to the youth of this city and for his dedication to the community. His contribution to our youth, through this seminar, cannot be measured, but hopefully it provided information and awareness about depression, and will be instrumental to young people in psychological trouble to have the courage to seek appropriate help.

Congratulations To A Wonderful Bunch Of Kids

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

During Sunday's annual Christmas Parade, and band competition, the North Quincy High School Band, under the direction of two students (Karen Mauriello and Joe Leber) placed second in state and second in New England division 1 competition.

This was an outstanding accomplishment, especially considering that their band director has been out with pneumonia. The kids continued working and practicing on their own with the only guidance coming from Drill Instructor Sandra Pellicani. All music related problems and adjustments had to come from the kids, with only minor assistance from some of their parents.

This is a real tribute to the organizational and teaching abilities of ailing band director Frank Rull, and especially to the members of the band and color guard.

Congratulations to a wonderful bunch of kids, you are an inspiration to all of us.

Pearl Harbor Attack Sends
City Into Action

Quincy responded with feverish activity to word that the Japanese had attacked Pearl Harbor.

"The time for play at civil defense is past," said Edwin J. MacEwan, controller of the Fifth Civilian Defense District, which included Quincy and 10 South Shore towns.

"If the Japanese can bomb Hawaii, which is 3,000 miles away, then the Germans can bomb Quincy, which is only 2,700 miles away."

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin cut short a Cape Cod holiday and returned to confer behind closed doors with Police Chief John J. Avery, Solicitor John D. Smith and Fore River Police Chief Howard H. Dacey.

I Co., commanded by Capt. John Brewer, one of Quincy's two state guard companies, was mobilized and ordered to report to the Armory at 7 p.m. Sunday night. Z. Cranston Smith, chief air raid warden, sent out a call for 1,000 additional volunteers to augment the force of 30 air raid wardens that were to be graduated on Monday.

Chief Avery directed members of the Quincy Police Department not leave the city without permission and he cancelled orders to put the Police Boat "Guardian" in winter storage.

Police, alerted by the New Haven Railroad that a Japanese was aboard a southbound train, stopped the train at Wollaston and took him off only to find it was a prominent Chinese laundryman from Weymouth returning from a weekend date in Boston

Christmas Tree Lighting At Houghs Neck Sunday

The annual Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony of the Houghs Neck Community Council will take place Sunday, Dec. 4, at 5 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Fire Station on Sea St.

Mayor Francis McCauley will be master of ceremonies for a program which will include carol singing by Girl Scouts, Brownies and youth choirs from the Houghs Neck Congregational and Most Blessed Sacrament Churches.

Clergy of both churches will lead devotions. There will be a wreath-laying at the granite war memorial at Sea and Manet Ave. by members of the Houghs Neck Legion Post.

Senator Paul Harold and members of the Quincy City Council have been invited. Santa Claus will attend with his usual bag of sweets for the children.

All attending are invited to the Houghs Neck Legion Hall afterward for coffee and doughnuts.

Tom Timcoe is chairman for the event.

The storm date is Dec. 11 at 5 p.m.

'Give Up The Dream?' Bethany Sermon Topic

On the Second Sunday in Advent, Dec. 4, Holy Communion will be celebrated at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach a sermon, entitled "Give Up The Dream?", based on Joel 2:26-29 and the Gospel of Luke 17:20-30. Marion Lockwood will be lay reader at the 9 a.m. worship, and Kinya Mikami at 10 a.m.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington,

Save Gas and Money...
Shop Locally

associate minister, will be liturgist for the Communion. Assisting will be Robert L. Lockwood in the chapel; Bruce J. Byorkman, Nancy J. Cosgrove, Jane F. McLain, Ronnie A. Rivera, and Nicholas Spear, in the sanctuary.

The chancel choir under the direction of Charles J. Blue, organist, will sing Saint-Saens' "Praise Ye the Lord" as the offertory anthem.

The 10 a.m. service will be broadcast "live" from the sanctuary over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc. Communion commentary during the broadcast will be narrated by Lena M. Foster.

Sunday School with classes for pre-school through 8th grade will meet from 10 to 11 a.m. Care for babies and toddlers is provided under the supervision of Pamela Ford Curran.

A fellowship hour with coffee and light refreshments will be held in the Allen Parlor beginning at 11 a.m.

An adult membership class for persons desiring to become members or associate members of Bethany will be held on two consecutive Monday evenings, Dec. 5 and 12, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Rev. Arnold's study at the church, and will be led by both pastors.

Additional information concerning Bethany's ministries and programs may be obtained by calling the church office weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 479-7300.

'Hope For The New City' Advent Theme At Wollaston Congregational

Wollaston Congregational Church has designated "Hope For The New City" as the theme for Advent.

On the first Sunday in Advent, Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern preached about "The Hope Of Salvation." This Sunday, Dec. 4, the second Sunday in Advent at the 10 a.m. service in the sanctuary, he will preach a sermon entitled "The Hope Of Justice."

The Christian Education Committee is assisting the youth in this year's theme of "Hope." Each Sunday in addition to the lighting of the Advent candle and placing the figures in the manger, "families" portrayed by church youth will be explaining Christmas in Quincy since 1888 in conjunction with the 100th anniversary celebration.

The sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated with deacons Gus Oster and Phyllis Dixon assisting the minister.

Lay reader will be Marion Channon and the acolyte Wendy Sweetser. The greeters will be Rene Olson and Fran Martin and ushers, Joan Tierney and Laurel Oster.

The senior choir, under the direction of Donald A. Reade, organist, will present two selections.

Nursery care for infants and toddlers is provided during the service. The Church School for grades 1-12 will meet in their respective classes immediately after the children's sermon.

The junior choir under the leadership of Miss Linda Walker meets for rehearsal at 11:15 a.m. in the sanctuary. The hand chime players meet at 11:30 a.m. in the parish hall. The senior choir rehearses with the organist Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall.

Immediately following the service a fellowship hour in the social hall will be held to which members, guests and friends are welcome to share in the fellowship and partake of the light refreshments.

The annual Christmas Craft Night will be held in the social hall Sunday, Dec. 4 at 5 p.m. Several tables featuring simple to make yourself crafts will be offered to all ages. Bring your own sandwich, beverages and dessert will be provided. Music and fellowship as always, will be plentiful.

Unwrapped gifts for the combined Christmas Party for Medfield State Hospital in-patient and outpatient population must be in the church office by Wednesday, Dec. 7.

Youths To Gather At Squantum First Church

This Sunday, the congregation at the First Church of Squantum, 176 Bellevue Rd., will be joined by some 30 young people and their leaders from around the state.

They are attending a Youth Leader Core conference at the church from Friday through Sunday.

There will be an every-member breakfast at 9:15 a.m. The service will be at 10:30 a.m. led by Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor.

Last Saturday night, members, friends and neighbors decorated the church for Advent, and made Christmas crafts and goodies. It was the annual "Hanging of the Greens" sponsored by the church's Board of Christian Education.

Young children, their parents, teenagers and adults of all ages participated. Members of The Way Up, a specialized Christian ministry with unchurched youth, as a special project built a playhouse for nursery children.

Deborah Belsinger, Bill Scott, Dana Olson and Pat Olson had charge of decorating the church. Ellen Ogilvie, Lynda Thornton, Paulette Potter, Hazel Mayne, Ruth Swanson, Minda Hurd, Steve Quiry, Marci Hurd, Grace Holmes, Kate McRitchie, Beth Harper, Richard MacMillan and Kathy Sullivan-Moran worked on the craft tables.

Patti Hurd was general chairperson of the program.

"Coming Down for Christmas" was the sermon by Rev. Dr. Langevin on the First Sunday of Advent. Scripture readings were from Jeremiah 33:24-15 and Luke 19:1-10. Naomi Belsinger and Bryan Thornton assisted the pastor in lighting the first Advent wreath candles.

Christmas hymns sung by the congregation were accompanied by Janet Williamson, pianist, and Mary Ruth Scott, organist. The offertory anthem by the Chancel Choir was William Rowan's "Prepare the Way of the Lord."

Fred and Lorraine Josselyn were greeters; Harry Holmes and Stewart Scott, ushers; and Gretchen Bumpus and Sally Wainwright were hosts for the Fellowship Hour.

Chapel Communion Service At Christ Church

Weekly events at Christ Church, 12 Quincy Ave., include a Chapel Communion Service today (Thursday) at 11 a.m.

Bowling will be on Friday, Dec. 2, at 7 p.m. at Olindy's.

On the Second Sunday of Advent, Dec. 4, Holy Eucharist services will be at 8 and 10 a.m., with Sunday School at 10 a.m. Worship will be led by the Rev. John R.

Corbiere, Interim Priest

The Youth Group meets next on Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 7 p.m. at the church.

Choir rehearsal on Wednesday, Dec. 7, is at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 8, the 11 a.m. Chapel Communion Service will be followed at 12 noon by the Women's Guild Christmas Party. Members are asked to bring a toy for a child up to 10 years old, which will be given to DOVE.

'The Hope Of Justice' Sermon Topic At Wollaston Congregational

"The Hope of Justice" will be the Advent subject of Elden D.J. Zuern, interim minister, Sunday at 10 a.m. (Dec. 4) at Wollaston Congregational Church. The sermon is based on Malachi 3:1-5 and Philippians 1:3-11. Rene Olson and Fran Martin will be greeters; Marion Channon, reader; Jean Tierney and Laurel Oster, ushers; and Wendy Sweetser, acolyte.

For the third Sunday in Advent, Dec. 11, "The Hope of Fame and Prosperity" will be Rev. Zuern's topic. This is based on Zephaniah 3:14-20 and Philippians 4:4-9. Mr. and Mrs. Steven Stenford will be greeters; Peg Sandahl, reader; Joseph and Alice Pinel, ushers; and Joshua Knowles, acolyte.

"The Hope of Peace" is the Rev. Zuern's subject on Dec. 18, fourth Sunday in Advent. This is based on Micah 5:2-5 and Hebrews 10:5-10. Gus and Christian Oster are greeters; Laurel Oster, reader; Ellis Laycock and Joe Sandahl, ushers; Jason Towle, acolyte.

At the 10 a.m. service on Christmas Day, "The Joy of Christmas" will be the Rev. Zuern's sermon, based on Isaiah 62:1-7 and Luke 2:8-20. Mary and Paul Gifford will be greeters; Phyllis Dixon, reader; Henry McDaniel and Irene Olson, ushers; and Erik Oster, acolyte.

There will be a family candlelight service on Christmas Eve at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary. Keith and Carol Nickerson will be greeters; Paul Gifford and Charles Todd, ushers; and Erik Schwenndeman, acolyte.

Advent Sermon At Point Congregational

The Second Sunday of Advent will be observed Sunday at the 10 a.m. service at Quincy Point Congregational Church.

The second candle of the Advent Wreath will be lighted, marking the church's pilgrimage to Christmas Day.

Throughout the Advent season, the sanctuary will be gradually decorated by members of the Altar and Flower Guild, under the direction of Mrs. Carol McGhee who is the Guild Chairperson.

Sunday's service will include three selections from the Advent-Christmas portion of "Messiah" by Handel. The Chancel Choir, Jeffrey Snowsato and soloist Kimberley Blaney will sing. Organ selections will be by Organist-Choir Director Herman Weiss.

During the service of worship, one of the pastors will preach on the second in a series of Advent sermons, titled "In Jesus Christ, God Comes to Forgive Sins." The service will conclude with a celebration of Holy Communion.

All infants, children and young people are invited to attend the Church School at 10 a.m. Infants through kindergarten go directly to their classrooms. Children and young people in Grades 1 through 12 attend the first portion of the worship service before passing to their classes and the music program of the Church School. A Crib Room with experienced babysitters is available to parents with newborn and very young children. Parents wishing to enroll their infants, children and young people in the Church School may do so by speaking with Glenn McGhee, Church School superintendent; by speaking with Mrs. Virginia Gardner, Church School secretary; or by telephoning the church office Monday through Friday at 773-6424.

Refreshments follow the morning services of worship each Sunday; and there is adequate off-street parking for church members, friends and guests. For further information about the church, contact the Rev. Fred or Carol Atwood-Lyon

Advent Services At Houghs Neck Congregational

Advent Services at Houghs Neck Congregational Church start Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 7:30 p.m. with a Service of Worship in the Sanctuary, sponsored by the Mothers and Others Club.

Students from St. Angela's School in Mattapan will present a musical program directed by Holly Morris.

Tuesday, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m. the Advent program in Fellowship Hall will feature a film on the theme of "Peace." Singing of carols around the fireplace will follow. This program is sponsored by the Pilgrim Fellowship.

Sunday, Dec. 18 at 4 p.m. there will be a Church School Christmas Pageant and Supper, to which everyone is invited.

Tuesday, Dec. 20 at 7 p.m., there will be an Advent Musical Service presented by the church choir under the direction of Arden T. Scholfield.

Refreshments will be served following each of these services.

Saturday, Dec. 24, a Christmas Eve service at 11 p.m. will include the traditional candlelighting worship service. Persons interested in joining the Church at that time should speak in advance to either the Rev. Dr. Peter V. Corea or the Rev. M. Alicia Corea.

Sunday, Dec. 25, there will be one Service of Worship only at 10 a.m. to observe the birth of Jesus.

At the 10:45 a.m. worship service this Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon will be "God With Us."

The Diaconate will serve Communion.

The choir, directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, Minister of Music, will sing Luisa Dano will be soprano soloist.

Greeters will be Virginia and Charles Sylvester. An attended nursery is available for children age 5 and under. For children up to age 12, there is junior church, led by Linda Day.

On Thursday, Dec. 1, the Diaconate will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the church. Friday, Dec. 2 the Trustees will meet at 7 p.m. at the church, and Saturday, Dec. 3, the New England Seamen's Mission Board will meet.

Members of the Sunday School will meet at 6:30 p.m. at the church to go Christmas caroling Saturday, Dec. 17. On Sunday, Dec. 18 at 4 p.m. the Sunday School will present its program of songs and recitations. Immediately following will be the Christmas Party, with gifts and a special visitor.

Gifts for the Seamen should be brought to the church as soon as possible, as they will be delivered to the Mission for distribution on Dec. 11.

Christmas plants and decorations in memory or in honor of loved ones should be ordered by Dec. 11 from the Flower committee or the church office.

For more information about the church's activities please call the church office at 479-5728

Decoration Sunday At United First Parish Church

This Sunday the congregation of United First Parish Church will hold its traditional service of decorating the church for the Christmas season.

The children of the church will enter during the processional carol, bringing swags, boughs, and garlands. Parishioners will come forward with ornaments to hang on the tree at the front of the church and then gather around to sing "O Christmas Tree."

This year the star will be placed at the top of the tree by Lucy Ross, Angela Bohl and Alyssa Costello will light the second candle on the Advent wreath.

The congregation will sing traditional carols, and the church choir, under the direction of Norman Corey, will sing anthems by Bach and Butler.

Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett will deliver the sermon, "Christmas Is Out of This World." Visitors are welcome to the service and the coffee hour following.

Auto Accident Victim Church Fair To Benefit Quadraplegic Mother Of 3

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

There will be 25 tables of handcrafted items for sale at the craft fair of Our Lady's Sodality of Most Blessed Sacrament Church Saturday, Dec. 3, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

Sales receipts from three of those tables will benefit a very special cause.

These funds will provide help for Diane (Garrity) Principato, formerly of Germantown, who is now a quadriplegic as a result of an Aug. 3 late night accident on Sea St. in Adams Shore, near Mr. Donut.

She was crossing the street when she was struck by a car. The driver faces charges.

Prospects are still bleak for Diane, who remains a patient at University Hospital, Boston, lying on a spinal cord bed. A former pet groomer for Dr. Pet, she is the mother of three children age five and under. Her arm, neck and back were broken in four different places.

Fortunately, she has a friend: Michelle DeGust of 534 Sea St., Adams Shore.

A recovered polio patient, Michelle is opening her home to Diane until a suitable home can be found for the mother and her three little ones, Andrea, 5; Pete, 4; and Cheryl, two years.

"We've been friends ever since I was five years old," Michelle said. "When I had polio, Michelle's mother used to bring her to the hospital and put her on the bed with me, to play with me. I've had 53 operations, and I am well.

She is now a pre-school teacher for three-year olds in a new program of the Quincy Public Schools, where she works with special needs children.

"I've devoted my life to kids," she says, "and now I'm devoting my life to my friend. I'm not alone — a lot of people are helping."

To date, Diane and a personal care attendant have been able to spend three weekends with her friend. The children have visited her for four hours each time.

"Diane is fine mentally, although it is taking a lot out of her because she especially misses her three little ones," her friend says.

Many things require changing before Diane can settle down even temporarily in the first floor apartment at Sea St. and Pequot Rd., in Adams

Shore. Doors will need to be widened for a wheelchair, special equipment added, a special phone, a shower chair — fortunately there are many local friends from all over the country, as far away as California and Hawaii, who have sent articles to be sold at the fair to help pay for the necessities.

In addition to friends, there has been help from the workers at Ocean Spray Cranberry Co., where her mother is employed.

The three children today are being cared for by her mother-in-law.

Also injured with Diane in the Sea St. accident was Sandy Burns, now active again after a broken leg and a cracked skull.

The driver of the car responsible, was arrested for drinking and driving. He was uninjured. A court hearing has not yet been held.

GERMANTOWN YACHT CLUB float entitled "Christmas in the Land of Oz" won third place in the Christmas parade float competition.

Local Look At Kennedy Assassination:

'Conspiracy Cover-Up Evidence Undeniable'

Edgar Tatro, a Quincy High School English teacher for 21 years, has done extensive research on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. A member of the Board of Advisors of Assassination Archives and Research Center in Washington, D.C., he has taught an assassinations course at Quincy Junior College for 13 years. Tatro is also the author of 20 published JFK assassination articles. The following is a short essay outlining some of his thoughts on the assassination.

By EDGAR TATRO

The assassination of President John F. Kennedy is the single most traumatic event in modern American history and despite assurances from most federal agencies and most major media sources that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone, the American people overwhelmingly reject the lone assassin theory.

Recent polls indicate that 87 percent of America believe JFK was the victim of a conspiracy.

Their lingering doubts are justified as in their relentless desire for the truth. It is impossible to detail all of the shameful practices with have transpired or to discuss all of the reliable witnesses and fertile leads which have been ignored for years, but the following facts will at least help to explain why most Americans will never swallow the "Oswald-Did-It" scenario.

- The only medical way to prove how many shots hit President Kennedy in the head and from which directions is by dissecting the bullet paths through the brain. This procedure was never performed because the president's brain disappeared mysteriously.

- The press bus carrying 40 professional photographers are usually placed close to the president's car in a motorcade to film crowd reactions but in Dallas, the press bus was placed 20th in line, nearly two blocks behind JFK's limousine. Priceless films of the crucial moment were not taken.

- Jack Ruby was an informant for the FBI in 1959 and J. Edgar Hoover hid those documents for years.

- Lee Harvey Oswald's

military intelligence file was hidden from the Warren Commission despite requests for it in 1964. When the House Select Committee on Assassinations representing Congress demanded the file in 1976, the Defense Department informed them that the file was destroyed "routinely" in 1973. The Congressional committee was "extremely troubled" by this event.

- Warren Commission member J. Lee Rankin, on Jan. 27, 1964, said, "We are trying to run that down to find out what he (Oswald) studied at the Monterey School of the Army in the way of languages." The Monterey School of the Army, now called the Defense Language Institute, is where we teach intelligence agents crash courses in foreign languages. They disavow all knowledge of Oswald's existence at their school.

- Most of JFK's cabinet members were aboard a plane heading for Tokyo at the moment of his death. The plane's emergency code book needed to secretly contact Washington was missing from the plane.

- Thirty-seven documents from the CIA's 201 file on Oswald were "not available" when Congress requested the file during the investigation. No satisfactory explanation was given as to why they were missing.

- Commander James J. Humes, the presiding physician of JFK's autopsy, admitted burning his preliminary autopsy draft notes.

- Colonel Pierre Fink, another autopsy surgeon, admitted under oath in 1969 that he was ordered not to complete the autopsy by properly dissecting bullet paths in the body.

- No spectrographic comparison of the bullet metal found on the clothing holes of JFK and Governor John Connally was performed because the governor's clothes were laundered prior to reaching the FBI's lab in Washington.

- A curb with a bullet scar was left unprotected on Main St. for over eight months by the FBI. No copper was found, only lead and antimony. Oswald's alleged bullets were copper-jacketed. Unless a fragment from a JFK head shot flew 280 feet to the Main St. curb, Oswald could not have fired this shot. No tests were conducted to determine if a bullet fragment could travel such a distance.

- The bullet alleged to have caused the wounds of President Kennedy's back and throat and Governor Connally's chest, wrist and leg simultaneously is almost pristine in shape and weight loss. All test bullets in 1964 are flat as pancakes. Congress refused to conduct new tests in 1976.

- Nine nose witnesses smelled traces of gunpowder emanating from the grassy knoll. The wind precludes the "Oswald Window" from consideration. These witnesses were ignored.

- At least eight witnesses confronted individuals with Secret Service credentials in Dealey Plaza immediately after the shooting, yet all Secret Service agents stayed in the motorcade and rode to Parkland Hospital. Who were these men?

- One suspect arrested behind the grassy knoll perfectly matches the FBI's composite drawing of the key suspect in the assassination of Martin Luther King... and it is not James Earl Ray.

- Another suspect arrested behind the grassy knoll closely resembles a convicted Mafia hit man with extensive ties to the Dallas mob. Witnesses who have never testified exist who can substantiate his presence on the knoll that day.

THIS SHOWS an enlarged portion of the grassy knoll photo. Notice the tree and an object to the right of it. Is it a gunman?

- A human-like figure with a rifle-like object photographed on the grassy knoll south, the infamous knoll, has been ignored for years. A sidewalk bullet scar complements this shooting position.

- Jack Ruby's link to organized crime are extensive and well-documented. The chief architect of the House Select Committee on Assassinations, G. Robert Blakey personally stated, "The mob did it" and co-wrote a book entitled, The Plot to Kill The President. The Justice Department ignored him.

- Thousands of documents of the Warren Commission were classified for years until the advent of the Freedom of Information Act. Crucial material is still hidden.

- Thousands of documents of the congressional committee are still hidden because a congressional investigation is exempt from the Freedom of Information Act.

- Oswald was confronted by a police officer and his boss approximately 90 seconds after the shooting on the second floor of the depository, yet the congressional committee had eyewitnesses and photographic proof that the boxes in "the Oswald Window" were being moved about within the perch area two minutes after the shooting. Who is moving the perch boxes on the sixth floor?

The evidence of conspiracy and cover-up in the assassination of President Kennedy is undeniable and it's amazing that even 13 percent of America holds onto the "lone nut" myth. A re-investigation of the assassination would be extremely difficult since it is clear from all of the scandals since JFK's death that government cannot investigate government.

Still, it must be remembered that crimes of then and there are often link crimes of here and now.

If we ever hope to fulfill President Kennedy's dreams of a brighter future for our children, we must restore some justice to our past.

SARA EDWARDS, co-host WBZ-TV's Evening Magazine program, presented a "Drugbusters" program for elementary school children and their parents recently at North Quincy High School.

At NQHS 'Drugbusters' Program Elementary School Students Get Straight Talk About Drugs

Nearly 700 elementary school children and their parents met at North Quincy High School last week for some straight talk about drugs.

The young students participated in the "Drugbusters" program, a collaborative effort between the Massachusetts Governor's Alliance Against Drugs and WBZ-TV 4 as part of their "For Kids Sake" public service campaign.

Over the past three years, more than 50 drugbusters programs have reached more than 50,000 children and their parents with visits, and more than 300,000 children through written materials.

The program is designed to encourage better communication about drugs between parents and their elementary school-age children.

At North Quincy High School last Thursday night, Sara Edwards, co-host of WBZ-TV's Evening Magazine program, presented the program designed to teach elementary school children to say "no" to drugs and alcohol.

Edwards explained to the students why early drug education is so important by citing the results of a 1984 Massachusetts survey of high school students.

The survey revealed that 60 percent of the students had used drugs and nearly 30 percent had first tried illegal drugs at the age of 12 or younger.

The Puppet Trio, an acting troupe, performed three skits designed to stimulate discussion about how young people and their parents can deal with the problem of drug and alcohol abuse. Following each skit, Edwards moved through the audience, fielding questions and giving children and their parents the opportunity to talk about how they would deal with potential drug and alcohol dilemmas.

manager for WBZ-TV, said his station is proud to participate in the campaign against drug abuse.

"The public affairs resources at WBZ-TV have been committed to the youth of New England in our 'For Kids Sake' campaign and this effort is part of our attempt to improve the quality of life for young people," Spinola said.

The Governor's Alliance Against Drugs, of which Worcester is a member, now encompasses more than 300 communities throughout the state. The Alliance has encouraged communities to initiate anti-drug abuse programs and policies and to involve all community, school and police resources in that effort.

Over 300,000 On Hand For Christmas Parade Woodward School Wins Top Float Award

By JANE ARENA

Unseasonably high temperatures brought a record crowd out to watch the 37th annual Christmas festival parade in Quincy Center on Saturday.

An estimated near 350,000 people lined the 2.8 mile parade route while past crowds have usually averaged 300,000.

Grand Marshal of the parade was Joe Morgan, manager of the Eastern Division Champion Boston Red Sox, accompanied by his grandson.

The parade featured over 70 units including 21 floats, 24 marching bands and 22 specialty units including five color guard groups. This year's theme was "The Enchantment of Christmas."

The Christmas Parade and other festive activities are sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

As in past parades, the most outstanding floats and bands were awarded prizes for their efforts.

The Woodward School for Girls earned first prize for their float entitled "Christmas is Out of This World," which featured a moving rocket ship and assorted aliens.

Quincy Bay Race Week Association won second prize for their float "Santa's Enchanted Village."

Third prize went to the Germantown Yacht Club for the float entitled "Christmas in the Land of Oz."

The Mayor's trophy for the best Quincy float was awarded to the Sacred Heart Youth of North Quincy for the entry "Enchantment of the Last 100 Years."

The award for the best commercial entry went to Quincy City Hospital's float which showed people in antiquated hospital workers' uniforms next to a drawing of a modern hospital.

A float entitled "Santa's Little Helpers," sponsored by Rep. Michael Morrissey, won a prize for best specialty float.

Honorable mentions for business entries went to The Patriot Ledger, Carney Hospital, Bernie's Formal Wear, Conway Realtors, St. John's CYO, Wollaston Credit Union, Bank of Boston, South Shore Bank, Quincy Junior College and the City of Quincy Centennial Committee.

In the marching band category, North Quincy High School band won second prize in its division, without the aid of band director, Frank Rulli, who has been sick with pneumonia. The band members practiced on their own with the help of their parents.

The Shepherd Hill High School marching band won first place overall in the parade, and will be marching in the 1990 Cotton Bowl Parade in Dallas, Texas. They scored 94.2 out of a possible 100.

The Marshfield High School band who won first place overall last year, posted the second highest score this year.

In the competition high school bands were separated into four divisions and judged against others in their group.

In Division 1, East Bridgewater High won in the categories of best drum major, best band front, best high percussion score and best high music score for a total of 86. Norton High School won best majorette award in the division and best solo majorette award went to Holbrook High.

North Quincy High School came in second with a score of 74.8.

In Division 2, Agawam High School won for best band front, best high percussion score and best high music score for a total of 90.4.

The David Prouty High School won for best drum major, receiving a total score of 86.8. Southbridge High won for best majorette. Agawam High won for best solo majorette.

In Division 3 Shepherd Hill, up against four schools, won for best band front, best high percussion score, and best music score.

Abington High School placed second in the division with a score of 81.4 and Douglass High School placed third with a 76.5.

In Division 4 Marshfield High School received a 91.1 score.

In another prize category, the winners of the elementary school Christmas poster contest were:

For grades 1-3: Jerick Warrick, grade 3, Squantum School, a $100 savings bond for first place.

For first place: Danielle Thibault, grade 3, St. Mary's

School, a $75 savings bond for second place and Michael Webber, grade 1, St. Mary's, a $50 savings bond for third place.

Honorable mentions in that category went to Joey Banks, Mary Chenette, Nicole Bertoni, Blanka Drozdol, Lauren Lumaghini, Chris DiMattia, and Charlene Ho.

For grade 4-6: Corrine Trainor, grade 5, Sacred Heart School, first prize; Michael McLaughlin, grade 4, St. Joseph's School, second prize; and Kerry Dennis, grade 5, Sacred Heart School, third prize.

Honorable mentions in this category went to Gregory Burk, Kristin Priscella, Joy Amo, Toni Kabilian, John Heim, David Parra, Vivian Chan, Ann Liu, and Lisa Ferrara.

QUINCY BAY RACE WEEK float won second prize for the entry "Santa's Enchanted Village" in the Quincy Christmas parade. About 250,000 people witnessed the annual event.

QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL band marches down Hancock St. during the 37th annual Quincy Christmas parade.

QUINCY CITY HOSPITAL float entry won the best commercial category with the entry "Centuries of Caring and Caring."

THE CITY OF QUINCY Centennial Float received an honorable mention in the Quincy Christmas parade float competition.

RED SOX MANAGER Joe Morgan, the parade's grand marshal, rides the route in a convertible with his grandson, Anthony.

QUINCY JUNIOR COLLEGE float received an honorable mention for its entry in the Quincy Christmas parade.

NORTH QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL band won second place in its division in the Quincy Christmas parade band competition.

Talking With Your Kids About Drugs

How to communicate:

- Calmly and openly - Discuss frankly and without anger the facts about drugs. Don't exaggerate, the facts are chilling in and of themselves.

- In terms of subject matter, not personalities - challenging current friends might lead to defensive or defiant behavior.

- Through "teachable moments" - in contrast to a formal sit-down lecture, use a variety of situations - television news, TV dramas, books, newspapers, local situations. Capitalize on one point. You'll have opportunities to make other points. Ask the child how he or she would have reacted, what else might have been done or might have happened.

- As an ongoing dialogue - communication won't be as effective if the subject is brought up in one massive lecture. Anti-drug use messages should be an ongoing theme when you talk with your child. The content and intent should be repeated as an accepted family value. But be sure you encourage and allow for two-way communication.

- Remember that you set the example - your child will compare your actions with your words and be guided accordingly. If you choose to drink, never mix drinking with driving or any other activity requiring skill and coordination. If you smoke, it would help you and your child if you could quit. And don't use illegal drugs. Period!

- Be creative! You and your child might act out various situations in which someone tries to pressure someone else into taking drugs. Figure out two or three ways to handle each situation and talk about which is best. Role-playing is one way to practice decision making skills.

On Our Way Open House Sunday

On Our Way, Inc., will host its first open house at its new residential program in Quincy Sunday, Dec. 4.

On Our Way's program is the first of its kind in the state providing independent living skills training to previously unserved deaf adults with special needs.

To celebrate its official beginning On Our Way trustees will sponsor the open house at 31 Wollaston Ave., Quincy, on Sunday, Dec. 4 from 1-6 p.m. to express thanks to their members and invite neighbors and interested community residents to visit and get acquainted.

Trustees, staff and clients will be available to demonstrate devices and systems which provide the link between the hearing and the deaf community.

Several clients are now living in the Quincy residence and according to President Nancy Beaman, "We are serving individuals whose training needs were not met due to lack of state funds and appropriate programs.

"Our commitment is to provide our clients an opportunity for freedom by preparing them with skills necessary for independent living."

Until now, these deaf adults have been living with their parents but "as their parents become older and less able to provide for their children, On Our Way will enable these adults to become self-sufficient, independent and contributing members of the community rather than depending on state and local funds," said Diane Armstrong, an On Our Way trustee.

For those unable to attend the open house and who would like further information, to volunteer or become a member of On Our Way, Inc., contact On Our Way headquarters at 227 Dedham St., Norfolk, MA 02056 or call (508) 384-2517 (both voice and TTY).

Newman Preparatory Entrance-Scholarship Exams

The Newman Preparatory School, 245 Marlborough St., Boston will hold its annual Entrance-Scholarship Examination for students entering the 9th and 10th grades.

The first exam will be given Saturday, Dec. 3 at 10 a.m. and the second on Wednesday, Feb. 22 at 10 a.m.

The exam establishes eligibility for admission and also determines if a student is able to qualify for a four-year scholarship to Newman Prep.

To register for the exam, call the school at 267-4530. There is no fee for the testing.

Women's Fitness Classes To Start Dec. 5

The Quincy Recreation Department announces that registration is now being held for the second session of two women's exercise programs.

The programs which are under the supervision of Nancy Joyce will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at either 8:30-9:15 a.m. or 9:30-10:15 a.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse.

Each program includes low-impact aerobic exercises to improve and strengthen flexibility, endurance and overall fitness. Adaptations to the exercises allows each participant to work at their own pace.

Cost of the program is $20 for 30 classes. Registration is on a first come first served basis beginning Nov. 28, at the Quincy Recreation Office, 100 Southern Artery.

Registration will continue from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays. The first class will be held Monday Dec. 5.

For additional information, call 773-1380, ext 204.

Blessed Sacrament Sodality Crafts Fair Saturday

Our Lady's Sodality of Most Blessed Sacrament Church will hold a crafts fair Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall on Darrow St.

"Silver," a rejuvenated, steed from the old Houghs Neck carousel, will be one of the features. He will be displayed by Joe Brill, a grandson of Dominick DeAngelis, late proprietor of the Sea St. merry-go-round at the foot of Great Hill.

There will be 25 tables of handcrafted items for sale.

There will also be a big kitchen menu which will include the usual hot dogs, sandwiches, pizza, and cold drinks.

Santa Claus will pose with children for pictures.

Middle Schools Orientation At QHS Dec. 6

An orientation for middle school parents and students will be held Tuesday, Dec. 6 at 7 p.m. in the Quincy Method Center at Quincy High School.

The Quincy High School administration, faculty and Parent Advisory Council are sponsoring the orientation to provide information to parents and students about the grade 9 cluster program and all instructional and extra-curricular programs available at Quincy High School.

The Parent Advisory Council is also meeting that evening in the Presidents' Price Room. All parents of Quincy High students may attend.

Point Cheerleaders Still Pursue $10,000 For Trip To Dallas

Members of the Quincy Point Panthers Cheerleading squad have been busy trying to raise money for their trip to the National Cheerleading Finals in Dallas.

The cost to send the 14-member team is $10,000.

Last weekend, 51 bowlers turned out for a Bowl-a-Thon at Olindy's Lanes. All bowlers are collecting pledges from their sponsors.

The cheerleaders gave special thanks to Jerry Perfetuo, president of the Quincy Football Parents Club for his assistance in this fundraiser.

Almost $250 was raised from a recent bake sale held at the Daniel Webster School.

The event was coordinated by Mrs. Pat Kelley, a parent of one of the cheerleaders.

Donations for the sale came from Panthers team members and Webster students and their families.

This week, donations were received from:

Morrisette Legion Post, Cathay Pacific Restaurant, High Rise Restaurant, Joan's Olympic Gym, Cattatore Brothers Asphalt Paving, Thomas Auto Body of Hingham, Tom O'Brien Nissan, F.X. Messina Enterprises, McNaught Family, Donna, Carole, Janet and Linda Caporale, East Howard St. Burger King, Kertzman's Auto and Baxter Pharmacy.

Also, Marlene McLean, Dorel Steel Corporation, Inc., Mr. and Mrs. Guido Pettinelli, American Overseas Marine General Dynamics, Paul Judge, Mike Doliner and American Fence Company.

Contributions have come in from as far as California and New Hampshire.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund can mail their donation to Quincy Point Panthers, 31 Temple St., Suite 225, Quincy, MA 02169.

Mite As Lose In Tourney Finals

Quincy's Mite A hockey team, sponsored by DAV Post 78, went to the finals of the Thanksgiving tournament at the LoConte rink in Medford before being edged by host Medford, 5-4.

Michael Ryan had a hat trick and Eric Wood the other goal. Scott Cooper and Chris DiMattia had two assists apiece and Ryan, Robbie Winter and Derek McTomney one each.

Quincy opened tourney play by losing to Everett, 3-2 with Cooper and Ryan scoring the goals and Michael Sullivan having an assist.

Quincy came back to upset favored Saugus, 7-2, with Brian Beaton playing his best game of the year in goal. Ryan had a big day with four goals and three assists. Cooper had a goal and four assists and Eric Wood and Winter a goal each. DiMattia and Betsy Stone had assists.

Faced with elimination, Quincy faced previously unbeaten Medford and pulled out a 5-4 win on Ryan's goal with a minute left in the game.

Ryan had a hat trick and Eric Wood and Cooper a goal each. Tim Wood and Eric Wood had assists. DiMattia, Stone, McTomney, Brian Degan, Matt Langille and Tim Wood played right defense and wings John Barron, Billy Crancy, Jason Snaith and John Bertucci played fine games.

Ryan was named offensive MVP and Tim Wood defensive MVP for Quincy. The team now prepares for the Santa Claus Tournament at Hingham's Pilgrim Arena.

Earlier Cooper scored four goals and Ryan had a hat trick to lead the Mite A's over Needham, 9-8, in a real shootout at the Skating Club of Boston.

Cooper scored four minutes into the game but Needham quickly tied it up. Robbie Winter scored to put Quincy up 2-1 and Cooper set up Ryan for his first goal of the game.

In the second period Tim Wood sent a long shot which was tipped in by Cooper. Needham came back to take an 8-4 lead but with eight seconds left in the period Eric Wood picked up the puck from the red line and shifted past the goalie to put Quincy within three goals.

In the third period Quincy came out strong and, with the defense of Tim Wood, Derek McTomney, Matt Langille, Brian Degan, Chris DiMattia and Betsy Stone playing tight man-to-man defense, and goalie Brian Beaton shutting Needham down, the offense went to work. The Ryan-Cooper-Eric Wood line scored two goals in 24 seconds and the Ryan-Winter-DiMattia line scored two more including Ryan's empty-net goal with 20 seconds remaining.

Also providing offensive punch were John Barron, John Bertucci, Jason Snaith, Mike Sullivan and Billy Grancy.

Craig's Injury Hurts North

It Was A Very Noble Day For Quincy

By TOM SULLIVAN

It was a perfect day for football and more than 10,000 fans took advantage of the weather to witness one of the most exciting Quincy-North Quincy football games the 56-year series Thanksgiving Day at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The game was billed as Quincy's passing game with Chris Noble and Chris Grant, against North Quincy's ground game with fullback Ryan Craig.

However, it turned out to be Noble's and Grant's game as Craig suffered a concussion on the next to last play of the first half while throwing a block, went to Quincy City Hospital and missed the entire second half. He later was released from the hospital.

Noble threw three more touchdown passes, giving him 22 for the year, tops in Division 1, and had a hand in every one of his team's points as Quincy came from behind to defeat North, 29-21.

It climaxed a great second half of the season for Jack Raymer's Presidents, who won four of their last five games to finish at 5-5 after a winless season in 1987. The loss snapped a four-game win streak for Ken McPhee's Raiders, who finished at 6-4.

Quincy leads the series, 28-23-5. Noble, who accounted for 166 points this fall (22 touchdown passes, 22 points himself and four passes for two-point conversions), threw three TD passes, a pass for a two-point conversion, a touchdown and two-point conversion himself and held the ball for Brian Norris, who the season in fine fashion by tying North. This year we had the toughest schedule since kicked the point after the final touchdown.

The 6-3, 195-pound quarterback, who is being sought by many colleges, finished the season by completing 105 of 192 passes for 1728 yards and had only five interceptions. A year ago he passed for 1475 yards and 12 touchdowns.

"As far as I am concerned, Chris is the best around," said a happy Raymer, whose win was his second over North (Quincy won, 14-12, in 1984, his first year as head coach). "He's just a very smart player and knows when to get rid of the ball. He doesn't loft it, he throws it."

"North received a real tough break when it lost Craig, who had a sensational season. But, I'm just so happy for our kids. Last year we didn't win a game but finished I've been coach.

"To win four of our last five games and end up by beating North Quincy is just great and the kids deserve an awful lot of credit. Two of our losses were by one point and another was a tough one-touchdown loss to a huge Weymouth North team."

"Losing Ryan Craig was a hard blow, but give Quincy a lot of credit, they came to play and deserved to win," said McPhee. "Losing Craig not only stripped us of one of the finest running backs I've seen in Quincy, but we lost a sensational line backer and blocker. We have faced tough backs every week, but he is up there with the best in the state."

Craig, who carried only sparingly, rushed six times for 54 yards in the first half and finished the season with 1160 yards gained despite missing the second half last week and sitting out an entire game earlier, and scored 14 touchdowns.

"It was by design we went more to Billy MacDougall's passing, as we knew they would be keying on Craig," said McPhee. "But, we would have used him a lot more in the second half."

Noble was 11 for 18 for 225 yards and one interception. Peter Olivieri rushed for 69 yards and Jim Dennett 37. Grant, who made three unbelievable catches, caught six for 143 yards and his 10th and 11th touchdown passes of the season. Marc Miele had two receptions for 26 yards in addition to a two-point conversion reception. Jody Beauchamp, playing only his third and final game, had two receptions for 36, one for a touchdown, and Dennett had one reception for 20 yards. The Dennett finished up with more than 1100 overall yards via rushing and pass receiving.

MacDougall, who had an outstanding day both ways, was seven for 16 for 161 yards and two touchdowns. His brother Kevin had three receptions for 100 yards and a touchdown. Mike Ainsley two receptions for 37 yards and a touchdown. Jeff Sullivan, who had another superlative day, a reception for 14 yards and Tim Baker one for 10 yards. Sullivan rushed for 35 yards, scored a touchdown, and had another great day both ways.

Quincy rushed for 143 yards to 99 for North and had 16 first downs to North's nine.

"Peter Olivieri and Jimmy Dennett ran well again and Grant was fantastic once again," said Raymer. "He averaged about five receptions a game and those three catches today were just unbelievable."

Raymer praised Grant, Miele, Joe Baker, Dave Zupkofska, Tony Madden, Don Hamilton, Tom Morrell, and Brian Norris for their offensive work.

On defense he had good words for Dan Hanly, Frank Ianello, Norris, Morrell, Bobby Austin, Todd Kimmell, Dave Nourse, Ennio Eleuteri, Scott O'Brien, Miele, Grant and Scott Campbell.

McPhee had special praise for Sullivan, who ran well, scored a touchdown, played excellent defense and ran back punts and kickoffs. The North coach rates him as one of the Raiders' most versatile players. He also praised Baker, Alex Malasi, Brian Mahoney, Sean Glennon, Dave Joyce, Brian Healy, Ainsley, Billy and Kevin MacDougall, Keith Gott, and Sean McDonough for their offensive efforts.

He also hailed the defensive play of McDonough, Joyce, Malasi, Steve Kohler, Glennon, Brian Tobin, Jesse Sweatt, Craig, Ainsley, both MacDougalls, Dan Gilmartin, Gott and Baker.

It looked from the start that it would be a high-scoring affair as each team scored on its first possession.

Quincy received to open the game and drove from its 20 to North's 41. Noble passed to Grant for a 41-yard touchdown. Norris kicked the point but North was offside. The whistle blew before the ball was snapped and this time Noble scored the two-point conversion on a sneak.

North came right back, marching from its 38. MacDougall passed to Sullivan for 14 yards and completed the drive with a 32-yard scoring pass to Ainsley. Billy MacDougall went around right end for the two tying points.

Quincy racked up four first downs and went all the way to North's three, with Noble, who completed his first seven passes, hitting Grant for five yards, Beauchamp for 21 and Grant for nine. But North recovered a fumble on the one-yard line to stop the threat.

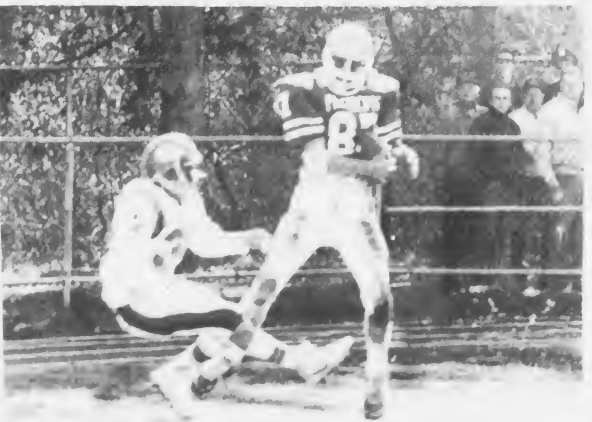

Quincy held fast and McDonough was forced to punt from his end zone, the ball going to Quincy's 48.

Grant passed to Miele for 15 yards and four plays later passed to Grant in the end zone. Grant made a beautiful diving catch for the score, but Noble couldn't find a receiver and was stopped short on the try for extra points.

North fumbled the kickoff and Quincy's Nourse recovered on the Raider 31. However, North held and took over on its 25.

On the second play Billy MacDougall threw a picture-perfect bomb to brother Kevin, who caught the ball on

Quincy's 45 and outran the defenders to complete a thrilling 75-yard touchdown play. Hutchings kicked the extra point to put North ahead, 15-14.

On the first play after the kickoff, Malasi recovered a fumble on North's 36. But Quincy again dug in and forced a McDonough punt, which went to Quincy's 11.

Noble punted to North's 45 and Sullivan returned it all the way to Quincy's 25, but a clipping penalty nullified the return and set North back to its 45.

McPhee finally unleashed Craig, who ran 18 yards to Quincy's 37. Keith Gott added five and Craig went five and then 22 to the five. Sullivan added a yard on the play on which Craig was injured and Sullivan scored from the three with just 12 seconds left in the half. A rush for the two points was stopped short.

Early in the final quarter Quincy's Eleuteri recovered a fumble on the North 41. Grant made still another amazing catch for a 35-yard gain to North's six and three plays later Noble scored on a quarterback sneak. Norris kicked the extra point.

North failed to gain and Quincy drove to North's 18, picking up three first downs. But Ainsley intercepted a Noble pass on the 10.

With a first down on North's 27, Olivieri gained five, Noble four and Olivieri three to put the ball on the 15. Noble passed in the end zone to Beauchamp, who made a fine leaping catch. Noble passed to Miele for the two points which gave Quincy a

Bantam Bs Bow

Quincy's Bantam B hockey team lost to Somerville, 7-1.

Mark Zych scored the only goal and Sean Hannon and Aidan O'Donoghue had assists.

Quincy played in a holiday tournament in which it defeated one Weymouth team and lost to another Weymouth team and Hanover.

The team made a strong effort despite player absences due to illness, high school tryouts and other players away on holiday.

One of the alternates, Brian Kelly, suffered a leg injury and had to leave the Somerville game.

commuter rail impacts in Quincy.

Regarding noise and vibration, Polechronis said, "The restoration of commuter rail service on the Old Colony Line would create no significant noise impacts in Quincy."

He said the addition of diesel rail service through Quincy would not raise the noise vibration level above the highest acceptable level set by the federal government.

"The total noise impacts of commuter trains will not be high enough to require noise mitigation, according to nationally used and recognized standards."

Polechronis said the diesel trains that would be used are quieter than previous models. There would be 37 round trips daily from 6:15 a.m. to 11 p.m., he said.

"Although some Quincy residents living near the Quincy transportation corridor at times would hear the noise from the commuter rail trains, the existing and future noise from truck and automobile traffic on Newport Ave., Hancock St. and Burgin Parkway and from the Red Line trains will continue to be the principal sources of noise," he explained.

However, councillors did not accept this explanation.

Councillor Stephen McGrath, while saying he was not trying to minimize the potential effects of other issues Quincy faces, called the Old Colony Rail restoration issue "number one as far as environmental impact in the city of Quincy."

McGrath said that, although the noise and vibration levels may fall under federal guidelines, residents who live along the proposed route would say it will affect them.

"The City Council must be ever vigilant and I just don't think (the rail) is going to have the type of benefit outlined here."

"We're going to continue to raise questions on this. We as a council must continue to take a leadership role," he said.

Other councillors echoed McGrath's remarks.

Toland, a frequent MBTA rider, said, "This is a railway which is right next to another railway. You can't talk to someone on Newport Ave. when the trains go by."

"For the people who live right there (near the Wollaston MBTA station) the noise is just intolerable," she said.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro added, "No one can convince me that these trains won't vibrate and cause problems in this very historic area."

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney asked the residents in attendance who live near the route to raise their hands if they believe they would be affected by the noise and vibration. Nearly everyone did.

One Wollaston resident, Fred Harvey of 357 Newport Ave., said the noise situation is already intolerable in that area because of the running of the MBTA.

"If you live near the Wollaston (MBTA) station, you don't need an alarm clock" he said since the trains wake him up every morning by 6 a.m.

"I think the minimum the people of Quincy should settle for is electrically powered trains," he said.

As for the idea of putting a commuter rail station in Quincy, Cheney said he was opposed to this for two main reasons. He said the stopping and starting of diesel engines is the time when the most fumes are emitted.

Also, he said people who miss boarding the train south of Quincy would drive through the city to catch it, thereby negating any benefit to traffic congestion.

In terms of solving traffic congestion, Polechronis said the rail service "would have a positive impact on traffic in Quincy."

He said 13,445 suburban trips a day would be driven to and from 21 commuter rail stations constructed in the Old Colony area communities and would not be driven through Quincy.

Approximately 4,402 average daily vehicle trips along local Quincy streets to downtown Boston or to Red Line stations would not be made through Quincy if Old Colony commuter rail service were restored on all three lines, Polechronis said.

The figures were based on planning data from cities and towns, federal and state census information and DPW traffic counts.

However, Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien disagreed with these figures. "Even if the Old Colony Line takes some of the cars off Quincy streets, they will fill up again and the city will again have to deal with congested streets."

Polechronis responded saying that Burgin Parkway, Hancock St. and Newport Ave. are not at capacity and that "they can handle a lot more cars."

Speaking on the traffic impact, Cerasoli said, "We're told this rail will take people off Quincy streets. I've never seen a vacuum that wasn't filled."

"This situation may be temporarily solved but the vacuum will be filled," he said.

Referring to past MBTA expansion, Cerasoli said, "Wherever there is an MBTA station, growth and development expands and wherever there is an Old Colony rail station, there will be development," thus leading to more traffic.

"We can't continue bearing the transportation burden. It's about time people in Boston and people north and west of Boston start doing their share in solving regional problems," he said.

Another impact discussed was improved service on the MBTA Red Line which runs through Quincy.

According to Polechronis, about 1,590 current Red Line riders from communities south of Quincy would be diverted to the Old Colony commuter rail, making available more space on Red Line trains, waiting platforms and in parking lots for Quincy residents.

He estimated that 814 current Red Line boarders in Braintree and 773 current boarders in Quincy from communities south of Quincy would instead use commuter rail.

Polechronis also said that about 356 Red Line station parking spaces would not be used daily from commuters residing south of Quincy.

After listening to these figures, Nutley said sarcastically, "There is a benefit (to this proposal). We're going to get some extra parking spaces."

He continued, "We're returning to the 19th century and that's not acceptable to the city of Quincy."

The idea of using the rail to transport freight was also raised.

Although Polechronis said there is no present proposal to transport freight through Quincy, several councillors said they believed this would eventually occur if the rail goes through.

"To my knowledge, no one in the MBTA or state transportation department has proposed to run freight on this rail. The MBTA is not seeking any freight proposal through the city of Quincy," Polechronis said.

However, Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan posed the idea to Polechronis that if the council passed a home rule petition, would he support it.

Polechronis answered by saying that decision would have to be made by MBTA General Manager James O'Leary.

As for notifying the public of any change in rail service, including freight transportation, Polechronis said he believes a change would have to go through public notification.

"The fact that the MBTA is not ruling out the use of freight service is disturbing," said McGrath.

"Although no one is proposing all night freight service to Quincy, the facts lend themselves to the facts that there will be all night freight service."

Toland said the freight issue could be the "straw that breaks the camel's back."

"I firmly believe it will be used for freight," she said.

Another issue discussed was the impact on air quality in Quincy. According to Polechronis, "Old Colony rail service would improve air quality in Quincy. Net pollutant emissions would be reduced substantially."

Polechronis based this potential benefit on the assumption that drivers who now commute through Quincy to Boston would instead take the train to the city.

"It is true that more diesel emissions would be generated in the Quincy transportation corridor as a result of the Old Colony service. These emissions are small, however, in comparison to existing emissions from other vehicles on nearby streets," he said.

Responding to this claim, one Quincy resident said, "Regardless of how you slice it, (diesel engines) stink and they are noisy."

A young female from Norwell who frequently commutes to Boston was the only person to speak in favor of the proposal.

"It's no fun sitting in an hour and a half of traffic," she said.

Wollaston Without Fire Ladder Truck For Three Months

boro, Gorman says. The truck will also have new equipment and a new enclosed cab. The total cost of repairs will be about ninety thousand dollars, Gorman says, as opposed to about four hundred thousand dollars for a new truck.

"The city will realize another eight to 10 years of service out of the truck," he says.

Gorman also said that the repair shop fixing the ladder truck is obligated to pay a fine for any day over 90 days that the truck is out of service.

"We're guaranteed to get the truck back in 90 days," he said.

Pub License Suspended 3 Days

The Quincy License Board Tuesday set the dates for the three-day license suspension for Stooges Pub, 3 School St., for three consecutive Sundays, Dec. 4, 11, and 18.

The suspension stems from an incident dating Sunday, July 24, when the establishment served alcohol to three Quincy minors.

The Board set the dates after the 30-day appeal period had ended. The establishment did not request an appeal.

Quincy Police Liquor Inspector, Sgt. Richard Laracy, delivered the suspension to the establishment.

Quincy Woman Dies In N.H. Auto Accident

Barbara Ann Kelsay, 19, of Quincy, a graduate of North Quincy High School and a volunteer with the Massachusetts Special Olympics, died Monday after the car she was driving crashed on Interstate 93 in Windham, N.H.

A funeral service will be held at 11 a.m. today (Thursday) at Wollaston Congregational Church, Winthrop St. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Her father, Richard S. Kelsay, said his daughter was not wearing her seat belt at the time of the accident and was thrown from the car. He said she normally did wear her seat belt.

Miss Kelsay had wanted to attend cosmetology school and open her own beauty school.

Miss Kelsay and a girlfriend spent a weekend working with local youngsters who were preparing for competition in the Special Olympics.

In her early teens she worked as a volunteer for the Quincy City Hospital, operating the switchboard on Sunday mornings.

Miss Kelsay was fond of music and was a member of the glee club at North Quincy High School and the choir at the Wollaston Congregational Church.

For part of this year she had worked a day job at Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. in Boston and in the evening drove to Carver to work in a booth at the King Richard Faire. She had hoped to return to a full time job at the Faire next year.

Mr. Kelsay described his daughter as one who was "in and out like the wind, and a joy to have around. She had cajoled her mother into quitting smoking."

Miss Kelsay was born in Boston and moved to Quincy 11 years ago.

She is also survived by her mother, Andrea M. (Smith) Kelsay of Quincy; a brother, Daniel J. Kelsay of Quincy; a sister, Amanda M. Kelsay of Quincy; her grandparents, Earl and Lillian (Morrow) Smith of Dorchester and many uncles, aunts and cousins. She was the granddaughter of the late Louise (Breivoge) Kelsay.

Visiting hours at the Dewar Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., were scheduled for Wednesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Memorial donations may be made to the Massachusetts Special Olympics, P.O. Box 303, Hathorne, MA 01937.

Carney Hospital Offers Stop Smoking Program

Carney Hospital will offer a "special" Holiday offering of its successful stop smoking program starting Dec. 7.

The program will be offered at the hospital at 7 p.m.

Anyone interested in joining the program may show up that evening as there is open registration. Fee for the program is $60 and includes six sessions, program manual, handouts, self-hypnosis demonstration, free followup sessions on a monthly basis, free newsletter and hotline service, free admission to additional smoking cessation programs, and free parking.

The successful program is just one of the many wellness programs offered by the hospital.

For information and details on the complete 1989 schedule of these programs call Dennis Mahoney at 296-4000, ext. 2093.

WEEK OF: December 1.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Your Quest for knowledge keeps you in touch with the world -- and keeps you young. Some people say it's hard to pin you down, but that comes with your personality. The focus over the coming eight months is on new areas of education. A financial theme is highlighted through the year and budgets are an important part of early 1989.

AQUARIUS -- January 21 - February 19

Joint efforts pay off in a week that highlights partnerships over solo or group efforts. Creative endeavors may include a moneymaking aspect that should not be overlooked.

PISCES -- February 20 - March 20

Don't exhaust yourself trying to rush projects to completion. A number of key tasks could do well to carry over into 1989. Relative displays rarely seen humorous qualities.

ARIES -- March 21 - April 20

If traveling, itinerary may undergo some late changes, and you'd be wise to leave nothing for the last moment. Co-worker is unusually helpful, enjoy it while it lasts.

TAURUS -- April 21 - May 22

Cooperative family members help you reach a personal goal before year's end. Creative projects are also highlighted, but business dealings require an ever-so-careful approach.

GEMINI -- May 23 - June 21

Recent setback is balanced by small advances that happen through the week. Young friends offer an example that you'd be wise to follow. You assume a leadership role after the weekend.

CANCER -- June 22 - July 22

Investment opportunity requires careful research and, generally speaking, it's a good week to act on logic rather than intuition. Don't act too modestly when praise comes your way.

LEO -- July 23 - August 22

You're off and running as a new project is launched with breathtaking speed. If you have a complaint, you can express it most articulately during this week.

VIRGO -- August 23 - September 22

Moneymaking ideas gain support, but it's still important to take a thoughtful and gradual approach. Partner may decide to include you. Children come up with superb suggestions.

LIBRA -- September 23 - October 22

New assignment has a fringe benefit, perhaps there's a chance to travel, or the opportunity to work with someone special. Partner is much more generous with time.

SCORPIO -- October 23 - November 21

Don't be shy about going after a project that captures your fancy. In relationships, however, an understated approach seems favored. Good week for simplifying your agenda.

SAGITTARIUS -- November 22 - December 22

Decisions made now require unanimous support, and you may hold the balance of power. Good week for drawing up a schedule. Independent streak surfaces and may lead to travel planning.

CAPRICORN -- December 23 - January 20

Watch tendency to be too easily influenced by the opinions of others; your own instincts are probably the best. Good week to map out career strategy for 1989.

BORN THIS WEEK

December 1st, actor Richard Pryor; 2nd, actress Julie Harris; 3rd, singer Andy Williams; 4th, actor Max Baer Jr.; 5th, bandleader Charles Sloane; 6th, jazzman Dave Brubeck; 7th, actress Ellen Burstyn.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The scriptures say, "as we have opportunity, let us do good to all people." "Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted." "Do unto others the way you would have them do unto you."

Kindness is one of the earmarks of Christianity. Mark Twain said: "Kindness is a language which the deaf can hear and the blind can see." People of all ages and circumstances respond to kindness. It is the oil that reduces friction between people, a salve that heals wounds. A song writer put it this way: "You've got to try a little kindness, show a little kindness. Just shine your light for everyone to see." A. Nellen put it this way: "If you have not often felt the joy of doing a kind act, you have neglected much, and most of all yourself." Yes, we can make life easier for one another with kindness. Try it! You'll like it!

PRAYER OF APPLICATION TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, who solve all problems, who light all roads, that I can attain my goal, you who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evil against me and in all instances of my life are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you and even in spite of all material illusion I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Repeat this prayer 3 consecutive days. After 3 days the favor will be granted even though it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after favor is granted without mentioning the favor.

Thank you St. Jude for favors granted.

McCauley Approves Funding For Adult English Classes

Citing the importance of adult English classes for the city's growing Asian population, Mayor Francis McCauley has approved funding for the classes for the rest of this fiscal year.

Classes have been held at the Wollaston Lutheran Church since 1987, beginning with four classes for 15 students and expanded to the present eight classes for 15 students with a constantly growing enrollment.

Initial programs to serve the Asians were funded through the state's Gateway Program. When the fiscal 1989 funds were cut by one third over the previous year from $43,630 to $15,961, the mayor took the lead in efforts to pull together funds within the city.

In addition of the adult English classes, McCauley funded the outreach position held by John Chen.

Ward 5 Councillor Charles

Phelan and Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley allocated some of their UDAG money to fund this year's summer program and Quincy Junior College funded the current fall session through its community outreach program.

The current Gateway Cities grant is funding emergency interpreter Hi Thai who works 16 hours a week with Civil Rights Officer Thomas Casey of the Quincy Police Department and the California Language Line (Call). This line enables the police and other city departments to call for interpreter service for 137 languages through a telephone-computer hook-up.

The grant is also used to fund part of the English courses.

Two hundred and seventy students participated in English classes in the first year of the program. Two hundred have participated to date this year with an anticipated enrollment of 360.

It is estimated that there will be 380 new students enrolled by June of 1989.

Fifty volunteers from Quincy are working with 50 Asians in the Thomas Crane Public Library's adult tutoring program, with 40 volunteers to be trained in January.

WORKMEN HAVE BEGUN repairs to the bent main steel support beam above the balcony in the Central Middle School's auditorium.

Chances Now Better For Students Return To Central By Spring

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The chances are better than previously expected that the displaced Central Middle School students will return to their school before the end of the current academic year, said School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci.

Dr. Ricci made the statement after inspecting phase one of the repairs to the closed school early Monday morning.

"The kids could possibly return sooner than expected," he said.

Three weeks ago, it was announced that the school's 476 students would return to Central at the end of the school year at the earliest.

After inspecting the work Monday morning, Dr. Ricci said the chances of students returning in the spring are better than before.

But he added that he could not estimate the time they would be allowed to return.

Dr. Ricci was optimistic about the possibility of an early return because of the repair progress made thus far and the drafting of a simplified version for the permanent repairs to the building.

Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday that the cost for the repairs should be known within a few weeks.

The students were split up by grade and sent to three different schools in October after it was discovered that a steel beam or main truss supporting the school's roof had shifted. The shift created deep cracks in the ceiling and walls of the school's learning center, making it unsafe.

Presently, phase one of the repair work is "well under way," said Dr. Ricci. Steel workers are in the process of securing and strengthening the main truss by welding it.

The ceiling of the learning center is down and the balcony is being prepared for demolition.

While the first phase is under way, plans are being drawn up by Gale Engineering for phase two, which consists of permanent repairs.

Once both phases are completed, a decision as to when the school can reopen will be made.

Dr. Ricci also announced that while the school is closed, other work to Central will be done. The work includes electrical and cosmetic work as well as the installation of an oil burner.

The work had originally been scheduled for a later time but was moved up since Central is closed, he said.

'Premature' Finn Says Second Police Officer Sought To Handle Civil Rights Violations

By JANE ARENA

The North Quincy Human Relations Subcommittee has asked that a second officer be assigned to matters concerning alleged civil rights violations of Asians.

The Subcommittee, as part of the City-wide Quincy Human Relations Committee, made the request in a letter to Police Chief Francis Finn. They asked for another officer to work with Civil Rights Officer Sgt. Thomas Casey.

The letter reads: "We wish to make it clear that given the increasing number of incidents involving whites and Asian newcomers, Sgt. Casey's workload far exceeds anything appropriate for one person. This matter is the Subcommittee's first priority."

Chief Finn told The Quincy Sun that the "matter is premature" at this time, but said that he is looking into it.

The Subcommittee, co-chaired by Councillors

Thomas Nutley, Charles Phelan and Lawrence Chretien, held its first meeting last week which was attended by 25 members.

Other goals for the Subcommittee include involving more Asian residents in its work to create a more harmonious and understanding atmosphere in North Quincy neighborhoods.

Future efforts of the Subcommittee will involve public education to be coordinated by the clergy, local schools and civic organizations.

The Subcommittee's next meeting is scheduled for mid-December.

Nutley said: "My understanding is that (Sgt. Casey) is part time right now and that he has no clerical help. Our recommendation is, at least by my feeling, that he be made full time and that he have some clerical help, especially someone to answer the phones if there are any complaints or anything."

Nutley said the subcommittee is hoping to get an answer from Chief Finn prior to their next meeting Dec. 13, but he also said "we're not pushing for an answer prior to the meeting."

Nutley also said that it is Finn's decision as to how to handle their request.

"We're not telling the Chief how to handle the logistics of this," Nutley said, "we're not telling him how to run the department. He may feel that Casey should work for two or

Recycling Committee Regional Meeting Dec. 15

Quincy's Committee on Recycling will sponsor a regional meeting on Thursday, Dec. 15 at 7 p.m. to discuss possible ways for Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth and Milton to recycle and compost cooperatively.

The meeting will be held in the Council Chambers of City Hall, 1305 Hancock St.

Interested parties are welcome to attend, said Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, chairman of the Committee on Recycling.

Chretien said each of the municipalities is currently struggling with the solid waste crisis on its own. Fortunately, to varying degrees, each also seems to be moving towards recycling and composting.

However, a voluntary approach might be better in terms of siting, economies of scale, public acceptance and other aspects, he said.

Clearly, it is time for our communities to at least begin a dialogue on the issue, Chretien added.

Among those invited to the meeting are:

Elected and other public officials from each community; active citizens; Quincy's consultant, Alternative Resources, Inc.; Browning-Ferris Industries; SEMASS partnership; and Department of Environmental Quality Engineering Commissioner Daniel Greenbaum.

DeCristofaro Agrees

Spectacle Island Or Stoughton Best Sites For Sludge Facility

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro says he is in "total agreement" with the city's position that Spectacle Island or the Stoughton site are the best locations for the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority's permanent sludge facility.

DeCristofaro said, "Stoughton and Spectacle Island are clearly preferable to putting the plant at Quincy's Fore River Shipyard which is already being used for other Boston Harbor cleanup projects."

The councillor pointed out that the shipyard is the site for the interim sludge facility, which is scheduled to open in 1991.

According to DeCristofaro, the Stoughton site could be used if a nine and a half mile-long underground pipeline were constructed to carry the sewage sludge from the shipyard to Stoughton.

Responding to Stoughton official's opposition to this project, DeCristofaro said it is about time that other municipalities share the burden.

"In fact, the time is long overdue for other cities and towns to contribute, as Quincy has done to assume some of the responsibilities of the Harbor cleanup.

"This is a regional problem and Quincy has done more than its fair share for a long time," he said.

Charles Ryder QCBPA's Member of the Year

Charles Ryder, owner of Ryder's curtain and drapery shop, 1489 Hancock St., was recently honored as Member of the Year by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association (QCBPA).

Ryder, who opened the drapery shop in 1976, had previously worked for the

W. I. Grant Company's Quincy store for 18 years. He was manager of the store for 12 years.

Ryder is a past president of the QCBPA, in 1977, and has been the promotions chairman for the Association for three years.

His plaque reads "For outstanding service and unselfish dedication."

"I am thrilled for the recognition," Ryder says of the award, "but it's not an individual award. We have a promotional committee (Peggy Scabill, Eileen Cohen and Harold Sadoff) who work very hard."

Robert Hanna Named Zoning Board Alternate

Robert R. Hanna of 90 Sims Rd., Wollaston, has been appointed an alternate member of the Zoning Board of Appeals by Mayor Francis McCauley.

Hanna was appointed to fill an unexpired term. The term will end the first Monday in February, 1991.

He succeeds Atty. David

Spillane who resigned recently to become legal counsel to the Quincy Police Dept.

A graduate of Suffolk University with a bachelor of arts degree in history, he received his Masters Degree in business administration.

Hanna is employed by American Mutual Insurance

Co. in Wakefield as the director of corporate investigators.

He is married to the former Margaret Butler and they have a son and a daughter.

Hanna is active in St. Ann's Parish and is the treasurer of the Beechwood Knoll Neighborhood Association.

$8.9 Million Project On Schedule New Police Station Seen As Model Facility

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The $8.9 million Quincy Police Station project, which is proceeding according to schedule and its budget, has the features that could make it a model facility, says Project Manager and Superintendent of Public Buildings David Colton.

"As a whole, this station brings the Quincy Police Station up to the present and into the future. I think this one will be used as a model for other stations, especially the jail cells," Colton said.

According to Colton, the multi-million dollar project, which began 19 months ago, is on time and should be completed next July.

He also emphasized that it would be completed within its budget. "It won't cost a penny more. Absolutely," he said.

The major portion of the project is the $7.1 million addition to the 63-year station at the intersection of Sea St. and Southern Artery. When it is completed, the station will be twice the size of the old one, an increase of 40,000 square feet from 20,000 square feet.

Colton said the new station will include some "state-of-the-art" features that the old one did not, plus some much needed improvements.

"When it's all completed, it will definitely be a station for the future. The building was designed with a particular flow in mind," Colton said.

"It's going to facilitate a more effective police department," he added.

As an example, Colton pointed out that the community relations officer and crime analysis person will be more "in the flow of things" because of their close proximity to public areas.

Among the new features are:

- Seventeen lock-up facilities or jail cells that will be equipped with audio and video equipment in order to watch prisoners. Designed to prevent suicide, the facility and equipment will comply with the latest recommendations of the state Department of Public Health.

- A Sally port or garage at the rear of the building which will be used for the loading and unloading of prisoners from a police van. In the past, prisoners were brought into the station from the front of the building.

"They won't be allowed out of the van until they are in the building," Colton said. "This will make prisoner transportation much safer."

Colton also said the facility will have:

- Expanded space for all departments.

- New communications equipment.

- A locker room and exercise facility for patrolmen and superior officers.

- A storage room for evidence and a larger room for general storage.

"The building has been designed to facilitate public access," Colton said, adding that people will have better access to such areas as the front desk and traffic and records departments.

Colton noted that the difference in working conditions in the new building compared to the old station is like "night and day."

Other features include extensive landscaping outside the station and more custodial space.

"There will be a custodian closet on every floor," Colton pointed out.

In terms of landscaping, 30 new trees will be planted along Sea St. Colton said most of these are already taking root outside the station.

There will also be the words "Quincy Police" spelled out by various plants on a mounded area outside near the Sea St.-Southern Artery intersection.

At this time, half of the project is completed. Temporary quarters have been set up and as time goes on, they will be moved into their permanent location, Colton said.

Departments that have a temporary location are records, traffic, communications and the detectives.

Those who have been permanently located are the chief, captains, some administrative offices and the lock-up facility, Colton pointed out.

Also, the egress for the building has been moved further from the busy intersection at Sea St. and Southern Artery.

Lawrence Heffernan Named To Conservation Commission

Atty. Lawrence B. Heffernan of 63 Sims Rd., Wollaston, has been appointed to the Quincy Conservation Commission by Mayor Francis McCauley.

Heffernan succeeds Atty. John Boyle of Marina Point who resigned recently.

His appointment is effective immediately and will expire on the first Monday in February, 1990.

A magna cum laude graduate of Boston College, Heffernan received his law degree from Boston College Law School in 1978. He is a partner in the law firm of Harrison and Maguire of Boston.

He and his wife, Suzanne, are the parents of two sons.

He is presently president of the Beechwood Knoll Neighborhood Association.

Readers Forum Miracle On Estabrook Road

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

One evening recently I was startled to see a man on his knees pointing a flashlight under my car. I hoped someone was trying to steal my Chevy Citation but realized it was Lenny Scheinfeld from down the street. He explained, "There is a skunk under your car with a bottle on his head." I thought he had been standing too close to a few bottles.

Just then a pickle jar, with a real live skunk sticking out of one end, walked out from under my exhaust pipe. The kitty with the distinctive markings and the foul-smelling odor walked up to Lenny. The skunk stopped and looked at Lenny at if to say, "Well, are you going to help me get this off my face?" Lenny's wife and I were trying to point out the eminent danger he was in and urged him to evacuate the premises before trouble struck.

Lenny explained he couldn't leave the poor skunk like that, so I suggested a rock from about fifty yards. There were two choices, run or help!

The tension was so thick you could smell it, as Lenny slowly reached down and grabbed the jar.

The skunk started to twist and wiggle to get free. Lenny said, with a nervous twinge, "I wonder if the jar has a twist off top?" The skunk and Lenny were in a real pickle, each hoping there would be a happy ending to the problem. The struggle continued until, in desperation, Lenny lifted the jar and the dangling skunk off the ground and gave everything a hard shake. This freed the animal and after a full gainer he disappeared into the bushes.

Sometimes our mouth can get us in a real pickle and we need to be careful when we stick our necks out. I don't want to make a big stink, but I want to suggest Lenny should get the Purple Heart for bravery or at least be nominated for citizen of the year. Saving the whales, was child's play compared to the danger Lenny faced! Lenny, thanks for saving the skunks!

McGrath Definite Mayoral Candidate

Is Steve McGrath running for mayor next year? Ask the man himself and he'll give you a smile.

Ask those around him and they say: "Yes, definitely."

In fact, they'll tell you that McGrath is already organizing his city-wide campaign force which will include most of those who worked for him in his successful bid for city councillor at-large in 1987, plus some new faces.

They expect McGrath to make an official announcement in January at a nominal $5 or $10 campaign kickoff, followed by a major fundraiser later in the early part of 1989.

And, the way they tell it, McGrath is running regardless of who else is in the race.

And that means former Mayor Joseph LaRaia, Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets and — apparently incumbent Francis McCauley who has not yet announced whether he will seek a fifth term.

McGrath reportedly feels "this is my time to run."

He has told friends "In everything, timing is the important thing. This is my time."

Of course, Sheets feels the same way — that 1989 is his year to run for mayor. In 1987 LaRaia felt it was his year. And, it almost was. He came within 460 votes of recapturing the mayor's office in a see-saw battle with McCauley.

McGrath has made no secret about wanting to be mayor of Quincy. He was Ward 5 councillor for 10 years before vacating that seat last year to run for councillor at-large. There were two open seats. Opportunity was knocking, he figured, and he was going to answer the door. He feels a mayoral candidate with city-wide exposure is in a stronger position than a ward councillor running for mayor.

He not only ran at-large but topped the six candidate field.

At 35, he could wait a few more years before running for mayor. But again, he thinks the opportunity is there now and he's going to be right there at the door again.

McGrath, incidentally, is no relation to late Mayor Thomas McGrath who served 1927-1932 and was one of Quincy's most tight listed mayors along with Amelio Della Chiesa and Frank McCauley.

T. McGRATH McGrath and Della Chiesa are

McCauley's two favorite mayors. He has his pictures hanging on his office wall as a reminder to him to keep the municipal spending down. Sometimes he feels them staring at him when he is tempted to blow a few big municipal bucks.

Some knowing his personal thriftiness away from City Hall think DELLA CHIESA he must carry the pictures around in his wallet, too.

Why does Steve McGrath want to be mayor?

Well, again according to those around him, he feels there are a number of problems and issues he would like to tackle as the city's chief executive.

He feels the federal and state governments are invading Quincy trying to solve regional and state problems by "putting it in Quincy" such as the sludge facility at the old General Dynamics shipyard.

Quincy, he feels, should fight back against such proposals as that, regional disposal here, restoration of the Old Colony railroad line which he feels will create problems in Quincy without any benefits (trains won't stop here).

He's not happy about the way Kinney systems maintains and manages the validated parking areas.

He thinks an aggressive effort should be made to bring retail business to the downtown area.

He will cite that and more when he officially announces according to those closest to him.

Meanwhile, McGrath's entry into the mayoral race leaves former Ward 1 City Councillor Leo Kelly with a decision to make.

He managed McGrath's at-large campaign last year and has indicated that next year he will run for city councillor at-large himself — the seat McGrath now holds. McGrath reportedly would like him back with him for the mayor's race.

Will Kelly ever run himself? Can he do both?

Regardless, McGrath will be a very formidable candidate for mayor.

Right about now you are either falling asleep or saying "so what?" Well, let me challenge you by asking you to look in the yellow pages under "lawyers" and see their display ads. You see the term "PERSONAL INJURY" time and time again.

Personal injury means "Bodily injury, sickness, disease (the latter two are excluded under a homeowner's policy) and if arising out of the foregoing shock, mental anguish, and mental injury, false arrest, false imprisonment, wrongful eviction, wrongful detention or malicious prosecution, libel, slander, invasion of rights of privacy or defamation of character. Death from such causes is, of course, included in the scope of the definition."

Several Hundred Attend Quincy's Centennial Gala

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Several hundred citizens attended a gala evening Friday at the Neighborhood Club to mark the closing days of the Quincy City Centennial.

The final centennial events will come in January.

On Jan. 3 Mayor Francis McCauley will give his mid-term address at City Hall.

On Jan. 5 The Quincy Sun in conjunction with the city and the Quincy Centennial Committee will publish the official commemorative supplement. Extra copies will be distributed by the city.

Jan. 7 will mark the official implementation of Quincy's city government 100 years to the day that Quincy's first mayor, Charles H. Porter took office Jan. 7, 1889.

And then Quincy begins its second century as a city.

Eleven students from Quincy's private and public high schools were honored as "Centennial Scholars" Friday night.

They spent much of their summer vacation digging into Quincy's past 100 years to prepare Centennial essays, singly and in groups. They were introduced by John Harrington of the Quincy School Department who directed the project with the aid of Linda Day, North Quincy High School, and H. Hobart Holly, historian of the Quincy Historical Society as advisor.

After Harrington read a biographical sketch of each student's after school jobs and volunteer activities, Mayor McCauley presented plaques to Arlene Amo, Jeffery Bina, Christine Clarke, Marsha Goodman, Edward James Iorio V, Joanne Mariano, Rosa Peggionai, Annuziata Sodano, Lorraine Swanton, Susan Williams and Kristin Woodbury.

Essays and biographical sketches will be printed in The Quincy Sun's Centennial supplement.

Centennial events opened officially on June 19 with a celebration at McIntyre Mall, Tree Planting, Thanksgiving Service, concert and fireworks. It closed Friday night with a display on the front lawn of the Neighborhood Club of two 1988 Christmas parade floats, the Centennial structure of old and new City Hall (constructed at Quincy Voc-Tech), and a large 100th birthday cake.

Mayor McCauley introduced City officials along with Joyce I. Baker and Eugene Creedon, Centennial cochairmen; Mary-Jane Fandel, coordinator; Eleanor Reidy, secretary; and members of the Centennial committee.

Arranging the gala were Trudy Buckley, Eleanor Reidy and Nancy Santry, hostesses. Music was by Art Brickle's orchestra.

"We have had what I consider a great 100 years," Mayor McCauley remarked.

Koch Club Begins 33rd Christmas Program

The Koch Club's 33rd annual Christmas program is now underway.

Founded in 1948 as a recreational program for youth, the Koch Club began its charitable endeavors in 1955 with Christmas baskets provided to those in need in North Quincy.

The success of the program increased each year as more donations made more baskets available to needy families in the Quincy area.

Food baskets are distributed through local charitable organizations as well as the Koch Club.

Donations of funds, non-perishable items and new toys are being accepted towards the Christmas Charity Project.

Thomas Nestor, Raymond Cattaneo, James Moody, Thomas McDonald, Rita Kelleher, Father Charles Higgins and Thomas Koch are committee members.

Anyone interested in assisting the Koch Club's Christmas Projects may contact Thomas Koch of 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, at 328-8286.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Ban 'Apple' For The Teacher

The Quincy School Committee ruled out the traditional apple for the teacher.

"To avoid possible embarrassment to pupils and possible criticism of the schools," said the new rule, "no teacher shall accept gifts from individual pupils or groups."

"A kind word or a note is always good," said School Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard.

"But it is not right that children who cannot give should be embarrassed."

"Also it is not right to run a sort of popularity contest for teachers where one teacher would get a lot of gifts and the teacher in the room next door would get nothing."

LEWIS HONORED

Some 600 persons turned out for a testimonial dinner to City Manager Edward T. Lewis in what toastmaster John P. Flavin called "the greatest spontaneous tribute that I have ever seen."

Lewis was presented with a check for $1,000 by Kenneth G. Gardner, the city's administrative assistant, in honor of his more than 30 years of service.

He became city manager on April 9, 1956, and planned to retire in January when the Plan E form of government with a city manager would come to an end in Quincy.

Happy Birthday, Quincy!

Quincy is celebrating its centennial as a city and is marking the milestone for posterity with a special commemorative supplement in The Quincy Sun.

The Sun, in conjunction with the city and the Quincy Centennial Committee will produce the official 100th anniversary publication.

It will appear in The Sun, Thursday, Jan. 5--the very week Quincy turns 100. It will be 100 years from the day in January, 1889 that Civil War hero Charles H. Porter became Quincy's very first mayor. Mayor Francis McCauley's mid-term address will coincide with that 100th anniversary.

The Sun supplement will contain stories and photos of Quincy's transition from a town to a city (there was opposition to the change), political and civic highlights down through the century and photos of 100th anniversary activities held this year.

Extra copies will be printed for distribution by the city.

We hope you will join us in celebrating this proud Quincy milestone.

We are inviting institutional advertising with references to the history of your own business.

Rates are:

Full page $480, half page $260, quarter page $175.

Our advertising sales representatives will be calling on you or you can call us at 471-3100. Advertising deadline is Dec. 15th.

Graham Cracker Sweets

Since I've been on crutches, a few of my friends have made it a little easier for me by bringing by some homemade goodies. Most of the time though, I only have a taste! But these treats that my friend Barbara brought were so different that they didn't last long in this house. This sweet is made with plain ole graham crackers but you'd never know it!

BARBARA'S

GRAHAM CRACKER SWEETS
3 dozen graham crackers
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 cup chopped pecans
1/2 cup butter or margerine

You'll need two cookie sheets lined with aluminum foil. Break the graham crackers on their lines and place them side by side on the foil.

In a pan, melt the butter or margerine. Stir in the sugar until blended. Drizzle along the top of the crackers. Then sprinkle with the pecans. Isn't this simple so far? Then bake in a 350 degree oven for 7 to 9 minutes. Cool on the cookie sheets. You can store these for Christmas in a plastic covered container. This recipe makes about 70 cookies.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Summer St., Quincy Point; Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you ERFF a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your ERFF Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It has been said that ability alone is not enough for success. It must be sparked by ambition and sustained by integrity and determination. Many an able person fails to achieve anything worthwhile because he just does not care. Many who do care lose out because they cannot be trusted. And others who are able, ambitious, and trustworthy simply give up too soon. It is essential that the four work horses of success—ability, ambition, integrity, and determination—pull together as a team until their work is done.

Some people seem to be endowed with a God given gift or rare and exceptional ability. Achievements seem to come easy for them. Yet the majority of people have to acquire ability through sacrifice; self-discipline... with a "look, listen and learn" self-analysis-plus hard work.

Ability to do this or that varies in people. Yet, there are certain abilities every normal human being shares in equal amount with everybody else. It is often an unused ability; to under-promise-and-over-perform. Sadly, we often see the reverse. All of us also have the ability to get the most out of our endowed or acquired ability. If we would only want to do it. No matter what the endeavor, it is not what we do but how we do it that counts. Regardless of limitations, all of us have abundant ability to use our capacities given to us by God—great or small—and use them for the good of others...

'Hanging The Greens' At Bethany Congregational

This Sunday there will be two services of worship at Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center. The chapel service will be held at 9 a.m. and the sanctuary service at 10 a.m.

During the 10 a.m. service the tradition of "The Hanging of the Greens" will be continued as students of the Church School hang evergreen branches from the windows of the sanctuary. This is to symbolize the "ever-greening" nature of God's love even in the midst of the darkest days of the year.

Participating students of the 4th-5th grade class will be Sarah Brundige, Jonathan Cairn, Kristin Cotter, Heather Crofts, James Fernandez, Greg Fernald, Craig Gifford, Stacy Gruner, John Leuchte, Elissa Lundin, and Scott Massey. Jerry Capobianchi, Church School Superintendent, and Bruce Crofts, Church teacher, will be assisting.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will be the liturgist for both services. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon at both hours, entitled "A Free Gift Of Love." Robert L. Lockwood will be the lay Scripture reader in the chapel and Lena M. Foster will read in the sanctuary.

Charles Blue, Bethany's organist and choir director, will be at the organ console. He will direct the chancel choir.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for children through eighth grade. Excellent nursery care for babies is also provided. Early Childhood Coordinator, Pamela Curran, will be present to supervise the care of infants through first graders.

The worship service will be broadcast over WJDA, 1300kc, at 10 a.m. In addition a cassette tape of the service can be obtained for $2 by contacting the church office.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship, learning, and fellowship of Bethany Church. For more information about Bethany's ministries and activities call the church office at 479-7300.

'God Over Us' Semon Topic At Covenant Congregational

"God Over Us" is the sermon topic of Rev. Fred M. Lawson at the 10:45 a.m. worship Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., Quincy. Robert Purora will light the third Advent candle and read.

Sunday School classes for all ages will begin at 9:30 a.m. A nursery is available for all children age five and under.

with Lynne Facella in charge. For children up to age 12, there is junior church led by Linda Day.

The choir, directed and accompanied by organist Richard Smith, will sing "Comfort, Ye My People" by Bourgeois as introit; "Arise and Shine" by Chambers and "O Zion That Bringest" by Stainer. Bach's "Come, Savior of the Gentiles" and "Sleepers Awake" will be played by Mr. Smith.

Christmas caroling by the Sunday School will take place Saturday, Dec. 17 at 6:30 p.m. and the Sunday school program will be presented on Dec. 18 at 4 p.m., followed by a Christmas party with gifts and a special visitor.

Those interested in more information about any of the church activities may call the church office at 479-5728.

Evening of Prayer At St. Joseph's Dec. 12

St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, will hold its evening of prayer Monday, Dec. 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speaker, Sister Kathleen Hurley, will discuss the topic "Call to Holiness." Refreshments will follow and all are welcome to attend.

'Go! Tell!' Pageant Theme At Point Congregational

The Annual Christmas Pageant will be held Sunday, Dec. 11 at 10 a.m. at the Quincy Point Congregational Church.

Mrs. Helen Patterson is the director of the pageant which has been adapted and written by the Rev. Fred Atwood-Lyon, one of the pastors, for use by the children and young people of the church school.

The pageant will begin with a flute prelude by Jennifer and Michelle Hunter, daughters of Donald and Denise Hunter of Baintree. The pageant portrays the year 35 AD, several years following the death and resurrection of Christ, when Christian, Joel and Matthew visit Mary to learn more about the mysterious happenings surrounding Jesus' birth. As Mary tells her story, the event of Jesus' birth is portrayed in the channel of the church.

A variety of Christmas carols and anthems will be interspersed throughout the pageant, including a "Magnificat" composed by Dr. Herman Weiss, Church Organist and Choir Director, and sung by the Chancel Choir. Other carols and anthems will be sung. Soprano soloist, Kimberley Blancy, will sing the traditional "Silent Night, Holy Night." Contemporary dancers, dressed as shepherds, will dance to the melody of "Go, Tell It On The Mountain." They are Laura Stein, a senior student preparing for the Christian Ministry at Andover Newton Theological School in Newton Centre, and Denise Van Schagen, daughter of David and Deanna Van Schagen of Baintree.

The Pastors, the Rev. Fred and Carol Atwood-Lyon, will continue their series of sermons on "Why God Comes to Us in Jesus Christ." This Sunday's sermon replies "In Jesus Christ, God Comes to Renew Love."

There will be organ selections this Third Sunday of Advent include "Prelude and Fugue in D" by J.S. Bach, "Jesu, My Joy" by Zachau, and "As With Gladness, Men of Old" by Markworth, played by Dr. Weiss. The Chancel and the choir will sing.

The church is located at Washington St. and Southern Artery. Child care is provided each Sunday at 10 a.m. so that parents of very young children may attend the services of worship. Church School classes, Nursery through grade twelve, are provided at the same hour. For more information, call 773-6424.

'Ordinary Miracles, Extraordinary Facts' First Parish Sermon Topic

This Sunday's 10:30 a.m. worship service at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), "Church of the Presidents," will include a sermon titled "Ordinary Miracles, Extraordinary Facts."

The sermon will be delivered by Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister. The sermon will consider the possibility that so-called ordinary life may be more miraculous than we realize and that so-called miracles may represent something that is very real.

Norman Corey, Music Director, will play organ works by Scheidt, Buxtehude, and Mendelssohn.

Jan and Danny Scranton will light the candles for the third Sunday of Advent. Tom Keto will serve as head usher and Ardis Porter will be hostess for the Social Hour immediately following the Service.

Historic First Parish Church is located at 1306 Hancock Street, in Quincy Center, opposite City Hall. Church School is at 10:30 a.m. and child care is provided. Visitors are welcome. For information call 773-1290.

4 Residents On Catholic Youth Convention Committee

Quincy Project Impact Teams Present Plans At QHS

Plans developed by Quincy Public Schools Project Impact Teams during their recent training sessions at Newport, RI, were presented to Quincy residents at a public meeting held Monday night in the Quincy High School Method Room.

The intention of the meeting was to share with interested community people various aspects of the training program and plans initiated by team members as a result of their training experiences.

It is hoped that as community and school constituents become better informed about Project Impact, they, too, will become involved in this exciting and purposeful program.

Quincy High School Principal Lloyd Hill extended greetings to all in attendance and introduced Dr. Robert Ricci, superintendent of Quincy schools. Dr. Ricci traced the involvement of administrative personnel in the project from the initial Leadership Conference at Sayville, Long Island, NY, to the present time. He expressed his strong support for the program.

Marty Finnegan, coordinator for Project Impact, gave a brief overview of Quincy's involvement with the Northeast Regional Center for Drug Free Schools and Communities. The Quincy Public Schools and the NRC have entered into a three-year agreement for the training and support of teams to develop better school and community relations. He then introduced the North Quincy High School team to the audience.

Principal Peter Chrisom, Carol Swanson, Barbara McConaghy and Gerry Ridge outlined one of the North Quincy High plans to expand peer leadership teams to involve faculty at the high school and visit middle schools.

Speaking for the Quincy High team, John Franceschini explained the team's plan to help make the transition from middle school to high school less threatening for students. He stressed the importance of making the move a pleasant, stimulating experience and of informing incoming students of the traditions and pride of Quincy High School.

Laura Bogan, principal of Atlantic Middle School, introduced team members Becky Goshe, Judy McClure and Dorothea Craig who told of their success in presenting and sharing new programs and ideas with their students.

Kevin Marks, assistant principal of Broadmeadows Middle School, introduced Kathy Norris who told of her contracting with students and how pleased she was with their enthusiastic response to the procedure.

Janet Powell was the most enthusiastic in her description of the process and how beneficial and inspiring it is to her students. She complimented Dr. Ricci and Lou Marciano for their interest, and on the installation of the new Health and Wellness program.

Community participants were exuberant in their appreciation of the enthusiasm shown by teachers and administration involved in the process. Ray Cattaneo of the Park Department and Chris Kennedy, a member of the School Committee, both said the evening was informative and inspiring. Fred Canniff of the Norfolk County Sheriff's office expressed Sheriff Clifford Marshall's desire to be a part of future efforts.

Finnegan closed the meeting by thanking all who attended and invited participants to "spread the word" among their neighbors and throughout the community.

Three residents asked to be invited to the expanded training session on Jan. 20-22. Several others expressed a similar interest, if their schedules permit.

It is hoped that other community members will also wish to become involved. Interested persons should contact Marty Finnegan, coordinator of Athletics in Quincy and coordinator of the project.

A DRUG AND ALCOHOL abuse training program called Project Impact was recently held in the Quincy High School Method Center. The program focuses on an understanding of drug abuse and the development of policies and procedures regarding this issue. Among the participants in the program are, from left, Superintendent Dr. Robert Ricci; School Committeewoman Peggy Nigro; Mary Senoit, a parent; Becky Goshe and Mary Finnegan, coordinator of athletics for Quincy schools.

School Budget Topic For Citywide Parents Council

The Citywide Parents Council will meet Monday, Dec. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the North Quincy High School Cafeteria.

The meeting will focus on the school budget system and will be attended by Mayor Francis McCauley, School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci, School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins, and Councillor Lawrence Chretien, who chairs the City Council's Education Committee.

The mayor and city officials have been asked to the meeting to explain the process of school budgets.

"Through meeting with city officials," explains second Citywide Council Co-President Michelle Peteras, "we hope to gain a better understanding of the budgetary process and be prepared to comment on and influence school budgets."

QHS Girls Volleyball State Champs Honored By Council

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The coach and members of this year's Quincy High School girls volleyball team which won the 1988 state title were honored Monday night by the City Council.

Councillors Theodore DeCristofaro and Timothy Cahill, both graduates of Quincy High, presented a commendation to Coach John (Tom) Henderson on behalf of the council. Henderson led the First Ladies to a 21-2 season.

DeCristofaro presented the commendation for the team's "momentous victory-winning the 1988 state volleyball championship."

"Let us express our sincere pride and appreciation to the team and their coach for their masterful sportsmanship and their dauntless spirit."

After the presentation, the team was given a standing ovation by the Council and the audience. Each member was then personally greeted and congratulated by the council.

In accepting the commendation, Henderson pointed out that the city's volleyball program, including both Quincy and North, has been very successful over the years.

"Four out of the last five Boston Globe state volleyball players of the year have come from Quincy," he said, adding that three have been from Quincy High and one from North Quincy.

Henderson also pointed out that the city of Quincy has won the state volleyball championship four of the last six years.

This year, Quincy won their third state tournament in seven years by defeating Bishop Feehan 3-0 several weeks ago. The First Ladies were crowned state champs in 1982 and 1984 as well.

Quincy also came close to winning the title in 1983 and 1985 but their effort fell just shy in the championship game.

Last year, North Quincy went undefeated on their way to winning the state championship.

Both schools finished the 1988 regular season as Suburban League co-champions.

Quincy also swept all their tournament matches in straight games this season except for their match with North which went five full games.

While praising the First Ladies, DeCristofaro also acknowledged the efforts of this year's North Quincy team.

"I would like to put in a very, very good word for the girls at North Quincy High School."

"We certainly could have had a championship game between Quincy and North," he said.

Cahill also expressed his personal congratulations to the team.

"It's very special for me to be here and to watch you girls play and love some and win some and win the big ones."

"I was at that Quincy-North game this year and I've watched and been around and been involved in some great athletics and sporting events," said the former star athlete at Quincy High.

Cahill, who also coached at the school, added, "But I don't think I've ever been to a better event than that Quincy-North match that went five games."

"I'm very proud of you girls and the North Quincy girls because you represented the city very fine."

"And you did us all proud," he said.

New Police Station Seen As Model Facility

"It will be easier to get into and out of the building because the egress has been moved further from the intersection," he said.

According to Colton, a problem with the drains in the lock-up cells will be rectified soon.

The problem occurred when it was discovered that the drain was installed a half inch too high. Colton said it will be lowered.

At Monday night's City Council meeting, the issue on how to properly clean the lock-up facilities was discussed.

Public Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue recommended that custodians use bleach to clean up any human mess. She discarded the idea of hosing down the affected areas because this could lead to ponding the stagnant water.

Regardless of the method, councillors agreed that there should be more custodians on duty at the station, especially at night and during weekends.

Colton told the council that he would like to increase the number of custodial man hours per week from 88 to at least 128.

In terms of man power, he said he would go from two full-time custodians to three full-time ones plus a part-timer or overtime.

On Tuesday Colton said Civil Service will provide a new list on Jan. 14 from which he will immediately hire another full-time custodian.

He also said he will discuss the matter with Police Chief Francis Finn and together they will monitor the situation and decide how to schedule more hours.

Central Committee To Provide Progress Info

School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci has announced the establishment of the Central Review Committee as a means to provide the Central Middle School community with timely information concerning the status of the school.

Dr. Ricci said the purpose of the committee will be to receive progress reports on the school's building repairs and discuss matters of education concern.

The committee will meet every Thursday beginning tonight at 7 p.m. in the School Committee Room at Quincy High School.

Other dates the committee will meet are Dec. 22, Jan. 5 and Jan. 19, Feb. 2 and Feb. 16, and March 2, March 16 and March 30.

Since October, Central's sixth, seventh and eighth graders have been attending in three different Quincy schools while the school is being repaired.

The school was closed when it was discovered that a large steel truss supporting the roof and auditorium was bent.

Upon inspection, it was decided that the ceiling and balcony over the auditorium will be removed and cross ties to secure the roof rafters will be installed.

Phase Two, which includes the laying of horizontal beams across the width of the building at the top of the wall, is expected to be completed in late spring.

Students will be allowed to return to the school once both phases of work are completed.

Among the issues the committee will discuss are extra curricular activities such as band, sports, and clubs.

Franceschini Optimistic Quincy Has Size, Experience and Depth

By TOM SULLIVAN
The last few years have been lean ones for Quincy High basketball teams, but things appear to be looking up for the Presidents.

Coach John Franceschini feels this year's team will be a strong contender to make the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the first time in several years.

"This season we have size, experience and depth and I honestly think we can make a legitimate bid to make the tournament," said Franceschini. "This was the hardest working group I have had in the off-season and everyone reported in excellent condition and every player is optimistic that this will be our year."

Quincy is led by Co-Captains Mike Perkins (6-4), a two-year veteran and one of last season's bright lights, (he was the second leading scorer) and Chris Noble (6-4), the second leading rebounder last year, and Joe Russell (5-10), a junior and a two-year veteran, who led the team in assists. He has started since his freshman year.

"The addition of Jody Beauchamp (6-4) makes us much more dangerous," said the Quincy coach. "He is a transfer from Jeremiah Burke High in Boston, where he was a starter the last two years. He made the all-star team in a holiday tournament last year."

Beauchamp became eligible for the final three football games and caught touchdowns passes in the last two games, including a fine leaping catch for a score against North Quincy.

"He has good hands and is an exciting player," said Franceschini. "For the first time since I've been coaching, we have a front line to compare size-wise with the other Suburban League teams."

"Last year they were able to key on Perkins and Russell, but they won't be able to this year with the addition of Beauchamp."

Other returning veterans are Jim Sgrue (6-1), Mike Scolaro (6-3) and John Menz (6-1).

Other varsity players are Dan Hanly (6-3), Willie Murphy (6-1), Scott Campbell (6-0), E.J.

Nordstrom (6-3) and Oscar Jara (5-11).

"The boys have a wonderful attitude and if we can get on track early I think we will do all right," said Franceschini.

Last year was one of his most frustrating as the Presidents suffered through a 2-18 season despite being in almost every game for the first half. "We lacked depth and were just so inconsistent," said the coach.

Quincy will face Holbrook in a scrimmage Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Vo-Tech gym. The Presidents have already scrimmaged Marshfield and Milton Academy.

Quincy will open next Tuesday night at 7:30 at home against Medford and will host Peabody next Friday at 7:30. The Presidents will compete in the annual Christmas Tournament at Weymouth South with North Quincy, Weymouth South and Weymouth North on Dec. 28 and 29 and will open their Suburban League season on Tuesday, Jan. 3, at Brookline at 5 o'clock.

Ray Papile is back as Franceschini's assistant and junior varsity coach.

Stevenson Encouraged Too Season Forecast At North: Bright

Last season the North Quincy basketball team had a shot at making the Eastern Mass. Tournament, but its chances went out the window when it lost its last three games to finish with a disappointing 9-11 record.

This year, despite the loss of Ted Stevenson, son of the coach and one of the finest three-point shooters in the Suburban League, coach Ted Stevenson feels North has an excellent chance of making the tournament this year.

Ted Jr. now one of the top scorers at Curry College, missed several games with an injury last year, which hurt the Raiders' tournament hopes considerably.

"We have very good depth this year and I plan to use 10 or 12 players in every game," said Stevenson. "We have pretty good height and I honestly feel we have a legitimate shot at making the tournament."

Leading the way are veterans Billy MacDougall (5-10), Mike Ainsley (6-1), Kip Caldwell (6-3), Derek Goodson (6-3) and Eric DeBoer (6-4).

Sean McDonough (6-3), up from the junior varsity, is a certainty to make the varsity and Matt Sumner (5-10), Tony Rugnetta (6-1) and Jeff Powers (6-6) are other leading hopefuls.

Other fine prospects are Mike Dupill (5-10), Chris Griffin (5-10), Tim Baker (6-3), Jeff Calvert (5-8) and Angelo Kyranis (6-3).

There is an international flavor to the squad this year with Dave Lopez (6-3), a foreign exchange student from Spain, looking fine in practice.

"Dave has played in his native country and should help us," Stevenson said. "Baker, who had a fine football season and is out for the first time, also should help us considerably."

"DeBoer, Goodson, MacDougall and Ainsley look like good scorers, and Caldwell, McDonough and Powers should help us tremendously on the boards. The kids have a super attitude and this is a close-knit group. If we can get off to a good start, we could do well both in our league and in outside games.

"Brocton and Cambridge Rindge and Latin should dominate the league, but we did well against them last year and the boys won't be intimidated. We upset Cambridge in overtime and lost to them by seven points without Ted and we lost to Brocton by only five without Ted. I expect Quincy to be much better this season and the league should be well-balanced."

Stevenson has been pleased with the Raiders' efforts in scrimmages against Milton Academy, Stoughton, Cathedral and Marshfield.

Jerry Phelan is back as junior varsity coach and Dan Cuddy has returned as freshmen skipper.

North will open next Tuesday night at home against Everett at 7:30 and will play at Malden next Friday at 7:30. The Raiders will again play in the annual Christmas tournament at Weymouth South with Quincy, Weymouth South and Weymouth North on Dec. 28 and 29.

Timberlake Off To Good Start In Final B.U. Season

Jeff Timberlake of Quincy is winding up an outstanding basketball career at Boston University and the senior co-captain is off to a fine start.

Timberlake, who has an excellent chance of breaking the school's all-time assist record, has scored 81 points and has more than 20 assists in the Terriers' first four games.

BU is 3-1 with wins over University of Massachusetts, Ohio University and Bowling Green and a last-second loss to Indiana State when Larry Bird's kid brother, Eddie, scored 39 points including the last six points of the game.

The former Boston College High all-scholastic is BU's top returning scorer with a 10.1 game average last season. He was a Street & Smith All-American honorable mention selection and is a pre-season All-North Atlantic Conference choice. Last year he was the Most Valuable Player of the North Atlantic Conference Tournament.

Last year Timberlake played in all 31 games, starting 28 at point-guard.

He led the Terriers to the North Atlantic Conference championship, had consecutive 22-point games in NAC quarterfinal win over Canisius and semifinal win over Hartford. He scored 12 points and had 11 assists in 79-68 title-game victory over Niagara.

He received the New England Basketball Coaches Association "Unsung Hero" award, set BU single-season assist record with 223, and was ranked 15th in the country and second in the NAC with 7.2 assists per game.

Timberlake became the first player in school history to score over 300 points (313), hand out over 200 assists (223) and collect over 100 rebounds (103) in a single season. He led the Terriers with 46 steals, won the Coaches Award as the team's top defensive player, had 14 double-figure scoring games, including 10 over the last 13 games, averaging 14.2 points a game in that stretch. He topped the team with 80 percent free throw accuracy.

As a sophomore he appeared in 29 games, drawing 13 starts. He had a team-leading 178 assists and had five or more assists in 18 games. He totaled 12 points, 11 assists and four rebounds in an 84-82 win over Niagara in the ECAC NAC semifinals. He scored 16 points, had nine assists and seven rebounds in 80-71 win over Connecticut.

As a freshman he played in all 31 games, had the highest free throw percentage (82.1 percent) among regulars and topped the squad with 139 assists.

At Boston College High he was a four-year varsity player and holds the school all-time assist mark with over 600. He was named All-Catholic Conference in his sophomore junior and senior years and was named all-scholastic by the Boston Globe and Patriot Ledger as a junior and senior. He prepped one year at Maine Central Institute and was named Mr. Basketball there.

ENC Hosts Curry Saturday Night

The Curry College Colonels will face the Eastern Nazarene Crusaders Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the ENC gym.

Curry (2-3) will rely on two Quincy residents in this crosstown rivalry.

Sophomore John Henry of Quincy, who played at Archbishop Williams, is Curry's leading scorer averaging 17.2 points per game. He is also Curry's second leading rebounder.

Freshman Ted Stevenson,

who played at North Quincy High School, is averaging 7.6 points per game, including a 14-point effort against Emerson College.

ENC Coach Carroll Bradley will be expecting big games from Senior Rodney Thomas and Juniors Jon Rice and Mark Mann.

Curry Coach Brian Buckley is pleased with his team's performance so far this season. "We've worked very hard so far this season and we've improved each game. I don't know how we'll do against Eastern Nazarene however."

The Colonels haven't beat the Crusaders in Buckley's five years but there have been some close games. "Except for two years ago, all of our games have been battles. Coach Bradley does an excellent job and ENC can score a lot of points. If we can play good defense, we have a chance of beating them," Buckley concluded.

Spectators are welcome.

Squirt Bs Bow, 2-1

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team and Canton, both 4-0-0 in the Greater Boston League, played one of the finest games of the season last Friday with Canton pulling out a 2-1 victory.

Quincy scored first with Chris Grant receiving a nice pass from Joe Bracken and beating the Canton goalie.

The defense of Eric Oliva, Joe Bracken and Mike O'Brien played good position at the points, firing the puck deep in the Canton end. Shawn McTomney, Tommy Moriarty, Jimmy Gallagher and Robbie Pirelli did some outstanding backchecking that stopped the fast pace of Canton at center ice. Billy Barron broke through the Canton defense and lifted a shot that just missed as it sailed up over the cross bar.

Goalie Timmy Sheehan shut down Canton through 2½ periods with some outstanding saves. He stopped three shots at close range early in the third period and was named the Player of the Game.

With 5:08 left in the game Canton sent in five forwards and Canton tied the score at 1-1. Canton won the next face-off and a shot was deflected past Sheehan, who was screened, for the winning goal.

Quincy came back to roll over Belmont, 11-0, as Sheehan again was outstanding in goal. Grant, John Ryan and McTomney had two goals apiece and Gallagher, Barron, John Manning, Jimmy Kelley and Joshua Wingate one each. Barron and Moriarty had three assists each, Gallagher two, and Kelley, Manning, Ryan, Jarnis and Grant one apiece. Bracken, O'Brien, Oliva and Bruce Stenberg played strong defense.

The Squirt B team will play at Framingham tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 p.m.

Point Panther Cheerleaders Closing In On $10,000 Goal

The Quincy Point Panther Cheerleaders are close to their goal of raising $10,000 to compete in the National Cheerleaders Association national finals in Dallas, Tex., later this month.

Thanks to a number of fund-raising activities, the girls have high hopes of reaching their goal and representing New England in the junior high division. Close to 350 teams have registered for the championships Dec. 27-30.

Other Massachusetts teams making it to the finals include Newton South, Lowell and Somerville high schools. All have reached their goal and have made reservations for the trip. They will stay at the Loew's Hotel, which has since been sold out.

The Panthers have less than two weeks to reach their goal. All monies received will go to airline reservations and hotel accommodations for this once-in-a-lifetime chance for the 14-member squad, ages 12-14.

The latest donations have been received from Cong Brian Donnelly, Denis Fardo, Quincy Youth Hockey League, Trilone's Liquors, Quincy Youth Arena, 1 Deveau Fisheries, Yleana

Martinez, Barry and Marilyn Welch, Mayor McCauley Committee, Granite Co-Operative Bank, Mary Travers (Panthers '78), Timothy and Nina Tobin, Robert and Catherine St Saurveur, Arthur and Regina Hanrahan, Abbey Travel Service, Shore Taxi, Zodiac Auto Center, West Quincy Flks football team and cheerleaders, Joseph Bates, IBEW Local 103 Electricians and the Sheriff Clifford Marshall committee.

Donations should be mailed to Quincy Point Panthers, 31 Temple Street, Suite 225, Quincy 02169.

Roman Gardens Leads WPH League

Roman Gardens leads the WPH Hockey League, which plays its games at the Quincy Youth Arena, with 14 points.

The standings: Roman Gardens, 6-2-2; ABWIB Gulf, 5-2-3; Finley's, 5-2-3; Sullivan Fire, 3-5-2; LeSnappe Rouge, 3-6-1;

Varmints, 2-7-1.

Keith Coulsey scored with six minutes left in the game to give Roman Gardens a 5-4 win over Sullivan Fire. Sullivan led, 2-1, after a period but Roman Gardens came back with three quick goals to take a 4-1 lead.

Bill Shea had a goal and an assist to spark Finley's to a 3-2 victory over the Varmints. The game was tied, 1-1, in the second period when Mike O'Connell broke in alone and beat Varmints goalie Gregg Smith.

Joe Fell scored his 11th goal of the year and assisted on another lead AGWIB Gulf to a 4-1 win over LeSnappe Rouge.

Ed Horan, Dave McNulty and Joe Fell are tied for the scoring lead with 17 points each. Mark Nantel leads the goalies with a 2.10 goals-against average.

Mary Pratt Joins Idol In Hall Of Fame

By TOM SULLIVAN

Mary Pratt, long-time coach and physical education instructor in the Quincy school system and one of New England's all-time great female athletes, has joined her idol, Ted Williams, in the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Mary, one of over 300 women who played in the All-American Girls Professional Baseball League in the mid-west from 1943 through 1954, was one of the league's 150 players who attended the Hall of Fame recently for the introduction of the museum's newest exhibit, "Women in Baseball."

The permanent women's exhibit contains a large number of artifacts, including several uniforms, bats, baseballs, gloves, shoes, trophies, posters, scorecards and tickets.

Mary is one of the players with their pictures among a large league photo that is in the center of the display.

The All-American Girls Professional League was the assigned by Wrigley as the first president of the league.

"Ted Spencer, the curator of the Hall of Fame, was one of my physical education students in grammar school in Quincy," Mary said. "He said how thrilled he was to see my name on the list of those being honored."

Back in the summer of 1982 the women who had played in the league assembled in Chicago for their first reunion.

"It was at this time that someone suggested that an effort should be made to bring to the public an awareness of this unique opportunity that girls had been given to play professional baseball in those early 1940s," Mary said.

Since that first reunion in Chicago there have been two more similar undertakings. In 1986 Fort Wayne, Ind., hosted the second one and the latest was held two months ago in Scottsdale, Ariz.

"During all this time a constant and continual effort had been made to bring recognition to the league,"

maybe comes once in a lifetime and many of us "were in the right place at the right time." Surely, with the skill level we see in girls today, many would have made the league were they there then. There certainly are enough girls with the athletic ability to compete on that level today.

"The drawback would seem to be a question of who would be willing to back such venture financially. That was no problem to Mr. Wrigley in 1943 as he gave Mr. Sells $100,000 and the directive to organize the league. In 1943 that was big money and those of us who were offered contracts signed for $60 to $75 a week. Big money when I was getting $32.50 to teach school and run all the after-school activities for no pay.

Mary Pratt was presented a City Council commendation by Councillor Patricia Toland at Monday's council meeting.

The commendation reads: "Be it known that the City Council of the City of Quincy hereby extends its congratulations to Mary Pratt in recognition of "An outstanding professional career in women's sports; as a physical education teacher and coach in the Quincy public schools for 42 years; as an athlete who played in the All American Girls Professional League in the 1940s, pitched for the North Quincy Associates, coached the highly successful North Quincy Raiderettes; and as a pioneer in women's sports who was inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, New York, on Nov. 5, 1988.

After the presentation, city councillors and others in attendance gave her a standing ovation.

brainchild of Chicago Cubs owner Philip K. Wrigley. In the fall of 1942, worried that major league baseball might be cancelled during the war, he hatched the idea of a women's pro baseball league as an alternative plan to keep the ball parks open.

The league began as a softball organization in 1943, soon evolved into baseball and thrived until 1954, when dwindling financial resources, a shrinking talent pool, an increasingly affluent and mobile post-war society and the rising popularity of television with its telecasts of major league baseball doomed the league's future.

Mary, an outstanding pitcher, played for the Kenosha Comets and the Rockford Peaches after starring for a number of South Shore teams, including several men's teams.

She pitched for the North Quincy Raiderettes and three men's teams, the N.Q. Associates, Winfield House and McInnis Construction. In 1939 and 1940 she played for the Boston Olympettes in the Boston Garden. Walter Brown took the team to New York for the World's Fair and

Mary said. "These efforts paid off when in the fall of 1987 all the players were notified through our monthly newsletter that word had been received from officials of the Baseball Hall of Fame that approval had been given to the acceptance of the league."

For the past year players were asked to contribute things from the league archives at Northern Michigan University and from these contributions Spencer and others at the Hall selected articles for the display. The archives have been shifted to a permanent site in South Bend, Ind.

The display includes pictures of many players and pictures of four women who are top executives in the major leagues, including Red Sox owner Jean Yawkey.

A highlight of the weekend was a banquet following the unveiling of the display attended by players and their families and friends. Officials of the Hall of Fame said the league's response was perhaps the largest that had ever attended such a ceremony. Their estimate was that over 7000 had come and instead of one keynote speaker, four women were selected to speak of the years during which they played.

"None of us who played in the league would have contemplated that the league would receive such recognition 45 years later," Mary said. "As one looks back now it was an opportunity that

ENC Hosts Curry Saturday Night

The Curry College Colonels will face the Eastern Nazarene Crusaders Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the ENC gym.

Curry (2-3) will rely on two Quincy residents in this cross-town rivalry.

Sophomore John Henry of Quincy, who played at Archbishop Williams, is Curry's leading scorer averaging 17.2 points per game. He is also Curry's second leading rebounder.

Freshman Ted Stevenson,

who played at North Quincy High School, is averaging 7.6 points per game, including a 14-point effort against Emerson College.

ENC Coach Carroll Bradley will be expecting big games from Senior Rodney Thomas and Juniors Jon Rice and Mark Mann.

Curry Coach Brian Buckley is pleased with his team's performance so far this season. "We worked very hard so far this season and we've improved each game. I don't know how we'll do against Eastern Nazarene however."

The Colonels haven't beat the Crusaders in Buckley's five years but there have been some close games. "Except for two years ago, all of our games have been battles. Coach Bradley does an excellent job and ENC can score a lot of points. If we can play good defense, we have a chance of beating them," Buckley concluded.

Spectators are welcome.

Squirt Bs Bow, 2-1

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team and Canton, both 4-0-0 in the Greater Boston League, played one of the finest games of the season last Friday with Canton pulling out a 2-1 victory.

Quincy scored first with Chris Grant receiving a nice pass from Joe Bracken and beating the Canton goalie.

The defense of Eric Oliva, Joe Bracken and Mike O'Brien played good position at the points, firing the puck deep in the Canton end. Shawn McTomney, Tommy Moriarty, Jimmy Gallagher and Robbie Pirelli did some outstanding backchecking that stopped the fast pace of Canton at center ice. Billy Barron broke through the Canton defense and lifted a shot that just missed as it sailed up over the cross bar.

Goalie Timmy Sheehan shut down Canton through 2½ periods with some outstanding saves. He stopped three shots at close range early in the third period and was named the Player of the Game.

With 5:08 left in the game Canton sent in five forwards and Canton tied the score at 1-1. Canton won the next face-off and a shot was deflected past Sheehan, who was screened, for the winning goal.

Quincy came back to roll over Belmont, 11-0, as Sheehan again was outstanding in goal. Grant, John Ryan and McTomney had two goals apiece and Gallagher, Barron, John Manning, Jimmy Kelley and Joshua Wingate one each. Barron and Moriarty had three assists each. Gallagher two, and Kelley, Manning, Ryan, Jarnis and Grant one apiece. Bracken, O'Brien, Oliva and Bruce Stenberg played strong defense.

The Squirt B team will play at Framingham tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 p.m.

Point Panther Cheerleaders Closing In On $10,000 Goal

The Quincy Point Panther Cheerleaders are close to their goal of raising $10,000 to compete in the National Cheerleaders Association national finals in Dallas, Tex., later this month.

Thanks to a number of fund-raising activities, the girls have high hopes of reaching their goal and representing New England in the junior high division. Close to 350 teams have registered for the championships Dec. 27-30.

Other Massachusetts teams making it to the finals include Newton South, Lowell and Somerville high schools. All have reached their goal and have made reservations for the trip. They will stay at the Loew's Hotel, which has since been sold out.

The Panthers have less than two weeks to reach their goal. All monies received will go to airline reservations and hotel accommodations for this once-in-a-lifetime chance for the 14-member squad, ages 12-14.

The latest donations have been received from Cong. Brian Donnelly, Denis Iardo, Quincy Youth Hockey League, Irlone's Liquors, Quincy Youth Arena, 1 Deveau Fisheries, Yleana

Martinez, Barry and Marilyn Welch, Mayor McCauley Committee, Granite Co-Operative Bank, Mary Travers (Panthers '78), Timothy and Nina Tobin, Robert and Catherine St. Saurveur, Arthur and Regina Hanrahan, Abbey Travel Service, Shore Taxi, Zodiac Auto Center, West Quincy Elks football team and cheerleaders, Joseph Bates, IBI W Local 103 Electricians and the Sheriff Clifford Marshall committee.

Donations should be mailed to Quincy Point Panthers, 31 Temple Street, Suite 225, Quincy 02169.

Roman Gardens Leads WPH League

Roman Gardens leads the WPH Hockey League, which plays its games at the Quincy Youth Arena, with 14 points.

The standings, Roman Gardens, 6-2-2; ARWIAH Gulf, 5-2-3; Finley's, 5-2-3; Sullivan Tire, 3-5-2; LeSnappe Rouge, 3-6-1.

Varmints, 2-7-1.

Keith Coulsey scored with six minutes left in the game to give Roman Gardens a 5-4 win over Sullivan Tire. Sullivan led, 2-1, after a period but Roman Gardens came back with three quick goals to take a 4-1 lead.

Bill Shea had a goal and an assist to spark Finley's to a 3-2 victory over the Varmints. The game was tied, 1-1, in the second period when Mike O'Connell broke in alone and beat Varmints goalie Gregg Smith.

Joe Fell scored his 11th goal of the year and assisted on another lead AGWIAH Gulf to a 4-1 win over LeSnappe Rouge.

Ed Horan, Dave McNulty and Joe Fell are tied for the scoring lead with 17 points each. Mark Nantel leads the goalies with a 2.10 goals-against average.

Mary Pratt Joins Idol In Hall Of Fame

By TOM SULLIVAN

Mary Pratt, long-time coach and physical education instructor in the Quincy school system and one of New England's all-time great female athletes, has joined her idol, Ted Williams, in the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Mary, one of over 300 women who played in the All-American Girls Professional Baseball League in the mid-west from 1943 through 1954, was one of the league's 150 players who attended the Hall of Fame recently for the introduction of the museum's newest exhibit, "Women in Baseball."

The permanent women's exhibit contains a large number of artifacts, including several uniforms, bats, baseballs, gloves, shoes, trophies, posters, scorecards and tickets.

Mary is one of the players with their pictures among a large photo that is in the center of the display.

The All-American Girls Professional League was the assigned by Wrigley as the first president of the league.

"Ted Spencer, the curator of the Hall of Fame, was one of my physical education students in grammar school in Quincy," Mary said. "He said how thrilled he was to see my name on the list of those being honored."

Back in the summer of 1982 the women who had played in the league assembled in Chicago for their first reunion.

"It was at this time that someone suggested that an effort should be made to bring to the public an awareness of this unique opportunity that girls had been given to play professional baseball in those early 1940s," Mary said.

Since that first reunion in Chicago there have been two more similar undertakings. In 1986 Fort Wayne, Ind., hosted the second one and the latest was held two months ago in Scottsdale, Ariz.

"During all this time a constant and continual effort had been made to bring recognition to the league,"

maybe comes once in a lifetime and many of us "were in the right place at the right time." Surely, with the skill level we see in girls today, many would have made the league were they there then. There certainly are enough girls with the athletic ability to compete on that level today.

"The drawback would seem to be a question of who would be willing to back such venture financially. That was no problem to Mr. Wrigley in 1943 as he gave Mr. Sells $100,000 and the directive to organize the league. In 1943 that was big money and those of us who were offered contracts signed for $60 to $75 a week. ## Wollaston Glee Club In Concert Sunday

Wollaston Glee Club's first concert of the season will be presented Sunday, Dec. 11 at 3:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of Quincy Community United Methodist Church, 40 Beale St., Wollaston.

Marion Bulli, soprano, a Squantum resident, will be guest artist. She holds a degree in voice performance from Indiana University, where she appeared in numerous leading roles with the Indiana University Opera Theater. In the Boston area, she has been a soloist with the Harvard Radcliffe Chorale, the Quincy Choral Society, the Scarborough Chamber players, among others.

In addition to her university training, she attended the Opera Training Program of Musical Studies in Graz, Austria on scholarship. She has received scholarships and fellowships from numerous musical groups.

The 14-member men's chorus is directed by Edward A. Munro, with Marion E. Carpenter-Worden as accompanist.

The program by the guest artist and the Glee Club will include both classical and well known religious and holiday selections.

Active Glee Club singers include Edward V. Byrne, Richard W. Glavin, Thomas E. Lambe, John P. Murray, John J. Ricketts, Stanley C. Trask, Jr. and Stanley C. Trask, Sr., tenors.

Francis J. Cassini, Ernest Krabich, John A. Kvicala, Kenneth A. Nelson, Chester G. Newey, Richard A. Paul, George H. Player, James P. Rinn, Richard F. Weston and Clayton G. Worden, basses.

Tickets may be obtained in advance and will also be available at the church.

Drummer Joey Franco Holds Clinics At DiCenso's

By JANE ARENA

Drummer Joey Franco, who has played with such artists as Vinnie Moore, Jack Bruce, Leslie West, Fiona, and, most notably, Twisted Sister, recently held drumming clinics at DiCenso's Drum Shop, 51 Franklin St.

Part of the shop's fourth annual Zildjian Days, it was the first year the event was expanded to two days, says shop owner, Dick DiCenso, due to the popularity of previous years.

In six clinics over the course of two days, Franco centered on the technique of double bass drumming (which uses two bass drums as opposed to the traditional single bass). He has recently written a book entitled "The Double Bass Drumming Text," and released a video on the subject.

"It's sort of a mini master class on his specialty," DiCenso says.

In previous years there have been other drumming techniques highlighted, DiCenso says, but the event is usually on a rock and roll theme.

"That's the most prevalent idiom right now," DiCenso says.

Also featured at the Zildjian Days were representatives from the world famous Zildjian cymbal firm, who is located in Norwell, and formerly of Quincy. There was a complete stock of Zildjian products on sale and display. Customers were able to sample the products in sound rooms located at the back of the shop and they could take advantage of expert advice from Zildjian personnel.

DiCenso told the crowd of about 30 who had reserved space for the first show that there are two objectives to the event.

HELPING TO MAKE Zildjian Days at DiCenso's Drum Shop a success are, from left: Lennie DiMizio, Director of Artist Relations for Zildjian, drummer, author, Joey Franco, and Dick DiCenso, owner of DiCenso's Drum Shop.

"The first is to give the drumming community a sense that there is a drumming community, to make them aware that they're not alone out there. The second is to encourage the educational aspect of the business."

DiCenso's Drum Shop, aside from offering a full line of drum kits and other drumming products, also features drumming instruction.

"I think we benefit from (the Zildjian Days)," DiCenso says, "It's a lot of hard work, but the residual effect is worth it."

The group of customers who gathered against the counters, the front door of the shop and even sat down on the floor for the clinic obviously felt the event's worth.

Although no one in the audience for the first show was a double-bass drummer, all were attentive and interested in Franco's 45-minute demonstration on the technique.

Leading the group through musical exercises he had written out and passed around, Franco demonstrated that any type of music, from hard rock to jazz and funk, can benefit from the double bass technique.

"It can be used to create more complex rhythms on top of the bass," he said. "My own double bass work is pretty simple, but very bold. It's really something that's used for power."

Those wanting to learn more about the technique were invited to purchase Franco's book at a discounted price after the clinic.

DiCenso called the Zildjian Days "a huge, huge success," and estimated that a total of 300 drummers attended the two days event.

QHS Chorus To Present 'Christmas On Angel Street'

The Quincy High School Chorus will present the holiday musical "Christmas On Angel Street" at the North Quincy High School auditorium Friday, Dec. 16 and Saturday, Dec. 17 at 8 p.m.

The musical is a modern parable reaffirming the true meaning of Christmas.

The show will feature Scot Kradoller in the role of Jed the orphan newsboy, Kristen Fluhr from the Squantum School as Cassie, his younger sister, Michael Kiernan as the colonel, John Porcario as Mr. Worthing; and Lisa Brangiforte in the role of Katey Jo.

In addition, the show will feature a sizeable cast of talented singers and actors.

The show should prove to be an enjoyable hour, and guaranteed to put you in the holiday spirit.

For ticket information call 786-8754.

WEEK OF: December 8,

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Your plate is usually full to overflowing, and the year ahead finds you exploring still more areas of interest. An important key is to focus your attention — especially critical if you are to make financial strides by mid 1989. Family responsibilities become more equitably shared through the next six months.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19

Good week to review the trends of the past twelve months, then think carefully ahead over the long term. Rushed judgments prove unwise. Personal relationships are on a steadier course.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20

You may have to put a backup plan into action, and the results should prove pleasantly surprising. If entertaining, watch a tendency to go overboard. Conserving energy is the key.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20

Campaigns are a prominent part of the week's picture. It's a busy time, and an important one for keeping records. Don't neglect your personal and your loved ones' health needs.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22

A few more rules are introduced to your life, generally with a beneficial effect. If sharing financial venture, be sure all terms are put down formally. Creative energies are powerful.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21

Exceptional opportunity opens for mending a wounded relationship. Watch tendency to go out on too many limbs for too many individuals. The time is right to pamper yourself.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22

You are thrilled by — and may even benefit from — the news of a friend's celebration. Week sees you championing a pet cause and realizing results. Relative is becoming more assertive.

LEO — July 23 - August 22

Week may find you auditioning or practicing for an important role. Good week to correspond with people in high places. Travel opportunity sounds inviting.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22

Good friends comprise the theme of the week and include members of the opposite sex. Enjoy travel to local destinations that manage to have a foreign flavor.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22

Thursday - Friday focus on community related events, while the weekend finds you making discoveries in and around the house. Monday - Wednesday see you soothing ruffled feathers.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21

Casual acquaintance becomes a closer friend in a week that accents enhanced relationships. Eye for detail is especially discerning — a good period for year end bookkeeping chores.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22

Sense of timing is in fine form — a good week for creating a perfect environment for a party. Avoid playing matchmaker, and be more willing to delegate tasks.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20

Financial dealings are highlighted — and they can't be rushed. On the other hand a work schedule is speeded up. You earn rave reviews for the role you play in family drama.

BORN THIS WEEK

December 8th, singer Sammy Davis Jr., 9th, actor Redd Foxx, 10th, actress Susan Day, 11th, actress Rita Moreno, 12th, singer Dionne Warwick, 13th, actor Dick Van Dyke, 14th, actress Lee Remick.

Youth Leader Core Attends Conference At First Squantum

Members and leaders of the Youth Leader Core attended a conference from Friday through Sunday at the First Church of Squantum and participated in the congregation's Sunday morning service.

The Youth Leader Core is a leadership training program for Christian teen-agers that is sponsored by TABCOM, the American Baptist Churches of Massachusetts. The young people who attended the conference represented churches from all over the state.

Before the Sunday morning service, there was a breakfast for members of the church and the visiting Youth Leader Core.

Youth Leader Core advocates Cynthia Stanton and Mary Ruth Scott helped to lead the service with members of the visiting YLC as well as two graduates of the YLC program, Andrew Ogilvie and Minda Hurd.

Andrew Ogilvie gave the call to worship. Marc Hurd led the opening prayer. Kristy Gabel, Heather Barry, Emily Zaehring, and Erin Johnson joined in the ceremonial lighting of the first two candles in the Advent wreath. Minda Hurd gave the prayer of dedication, assisted by ushers Kim Devine, Sarah Eaton, Kim Payton, and Kristen Scully. Lori Ogilvie read the first Scripture reading and Cynthia Stanton read the second. Anne Malmquist gave the benediction.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, showed the congregation a cartoon version of the first Scripture reading that had been created by young people in the Brockton Diagnostic Assessment Unit where he serves as chaplain in connection with the ministry of "The Way Up." Later, he preached on the topic, "Raised Up in the Church."

The young people of the Youth Leader Core sang two hymns for the congregation. "Have You Seen Jesus, My Lord?" and "I Will Serve Him." Faith Norden gave her Christian testimony between the two songs. Alison Abruzzese played the piano and Mary Ruth Scott played the guitar.

The Chancel Choir sang and the congregation sang accompanied by organist Mary Ruth Scott, pianist Janet Williamson, and saxophonist Jack Chapman.

The service concluded with a celebration of the Lord's Supper in which the pastor was assisted by Deacons Andrew Ogilvie, Grace Holmes, Dana Olson, Barbara Walter, and Gretchen Bumpus.

Arthur and Virginia Sorenson were the greeters. Harry Holmes and Stewart Scott supervised the ushers.

In charge of hospitality were Hazel Mayne, Ruth Swenson, Barbara Walter, Patti Hurd, Ellen Ogilvie, and Minda Hurd.

This Sunday will be the third Sunday in Advent. The morning service begins at 10:30 a.m. Sunday School meets at the same time.

Boston 200 Years Ago Historical Society Topic

The Quincy Historical Society presents Life in the Town of Boston 200 years ago, in 1788, Wednesday, Dec. 14 at 1:30 p.m. at 8 Adams Street, Quincy as part of the continuing "Quincy Remembers" lecture series.

The source of their information will be an authentically dressed clerk from a waterfront shipping office of those days, impersonated by Sidney A. Dimond, a Needham historical broadcaster and writer.

A former professor of broadcasting at the Boston University College of Communications, and Boston correspondent for the Voice of America of the U.S. Information Service, Dimond — in the present tense — recreates what the average citizens of 1788 did, saw, and felt.

donations.

The Salvation Army Christmas Kettle Appeal raises funds to help the needy during the holiday season and throughout the year.

Cites Potential Health Problems Task Force Urges Halt To Permit For Incinerator

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Members of the Quincy Environmental Task Force called for a halt to the permit process Monday for a proposed rotary kiln incinerator by Clean Harbors, Inc. near the Quincy-Braintree line, saying more specific and detailed information regarding potential health problems needs to be collected.

"What we would really like to see at this point in time is essentially a halt to the process until specific information can be gathered dealing with the meteorological effects of that area, dealing with the air quality issues of that particular area for a minimum of one year," said David Smith, chairman of the task force.

"We firmly believe that this is not the site," Smith continued.

"It's too densely populated. Air quality is such that emissions from any kind of expanded facility in the area will be detrimental to the health and safety of the residents of Quincy, Braintree, and Weymouth," he said.

Clean Harbors has proposed to build a rotary kiln toxic waste incinerator in the Braintree Fore River area less than one quarter of a mile from Quincy, a city of approximately 88,000 residents.

Quincy Public Health Commissioner Jane Gallahue, a task force member said, "What we are pushing for is a computerized air quality monitoring system."

She said the system would help identify the composition of a plume, that is, a cloud of particles formed by facilities and plants in the area. She said the system would help show where a plume would hit and where it would disperse.

Among the sites the task force is advocating to have the system implemented is in Germantown, Houghs Neck and Quincy Point as well as in Braintree, Weymouth and Hingham.

So far, the task force has collected photos and drawings and has also constructed a model which shows that emission from area facilities drift over land, and not over the ocean, thus causing a potential health hazard.

Until a computer is fed "the proper information" such as wind direction and types of toxic and non-toxic pollutants in the area, a conclusion as to where the particles would go cannot be made. Gallahue said.

Until, no one can say for certain where these particles will go the task force believes.

"We can't draw any conclusions now because we don't have the information."

Scrooge A Prince Compared To These Thieves

By JANE ARENA

A little bit of Christmas spirit was stolen from Quincy Center when 15 loud speakers, wired along the rooftops of Hancock St. businesses to play Christmas music, were stolen only days after they were installed.

George Riley, executive director of the Quincy Center, Braintree and Professional Association (QCBPA), who put the speakers up, said 14 of them were taken during the weekend of Dec. 3-4, and the last speaker was stolen the following Monday evening.

Valued at $95 a piece, the total loss was $1,425. The tape player was not stolen, Riley said.

There are tentative plans to replace all of the speakers, Riley said. "But" he said, "this time they could not be taking the speakers on the rooftops. They would be located about three feet down so that the installers would have to use a ladder and the thieves would need a ladder as well."

The speakers will be purchased by "10 or 12 merchants who have offered to chip in $100 or so to replace them," Riley said.

The installer, James Oliverio of Audio Quest, Braintree, has offered to install the speakers at no additional charge.

In addition, the supplier of the speakers, Jim Roberts of Nantucket Sound of Braintree and Rockland, has offered the replacement speakers at a greater discount.

Riley said that the speakers will be replaced only if it can be done prior to the end of this week. "If not," he said, "then it's just not worth it."

The loud speakers were to be taken down after Christmas season and perhaps used again for the Quincy Center sidewalk bazaar, he said.

The Quincy Police have no suspects for the theft as yet. However, Detective Walter Lynch said that there are "some leads" in the case.

Library Gets New $95,000 Bookmobile

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

One chapter of the city's library history ended Tuesday and another began when a brand new bookmobile rolled into Quincy.

The shiny white, blue and green bookmobile which has the words and logo of the Thomas Crane Public Library on its sides replaces the banged up red and white van.

Warren Watson, director of the Crane Library, said he asked Mayor Francis McCauley for a new bookmobile since the old one was ready for retirement.

The old one had run up more than 46,000 miles in 15 years. Besides having a large hole in its roof near the front door, the old bookmobile had a steering and front end problem which just could not be fixed, Watson said.

The power generator in the back of the vehicle was also slowing down, he said.

Funded by the city's capital outlay account, the new bookmobile cost $95,000 and was built by Moroney Body Works of Worcester. It will take its maiden trip through Quincy on Friday.

Like its predecessor, the new bookmobile will serve about 2,000 books.

But it has been updated in one respect — the air conditioning.

It is the third bookmobile in the 31-year history of the bookmobile program in Quincy. The first bookmobile, motored through Quincy from 1957 to 1973 and then next from 1973 to 1985.

"The library had a bookmobile service in the past because there were no other neighborhoods and it was never possible to have branches everywhere," Watson said.

Over the years, the bookmobile has made about 30 stops a week. Today it makes 23 stops a week, two on Monday and Tuesday and five Wednesday through Friday, he said.

According to Watson, the first bookmobile was much larger but the newer, smaller one is better designed for Quincy's narrow streets and low-hanging limbs.

He said the bookmobile has been very successful in the past over the years.

"It's a way of attracting people to our service, particularly older and younger people," Watson said.

"Year in and year out the bookmobile accounts for 25 percent of the library's circulation of books."

"So we're delighted to have a new one," Watson said, adding he is grateful for the mayor's assistance.

He also said it arrived "the nick of time" since the old one has a new problem this week.

In pointing out that the new bookmobile will serve the library well into the next century, McCauley said,

"We're delighted to be making the service become more efficient and more available to the community."

In Squantum, Houghs Neck Over 300 Homes Hit By Power Outages

By JANE ARENA

About 250 homes in Houghs Neck and 80 homes in Squantum were without electricity for hours Monday night due to two separate power outages in those areas.

According to Aldo Barresi, District Supervisor of Field Engineering for Mass Electric, the Squantum outage began just after 5 p.m. and power was restored at 9:20 p.m.

The cause of the Squantum outage was a break down in a transformer, a device which reduces high voltage to low voltage for use in homes, he said.

The Houghs Neck power failure began at 5:49 p.m. and power was restored at 11 p.m. Before power was finally restored to the area there was "an interim period when power went on and off," Barresi said.

The Atherton Hough School on Sea St. was open for those who had lost power, but it was not occupied at all, according to Civil Defense Deputy Director, Tony Siciliano.

"We were worried," Siciliano said, "because if (the power outage) had gone on until the later hours of the night, it could have been a worse problem ... sometimes you have kids who aren't feeling well ..."

Siciliano said that the custodian at the school kept it open until "at least 1 a.m."

"We've got plenty of provisions there," Siciliano said, "extra blankets and food and we keep it well-stocked."

Barresi said the cause of the Houghs Neck outage was "an overload situation," due to people using extra power for heat and Christmas lights.

"At this time of year we have an extreme of what happened in the summer," Barresi said, "a combination of things result in a drain of power ... in the summer it was the air conditioners, in the cold weather it's heaters."

Barresi also said that the breakdown of the Squantum transformer, which he said is "all corrected now," may have been caused by the use of excess power as well.

"There's a very good chance of that," he said, and added that customers should try to conserve energy as much as possible in the cold weather.

JUDY KOLSON of Quincy Citizens Association signs letter of intent which will serve notice to Clean Harbors Inc. of Braintree and state agencies that a proposed construction of a hazardous waste incinerator is opposed by South Shore residents. Looking on are Citizens Organized to Defend the Environment (CODE) members David Jenkins, center, of Weymouth and Bob Jabaly of Braintree. Numerous signatures were collected during CODE's recent Quincy Square rally outside the First Parish Church.

Signs He's Not Running?

His barber can't tell for sure.

Those closest to him at City Hall don't know. His wife isn't certain.

And, Frank McCauley himself probably is still undecided about whether to seek a fifth Mayoral term or call it a career.

He has said he will decide and announce his decision in January.

But political observers think they see signs indicating that he will not seek re-election.

The first, they believe, was Question No. 2 on the November state election ballot. A "Yes" vote would have repealed the Prevailing Wage Law.

A few days before voters went to the polls, McCauley urged them to vote "Yes" contending that the law increases the cost of municipal buildings construction and renovating and street and sidewalk projects by 20 percent.

Organized labor, meanwhile, had one of its biggest campaigns in years underway urging a "No" vote.

So, McCauley was taking a stand directly and strongly opposite of labor and by doing so he can just about kiss the labor vote goodbye if he runs for mayor again.

Some observers think McCauley could have let the matter go by without public comment and quietly voted "yes" in the privacy of the voting booth.

He wasn't acting like a politician when he locked horns with labor over an issue dear to labor's heart. He sure wasn't counting future votes -- or loss of them.

Another sign, observers feel, was a School Committee meeting. Chairman of the School Committee by virtue of his office as mayor, McCauley made comments that didn't sit too well with parents of children in special needs classes.

McCauley remarked that some youngsters in special education classes are "uneducable," that the cost of special education is spiralling and the money could probably be better used in other programs.

And, again, observers feel McCauley certainly wasn't counting future votes -- or the loss of them -- when he made the remarks.

Most politicians would have kept quiet on the No. 2 question and the matter of special education because of that old adage, "Discretion is the better part of valor." Or the more modern one, "Don't stick your neck out" on sensitive or emotional issues.

Maybe McCauley isn't a real politician. He has always spoken out candidly -- and let the votes drop where they may. Ask him a hot potato question and he doesn't duck behind a "No comment."

Another sign, observers think, came at his annual holiday party at the Neighborhood Club a few weeks ago.

McCauley enjoys the reputation of being tight lipped and a penny pincher who squeezes them hard enough some say, to turn Abe Lincoln blue.

That night he took everyone by surprise with an open bar.

If he was running for re-election, said some, he would be saving that money for his campaign.

And there reportedly are other signs that McCauley will be leaving City Hall.

One of his key people already has an offer from the private sector.

And another reportedly has said he will finish out this term with McCauley but will not stay on for another two years if McCauley runs and is re-elected.

If McCauley has made his decision, he's keeping it as close to his vest as a poker sharpie with a full house.

But those who really know him don't think he has made that final decision yet.

The signs observers think they see, may not be signs at all, they say.

They think you will have to wait until January to hear it officially from the man himself.

And, at this moment, the man himself, may still not know for sure, himself.

Rent Grievance Board Meeting

A meeting of the Rent Grievance Board was scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 14 at 7 p.m. in the Planning Department Conference Room on the third floor of the City Hall annex.

The board was to hold two hearings on the matter of rent increases.

They were:

William Curran, tenant at 135 Quincy Ave. and Fern Realty Trust, landlord

Alan Lynch, tenant at 86 Willard St., and Jack McDonald, landlord.

FINE

Street South. He was recently appointed a Justice of the Peace.

This Week In History

This week in 1777 France recognized the

BURKE

KEVIN BURKE and his wife, Judy, are holding a Christmas open house at their home (97 Willow Ave., Wollaston) Saturday night starting at 6 p.m. There's speculation he will be running for the City Council next year -- probably for councillor at-large.

Burke, in his first try last year, lost a Ward 5 nomination to John Keenan by one vote. Keenan then bowed to Charles Phelan in the final election.

GARY FINE, son of WJDA newscaster Herb Fontaine has been a frequent attendee at City Council and School Committee meetings.

Observers think he will make a bid for the City Council or School Committee next year.

Fine, who lives on Lancaster St., Quincy Point, is a supervisor in the Mutual Fund Division at State independence of the original 13 American colonies (12/17). In 1865, the Thirteenth Amendment took effect, abolishing slavery (12/18). In 1956, a TWA Super Constellation and a United Airlines DC-7 collided over the Grand Canyon killing 128 people.

Montclair School Bulletins Focus On Early Years

As part of the 75th anniversary celebration of the Montclair Elementary School, Principal Leon Gould is distributing bulletins pertaining to the early beginnings of the school.

His second bulletin focuses on the street makeup in the area and a summary of the school's principals.

Back in 1912 when it opened, the school was located on a parcel of land that had no houses and no George's Market in its vicinity. In fact, there wasn't Belmont St. as the street directly in front of the school was a somewhat elongated Highland Ave., Gould reports.

At that time, he explained, Highland Ave. turned left on Wilson Ave. and continued on past the school to West Squantum St. it wasn't until 1933 that the section of street in front of Montclair School was renamed Belmont St. and Highland Ave. was shortened to its present termination point at its intersection with Wilson Ave.

In addition, Holbrook Rd. was known as Broadway, a name which lasted until 1909

Gould said that by the time the Montclair School opened, Broadway had become Holbrook Rd. in honor of Horatio N. Holbrook who sold the lot on which the school was built by the city.

Gould added that Holbrook was a "very prominent developer of the Montclair section of Quincy."

As for the history of the school's principals, Austin W. Greene has the honor of being the school's first principal. He served in that capacity from 1912 to 1914.

Other principals include

Andrew Johnson from 1914 to 1917; James Collins; 1918 to 1923; W. Scott Austin, 1924 to 1942; Harlan Harrington, 1943 to 1948; Henry Paterson, 1949 to 1959; and Edna Abbiatti, 1959 to 1968.

Gould has served as principal since January of 1968, the longest tenure in the school's history.

He also said that he was "very pleased to report that both Dr. Paterson and Miss Abbiatti are enjoying good health and active, productive retirements."

Wheelchairs, Crutches Sought For Handicapped

The Mayor's Commission on Handicapped Affairs is currently seeking wheelchairs, crutches and other physical aids in response to an increasing need.

The Commission plans to collect and disburse the items or to keep a list of people who are willing to donate items when there is a request.

Anyone who has wheelchairs, crutches or other physical aids and is not using them, is asked to contact John F. Keenan, Chairman, at 479-3856, or Eleanor Reidy at 773-0835.

Mail Collection At Quincy, North T Stations

For the convenience of commuters using the Quincy and North Quincy MBTA stations, letter carriers will be on hand to collect holiday mail from 7 to 9 a.m. each weekday morning now through Dec 23

In addition to shopping and mailing early, the U.S. Postal Service urges customers to properly address cards and packages, use correct ZIP codes, and be sure to include a return address on all mailing items.

Quincy High Wins N.E. Soccer Title

Center Forward Johnny Brown kicked three goals and Bob Meyer played a flawless game in goal as the Quincy High School Soccer team won the New England title with a 5-0 victory over Pawtucket, R.I.

It was Quincy's 15th victory in 16 games, the other being a 1-1 tie with New Bedford Vocational School, which immediately issued a challenge for a post-season championship contest.

The Quincy lineup included:

Bob Meyer, goal; Bill Jensen, Jay Desmond, backs; Al Paine, High Logan, Johnny Nelson, halfbacks; Carlton Jepson, Alex Mitchelson, Johnny Brown, Johnny MacGibbon, Alec McGuire, forwards.

Also Smudge George, spare back; Charlie Anderson, spare halfback; John Sullivan, spare forward.

Happy Birthday, Quincy!

Quincy is celebrating its centennial as a city and is marking the milestone for posterity with a special commemorative supplement in The Quincy Sun.

The Sun, in conjunction with the city and the Quincy Centennial Committee will produce the official 100th anniversary publication.

It will appear in The Sun, Thursday, Jan. 5--the very week Quincy turns 100. It will be 100 years from the day in January, 1889 that Civil War hero Charles H. Porter became Quincy's very first mayor. Mayor Francis McCauley's mid-term address will coincide with that 100th anniversary.

The Sun supplement will contain stories and photos of Quincy's transition from a town to a city (there was opposition to the change), political and civic highlights down through the century and photos of 100th anniversary activities held this year.

Extra copies will be printed for distribution by the city.

We hope you will join us in celebrating this proud Quincy milestone.

We are inviting institutional advertising with references to the history of your own business.

Rates are:

Marie's Kitchen

By MARIE J. D'OLIMPIO

Calzone Dough

Since it is around that time again when we'll all be called upon to make some hors d'oeuvres for the holidays, I am going to make my usual calzone for one.

But this time, I'm shaping the dough around like a Christmas wreath. Yesterday I baked one with red and green peppers so when it is sliced it looks "Christmassy"—I even put a red bow on the top. Here is the recipe for one large calzone which makes about a 10 inch wreath. The dough can also be used for pizza or bread.

CALZONE DOUGH

1 pkg. dry yeast
2 cups warm water
1 Tbsp. salt
1 Tbsp. sugar
5½ cups flour

Put the dry yeast in a large bowl. Add the warm water and mix for a couple of minutes. Let set for another 3 minutes. Add the salt and sugar and blend. Add the flour gradually beating until it looks like you could pick it up and knead it. If it doesn't, then, add a smidgen of flour.

Cover with a towel and let set for about an hour.

Halfway through the time left the towel and pound the dough down a bit. Cover again and then when you are ready to roll, the dough is almost double its size.

Roll on a floured board with a floured rolling pin. Fill with anything you desire from sausage, cold cuts, broccoli and cheese, peppers and onions. Then gently shape it. Brush the top with milk. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 25-30 minutes.

Let cool and then slice. You can make these ahead, refrigerate and then when you are ready to serve the calzone, put it in a warming oven of about 200-250 degrees until heated through.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point; Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emorium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

MICHAEL MITCHELL, Katie McEvoy and Justine Kiley visit Santa (Ed O'Brien) and Mrs. Claus (Mary Canty) at Robbins House Convalescent Home's "North Pole." Mr. and Mrs. Claus are ready to man the Ho-Ho-Hotline. Children may call 328-8866 and talk to Santa. The phone is answered by residents of the home.

Central Student Senate Holds 'Thank You' Party

The campaign for office and the elections for Central Middle School student officers are over, and this week the Central Student Senate had a "Thank You" party. Coffee and dessert were given out during the Tuesday (Dec. 13) lunch periods (10:45-11 a.m.) in the North Teachers' Cafeteria.

Separation of the three grades this year did not deter the candidates from elections for the Central Student Senate. Speeches, posters, and name tags filled the corridors, and speeches were practiced in the Guidance Office where students were coached by Mary Catherine Iannoni, head counselor.

Students from all three grades who chose to run for the four major offices "took to the road," campaigning at North Quincy High School, Broad Meadows, and Squantum, so that all three divisions received pre-election attention.

Eighteen students ran for Senate at Squantum, winning Senate seats were Andrew Joyce, Brian Driscoll, Shelly Spaulding, Nancy DiStasio, Stacy Bulman and Michelle Hamilton. Donald Houghton was the advisor.

At Broad Meadows, 15 students wished to serve. Elected Senate members for this school year are: Scott Kelly, Zoe Bohl, John McCarthy, Maureen McCarthy, Travis Greenwood, Anthony Sansevero, Robert Johnston, Winnie Fong and Neil Hutchinson. Their advisor is Louis DiMartino.

At North, eight Senate seats were sought by 17 students. Winners were Pamela Norton, Maureen Lind, Arthur Crosby, Robert Shaw, Candice Painter, William Stavros, Patti Meghan and Michael Deady. Miss Iannoni was their advisor.

For the four major offices, elections were held at all three schools. Heading the Senate is Heather Powell, Mayor, Jennifer Walker, Deputy Mayor, Carrie Frenette, Secretary, and David Flaherty, Treasurer. The executive Board completing the Senate includes Francette LeVangie, Kristina Farrer, Christina Trilone and Heather Rendle.

Task Force Urges Halt To Permit For Incinerator

(Cont'd from Page 1)

"We can't draw any conclusions but we feel a very good system can if the right information is put in," Gallahue said.

Responding to some of the comments made by the task force, Clean Harbors Project Director Debra R. Sanderson said, "If there are adverse health impacts in the area, we won't build it."

As for the task force's recommendation for more specific data, Sanderson said Clean Harbors is in the process of making computer models which take into account pollution from other sources.

These models should be completed in the spring or early summer, she said.

Sanderson, who attended the presentation along with other employees of Clean Harbors, congratulated the task force for their effort.

"I think they have done a great job. We have a clearer understanding as to what their concerns are."

"They are much more specific now," Sanderson added.

The presentation focused on the potential effect of multiple emissions from plants and facilities already located in the area and a phenomenon known as temperature inversion.

Information regarding a higher than average incidence of lung cancer in the Germantown-Houghton Neck area were also revealed.

In addition to Smith and Gallahue, Cynthia DeCristofano of the Health Department participated in the presentation.

Among those in attendance were Sen. Paul Harold, Rep. Suzanne Bump of Braintree and Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofano.

Gallahue pointed out that the incinerator is being proposed in a confined area. She said there is reason for concern in terms of health since there are several facilities in the immediate area that are releasing particles into the air.

Among those facilities are Clean Harbors, Citgo, Proctor and Gamble and the Edgah power station which could go on line.

As for temperature inversion, Gallahue said this could lead to a situation where particle matter is "locked up into a plume."

"We have to know the worst case scenario. What if these emissions combined and where would the dispersion hit," she said.

Gallahue also revealed new information on the above average incidence of lung cancer in the Germantown-Houghton Neck area which is near the proposed incinerator site.

"The state department is committed to do further testing, to look at any of the conditions within the area that must be assessed as far as possible causation and to assess the smoking prevalence of those people who have lung (cancer) incidence and then to follow further and look at occupation history," she said, adding that other factors must also be examined.

"Although we know the cancer incidence for the city of Quincy as a whole does not appear to be elevated, when you do a more refined testing, it's very obvious that this (area) is definitely elevated for lung cancer," she said.

Asked whether she could draw an conclusions from this data, Gallahue replied, "I think that we have enough of a concern when we see the proposal in front of us and the model that we have here that shows a wind direction is capable of hitting this particular area."

The model she referred to was a two-scale topographical model constructed by Roberta Fitzgerald of the city's Planning Department. The model, complete with color codes and scaled down structures, shows that the proposed site is located in a low lying area near the ocean which could lead to a temperature inversion.

It took Fitzgerald 300 hours to complete.

Elaborating on her point about lung cancer in the area, Gallahue said, "We know there is an increase in lung cancer but we don't know why."

"We have to adjust and find out if these people are smokers."

Furthermore, Gallahue explained that "these statistics have already been adjusted. We know that the incidence is not due to age alone."

"What we're saying is that there's a problem down here. There is a concern. We need to explore further."

Gallahue also said that long-time residents in Germantown and Houghton Neck have experienced odor problems over the years.

"We just feel that there is enough of a concern to begin studying that area much more completely and that we would like to increase our study to the gathering of new statistical baseline data," she said, adding the task force would like to work with the Manet Health Center in an effort to acquire respiratory information from residents.

Although the permit process is still in its midst, Smith said "We're ready to stand by our statements today that the particle matter and the emissions are going to affect areas of Quincy, Weymouth and Braintree."

"Essentially, we're waiting for Clean Harbors to prove wrong with accurate information and accurate data," he said.

New Realtors President Stresses Need For Affordable Housing

Roy F. Cheverie, of Weymouth, a realtor at Century 21 Homes by Heritage, was recently installed as President of the Quincy and South Shore Board of Realtors.

In his installation remarks, Cheverie said the board will "focus more clearly" on the issue of homelessness in the South Shore. He said the final solution to the homeless situation "must include sufficient affordable housing."

The remarks were made during the Board's 51st annual inaugural Banquet and Christmas gala held at the Sheraton-Tara in Braintree.

Master of Ceremonies for the banquet was George H. Raymond, a past president of the Board and a current member of the Board of Directors.

Raymond presented a past presidents' plaque to Stephen M. Downing.

Outgoing president, David Peretti, made a speech saying that the Board members should pay more attention to the media.

Other officers installed for 1989 were Patricia Downing, 1st Vice President, Phyllis Rudnick, GRI, CRS, 2nd Vice President, and Daniel J. Lauria, Secretary and Treasurer.

The following were appointed to the Board of Directors for 1989:

Helen Rando Blowers, GRI, CRS, Diane J. Campbell, H. Richard Coughlin, Stephen M. Downing, GRI, George H. Raymond, GRI, CRB, James Stamos, GRI, Betsy Trethewey, Norman E. Tuttle, GRI, CRS, David Walsh, GRI, CRS, CRB, and Lorraine Troup Walsh.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It has been said that assurance is a mighty power in living an effective and meaningful life. When we think we can do a thing we are usually right in our assurance. Yet some people are defeated before they begin. They have no confidence in themselves.

They shake their heads, shrug their shoulders, and raise their arms in a gesture of defeat. It is no wonder under these circumstances they are defeated. But the person who believes he can do something usually can. There may be stumbling blocks along the way but they can usually be shoved aside.

Abraham Lincoln presented a sorry figure for many years but later became a world figure ... George Washington ought to have known he could not win the Revolutionary War - but he didn't think this and led our country to victory ... Thomas Edison was told over and over again that he was 'crazy' - but he kept on and world honors him for his inventions today ...

Assurance by itself is not enough. It has to be supported by self-confidence and with the assurance that whatever has to be done can be done. Remember there is no victory in any field without assurance.

Centennial Documentary To Be Shown At Council

By ROBERT BOSWORTH
A 30-minute video documentary entitled "Quincy: The City Century" which examines the historical forces and events surrounding Quincy's evolution from a town to a city 100 years ago has been completed by the Quincy Community Television Council.

In honor of the city's Centennial celebration, the video will be shown and presented to the City Council in a special ceremony Monday, Dec. 19 in the Council Chamber of City Hall. Another copy will be presented to the Thomas Crane Public Library.

The documentary, produced by community cable TV volunteer Cynthia Stanton of Quincy, will get its television premiere Tuesday, Dec. 20 at 6 p.m. on Continental Cablevision's Channel 3.

The informative and interesting piece will also be shown Thursday, Dec. 22 at 8 p.m. and at later dates to be announced.

"Quincy: The City Century" examines the forces at work in Quincy in 1888, the year Quincy became a city.

Among the forces examined are the rise of the granite industry, the emergence of the railroad, the changes immigration worked on the population and the role they played in making Quincy into a city.

The video, which cost $6,000, contains three months of research and took a year and a half to produce. More than 30 Quincy citizens and officials appear; key sites in the city's history 100 years ago are visited and rare old photos of Quincy are featured.

The centennial video was produced with the assistance of Ed Iddler, Continental Cablevision's Quincy program director, with facilities and equipment provided by the city's cable company.

Also participating in the project were community television volunteer Darlene Mendoza, camera work, Marie Hulbert of Continental Cablevision, editing, and Beth Harper, research.

In 1987, the Quincy Community Television

Council decided to commission a video production to mark the centennial of Quincy as a city.

After soliciting proposals, the council chose Stanton's proposal. The producer of the "Quincy Magazine" program on Continental Cablevision's Channel 3, she proposed a documentary examining the forces and events that led to the evolution of Quincy into a city in 1888.

Stanton and researcher Beth Harper spent many months combing historical archives, talking to city historians and others knowledgeable about Quincy's past.

They also pored over the Parker collection of photos, a group of delicate glass negatives, at the Crane Library. The collection contains between 2,000 and 3,000 photos, including approximately 1,500 of the city itself.

Besides using many of the century-old photos in the documentary, the community TV council decided to present to the library the photographic prints they had made from the glass negatives through an expensive process.

"It was a real privilege to use them," Stanton said, adding that steps should be taken to better preserve these and other historical records and documents of Quincy's past.

She said Quincy is fortunate to have these records because for most cities and towns, these "don't even exist."

Furthermore, it appears that some information on the city during that era no longer exists.

"It was very surprising that such a significant event in our city's history, that only took place 100 years ago, was very difficult to research.

"I think there's more to uncover but we weren't able to find it," she said.

As an example, she said that during her research, she came across references to a huge coliseum "but we have no idea where it was in Quincy Center."

She also said that other things such as the role women played and people's diets could not be found.

As for choosing many voices instead of a professional narrator for the video, Stanton said this will give future citizens an idea as to what Quincy residents were like and what type of things they did.

Also, she said she concentrated on the major economic, social and cultural forces at work in Quincy 100 years ago because many of those issues are still relevant today.

Among the issues are industrialization, transportation and immigration.

"Times change but the issues don't," she said.

A graduate of Suffolk University with a bachelor of arts degree in journalism and English, Stanton received her masters in English from Simmons College.

She thanked the Quincy Community Television Council for allowing her the opportunity to produce the video.

"I am very grateful and the council was extremely supportive," Stanton said.

Iddler said the Council welcomed the opportunity to fund the video as their contribution to the centennial celebration.

The Council wanted to give something to the City on the occasion of its centennial," he said.

Besides funding the video, the Council has taped many centennial events and plans to broadcast an entire show dedicated to the centennial in the near future.

As a final thought, Stanton said she hopes the video sparks an interest among people to research and investigate Quincy's rich history.

"We're lucky in Quincy that just by walking down the street you get in touch with history."

"We have a history we can be proud of," she said.

REFRESHER COURSE FOR REGISTERED NURSES & GERONTOLOGICAL NURSING

An 11 session course in the above Nursing Specialty will be held at Marian Manor in So. Boston starting on Jan. 11, 1989. It is designed to review the scientific base of Gerontological Nursing.

There is a critical shortage of Registered Nurses in long term care facilities at the present time. This shortage will continue to grow as the industry responds to an ever increasing proportion of older citizens in our population. The need to contact and attract Nurses to this dynamic field is imperative. As a leader in the care of the aging, Marian Manor is sponsoring this course to help heighten Registered Nurses' Awareness of the value of their individual expertise in the care of older people. Classes will be held on Wednesdays from 6pm - 9pm. 33 Continuing Education hours have been applied for and C.E. hours will be awarded for individual sessions. The cost of each session is $20, fully reimbursed to those who complete the program and are retained by Marian Manor.

2 Residents In NU Honors Program

Two Quincy residents have been accepted into the Honors Program at Northeastern University.

Kerry R. Northup of Fayette St., Wollaston and James J. Norman of Lebanon St., Quincy, both freshmen in the College of Computer Science at the University, were chosen because of their superior high school records and SAT scores.

The students will have the opportunity to choose from a list of specially designed courses taught by Northeastern's best faculty.

The honors program also offers a variety of social, recreational and cultural activities such as speaker series and films.

WHAT DO I DO IN THE CASE OF AN ACCIDENT?

An auto accident is an emotional trauma which you may experience at some point in your life. Although difficult, it is a time to keep your wits about you. Remember, your insurance agency must know about the other party. Whether the police arrive or not, here are some important facts needed to handle your claim professionally.

Ask the driver of the other vehicle for their license and registration. This will provide you with their name, address, and driver's license number. It will also give you the make, model and owner of the vehicle, as well as its plate number. Be sure to ask for the name of their insurance company. Next, make a diagram of how the accident happened while it is still fresh in your mind. Also write down the names, addresses, and phone numbers of any witnesses.

This may seem like a lot of information to gather during a stressful moment, but, in a majority of cases, the other party's version will tend to be different the next day. Your diligence at the scene may mean a great deal in the settlement of the claim.

At Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc., our insurance professionals are happy to discuss the many protection options available today. Please give us a call at 471-6200 or stop by our office at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

WALTER SCHIRRAR, one of the seven original astronauts, discusses his career and the U.S. space program during a recent visit to radio station WJDA in Quincy.

Walter Schirrar In Quincy Visit:

Former Astronaut Says U.S. Holds Technological Lead

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The Soviet Union may be ahead of the U.S. space program in terms of man hours but still lags behind in technology, said former astronaut Walter Schirrar during a recent visit to Quincy.

Schirrar, the fifth American in space and the only commander to fly on all three U.S. space missions during the 1960s, made the statement during a visit to radio station WJDA last week.

Asked by host Barry Junderville if the Soviets are ahead of the U.S. space program, Schirrar replied, "In man hours but not in technology."

"They have made a commitment to space that we have not," said the former astronaut who holds the distinction of flying on the Mercury, Gemini and Apollo space programs during the 1960s.

Schirrar also reminisced about his own career and offered his own thoughts about America's future in space, the last frontier.

He was also a guest on the station's "Party Line" show hosted by Roy Lind.

Following up his statement of where the U.S.S.R. and U.S. stand in terms of space advancement, Schirrar said the Soviets are not ready to go to Mars.

"They really can't do that just yet. That's a very difficult task."

"We don't know if man nor machine could endure a trip to Mars and back. That's what we need to find out," he said.

Furthermore, Schirrar said, "With our technology, we have a shuttle that's been flying for seven or eight years and is now back in business again," adding that the U.S. is also "catching up" in payloads.

Despite this technological edge, Schirrar said the U.S. must advance even further. He said the outer space program should update the design and capability of the shuttles.

"We need to update that. We need to optimize the shuttle to what we think about today."

"The shuttle was optimized, ultimately, around the 1970s," he said, pointing out that the shuttle has a reel-to-reel memory, not a computer hard disk.

Schirrar graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy and briefly served during the end of World War II in the Pacific. While serving in the Korean War, he flew combat missions for the Air Force.

He became involved in the space program not as a volunteer but as a "recruit." He, along with about 160 other qualified people, were chosen for the program by a computer.

At first, he was not enthusiastic about the program because he had ambitions of becoming a naval officer.

"To think that I was going to be the successor to a chimpanzee kind of distracted me," he said with a laugh.

But that changed. "As time went on, I realized I wanted to go higher, further and faster," he said.

Schirrar said he and other astronauts even "forced themselves" onto NASA, saying they weren't chimpanzees and "we're going to make this work our way."

"We want to have a part of the design and a part of the culture of the space program."

One of the seven original astronauts, Schirrar said his favorite mission was Gemini when he did "The first spacewalk rendezvous" ever.

"We came within inches of the other spacecraft. And the fun of that, by the way, was that with me was Tom Stafford, a Naval Academy graduate and in the other spacecraft, Gemini 7, were Jim Lovelle, a Naval Academy graduate, and Frank Borman, a West Point graduate."

"And if you can see where I'm going," Schirrar said, "you're quite right."

"I held up a sign saying, 'Beat Army.'"

Asked if they won that season's game between the two service academies, Schirrar laughed, "We won that game indeed."

As for the future goals of the U.S. space program, Schirrar said one of those objectives should be building and maintaining a space station.

"We need a place to go. The shuttle has no place to go. It can't stay (in space) very long. The shuttle can stay in orbit about 10 days," he explained.

Schirrar advocates placing a space station about 24,000 miles from earth. This would allow the U.S. to service communications, reconnaissance and weather satellites.

The former astronaut is the author of a new book entitled, Schirrar's Space. It contains many of his own memories and feelings towards his career and the history of the space program.

"I mixed anecdotes, the fun things we had and I got quite serious."

"As you look back in the time over your life, you realized that when you were acting the roles that you were learning, you were too busy to come up and look around," he said.

Lack Of Players

Sylvia Starts 25th Year As Quincy Coach

By TOM SULLIVAN

Bob Sylvia began his 25th year as Quincy High hockey coach last night (Wednesday) when the Presidents played at Everett and the veteran coach had the same lament as last year — lack of players.

Quincy had a turnout of only 27 and Sylvia is afraid that the 10 freshmen who reported will be playing with the junior varsity instead of playing a separate freshman schedule.

The Presidents will host Malden Saturday night at 7:50 at the Quincy Youth Arena and will be at Medford next Wednesday night at 7:50.

"We are very thin this year and we can't afford to have any key injuries," said Sylvia. "We have a very inexperienced team with Tim Mann the only returning player who played regularly a year ago. Goalie Craig Galligan played in a few games. We face an uphill fight this season, but I don't think the Suburban League is as strong as it was last year. I can promise we will be competitive but we have to develop a third line. The defense has no experience at all and a lot will depend upon how the defensemen develop at the varsity level.

"Our yellow line, centered by Mann, should score well, but other than that, our offense is a question mark."

Sylvia is pleased with the work of his three goalies, Galligan, Fred Regan and Kevin Johnston, all juniors.

"All three have looked good and I think the opponents will have to earn their goals," the Quincy coach said.

Joining senior Mann on the yellow line are senior Mike Noonan and junior Scotty Curtin.

The red line is made up of juniors Mike Bamber, Nick Cafano and Mike Ryan.

Other forwards are juniors John LeCura and Paul Shine.

It appears Sylvia will be forced to move a defenseman to forward to make up a third line.

The defensemen are

Last year Quincy finished with a 7-12 record. The Presidents started out well and had a 5-2 record against Greater Boston League opponents. But, when the Suburban League season got under way they won only two of 12 games.

Quincy has had some outside scrimmages and last Saturday night faced Christopher Columbus and Walpole in the annual jamboree at the Youth Arena.

"I think we are going to have to stay away from jamborees in the future," said Sylvia. "We can't afford to have any injuries with our small squads and there is a good chance of getting injuries in these jamborees."

Bob Troup is back as Quincy's junior varsity coach and George Peachey has returned as freshman coach. It appears he will be working with Troup with the jayvees.

ROB GUARNIERI, Mike DesRoche and Brian Wood of Quincy have been selected by the Greater Boston Select Hockey League for its Pee Wee All-Star Select team, the Boston Mini-Bruins.

3 From Quincy On All Star Select Team

The Greater Boston Select Hockey league has selected three Quincy youths for its Pee Wee All-Star select team, the Boston Mini-Bruins.

Rob Guarnieri, Mike DesRoche and Brian Wood were selected for the 18-member team from over 60 candidates from a number of towns and cities.

All three are members of the Quincy Youth Hockey League and are eighth grade students at Central Middle School.

The Mini-Bruins, coached by Richard Wright, is trying to raise $20,000 to cover travel and tournament expenses for a trip to Quebec City in February. They will represent the U.S. in the annual International Pee Wee Tournament.

Donations to help the team reach its goal can be made to the Greater Boston Select League in care of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association, 60 Murphy Memorial Drive, Quincy 02169.

'It Will Be Our Key'

Jago Counting On Defense At North

The North Quincy hockey team opened last night (Wednesday) against Arlington as Kevin Jago, a former Raider himself, started his seventh year as coach.

North will play at Everett Saturday afternoon at 4:50 and will host Malden next Wednesday night at 6:40 at the Quincy Youth Arena.

"Defense will be the key to our success," said Jago. "We don't have a home run hitter like Matt Furtado, who scored 55 points last year and you can't replace someone like that. We won't have the offense we had last season and it will be up to the defense and goalies to keep the other teams from scoring."

Jago didn't expect too much last year after a dismal 4-14-1 record the year before, but the Raiders made the Eastern Mass. tournament for the fourth time in five years and finished at 10-6-3.

Jago has an all-veteran gold line and a green line with two veterans. He has two outstanding defensemen in co-captains Paul McGrath and Joe Keegan and several other promising defensemen.

Senior Marty Feeney and juniors Brian Zimmerman and Sal Manganaro make up the gold line. All played last year.

The green line has seniors Bob Kane and Jimmy Leonard and junior Joe Fasano. Kane and Fasano played last season.

"I don't have a third line yet but have six players trying out for a third and possibly fourth line," said Jago.

They are senior Joe Hajjar, sophomore Bill Lydon, freshmen Mike Christopherson, Chris McCallum and Mark Kelleher and junior Jamie Tapper.

Joining McGrath, a four-year starter, and Keegan on defense are juniors Armando Mancini and Jimmy McCarthy, sophomores Duane Keegan and Matthew Swierk, junior Steve Connolly and senior Arthur Cangemi.

"In my seven years as coach I have never seen such a battle for goalie," said Jago. "Steve Sugarman and Jeff McClory are having a real fight to earn the starting job and both have looked good."

"We had a fine turnout of 49 and will have 15 or 16 freshmen. I don't know if we are a tournament team and have a lot of question marks but we will be competitive. I don't think the Suburban League is nearly as strong as last year."

North had three scrimmages and looked good and last Saturday night met Dom Savio and Don Bosco in the annual jamboree at the Youth Arena.

Jago has a new junior varsity coach in Pete DiBona, who played for Bob Sylvia at Quincy High. Pete Furtado is back as the freshman coach.

Quincy Girls Volleyball Champs Receive Awards

The Quincy girls' volleyball team wrapped up its state championship season with a dinner last week at the New Gazelle Restaurant.

The First Ladies, co-champions with North Quincy of the Suburban League, won their third state championship in seven years.

Former assistant coach Chris Prendeville presented a slide show of the season's games.

Head coach Tom Henderson and assistant Dave Higgins presented several awards to the varsity and junior varsity players.

Mite Bs Win Pair

Quincy's Mite B hockey team won two games over the weekend to improve to 5-2. In seven games the team has outscored the opposition, 58-14.

Quincy defeated Canton, 5-2, at the Skating Club of Boston as Pat Coughlin had a hat trick, scoring all three goals in the final period to clinch the team's third straight win. Chris Carthas and Brian Gates had the other goals. Kevin Regan had two assists and Steve Ford, Pat McGinn and Matt Flynn one each.

Sunday at St. Sebastian's rink Quincy made it four wins in a row, topping Needham, 7-

1. Regan had a hat trick. McGinn two goals and Matt Hill and Mike Gallagher one each. Danny Stock, who played outstanding defense, had two assists. Coughlin two and Paul Markarian, John Laukkanen, Flynn, Gates, Carthas and Ryan Barrett one each. Goalie Dennis Allen played well in goal and Billy Griffin and Mark Foster also had fine games.

NQHS Football Banquet

The North Quincy Football Boosters Club banquet will be held Sunday, Feb. 5, from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Sons of Italy Hall.

All football players and cheerleaders will be guests and several awards will be made.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 479-6613.

Panther Cheerleaders Close In On $10,000 For Dallas Trip

The Quincy Point Panther cheerleaders, who are just shy of their $10,000 goal and a trip to the national championships in Dallas Tex., Dec. 27-30, successfully defended their Eastern Mass. title Sunday at Massachusetts Community College in Brockton.

The Panthers blew the competition away, winning by 31 points over Brockton.

The West Quincy Elks cheerleaders, competing in their first EMAS competition finished fourth, only 10 points away from the third place trophy.

The Panther cheerleaders are still raising money to defray airfare and hotel expenses for their trip to Dallas.

They hope to be the first New England junior high-age team to compete for a national title against 350 other teams from across the U.S.

The latest contributions have come from Councilor Jim Sheets, Quincy Youth

Soccer League, Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services, We Care Cleaners, Modern Metalcraft, Patricia Lovell, Councilor Steve McGrath, Houghes Neck Manets cheerleaders, Quincy City Hospital, John H. McDuff Jr., West Quincy Elks football team and cheerleaders and James and Helene Lempesta.

Contributions can be sent to Quincy Point Panthers, 31 Temple Street, Suite 225, Quincy 02169.

WPH League

Finley's, AGWIAB Tied For First Place

Finley's and AGWIAB are tied for first place in the WPH Hockey League, which plays its games at the Quincy Youth Arena, and Roman Gardens is only one point behind. Finley's defeated Roman Gardens, 6-2, with Mike O'Connell having two goals and an assist. Finley's broke out to a 3-1 lead on goals by O'Connell, Dave Perdiot and Bob Brodeur. Doug Hall scored for Roman Gardens to cut the lead to one but Finley's added a goal the second period and two in the third to seal the win. Marc Nantel stood out in goal for Finley's and lowered his league-leading goals-against average to 2.09.

AGWIAB Giff blanked the Varmints, 6-0, with goalie Rick Swanson recording his first shutout. Joe Tell, the league's leading scorer, had two goals, giving him 21. Jim Clarke also had two goals.

LeSnappe Rouge edged Sullivan Ice, 6-5, with Tom Luburanna scoring the winning goal with eight seconds left in the game. With the score tied, 4-4, in the second period, Ted Viles of LeSnappe stole the puck and broke in clean on Sullivan goalie Mike Oliva. Oliva came out to block down the angle but Viles shifted to his right and beat him. Dan Begun of Sullivan had his first hat trick.

The standings: AGWIAB, 6-2-3; Finley's, 6-2-3; Roman Gardens, 6-3-2; LeSnappe Rouge, 4-6-1; Sullivan Ice, 3-6-2; Varmints, 2-8-1.

12 Quincy, North Players Inducted Into Football Hall Of Fame

By TOM SULLIVAN

Twelve Quincy, former Quincy and North Quincy football players were inducted into the Sports Hall of Fame, two of them posthumously, at the annual dinner here at Molineville High School.

Pete Zoia, coach of the school's football team, presided over the 20th anniversary dinner and named the inductees.

Inductees included:

FRAN LACEY (1963-64): Three-year starter and captain in 1964. He was named the best player in the Quincy game in 1964.

BILL HANSON (1965-66): Three-year starter and captain in 1966. He was named the best player in the Quincy game in 1966.

DANNY DUNLOP (1967-68): Three-year starter and captain in 1968. He was named the best player in the Quincy game in 1968.

JOHN BOGAN (1958-60): All-scholastic lineman who later was a three-year starter and All-East selection at Northeastern University. Former Quincy assistant coach and a long-time coach and physical education instructor at Broad Meadows Middle School.

JOHN PICARSKI (1962-63): Three-year starter and captain his senior year, was awarded the Jack Granville Memorial award as the best Quincy player in the North Quincy game.

ROBIN CARRERA (1971-73): A three-year starter and captain in 1973, he was a league all-star and awarded the Granville Award, started at Plymouth State College, was selected to the all-Northeast England team, coached at Plymouth State and later at the University of New Haven. Started the careers of many Quincy and North Quincy players at Plymouth State.

INDUCTED POSTHUMOUSLY was CRIG CAPACIOLI (1940-42), named the all-league all-scholastic team.

THE LATE BOB MORTON (1970-72): A resident of Long Beach, Calif., was unable to attend ceremonies and his plaque was accepted by his father. He was a three-year starter at quarterback, played four years at Holy Cross where he was the starting quarterback for three years and tried out for the New York Giants, being one of the last to be cut.

INDUCTED POSTHUMOUSLY was TOM UNDERWOOD (1937-39), named to all the all-scholastic teams. A prisoner of war during World War II, he died from an illness related to his POW days.

RAYNER introduced the following former inductees, who returned to help honor this year's selection:

ZOIA expressed the committee's thanks to John Bogan and Dan McPhee for their efforts in making the evening a success.

Paul Bregoli began his ninth year as North Quincy girls' basketball team coach when the Raiders opened their season Tuesday at Everett.

Bregoli has led the North girls to the Eastern Mass. tournament five times in eight years and he is hopeful the team will qualify again this season.

North again will be a senior-laden team. Returning senior starters are tri-captain Paula Tolson and Deirdre Murphy, expected to carry the offensive load. Tolson, a Suburban League all-star last year, is a fine outside shooter and Murphy, a 5-10 forward, averaged eight points and seven rebounds a game as a junior. "I feel she should double her output in both areas," Bregoli said.

Tri-Capt Kellene Duffy will handle the point guard duties. Debbie Panaro, the other tri-captain, will swing between guard and forward. She will be expected to help out on the boards and cover the opponents' top offensive players.

Rounding out the starting five will be six-foot senior center Karin Reister. She had a fine second half last year, will be a force on the boards and will be expected to contribute some inside shooting.

Also expected to see a good deal of action are juniors Kerry Tolson, last year's leading junior varsity scorer, Christine Salton, a 5-4 guard, Tricia Mitton, 5-5 guard, an outside scoring threat, and Kara Sullivan, 5-5 sophomore guard, who led last year's freshman team in scoring.

Others are Shelley Lane, 5-3 forward, Theresa Twyer, 5-5 guard, Tara Miles, 5-5 sophomore guard, and Joanna Rugnetta, 5-9 sophomore center.

"Our team will be young in experience, but they have been part of a program that has a tradition of winning so they expect nothing else from themselves. Our senior group is a fine group. They hustle and work hard. Their leadership throughout the season will be important to the team's success. We also have some younger people who will contribute."

"Traditionally we have always found ways to replace those who have graduated. Although it will be difficult to replace Nancy Flukes, who set 18 school records, this group is certainly able to play a difficult style of basketball and still meet with success."

Ken Panaro is back as North's junior varsity coach and Earl Mettler has returned as freshman coach.

Quincy Opens Season

The Quincy High girls' basketball team opened its season Tuesday night against Medford as Doug MacFarlane began his third year as coach.

The First Ladies will play at Peabody Friday.

MacFarlane was greeted by a turnout of 40 but the team is very young and inexperienced with only two seniors, Kim Robertson and Sharon Goodman.

Juniors are Jane Austin, Lisa Connolly, Marsha Goodman, Violet Kambanis, Kathy Kane, Jane McMakin, Andrea Mohr, Lisa Morrell, Lynn Rimovitz, Maureen Shea, Carmin Wergin and Suzanne Carinci.

Sophomores are returning letterman Christine Barrett and Jennifer Richmond, Anne Wong, Jennifer Verlicco, Kim Va, Melanie Sullivan, Chris Ross, Dale Parry, Joan O'Connor, Julie McCloskey, Ann Kane, Jennifer Dondoro, Erin Doherty, Jennifer D'Alessandro, Maureen Cully, Kerri Calhoun and Amey Baker. Promising freshmen are Tricia Vacca, Dina Speranzo, Holly McDonough, Kim Marsden, Rita Lei and Rebecca Leong.

"This is going to be a classic rebuilding year with no experience, no size and a very young group," said MacFarlane. "The girls are very enthusiastic and are working very hard to learn, which are the ingredients for a good team in the future."

—TOM SULLIVAN

Squirt Bs Move Up To Open Division

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team, sponsored by Cablevision, moved up to the open division of the Greater Boston League with an impressive 7-1-0 record.

The team rolled over Westwood, 16-3, paced by Shawn McOmney's four goals. John Ryan had three, Chris Grant, Jimmy Gallagher and Jimmy Kelley two apiece and Joe Bracken, Joshua Wingate and Matt Iarnis one each. Gallagher had six assists, Robbie Pirelli three.

Grant, Eric Oliva and Tom Moriarty two each and John Manning, Wingate, Kelley and Ryan one apiece.

Quincy also rolled over Parkway, 12-0; Kelley, Grant and Moriarty, who scored Quincy's 100th goal, did some solid backchecking and Moriarty was awarded the game puck. Bracken was named the defensive player of the month of November.

Gallagher had a hat trick, Grant, Manning, Moriarty and Kelley two goals each and Wingate one. Grant had five assists, Gallagher four, Pirelli and Ryan two apiece and McOmney, Manning, Oliva, Moriarty and Kelley one each.

Quincy 'Hoop Shoot' Competition Starts

The Quincy Recreation Department and the Quincy Lodge of Elks will once again co-sponsor the City of Quincy Championship in the Elks National "Hoop Shoot." Free Throw Contest.

The Quincy competition is the first step in a national contest for boys and girls age 8-13. Contestants are assigned to three separate age categories, and a boys and girls division. Age groups are 8-9, 10-11, and 12-13. The contestants age is determined by their age on April 1st, 1989.

Over 3,000,000 boys and girls will participate nationally in this annual contest. The participants are awarded points for successful free throws. The boys and girls in the 8-9 age group will shoot from four feet in front of the regulation foul line.

The program will be supervised in neighborhood gymnasiums by recreation leaders assigned to regular recreation programs in that area. The program is free and contestants may participate even if not previously enrolled in the recreation program.

Barry J. Welch, Recreation Director said, "We are pleased that the Quincy Lodge of Elks has once again provided this program for the benefit of our participants. Many Quincy residents have in the past enjoyed the benefits of this activity at the local, regional and state level."

The Quincy Lodge Chairman is Ed Miller.

former North Quincy High School coach, who now coaches at Marshfield High School.

The first round of the Quincy contest schedule:

Saturday, Dec. 17 — 9:30 a.m. Sterling Middle; 9:30 a.m. Atlantic Middle.

Quincy Girl In 'Nutteracker'

Amy Vermette, 10-year old daughter of Gil and Marybeth Vermette of North Quincy, is a party girl in "The Nutcracker" at The Wang Center for the Performing Arts, now through Dec. 31.

A student at the Boston Ballet School who takes ballet class three times a week all year, this is her fourth year in "The Nutcracker" and she performs in a new part. Last May she was a fairy in "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream", and she also participated in the Boston Ballet School's two-week intensive summer program.

More than 180 young dancers from the Metropolitan Boston area are performing in "The Nutcracker" as toy soldiers, baby mice, reindeer, polichinelles and party children.

Tickets are available by calling Ticketmaster at 787-8000, or in person at The Wang Center Box Office, 270

Two Holiday Segments Featured On QJC Video Magazine

Two holiday segments will be featured on this week's edition of the Quincy Junior College Video Magazine to air tonight (Thursday) at 9 p.m. on Channel 3 in Quincy, Milton and Randolph. First, this past semester has seen a tremendous influx of foreign students to QJC with more than 100 successfully enrolled.

In an attempt to provide after-class activities, an international student club was formed. Their first sponsored event was an international food fair which was held in the student lounge in Coddington Hall.

The QJC Video Magazine visits this special event for a report.

In the program's second segment, highlights of the annual Christmas Party for children of students will be featured.

The party includes Christmas music, entertainment and a visit from Santa Claus.

Quincy Community Television Children's Christmas Party Dec. 22

Quincy Community Television will hold their annual "Children's Christmas Party" on Thursday, Dec. 22 at 6 p.m.

This year's activities include tree decorating, sing-alongs, storytelling and a chance to visit Santa Claus. Quincy children ages four to seven are invited to participate but space is limited.

To register call 471-9609 by Wednesday, Dec. 21. The party will be broadcast live on Quincy Community

Television Channel 3 beginning at 6 p.m. and rerun Friday, Dec. 23 at 4:30 p.m.

Turner Network Joins Continental

Continental Cablevision of Quincy announces the launching of Turner Network Television (TNT) effective

WEEK OF: December 15

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

"Ask a busy person and you'll get the job done." That expression relates to you: no matter how much there is on your plate, you feel the responsibility to help when the job must be done. The next six months focus on professional assignments that reflect personal interests. Enhanced personal relationships form the theme of late 1989.

AQUARIUS - January 21 - February 19

Avoid testing anyone's patience, as the people around you may be temporarily touchy. New relationship has signs of growth potential. Educational interest may lead to travel.

PISCES - February 20 - March 20

Last minute changes, new faces, creative challenges - all these and more are part of a busy week's picture. News from a very dear friend brings warmth to your home.

ARIES - March 21 - April 20

Be careful not to divide your attention into too many small pieces. Recent misunderstanding is cleared up. You get the green light to take charge of a prestigious task.

TAURUS - April 21 - May 22

Sticking to the tried and true and avoiding the latest fads earn you the respect of your peers. Good week for encouraging shy youngsters to express themselves.

GEMINI - May 23 - June 21

You receive a bouquet in the form of praise - but there's little time to rest on those laurels. Workload is building gradually but steadily. Friendship provides change of pace.

CANCER - June 22 - July 22

Relax heavily on the advice of peers and follow your own instincts. Steady progress is made as you rebuild a relationship. Negotiating is a current strong point.

LEO - July 23 - August 22

Communication from relatives answers a nagging question. Small but luxurious item may come your way at the weekend. Great week for making plans to update your skills.

VIRGO - August 23 - September 22

Your own personal touches make the difference between a merely successful and a memorable event. If traveling, allow for detours. Health department requires commonsense approach.

LIBRA - September 23 - October 22

An excellent week for communicating your special thoughts to a special friend. You're articulate on the job too, but timing is essential. Explore opportunity for influencing children.

SCORPIO - October 23 - November 21

An alert Scorpio can make key strides in educational or professional arena. Partner is more willing to compromise. Taking journey of your home can lead to pleasant surprises.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22 - December 22

Your sense of good cheer is infectious. Good week to draft your academic plans for the coming year. In areas of dress and diet, be extra sensible.

CAPRICORN - December 23 - January 20

A long-overdue communication may arrive this week. Be extra sensitive in drafting your reply. A recent missed opportunity may present itself again this week.

PERSONALS

PRAYER OF APPLICATION TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, who light all roads so that I can attain my goal, you who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evil against me and who in all instances of my life are with me, I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you and even in spite of all material illusion I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Repeat this prayer 3 consecutive days After 3 days the favor will be granted even though it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after favor is granted without mentioning the favor.

Christopher Phelan To Be Tobin's Legislative Aide

Representative-elect A Stephen Tobin of the second Norfolk District, Quincy, announces that Christopher Phelan of Wollaston will join his staff in the position of legislative aide.

Phelan will begin his fulltime duties with the commencement of the next legislative session on January 4th.

"Chris was one of my key organizers in the recent elections," Tobin said. "He proved he has the skills, the work ethic and the personality to assist me in meeting the challenges that lie ahead."

Phelan, 30, is married to the former Cindy White. They have a three year old daughter, Leah.

Both Phelan and his wife are lifelong residents of Wollaston.

A Merrier Christmas

370 Food Baskets Distributed To Needy Families

By JANE ARENA

Many of Quincy's needy families and children will have a merrier Christmas and holiday season thanks to the efforts of several local organizations and residents who donated time, money and support in the spirit of the season.

Because of the generosity and good will of so many, local organizations were able to distribute 370 food baskets, toys and games, articles of winter clothing, and also provide shelter and a holiday dinner for the homeless.

The Koch Club, Quincy Lodge of Elks, Salvation Army, Father Bill's Shelter for the homeless, and many churches and other organizations and residents combined their efforts to bring holiday cheer to those less fortunate.

The Koch Club and its Charitable Committee, now in its 33rd year, distributed 70 food baskets on Wednesday night, as well as toys and games to households with young children.

The food baskets were filled with turkeys, hams, canned foods, fruits and vegetables.

The food baskets were distributed through the Department of Social Services, the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, St. Vincent De Paul and the Koch Club's own organization.

According to Tom Koch of the Koch Club, they were able to accomplish this project only with the continued support of so many groups and individuals who annually donate food, toys, and/or funds to the cause.

Those providing assistance this year include Father Charles Higgins and the Sacred Heart Church CYO, and the Squantum Yacht Club.

Koch also thanked Ray Cattaneo, executive director of the city's park, forestry and cemetery departments, and Frank Nestor for their continued support and generosity.

In total the Koch Club raised $3,500 this year from individuals and families as well as organizations and businesses.

Also contributing to the cause once again, The Quincy Lodge of Elks and the Ladies of the Quincy Emblem Club have distributed 150 food baskets and 20 fruit baskets to Quincy's needy. In addition they also hosted a Christmas dinner of roast beef for 150 Quincy senior citizens at their lodge on Squantum St. last week.

The Quincy Lodge of Elks also took their Christmas cheer to the VA Hospital in Jamaica Plain where they handed out 100 small fruit bags and performed a four act Christmas variety show.

Helping at the hospital was Red Sox star pitcher Louis Tiant who gave out hundreds of autographed photos.

The Salvation Army did more than their share again this year, planning to distribute an estimated 130-plus food baskets as well as food vouchers for the city's needy. The Salvation Army will also give toys to children through age 12 and hand-knitted mittens and hats.

Father Bill's Place shelter for the homeless will provide shelter for about 30 to 40 people this Christmas, according to George Arlington of Father Bill's Place. They will also give Christmas presents and provide a Christmas dinner for those would otherwise go without.

In Quincy, just as in cities and towns all over the world, the holiday season will be a little bit brighter for the needy because of the concern and support of others.

Early News Deadline For Next Week's Sun

The Quincy Sun will be closed Monday, Jan. 2 because of the New Year's holiday.

Because of this, there will be an early news deadline for next week's Quincy Sun.

All news, church and sports releases must be in The Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

by tomorrow (Friday) to assure publication in next week's issue.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Happy Holidays.

Readers Forum Litter And Fast Food Restaurants

Editor, The Quincy Sun.

There have been numerous attempts over the past few years to make Quincy cleaner, yet none have successfully addressed its major source of litter: franchise convenience stores and fast food restaurants.

The problem at these establishments is twofold. First, customers either use the parking lots for disposing of coffee cups, lids, napkins and straws, or when they attempt to use the barrels they find them overfilled. The owners or managers then fail to adequately police the area. The second part of the problem is that litter blows away while the barrels are being emptied into the dumpsters. That which does make it into the dumpster escapes due to the failure of the establishments to cover them.

While realizing that nothing is as easy as it seems, I believe the city can resolve this problem with a simple, cost effective program. Through the licensing procedure it should mandate that all new food and convenience establishments that would, under existing ordinance, require a dumpster instead have trash compacting dumpsters connected directly to the buildings. This would eliminate trash flying from open dumpsters. Existing establishments would be given a limited period of time to conform so as to minimize the economic impact of the ordinance. Additionally, both fines and enforcement efforts should be increased for those failing to clean their parking lots and abutting areas.

The economic cost to the city of such an ordinance would be virtually nothing. As for businesses, it would prove in the long run to be quite affordable and with the trash compacting aspect, possibly more cost effective than current disposal methods. As to any possible costs, the benefits are far greater: neater establishments, cleaner streets, and a renewed pride in our City as we begin our next 100 years.

O'Connell 'Very Serious'

Quincy developer Peter O'Connell is within an inch or two of entering next year's mayoral ring.

Will he actually step in?
If you press him, you'll get a smile and a "I'm-thinking-about-it."

But those close to him say he is "very serious" about running and they wouldn't be surprised to see an announcement very soon. Probably in January.

O'Connell's entrance certainly would have a major impact on Election Year, '89.

Although he has never run for public office, he is as well known as anyone who might be running for mayor next year. Or any running for governor for that matter.

He's popular. He's respected. He's honest. His development firm has a reputation for "class." When they build or do anything, it's done the right way.

The firm and O'Connell have a good track record. The bottom line: they can be trusted.

Buy why would O'Connell want to be mayor of Quincy -- a job that quickly becomes thankless after inauguration day?

Again, those close to him put it this way: "He says Quincy has been good to him and he wants to give Quincy something back."

Himself. They will also tell you there are things in Quincy that bother O'Connell. He thinks a lot more could be done to make the downtown more viable. He thinks there is waste that could be eliminated. Money could be better spent. The operation of the city could be done with more efficiency.

In short, he would run it in a true business-like manner. And, he certainly knows how to run a business. If he gets into the race, he would be a most formidable candidate even though he would be making his political debut.

He would give the other candidates -- sure or potential -- incumbent Frank McCauley, Steve McGrath, James Sheets, Joseph LaRana or anyone else -- a lot to think about.

Is he really as serious as those close to him think?

Well, notes one, he's talking about taking a leave of absence from his company.

And O'Connell plans to officially inform the other candidates before making his announcement.

O'CONNELL

MEANWHILE, Mayor McCauley takes a little issue with last week's column in which we said there may be signs he will not be seeking a fifth term next year.

One sign we pointed to was his stand on Question 2 on the November ballot. He publicly urged a "yes" vote to repeal the prevailing wage law. Labor successfully campaigned for a "no" vote.

We said that by taking the stand he did, McCauley was kissing the labor vote goodbye if he should run for re-election.

But, says McCauley, that doesn't mean he's not running.

"Labor never endorsed or supported me anyway," he says. "Even though I have been a good friend of labor by supporting development."

We also noted that he had an open bar at his annual holiday party at the Neighborhood Club. Wouldn't he be saving his money for his campaign if he were going to run?

"Doesn't mean a thing," says McCauley. "I always have an open bar when tickets are $50 or more. I think someone buying a ticket for $50 ought to be able to get a drink for his money."

"Besides," he adds, "the fact that I had a party could be an indication that I am running again."

Well, then, is he running for re-election?

"I still intend to make that decision and announcement in January."

Then, he added:

"And, I'm going to be tough to beat."

Then he is running?

"I'll let you know in January."

WHAT DO I DO IN THE CASE OF AN ACCIDENT?

An auto accident is an emotional trauma which you may experience at some point in your life. Although difficult, it is a time to keep your wits about you. Remember, your insurance agency must know about the other party. Whether the police arrive or not, here are some important facts needed to handle your claim professionally.

Ask the driver of the other vehicle for their license and registration. This will provide you with their name, address, and driver's license, as well as its plate number. Be sure to ask for the name of their insurance company. Next, make a diagram of how the accident happened while it is still fresh in your mind. Also write down the names, addresses, and phone numbers of any witnesses.

This may seem like a lot of information to gather during a stressful moment, but, in a majority of cases, the other party's version will tend to be different the next day. Your diligence at the scene may mean a great deal in the settlement of the claim.

At Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc., our insurance professionals are happy to discuss the many protection options available today. Please give us a call at 471-6200 or stop by our office at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

Kiwanis Raises $632 For Salvation Army

The Kiwanis Club of Quincy raised $632 for the Salvation Army annual Christmas Kettle Appeal on Saturday, bringing the Kiwanis Club's total to $3,090 raised for the Salvation Army since 1983.

Twenty-two members of the club collected donations in front of Child World on Hancock St. during Saturday's snowstorm.

Despite the weather, Win Bettinson of the Kiwanis Club of Quincy, said they did even better than last year.

Five members of the Kiwanis Club are on the Salvation Army Advisory Board: Charles Simpson, Robert Bunstein, Ronald McKee, Sen. Paul Harold, and Win Bettinson.

Suggest 'Elevator' Pay Plan For City Employees

City Councillor Louis A. George was seeking quick action on a Quincy Taxpayers Association suggestion that the pay of city employee be adjusted up or down annually according to the cost of living.

"Personally," said Council President William W. Jenness, "I would favor such a plan, although I would not favor a cut of wages below the base rate now in effect."

The QTA submitted its plan two weeks before during the same City Council meeting at which representatives of the Fire and Police Departments asked for 15 percent wage increases.

Baked Lasagne With Cottage Cheese

Here it is Christmas week and some of us have to cook regardless.

This year, I am baking lasagne with cottage cheese instead of ricotta. After my friend Esther brought some over one day and used the cottage cheese, I'd forgotten that years back my mother used to use it all the time, especially to cut down on the fats. The strange thing about it, is that it tastes better and cuts nicer. You can also use part skim milk mozzarella cheese along with the layers if you wish.

the cottage cheese plain without adding eggs like you do for the ricotta.

Layer the lasagne with first a little sauce on the bottom of the pan. Then the lasagne, the cottage cheese, smoothing it out over all the layer. Then the sauce and then the mozzarella and continue until done. Sometimes I also use one layer of cooked spinach placed in the center of all the layers. That is optional, of course. Bake in a 350 degree oven until bubbly.

It takes about 45 minutes. Let cool for at least 10 minutes for nicer cutting. Happy Holidays!

McGrath Reintroduces Local Hiring Preference Ordinance

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A local hiring preference ordinance that passed the City Council but was vetoed by the mayor in October was reintroduced with modifications at Monday night's City Council meeting.

The ordinance was reintroduced by Councilors Stephen McGrath, Michael Cheney and Patricia Toland.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley vetoed the original ordinance a week after it unanimously passed the council because he said it was restrictive and unconstitutional.

The ordinance calls for Quincy residents to be hired on a preferential basis on constructional projects wholly or partially funded by the city.

According to McGrath, the revised ordinance addresses the problems the mayor cited when he vetoed it.

On Tuesday morning, McCauley said he would reserve comment on the new ordinance until he takes a "close look at it."

After the revised ordinance was introduced, it was referred to the Ordinance Committee.

A public hearing on the matter is expected to be held shortly after the new year.

Originally, the measure called for contractors to hire qualified Quincy residents by a two to one ratio on any constructional project funded in whole or in part by city funds. This would apply to any project costing $10,000 or more.

Under the revised ordinance, qualified residents would be given preference on a one to three basis on any project which has a projected cost of more than $250,000.

In making this change, McGrath pointed out that the $10,000 threshold would have affected some rehabilitation and other smaller projects in the city which the council had not intended.

As for modifying the hiring percentage ratio from two to one (50 percent) to one to three (33 percent), McGrath said the new ratio would be "more likely to have a constitutional quality than any other hiring percentage."

"As the preference percentage goes higher, the constitutional dangers become higher as well," he said, noting that he consulted with a labor union counsel before drafting the change.

When he vetoed the first ordinance in October, McCauley cited an opinion by the Supreme Judicial Court that said a hiring preference of Massachusetts residents when "critical unemployment conditions" were met violated the U.S. Constitution's privileges and immunities clause.

Phelan Stymied

McCauley Blocks Police 'Promotion Within'

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A home rule petition that would require supervisory positions at the Quincy Police Department be filled only by members of the department appears to have no chance of going to the State Legislature.

The petition, introduced by Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan at Monday's City Council meeting, does not have the needed support of Mayor Francis McCauley.

"I am opposed to the charter change. I think it puts too much restriction on the mayor. I will not be endorsing this," McCauley said Tuesday.

Without the mayor's favorable approval, the petition will not reach the state legislature. A home-rule petition needs legislative approval before it can change a city's charter.

As drafted by City Solicitor Joseph "Jay" MacRitchie, the petition calls for the mayor to appoint to any vacancy in the position of sergeant, lieutenant, captain or chief of police in Quincy "only a person who, prior to said appointment, serves as a member of the Quincy Police Department."

An amendment offered by Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney that would have changed the reading to include former members of the department was not seconded and thus failed.

Currently, supervisory positions are filled by a mayor's appointment from a list of qualified candidates who successfully pass a Civil Service examination.

This arrangement includes going outside the department, which was the case when the mayor called for a state-wide chief of police examination to be held in February.

The decision angered some city councillors who have said there is no reason to go outside the Quincy Police Department to fill vacancies.

Councillors, including Phelan, have stated that the department contains many qualified officers who would make outstanding supervisory officers, including chief of police.

On the other hand, McCauley has advocated that supervisory positions should be opened up to officers outside the department through state-wide examinations as a way to attract superior officers from all over the state.

"This open competitive exam will allow us to draw from all over the state," the mayor said when he announced his decision for a state-wide police chief examination.

This explanation is the reason why the mayor said Tuesday he will not support the home rule petition.

According to McCauley, a state-wide examination is a "good tool for the mayor to use."

"Going state-wide gives us the opportunity to look outside — it gives us a more competitive draw."

Phelan, chairman of the council's Public Safety Committee, said he introduced the home-rule petition for two main reasons.

"One, I feel we have some excellent candidates in the Quincy Police Department who would make fine police chiefs."

"I can see if you have to go outside because you don't have qualified people but since we do have qualified people, people who scored the highest marks on the state exams, I don't see the reason for going outside the city," he said.

Phelan also said that many successful companies in private industry prosper because they promote from within.

By doing this, he said, "it gives people incentive to educate themselves, to improve themselves and the quality of their job."

"I think it's very important that we send a message to the Quincy Police Department that we're going to support them and we want to see them continue on and to be more professional and to seek more education and I think this will send a very clear message," he said.

Several councillors voiced their approval for the petition.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said "I think it's a very, very fine thing to do. I think it's important for the Quincy Police Department to know that we as a council support them and appreciate the work they do."

Christmas Eve Pageant At First Squantum Church

The annual Christmas pageant of the First Church of Squantum will be held at the church on Christmas Eve at 7 p.m. The candlelight service will be held at 11 p.m.

Last week's Sunday morning sermon was entitled "Invitation to the Shepherds" by church pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin. The morning began with an every-member breakfast, the proceeds of which went to support youth ministries of the church.

Ian MacRitchie, Matthew Potter, Kate Johnson and James Potter assisted the pastor in lighting the candles in the Advent wreath. The chancel was decorated with banks of poinsettias arranged by Kim Olsen.

Organist Mary Ruth Scott and pianist Janet Williamson accompanied as the congregation sang. The Junior Choir and the Chancel Choir sang.

Greeters were Kate MacRitchie and Beth Harper. Harry Holmes and Stewart Scott were ushers. May Lewis and Hazel Mayne hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

Christmas Sunday service will be held at 7 p.m.

3 Christmas Services At Bethany

At Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy, the Nativity of Jesus Christ will be celebrated at three worship services.

Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, at 7 p.m. there will be a brief (45-minute) Family Service. Lighting of the Advent and Christ candles will be led by Mrs. Carolyn Leuchte and her children, Eric, John, Elizabeth and Rebecca. The Bethany Folk singers, led by Margaret Fernald and Tori Huntington, guitarists, will sing two Christmas lullabies, "Still, Still, Still" and "Rocking", Austrian and Czech carols.

Children are encouraged to bring stuffed animals to the service as part of the "Manger Scene" in the chancel. The Rev. Joel Huntington, associate minister, will make brief comments on the animals and the First Christmas, and Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will have a story for the children. The Cherub Choir will sing the spiritual, "Mary Had a Baby."

At 11 p.m. on Christmas Eve, the traditional candlelighting and carol service will be held. For the preludes, Charles J. Blue, Sr., organist, and Edmund Aluisi, clarinetist, will play a selection from Mozart's "Concerto", and with violinists Pauline Rowe and George Vallatini, will present the "Pastoral Symphony" from Handel's "Messiah". Pamela Wolfe, soprano soloist, will sing Handel arias, "Come Unto Him, All Ye That Labor" and "Let the Bright Seraphim." The congregation will join with Ms. Wolfe in singing Adam's "O Holy Night."

The lighting of the Advent and Christ candles at this 11 p.m. service will be by Harry F. Massey, Jr. and daughters, Linda and Kris. Rev. Huntington will be liturgist. The Christmas meditation by Rev. Arnold will be, "Be Not Afraid." Meditative music will be Brahms' arrangement of "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming." The service will climax with the lighting of individual candles by the attending, prayers, carols, and chimes at midnight.

Christmas Sunday at 10 a.m. there will be a 45-minute Christmas celebration in the sanctuary. The chapel service and Sunday School classes will be omitted. Children may attend the worship with their families. Nursery and toddler care will be provided. Robert Peoples and Marsha Archer, with her daughters, Janette and Holly, will light the Advent and Christ candles.

The Chancel Choir, accompanied by guitarist Tori Huntington, will sing "Glory be to God in Heaven" and "Glory to God in the Highest." The Bethany Folk singers, accompanied by Tori Huntington and Margaret Fernald, will lead the congregation in a medley of carols.

"All the Difference in the World" will be the Christmas meditation by the Rev. Arnold. Jean Ross will be lay Scripture reader. Rev. Huntington will offer the Christmas prayer.

The Christmas morning worship will be broadcast "live" direct from Bethany's sanctuary at 10 a.m. over radio station WJIA.

Following the service there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor.

All services are open to the community and visitors are welcome. Additional information concerning Bethany's ministries may be obtained by calling 479-7300. The Church office.

Expanded Pool Program For School Vacations

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, announces that the Quincy Recreation Department will supervise the pool at the Lincoln Hancock Community School on an expanded schedule during the school vacation period.

Welch said the pool will operate on a special day schedule, Tuesday, Dec. 27, Wednesday, Dec. 28, Thursday, Dec. 29, and Friday, Dec. 30.

The program is for youngsters age 6 to high school and will be conducted from 2 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. The swims will be supervised by the Recreation Department Aquatic Staff. Participants may use their regular pool participation card or pay a guest fee at the door. Parents who accompany youngsters may also swim at that time.

This day program is for additional hours of swimming, the normal evening schedule departmental swims will still be held, Tuesday, Dec. 27, Wednesday Dec. 28, Thursday, Dec. 29, and Friday, Dec. 30. The pool will be closed Sunday, Dec. 25, and Monday, Dec. 26, Sunday Jan. 1, and Jan. 2. Normal programs will resume Jan. 3, at 5:30 p.m.

Additional information is available by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

CHRISTMAS IN CHURCH

lights the way to the spirit and brotherhood of Christmas

The Christmas Story

Luke, 2, 1-14. At that time, there went forth a decree from Caesar Augustus that a census of the whole world should be taken. The first census took place while Cyrenus was governor of Syria.

And all were going each to his own town, to register.

And Joseph also sent from Galilee out of the town of Nazareth into Judea to the town of David, which is called Bethlehem - because he was of the house and family of David - to register, together with Mary his espoused wife, who was with child.

And it came to pass while they were there, that the days for her to be delivered were fulfilled.

And she brought forth her first-born Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the Inn.

And there were shepherds in the same district living in the fields and keeping watch over their flock by night.

And behold, an angel of the Lord stood by them and the glory of God shone round them, and they feared exceedingly.

And the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy which shall be to all the people, for today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you. Who is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign to you, you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angels a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men of good will."

Two Christmas Eve Services At Bethany

At Bethany Congregational Church, Spear and Coddington Sts., there will be two Christmas Eve celebrations on Saturday, Dec. 24.

A Family Service at 7 p.m. will be about 45 minutes in length. This will include carols and special music by the Cherub Choir and the Bethany Folksingers.

At 11 p.m. there will be the traditional Christmas Eve candlelighting and carol service. Special music will be provided by Pauline Rowe and George Vallatini, violinists, with Charles J.

Blue, Sr., organist, and Pamela Wolfe, soprano soloist.

Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will lead a brief meditation. The service will climax with the lighting of individual candles by each worshipper, prayers, carols, and chimes at midnight.

All services are open to the community and visitors are welcome.

For information about Bethany's ministries and programs, those interested may call the Church Office, 479-7300.

Christmas Eve Candlelight Service At First Parish

On Christmas Eve, Saturday, Dec. 24, at 7:30 p.m., United First Parish Church (Unitarian), "Church of the Presidents," will hold its traditional Candlelight Christmas Eve Service.

The service, in the decorated sanctuary, will include carols, choir anthems, and readings.

Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will deliver a brief message and offer a prayer for Christmas. Near the close of the service, candlelight will be passed throughout the congregation as everyone sings "Silent Night, Holy Night" by the light of the candles.

The Church Choir, under the direction of Norman Corey, organist, will sing three choral anthems: "O Little Town of Bethlehem," by Schroeder, "From Heaven on High I Come to You," by Schein, and "The Angel's Carol," by Billings. Mr. Corey will also play organ works by Bach, Pachelbel, and Buschulte.

Young people of the church will serve as greeters, ushers and candlelighters. They are Jamie Beauchamp, Gabrielle Bennett, Zoe Bohl, Eddie Costello, Anthe Kelley, Alanna Keto, and Stephanie Post. Zoe Bohl and Eurydice Kelley will also do readings.

Historic First Parish is located at 1306 Hancock St. (opposite City Hall) in Quincy Center. Visitors of all faiths are cordially invited to attend (774-1290 for information).

Special Children's Mass At Blessed Sacrament

A special Children's Mass will be held at 5 p.m. at Most Blessed Sacrament Church on Christmas Eve. The Youth Choir will sing.

There will also be an 8 p.m. Mass, which takes the place of the Midnight Mass. The Adult Choir will sing. Confessions on Saturday

Eve of Christmas will be heard from 11 a.m. to 12 noon and from 4 to 4 p.m.

There will be two Masses on Christmas Day, at 8:30 and at 10:30 a.m.

Rev. Denis O'Driscoll is pastor; Rev. Joseph P. Veneto, Senior Priest in Residence.

Two Services At Good Shepherd

Two Christmas services will be held at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd at Harvard and West Squantum Sts. in North Quincy, to which the community is invited.

Rev. Ross Goodman will lead a candlelight Christmas Eve service beginning at 5 p.m. Saturday (Dec. 24). The Holy Eucharist service will feature special music by the children of the Sunday School and the church choir.

A Christmas Sunday Holy Eucharist service will begin at 10:30 a.m. There will be no Sunday School Christmas Day.

Child care is provided at both services.

10 Christmas Masses At St. John's

Ten Masses for Christmas Eve and Christmas Day are scheduled at St. John the Baptist Church, 44 School St., Quincy.

All those attending any of these Masses are asked to bring a bell of any kind to augment the holiday singing of congregation and choir.

Christmas Eve Masses will be at 4 p.m., with services both upstairs and downstairs including congregational singing; at 5:30 p.m., upstairs with congregational singing; at 7:30 p.m., upstairs, with a family liturgy and folk group participating.

Two 12 midnight Masses will be celebrated. Upstairs, there will be a choir Mass with guest instrumentalists. Downstairs, there will be congregational singing with Schola and guest instrumentalists. Caroling at 11:30 p.m. will precede the Midnight Mass.

On Christmas Day, the 7 and 8:15 a.m. Masses will include congregational singing. At 9:30 a.m. there will be a Choir Mass with Congregational singing and choir. The 11 a.m. Mass will be celebrated upstairs only, with family liturgy and folk group. At 12:30 p.m., the Mass will include congregational singing.

The 5:30 p.m. Mass will be omitted on Christmas Day.

'Born A Saviour'

Covenant Congregational Topic

The Christmas Sunday morning worship service at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., will begin at 10 a.m. Rev. Fred Lawson will preach on the topic "Born A Saviour." Sunday School will not be held.

The choir, directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, Minister of Music, will sing "Born Today" by Sweetinck. "The Holly and the Ivy" arranged by Boughton and "O Tannenbaum," a men's quartet, arranged by Shaw. The introit will be a traditional Swedish Christmas Carol, "Lyssna." Mr. Smith will play "Noel" by Daquin as prelude, "Break Forth, O Beateous, Heavenly Light" by Bach as offertory, and Handel's "Hallelujah" as postlude.

The greeters will be Mrs. Gitta Dano and her son in law, Gary Graves. A nursery is available for children age five and under. As Rev. Lawson will be doing a children's sermon, there will be no junior church.

The sanctuary will be decorated with the poinsettias placed in memory or honor of loved ones. The Naomi Christmas card tree is in the Narthex with a card from each church family.

For further information on any of the church's activities, call 479-5728.

Christmas Services At Point Congregational

All are invited to attend Christmas Eve and Christmas Day services at Quincy Point Congregational Church.

On Christmas Eve, there will be a "Family Candlelight Service" in the sanctuary at 7:30 p.m. This service is especially for young children, youth and their families and will portray "The Light Promised," "The Light Revealed," "The Light Received" and "The Light Shared."

This early evening service will also include a series of scripture lessons and Christmas carols, the lighting of the Christ Candle of the Advent Wreath and the lighting of individual candles from the Christ Candle. The Christmas Eve Meditation is titled "Rejoicing In the Light!"

Christmas Eve music will be by Dr. Herman Weiss, organist and choir director, the Church School Singers, the Chancel Choir and alto soloist Donna Baione.

The second Christmas Eve service will be a "Traditional Christmas Eve Candlelight Service," beginning at 10 p.m. This service is especially for adults, young people home from college, their families, friends and neighbors. The sanctuary will be decorated by the Altar and Flower Guild of the church, under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Carol McGhee. The aisleabra and candleabra will grace the sanctuary as the congregation participates in this service of readings from the birth narratives of the scriptures, the singing of familiar Christmas carols and the lighting of the Christ Candle of the Advent Wreath.

At the designated time the ushers will light the candles of evening worshippers, marking the birth of Jesus Christ for the world. The music selections will be the same as for the earlier service, with the exception of the Church School Singers who will sing only at the 7:30 p.m. service.

On Sunday, the Christmas service will be at 10 a.m. It will feature the familiar Christmas carols, the Chancel Choir, and alto soloist Donna Baione.

The Christmas Day Sermon is titled "Good News! Great Joy! To All People!" There will be a children's story for the children of the church.

Quincy Point Congregational Church is located at Washington St. and Southern Artery (Route 3A). Pastors are the Reverends Fred and Carol Atwood-Lyon.

Child Care is provided for Sunday morning services of worship; and there is plenty of off-street parking beside the church. For more information about the church, the Church School and services of worship, call the Church Office at 773-6424, Monday through Friday.

'The Joy Of Christmas'

Wollaston Congregational Topic

"The Joy of Christmas" will be the subject of the Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern, minister at Wollaston Congregational Church, at the 10 a.m. Christmas Day worship.

Lay Scripture reader will be Phyllis Dixon, and Erik Osier, will be acolyte. Paul and Mary Gifford will be greeters; and Henry McDaniel and Irene Olson, ushers.

Music will be provided by Donald A. Reade, organist and choir director.

Nursery care for all preschoolers is provided.

The annual family Christmas Eve service will be Saturday, Dec. 24, at 7 p.m. All members and friends are invited.

The "Pastoral Symphony" from Handel's "Messiah" will be the organ Voluntary. Paul Frazer, tenor soloist, will sing "O Holy Night" by Adam.

The junior choir will sing under the direction of Linda Walker, "Go Tell It On The Mountain" and the "Little Drummer Boy."

The annual Christmas dance, postponed because of the snowstorms, will be held Friday, Dec. 23, from 7 to 10:30 p.m. and is sponsored by the Youth Fellowship.

If I Could Have One Wish Come True . . .

Students in Quincy public schools again this year were invited to submit articles for the holiday season. This year's theme is: "If I could have one wish come true this Christmas-Chanukah-New Year, it would be:"

Students participating are in Grades 3, 5 and 8.

The Sun is happy to share these young thoughts with you at this season. Publishing these articles has become a tradition which all of us at The Sun look forward to and we hope, you do, too.

We want to thank Dr.

Innet DeTullio, Director of Curriculum in the Quincy Public School System and classroom teachers for their assistance.

We were again swamped with entries and because of space limitations we regret we cannot print every single article submitted.

So many others were worthy of publication, too.

We hope to publish more next week.

To all who participated we extend season's greetings and I hope, healthy, New Year.

Thank you all, most sincerely.

It would be that everyone have a house and food.

Chris DiMatteo
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would be to help the homeless, to give the homeless food, and hope they all have a good Christmas.

Jaclyn DuBois
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would be that everybody in the whole world wouldn't fight. That people wouldn't hurt each other and everyone would like each other.

Alicia Smith
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would be a brother. I have 5 sisters and no brothers. I just hope it comes true.

Danny Kane
Merrymount, Gr. 3

The wish I would want the most is for my grandfather. He died on October 27, 1988, 2 months exactly away from his birthday. His name was Michael P. King. I called him Dad. He was awesome. I miss him a lot. That's my wish.

Christopher Brundage
Parker, Gr. 3

To share the Christmas spirit with everyone, and let the world know that Christmas is a time for giving, hoping, wishing and laughing. It's a time to be with your family and friends and be kind to your fellow man.

Tracey Campbell
Montclair, Gr. 5

For Mary's son to feel better because he was born one month early. He is very sick. My mother friend Mary is his mother.

Michael Pohiere
Parker, Gr. 5

It would be to have people to think of Christmas as when Christ was born and not always presents.

Marisa Reddy
Parker, Gr. 5

I would like to have my three cats back. My cats' names were Moe, Fritz, and Crystal. Moe and Crystal both ran away at the same time somewhere. Fritz was an old cat he was about 14! He got sick and we had to put him to sleep, but I have a fourth cat and his name is Carl. We still have him, but he's still a little on the tubby side. So for my Christmas wish I'd like them back because nothing could replace them.

John Monti
Parker, Gr. 5

It would be for people to have homes because people without homes can be very cold in the winter and be very hot in the summer. They have to make fires to keep warm in the winter. They sweat in the summer. People without homes can be very sick. That's why we have to help them. We can help them by care of them, giving food and water supplies. So please help the homeless NOW.

Eric Neill
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be to be able to shelter all the homeless people in Massachusetts. I want them all to have a good home, good food, and people who care. I chose this wish because my mother works in a shelter and I know that many people in this world have no home. If my wish came true, I would be very pleased.

It would be to help the poor. I'd like everybody to give something, not to go out and buy something, just give something you don't need. I'd like that to happen because the poor don't get to celebrate Christmas or do other things like that. If that happened, it would be GREAT!

Erin Djeri
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be that someone would invent a cure for every disease so no one would get sick. In the winter, kids could go out and play all day. They would never catch a disease. In the summer they could go swimming every day of the week and not get sick.

Danny Hennessey
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be to help the poor people. I would give them food and a good home. I wish I could own a toy store. I wish for peace on Earth.

Kristy Deputa
Parker, Gr. 3

It would be for everybody to be safe and healthy. I would tell them not to stay out late. If they do they would wear bright clothes. I would tell them to eat good food and get plenty of rest. I wish God a happy birthday.

Paul Carney
Montclair, Gr. 3

It would be for my Grandmother and Grandfather to be happy with joy. We'd have a feast with all my family with good things to eat. Then we'd play with our presents.

Alex Jang
Montclair, Gr. 3

The wish I would make is that there would be no war. This wish is for the world, not just for me. That would be my wish.

Michael Soule
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be for my Grammy to get better. He's in a coma.

Nathan McMahon
F.W. Parker, Gr. 3

It would be that God did not die because He loves us and I love Him.

Nadine Shwartz
Parker, Gr. 3

It would be that there would be more shelter for the homeless. I think people should be a lucky as I am. I'm glad I'm not homeless.

Miranda Bohl
Parker, Gr. 3

It would be that Russia and the United States would be friends instead of enemies.

Danny Rudlon
Parker, Gr. 3

It would be that candy canes everywhere. I would be licking candy canes every day. Candy canes are my favorite on holidays. I would never stop licking them. I would give them to my grandmother. I would give them to everyone. Then everyone would be happy.

John Barron
Montclair, Gr. 3

If I could have a wish come true I would wish for everyone to be loved because lots of people do not have a home and are not loved. Their parents do not love them enough to care about them. They might die because they do not have enough food and because they have to steal food from the stores and other people.

Nicole Chenette
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be to give homes and clothes to the homeless and food to the people that don't have any food. I would give homes to the homeless because if I had no home I would like someone to give me a good home. I would give food to the people that don't have food because you need food to live and I like when people live. That is the wish I would like to come true this Christmas.

Maura O'Brien
Parker, Gr. 3

I wish for world peace because of all the bad things happening in the world. Some day I hope the world will be a drug free world, and I hope that all the elderly and homeless people will find shelter. I hope all the poor people will have a nice meal on Christmas Day and get to see all their relatives and friends.

Stephen Cannon
Parker, Gr. 5

It would be to have all of my friends and family live close by and to have my sister home from good from California and not just for Christmas. But I am happy anyway that she can come at all because I want to have fun with my sister and all the rest of my family and friends every day of my life.

Annie Bergen
Parker, Gr. 5

The wish I would make is to be a millionaire. I would share my money with the world. I would get shelter for the homeless people.

Jason W. Adams
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

I would wish for everybody to love each other and share and not fight. That's what I would wish for.

Christopher Leonard
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would be to have a dinosaur come to my house, for tea and cookies. Then we would play on the swings. I don't think he would fit on the swings, so just I would go on them. Then he would have to go home.

Leah Lorenzetti
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be for PEACE. People sharing happiness by giving gifts to each other.

Every house is lit up with lights in Christmas spirit.

At Christmas Santa comes and brings gifts to the little kids. Christmas is love and joy to all of us.

Every day I pray for the poor and homeless.

Christopher James Purtell
Squantum, Gr. 3

It would be to go to Colorado to see my Aunt Gizella and Uncle Mike.

Andrea Stevens
Squantum, Gr. 3

It would be for me to own a house for the homeless. I would build my house on a spare piece of land. I would let the homeless come in free. Most homeless die at winter. I will give warm clothes to wear. I want to help the homeless. I care for them.

Justin Marquis
Squantum, Gr. 3

If I Could Have One Wish Come True . . .

It would be to take a ride on Santa's sleigh and to go to his work shop. Then I would talk to the reindeer and then Santa would take me home.

Mark Miller
Merrymount School, Gr. 3

It would be for a free trip to Florida because it has lots of places to go and have fun.

Matthew Kazolias
Merrymount School, Gr. 3

It would be to get another baby sister. Because I could teach her to talk and walk and read.

Jacki Borden
Merrymount School, Gr. 3

It would be to see all of Santa's helpers. Because it would be fun to watch them make the toys. It would be a good day for the family too. That would be my wish.

Matthew McLaughlin
Montclair School, Gr. 3

It would be for a kitten in my stocking. I hope it would be black and white with blue eyes and a black nose with a dot of white and a red ribbon around its neck. It would be so cute and I would name her Holly and if it was a boy I would name him Sugar and Spice.

Julie Fitzgerald
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would be for many, merry healthy days to come for my family and for the one I love. My family and the people I love deserve it. No one in the world should be treated cruelly or with thoughtlessness. My family and others should have healthy and pleasant lives. I have heard so many sad stories from my parents and in life there are so many things that we like and so many that we dislike, but we can't control them. I wish all the people we enjoy could be with us all the time, especially our loved one.

My wish is not a simple wish, but it is an important one for me and I hope it comes true.

Mei Nor Chen
Atlantic, Gr. 8

It is December 19 and everyone is rushing around in the five below freezing weather making preparations for the upcoming Christmas. All the buying and selling and wrapping and hiding is slowly making me dizzy. Decorations, an old Christmas tradition, are being hung on the tree and all of the walls then the middle of it all I say to myself that it would be great if everybody on earth is happy this Christmas.

If I could have one wish this Christmas season, it would be that every person is joyful and content this year.

Mark Sinclair
Atlantic, Gr. 8

It would be to get my A.T.C. running. My friends have all helped very much and we have made alot of progress. I have one friend who's father owns a boat shop so, we do alot of work there. The best part about it is that I am getting all this work done for free. A lot of my friends are getting A.T.C.'s and dirt bikes and I want to be able to ride with them.

Joe Dorsey
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

It would be that all the homeless people had a home. It is pretty sad to see people digging in trash barrels looking for food, and seeing people sleeping in alley ways in boxes. I don't think I would like it if I were homeless, and I was diggin in trash looking for food. People should do something about this, like making bigger shelters or even put the people in homes. There really should be something done about this now, because there are more homeless people everyday, and it is getting to be a real problem.

Bolly Barnes
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

It would be to have all the countries in the world to be friends and stop fighting one another. Part of this wish would also be to have all the poor people in the world have a home, food and shelter.

Scott Labrador
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

It would be no more homeless people. I wish that all the people could have homes to go to for Christmas. I see the people lying on the street on Christmas Eve and I think that it's sad they don't have Christmas presents, a house or a big turkey to go home to. The steamy gutters are where some homeless people spend Christmas. The homeless people go to shelters for their turkey and have no Christmas tree. The perfect gift for the homeless is to have a nice home to go to on Christmas and every day.

Dennis Kelly
Atlantic, Gr. 8

It would be that Jon-Michael Blith would be with me forever, and we'll be best buddies.

Andy Shenk
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be to go to Disney Land again. I went there when I was 7 years old.

Robin Nicole Gupitill
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be that no one could hunt or kill whales. I think it's all right for the Eskimos, because they need the food. It's becoming a sport and I think it's awful.

The Blue Whale is an endangered species and, if we keep hunting it, our grandchildren might be reading about how our generation wiped out the Blue whale. I think it's great we have organizations, like Greenpeace and the Whale Adoption Project. If we don't help the whales from becoming extinct then who will?

Claire Fitzgerald
Squantum, Gr. 5

It would be that there would be world peace. All the presidents of every country, would come to a meeting, so there wouldn't be any arguments about where it should be on earth. At the meeting, the presidents would sign a treaty. In the treaty, the presidents would agree to take all their weapons and put them on the planet Pluto where they would self-destruct and not hurt anybody. Also in the treaty, the rich countries would give to the poor countries, so nobody would be without clothes, food, or shelter. When every president signed the treaty, they would go back to Earth where they would tell their people about the treaty. Finally, there would be a huge parade in which everybody would be in. Everybody would wear white since that is the color of peace. The parade would last for one week. Every year, there would be a national holiday on which to celebrate world peace. Wouldn't it be great if my wish would come true?

Jennifer Cullen
Squantum, Gr. 5

It would be a trip to Disney World. It is fun at Disney World. I can eat funny things like fried dough. I'd like the rides too. I hope to go there someday.

Toby Clark
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

It would be that poor people would have homes. So they would not be cold in the winter. Then they could have clothes. Then they would be happy.

Scott Jones
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

It would be that I could go to New York with my family. We could see the Statue of Liberty and the Empire State Building. We could go to see our grandpa and gramma and our cousins.

Stacey Stoll
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

It would be that all the poor people have homes and food to eat and some money. If the poor have some money and homes their children can go to school and learn at school. They can go on field trips and go to places that they never saw before they can make many friends at school.

Eva Wong
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

It would be for a baby sister or a baby brother. They are fun to play with when you have no one. I would also have someone to baby sit.

Melinda
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

It would be that my grandparents Christine Bogart, Fred and Ked Howard would be alive to see me graduate that would mean alot to them and that they will be better for Christmas too.

Kelly Howard
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

It would be that everyone in the world got hot meals everyday.

James Crowley
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

It would be to let all the kids in the whole world get presents and be joyful.

Julie Dorsey
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

It is for homeless to have homes to go to. There are almost 3,000,000 people homeless in the United States. I'm sure if I were homeless I would like to go to one of my relatives homes but, they would probably say, "No." I would feel really bad. In Quincy I have probably seen at least 15 homeless people on the street.

I would like to see at least in 1989 schools, churches or hotels to let homeless people sleep there and get breakfast and dinner. And that is my wish for Christmas.

Nancy Shine
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be for World Peace. I think if we get along we could help the homeless and the hungry. It would make me feel better to know that everyone had a good Christmas. That would be the best gift for Christmas.

John Austin
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

It would be for something that can be passed on from generation to generation. This special wish isn't a gift or a childhood fantasy. It is a wish that can come true only if everyone helps. This one large wish is that there will be a cure for cancer soon. Thousands of children and adults everyday die from cancer. If we don't find a cure very soon thousands more will, so my wish is for a "medical miracle."

Michelle Gambile
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

It would be for the sick people in the hospital to enjoy their day without pain or suffering. I wish for them to become recovered enough to make it home for the holidays so they could enjoy Christmas like you and me.

Jill Hawes
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

It would be to be an astronaut. I want to be the first student who would walk on the moon and float in outer space.

Heather Crawford
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

It would be to give all the unemployed people jobs. First I'd start projects to help clean up America and the government would pay the people working on that project. Also, if big corporations didn't need any help and still had extra money after all monthly bills and expenses were paid, then I'd have the corporations hire people to get coffee or to just do odd jobs around the building. These people wouldn't get paid as much as the other employees, but it would be enough to get them off the streets into apartments to buy their food. If a person still didn't have enough money to pay the rent and to buy food, then I'd organize the building of a house which would be built by most unemployed people who would get paid for building it. In this house they wouldn't have to pay rent if they didn't have enough money. If they had extra money after buying food, then they'd give what they could to the house for the electric, water and heating bills. Maybe then the number of homeless and starving people would decrease and people wouldn't be put into classes as the "homeless" or the "rich." Everyone would be given a fair chance at everything and there would be peace between neighbors all around. Then the world would be a better place.

If I Could Have One Wish

It is that people wouldn't take drugs. If they don't take drugs they could be something special. They would also live longer.

Kevin Moore
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

It would be that people who don't have food could get food. I go to nursing homes and some of the people are very nice. They have no family.

Laurie Crowley
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

It would be to get all the money in the world. Then I could buy Nintendo and also buy all the Nintendo tapes in the world. I could also buy gifts for my family, for my friends and also for the poor people. I would think of new jobs and give them to people who need them. Then they wouldn't be poor any more.

Eric Sullivan
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be for a puppy hiding in my stocking. If it were a boy I would name him Rascal. If she were a girl I would name her Noel.

Amy Chludzinski
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would be that my brother would not be allergic to cats and dogs so we could keep our cat upstairs to play with him, but now we have to keep him in the cellar.

Lance Murganelli
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would be to have all the roads and schools fixed up so they have no more graffiti on the schools walls. I also wish there were no more wars in the world and no more weapons so we have world peace.

Jason Fennelly
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

It would be to end all wars. Lives end all over the world on account of the countries leaders. If the Kings, Queens and Presidents want to fight so bad, let them take out weapons and kill each other instead of hurting others. Here's something the countries' leaders should think about-what's the point in ruling a dead world?

Mike Siggia
Atlantic Middle, Gr. 8

It would be that just for these different days there would be no sickness, homeless, hungry and world peace as we all share the spirit of these holidays together.

Colleen E. McLain

It would be to have a pet snake because I like the feel of its skin. I like the look of a snake.

Adam Drake
Parker School, Gr. 3

It would be to see Santa Claus. No one has ever seen him. If I could see him I would say "Hello" and ask him to bring me to the North Pole. Then when we got to the North Pole, I hope he would give me a Teddy Bear. Then we would say "It is time to go home Jason" and put me back on the sleigh for the ride home.

Holiday Reflections

Somehow at this time of year politics seem to fade while thoughts of family gatherings and memories of the past come flooding to mind.

Roll call votes, zoning debates and other important issues of state seem to be crowded out by the holiday spirit, as people scurry up and down Hancock Street, shopping and planning for Christmas, carrying home Christmas trees on the tops of their cars, wondering if the snow will last and we will have a white Christmas.

I'm sure all of us find our thoughts drifting to Christmases past -- to our childhood laughter and joy with mom and dad, brothers and sisters, to the singing of carols and opening of presents; to those quiet moments of deep reverence as we worshiped in our church or synagogue, pondering the true meaning of Christmas or Hanukkah. There are no more precious gifts than these memories.

With these thoughts in mine my family and I would like to thank each of you for years of kindness and friendship. For helping make Quincy a warm, wonderful and caring city: a city which through the centuries has opened its heart and arms to all. A city which has compassion enough to care for its homeless and needy. A city rich in history and tradition, whose two presidents helped shape the generation of this nation. A city whose men of sea and quarry, with muscle and determination, with hope and dreams, built a home. A city which watched and cried as its young men marched off to a hundred different battlefields, some never to return. A city whose strength is the graciousness and goodness of its people.

Yes, as I look out across Hancock Street at the Church of Presidents, at people scurrying about with presents for friends and loved ones, elections, campaigns and politics grow strangely dim. Perhaps sometime during the rush of last minute shopping, putting up the tree, singing Christmas carols, opening presents and trying on the new shirt or coat to see if it fits, we will stop briefly and give thanks that we live in America, a land of freedom and opportunity, that we live in a beautiful city where we are safe and secure in our homes.

Perhaps we will stop for another moment and give thanks for grandmas and grandpas, for moms and dads, brothers and sisters, for friends. And perhaps for a moment -- with a twinkle in our eye and a smile on our lips -- we will remember Christmases past.

City Councillor, Jim Sheets

If I Could Have One Wish Come True . . .

It would be no more drugs because they hurt people. If you take drugs once you want to take them again and again. And it keeps going on and on. Soon you can't quit and it becomes a dirty habit. A lot of people buy drugs from other people and waste their money. This is stupid. You hurt yourself and you hurt your family members too.

Jennifer Craig
Montclair Gr. 3

I wish that I could see my aunt again. My whole family misses her very, very much. My aunt was in an automobile accident and she died. I am very upset and so is all my family. We miss her.

James Pennington
Montclair Gr. 3

I would wish for drugs to stop because a lot of teenagers take drugs and they die. I don't want that to happen. If people are crazy enough to take drugs soon they find themselves even crazier. And if they keep taking them then they find themselves useless. Sometimes teenagers have to go away to hospitals to get help but it doesn't always work. I wish we didn't have drugs.

Gregory Gnokas
Montclair Gr. 3

It would be to have peace in the world and have homeless people have a home and a nice Christmas tree. Merry Christmas!

Katherine A. Morrill
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be that there would be no homeless people in the world.

Howie Ayer
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be to see my grandmother and grandfather in Pennsylvania. We would get there in the morning. I would see my uncle and cousins. We would go shopping. We would have presents and food and we would sing songs. I would have a good time and laugh a lot but I might miss my house too.

Nichole Duhaime
Montclair Gr. 3

It would be that my grandparents would come back to life. I would be so happy. They were so nice. I miss them because they were so nice. I would take them to dinner. I would talk with them. I would like them to be with me forever.

Brian Ross
Montclair Gr. 3

It would be that the city of Quincy dry up and cement over the marsh to put an amusement park there with rides and all kinds of games and arcades.

This would keep most of the kids off the streets and help stop them from writing on walls and going and breaking into schools. The money made there would go to Quincy foundations, and to the poor, and to help get people off the streets.

Chris Cherico Jr.
Squantum Gr. 5

It would be that in 1989 the number of abused animals would decrease. I don't think it's fair that innocent animals be shot for their fur or butchered for meat. I hope that people realize that all kinds of animals are being killed.

Rachael Repoff
Squantum Gr. 5

If I could have one wish come true it would be for my mother and father. It would be for everybody to be happy on Christmas day.

Leah MacPherson
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

I wish I could have peace on earth and make everyone have the very best Christmas ever!

Michelle Ann Boncek
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

My wish for Christmas would be to get a BMX bike. I would ride it all around. I would wish it when it got dirty. Then I would polish it.

Danny Sauli
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

If I could have one wish come true this Christmas, Chanuka New Year, it would be that everyone can have enough money to have Christmas dinner and presents and give everyone clothing and a Christmas tree.

Brian Woodberry
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be that all the homeless had a home. I feel greedy when I go down a street in a car and see people in the street looking in the garbage for food. I think all of the people in the entire world should have homes! So this is my wish.

Anthony Caprigno
Squantum Gr. 5

It would be for all the homeless people in the world to have a home and food. The only reason why I picked that wish is because I feel bad for all those people. Half of those are children.

Susan Costagliola
Squantum Gr. 5

It would be to clean up Boston Harbor so that children will get a chance to swim in clean, salt water, and so parents who have never been swimming in salt water can. I also want the animals and plants to come back.

Beth Coughlin
Squantum Gr. 5

It would be to get a pair of skates. I play hockey and I need a pair! Mine are dull on the bottom and they don't fit. They can't dig into the ice. I slip a lot! I get "checked" a lot too!

William Walker
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

It would be to have peace throughout the land. War kills people, destroys buildings, and puts chemicals in the air which poisons the animals, trees, soil, and other living things. If we had peace, there would be more natural beauty, and we would have more crops because of the fewer people who would die from bullets and other deadly weapons. If we had peace, the world would be safe and a better place to live, with less pollution, more of the good things instead of the bad. If we the world had peace, our children would be safe from the deadly results of war.

Sean Chan
Atlantic Middle, Gr. 8

It would be for world peace. All our problems would be solved because nations would work together and fight hunger, disease, and poverty. There would be no more wars with one another. The world would be a better place if we could be at peace with one another.

Sean Warren
Atlantic Middle, Gr. 8

It would be to stop all wars. I would want to stop the killing and violence in all countries. I would want the nations to be in peace with each other, and have all nuclear weapons banned. We would be able to go freely to any country in the world without fear of being a hostage or being killed.

Christmas means joy for all. It means fun and games, loving, caring, giving. Christmas is the joyful time of year for children and parents. It is a time of peace and for families to get together. It feels good to make a difference in a child's life, so please give something.

Joanna Brooks
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 5

It means joy and happiness and Christmas trees. It means presents under the tree. And giving to someone you love. But Christmas really means when Jesus was born.

Michael Capuano
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 5

On Christmas day I'm filled with joy. I like to see the tree at night. It's so much fun to see the lights. What Christmas means to me is very special. I wish it would come all year long.

Rebecca Lahey
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 5

It would be to get a Moglemonster snow board. It would be awesome because it's the size of a surf board and rides like a skateboard without wheels. So it's really a two for the price of one. If I get one I will ride it every day. I would do flips on it. I would glide right off hills. I would even play with friends on my moglemonster. I hope when I wake up Christmas morning that a moglemonster snow board will be under my Christmas tree.

Justin Elwood
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 5

If I had one wish I would wish for all the baseball cards in the world because I like baseball. Baseball is my favorite sport. I would put them all in alphabetical order and put them in notebooks and put them in my room and make a little path so I could walk through.

Jonathan Caliri
Merrymount Gr. 3

It would be to have Christmas with the U.S.S.R. We could all exchange gifts and have a strong peace relationship. The Premier could share his home with the President of the U.S., maybe they could have a dinner together. I hope this happens because war should be behind mankind. Our countries are not our homes, our home is earth, and we should share. Our countries should work together as one, as human beings.

Brad Smith
Atlantic Middle Gr. 8

It would be to let the kids at Children's Hospital live without anymore bad diseases. I would especially hope my niece will stay in remission. What a Christmas that would be!

Joanne Casey
Atlantic Middle Gr. 8

It would be...that my mother's friend who has cancer lives for Christmas.

Amy Wysocki
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be that all the pollution would stop.

Joe Carr
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be for everyone to have a nice little warm place to stay and everyone be well and I hope my neighbor Mrs. Hennessey feels better for Christmas.

Kristy Chery
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be that all the orphanages in the United States have Christmas trees, ornaments, and enough money to buy Christmas presents.

Robyn Lewis
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be to let there be peace on earth. Please let there be no more bad guys. Let there be a good world.

Shawn White
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be to have my Aunt Maureens father to get well soon and have a very nice Christmas.

Jenna Nolan
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be that a doctor somewhere, could find a cure for a stroke-a cure that would put a total end to this infection, a cure that would make the patient totally well again and banish all side effects.

Kristin Fluhr
Squantum Gr. 5

My grandmother had a stroke two years ago this February. She's almost all well now, but she still has some trouble talking. She knows what she wants to say, but sometimes she either can't think of the word or can't say it. I love my grandmother, and I just wish she could be herself again.

Susan Lam
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 3

It would be to have all my friends come to my birthday party. My birthday is on Christmas and my friends can't come because they have to celebrate Christmas at home.

Susan Lam
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 3

It would be for my father to stop smoking. I want him to stop smoking because sometimes he stinks like a cigarette does. It could also get cancer, emphysema, or a bad case of bronchitis. When he works, he can't smoke because it's a rule and if he did, they'd fire him. He says not smoking is his New Year's resolution.

If I Could Have One Wish Come True . . .

It would be to end homelessness. It must be hard to go through life and never know when you might be living on the streets. Most people take advantage of what they have, like turning the heat up when someone complains that it is cold. Well, the homeless don't even have a house, never mind a heater. How would you like to go to sleep knowing you might freeze to death? Or maybe even get killed? With our help my wish may come true.

Sean Donovan
Atlantic Middle Gr. 8

My father has MS and it is a bad disease. It keeps us from going places and doing different things together. I want to spend more time and especially Christmas with him, and if there is a cure we would do so many things. We could go out to eat, go to fairs and have fun and also a great Christmas together. I think a cure would be the best gift in the world because it would help so many other people in the world, too. Thousands of people have this disease and it's a real drag. MS makes victims weak and shaky and they gradually get worse. They start to become so weak that they have trouble walking. Then they are in a wheelchair and it's always getting worse. My dad is in a wheelchair and one day he was getting therapy and stood up. The day I heard about it I started to cry. I love him so much that a cure would be the best gift for every Christmas to come.

Jason Getz
Atlantic Middle Gr. 8

To have people from my native country, Vietnam, come to America to have freedom.

I know from experience that living under Communist rule is a tragedy, and therefore I empathize with the peoples' feelings. Living there was like living in a prison. There was no freedom. Everyone was watched all the time and one false move or even a hint of nonconformity brought serious trouble. Young men faced gloomy futures, for at eighteen they were forced to register for military training and few jobs were available. Girls, too, were affected by the bad times, most girls quit school at a young age and married, mainly to relieve their families of having to support them.

America provides education, freedom, and lots of opportunities. I want to take advantage of my opportunities to help others who are still suffering, to help them have a better chance in the future by coming to America, the Land of the Free and Home of the Brave.

For this Christmas, I wish very much to have this dream become a reality.

Hang Hoang
Atlantic Middle Gr. 8-6

It would be to have a snake. I think that is a good wish. I think that is cool.

Brett Carnali
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 3

It would be to get a basketball. I like basketballs because they bounce. I'm even on a basketball team.

Michael Talley
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 3

It would be world peace. The reason is because I would like to look down from heaven 300 years from now and see what progress man has made. I'd like to see futuristic buildings and different types of cars. I don't think anyone would like to see a desolate waste land with nuclear radiation and dust clouds for an atmosphere.

Sean Colville
Squantum Gr. 5

It would be for my big brother who is 15 to get all his problems taken care of and come home for good. I want him to get better and come home for good, because I love him and he's been gone for so long. I miss him. I haven't seen him in a long time. He's only called and said, "Hi." Because of his problems, he sometimes says and does things that hurt my family. This makes us very sad. We still love him very much, so that's why I want him to get better and come home for good. That's my wish.

Jennifer Bryan
Squantum Gr. 5

It would be to help my brother out of special needs because he has reading and speech problems. Why do I want this? Because I love him!

Edward K. Ford
Squantum Gr. 5

I would wish for all the people in the world to get whatever they wish for, and for the poor to get to stay in a shelter for this Christmas and New Year's, without having to pay. When they left they would get $20, an apple, salad, milk and crackers.

Shawn MacDonald
Squantum Gr. 5

It would be for all abused children to live a good life in a nice home with a soft bed and two loving parents. The reason why I want this wish is because I feel bad for abused children. About a year ago I saw on the news about a little girl who died because she was beaten to death by her mother's boyfriend. On TV I heard a song about the little girl who wrote a letter about her life. I hope my wish comes true.

Dolores Kinnally
Squantum Gr. 5

It would be to have my own little baby kitten. If I had my own little baby kitten I would have to save my money for it. I would love it if I got it. My mother is thinking about it.

Janean Doherty
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 3

It would be to be an astronaut. I would like to see the earth and the planets. I would like to learn about the earth and the planets. I can't wait until I go in to space.

Nicole Kotsikonas
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 3

It would be for all my family to be together this Christmas day, like it was a few years ago, before my grandmother passed away. Christmas is always a special time of the year but when your whole family is not together it's not as special. Well, when I'm older I hope that we will have as many wonderful Christmas holidays as we did when I was young.

Michael Sheffer
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 5

For Christmas I wish for all the homeless, everywhere, to have love and warmth, all through the year. But no fear of winter winds and snow. And to know, that people care.

Deirdre O'Donnell
Broad Meadows Gr. 8

It would be that they could find a cure for my step grandfather's disease. That would be the only Christmas present I would want.

Debra Zellen
Wollaston Gr. 5

Be for my grandmother to get well because she might have to go into the hospital.

Allison Steele
Wollaston Gr. 5

It would be to have all the poor people in the world to have lots of Christmas gifts. I would like this to happen in the worst way, so that when I go in Boston there would be no homeless people.

Katie Flaherty
Wollaston Gr. 5

It would be global peace. My wish is global peace because I do not believe in violence or wars. I think that there are many different ways to settle things without kidnapping innocent people and without bombing people's homes or any other violence. The world would be a much better place if all violence would cease. That's my wish.

Jessie Cuervel
Wollaston Gr. 5

It would be for all the poor to have a nice meal on Christmas Day and that they have at least one Christmas present that they wished for.

Jennifer Pincio
Wollaston Gr. 5

I wish that everybody could get along and get everything they wanted for Christmas. The homeless people could get a home and food.

Richard Perona
Wollaston Gr. 5

Would wish for no more drugs, because drugs make you do things that are dumb. Drugs can kill you too.

Joseph Bagini
Wollaston Gr. 5

It would be to have my sister Stacey's eye to get better because she had a bad accident, she fell from a third floor porch. She is 7 years old and can't see out of her right eye and she has to have an operation when she is a little older and it might ruin her eyesight and she could go blind. My family and I wish she doesn't go blind.

Lisa Ford
Broad Meadows Gr. 8

To find a cure for AIDS. AIDS is a very bad disease that is not curable yet. I also would like them to do away with drugs. Drugs are really bad in our world. They are getting sold in many areas. Little kids are starting drugs at young ages. That is really bad because they could die young, too. I have a real good friend that is dying of AIDS because of drugs. AIDS spread through the body to reach the heart. When it reaches the heart the body just stops. I feel real bad for the people with AIDS because they don't live long. I would like it a real lot if they did find a cure for AIDS!

Christine Sylvia
Broad Meadows Gr. 8

It would be the shipyard to open because it was very important to me. If we ever had a war we'd need someone to build ships to go to war if we ever had to go by sea.

Also people need jobs around here. Instead of people walking the streets, they could be working. People would be really proud if we had it open. When ever I look at it, it makes my stomach rumble and gets me sick. I would rather be seeing cranes going up and down, but no more. It really is a shame for everybody.

Kerry Gulligan
Broad Meadows Gr. 8

I would want all the nuclear weapons in the world to be destroyed, so no one would have to worry about dying in a nuclear war and having the world destroyed. Then everyone could live a happier life and be friends.

Michal Hughes
Broad Meadows Gr. 8

I would want an electric guitar. My oldest brother has drums and we could have a little band in my cellar.

Kevin McPartlin
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 3

It would be that my country Lebanon lives in peace and gets its freedom back and also that the United States helps my country to gain back its independence. I wish also that there will be no more homeless in the world, and no more fighting between people. My last wish is to keep my family safe and happy.

Samar Zeidan
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 5

It would be to help the homeless live in homes and I hope all the sick people get better.

Eric Lowe
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 5

It would be my very own mansion with an outdoor swimming pool and an indoor swimming pool. My mansion will have 18 rooms and a nintendo and color t.v. in each room. Of course it would have 10 bedrooms, and one living room, 1 kitchen, 3 bathrooms, 2 dining rooms, 1 dance room.

Gregg Constantine
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 5

I would like ten feet of snow, freezing cold weather about -10 degrees F. There would be huge drifts and lots of fun.

Joey Tucker
Lincoln-Hancock, Gr. 5

It would be for a big box that had food in it for all the poor people in the whole wide world. Everybody would at least have a drink and some food on Christmas day.

Jenny Hurlabaus
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

That my family, friends, and teachers will be blessed and kept safe, and that the hungry people of the world will have food and drink and the homeless people will have homes.

David Rowell
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 5

Is to have peace and happiness throughout the world. I want everyone to see what Christmas is all about. Christmas is about loving each other and sharing joy and happiness.

Leanne Vaughn
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 5

It would be that my Uncle Tony would come back to life. He was a nice uncle. He always helped me. He also loved me. One day he had an accident. He was rushed to the hospital. In one day he was in a coma. He was in it for about a year. I wished I could have seen him but they wouldn't let me in his room. One day he died.

Paul Princiotto
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 5

It would be that nobody on earth would take drugs. I would help many people and I would like that.

Jimmy O'Brien
Lincoln-Hancock Gr. 3

It would be to help the whales. If I could help the whales I would not let anybody hurt them. If it dies what will I do with it? I would either bring it to Seaworld or the Aquarium. It will be safe there.

It would be to own a music studio in my own house! I'm a disc jockey. I don't mean like a big stage with electric guitars! I just mean tapes with double tape radio. That's my wish.

Matthew Foley
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be that everyone in my family would not get sick. We would laugh and tell jokes. We would exchange presents. We would sing and eat a little candy. We would have fun and play games. We would look at the tree and hang some more decorations on it too.

Michael Rheum
Montclair, Gr. 7

My wish for Christmas is that we could have peace on earth and everybody could get along.

Greg Conway, Gr. 5
Parker School

If I could have one wish for Christmas it would be to have a safer world to live in where there would be no fighting or weapons, no killing people or stealing. There would be no wars and no crimes or murder. This is my one wish for Christmas.

John Slagdis
Atlantic Middle, Gr. 8

If I could have one wish this Christmas it would be to help the homeless. If I could, I'd give the homeless a place to live in to keep them warm and dry. The homeless are very lonely at Christmas, so I'd like to bring them all together to remember the joys of Christmas.

The homeless are people that are normal just as you and I except for one thing, they don't have a place to stay. I'd also like the homeless to have clothes and food to eat, to be a reminder of the real spirit of Christmas.

Julie Barbuto
Atlantic Middle, Gr. 8

If I did have one wish come true for Christmas I would wish that all the money in the world disappeared. Nobody in the world would even know what the word money meant. After all what is money? Money is just a green piece of paper that gives everybody a hard time. People think that the more money the better life is, but what happens when you run out? You get no more food, clothing, shelter. If we had no money, everything would belong to everybody. Homeless people could live wherever they liked. Because they wouldn't have to pay for houses. Hunger would disappear because you wouldn't have to buy food. No one would be poor because there is nothing to get poor with. Everybody would be equal because nobody would be rich and powerful or poor. You could make gardens of your own. So you really wouldn't need the store. That is the wish I would wish for if I knew it was to come true.

Daniel Heuser
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

It would be to help the homeless get a place to live and food to eat.

So they won't be in the alleys or on streets and sleeping on the benches. If that does not come true I will wish for the streets to be clean.

Joshua Echelle
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

If I could have one wish come true this Christmas it would be to have everyone to have a happy Christmas.

Nicole Bertone
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be for 20 million dollars. I would buy the Apaches football team new equipment, and I cannot forget about my friends. I would buy my mom a new house. For myself I would buy a Lamborghini sport car.

Jeremiah Keenan
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be that my cousins and my best friend could come to visit me for Christmas. I miss them so much and that is what my Christmas wish is.

John Ray Keith
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be for my great-great grandmother to be alive right now. I miss her because she passed away.

Christina Lydon
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

I like Christmas because I think it is a time for giving. Giving is the fun of it. Probably Christmas is the best time of the year for giving.

If I Could Have One Wish Come True...

It would be to help everybody in need of food and shelter for the rest of their lives. If those people had food and shelter everybody would be happy. That's the world everybody would want to live in.

Fustin Madden
Squantum, Gr. 5

My one New Year's wish would be for all the homeless and hungry to have a good meal and a warm place to stay. I don't think it's fair for them not to eat and stay out in the cold while we're inside our nice warm houses eating good dinners. I really hope this wish will come true.

Lindsay Lund
Squantum, Gr. 5

I would like to have all the poor people have a little money for Christmas. Also I'd like them to have money for Christmas dinner and some clothes to keep them warm.

Alanna Quirk
Squantum, Gr. 5

It would be to give the world peace. I would also give all poor and sad people a part of my caring and kindness. I will do anything I can to help people. I wish their dreams would come true.

Ka Chen Tam
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be homeless people would have a home. People can build more shelters. Other people who would help can adopt homeless children or give money to build more shelters for them, and money for their clothes and food. Some people can help by writing letters to the government to give money to the poor. If you have left over food you can bring it to the homeless shelters.

Nelson Yan
Montclair, Gr. 5

Everyone have a wonderful Christmas and a wonderful New Year and that they all appreciate the meaning of Christmas!

Michelle Sherwood
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

It would be that there would be peace all around the world and everyone had a home and something to eat for Christmas.

Eddie Magee
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

For the homeless to have a very beautiful homes and have jobs. I would be very happy if the homeless people had homes so they could go home and change and take a bath and relax. If they had homes for the homeless we would not have to walk down streets and see them sleeping on benches or on the curb. They could have lots of good food and would not have to starve to death. I feel bad for the homeless because they do not have beds, homes, covers, food, clean clothes and other stuff. If they had jobs they would be able to buy things for their houses.

Keri Schweinberg
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be for a puppy. I love puppies because they are cute.

William Connolly
FW Parker, Gr. 3

It would be for a parrot. I love parrots because when someone lies to you the parrot will tell you that he was lying.

Edmond Chan
Francis Parker, Gr. 3

If I could have one wish come true this Christmas it would be for a ten speed bike.

Thomas Gilmartin
FW Parker, Gr. 3

It would be to have a happy Christmas because it is no fun to have everybody sad on Christmas.

Jennifer Nielson
FW Parker, Gr. 3

It would be for my family never to die because I like my family very much.

Matthew Kane
FW Parker, Gr. 3

It would be to have another bunny for my brother and me. I'd have two little bunnies.

Chris McLean
FW Parker, Gr. 3

To get more money each year because I love money. But I really wish that my parents and relatives have good luck all year through.

Jimmy Liang
Parker, Gr. 5

I wish everyone had a good health. They could play and have fun. They can enjoy the holidays that are around the year. They can share their life with a friend, and they can do something that they have never done before.

Suk Ting Ng
Parker, Gr. 5

If I could have one wish come true this Christmas my favorite thing would be to have my very own new bicycle! I like the bicycle best because you can get exercise. I like the bicycle too because I can ride around the block.

Christopher Duffy
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

I wish I could have a dinosaur. He would not bite, he would not roar. He'd have to be a bit skinny. To fit down the long chimney. I hope he'd fit in Santa's sack. And not attack the toys on his back.

Meredith Rugg
Merrymount Gr. 3

It would certainly be a surprise. To see a package under the tree that size! If that was really under my tree, it would make a believer out of me.

Meredith Rugg
Merrymount Gr. 3

If I had one wish it would be for all the people in the world to have food and shelter so they will be happy on Christmas day.

Gregory Phillips
Merrymount Gr. 5

I wish my grandmother did not pass away because she was fun to be around. Everybody was nice to her and she was nice to them.

Daniel Paul Chenette
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

It would be that I would not want a bomb lit off so people won't die.

Billy O'Neill
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

If I had one wish on Christmas it would be to have a baby sister. I want a baby sister because I like them. I would be nice to her and give her toys and buy her some clothes. She can sleep in my room. I would feed her a bottle and baby food. I could babysit for my mother. She would have a Christmas stocking too.

Kerry Lynn Duffy
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

If I had one wish for Christmas it would be to have a good Christmas and to have peace on earth. I would wish that everybody is happy and has a Merry Christmas.

Michelle Chami
Atherton Hough Gr. 3

If I could have one wish come true I would find homes for the homeless. Then all of the children could go to a good school so they could learn to read and write. Their parents would have a good amount of money to raise their family. The family could have good food to eat and they would be happy.

Jennifer Francis
Montclair Gr. 3

It would be that everybody in the world would get some Christmas presents! I also hope that everyone has a Merry Christmas and also a Happy New Year!

Robert Craven
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be to have Christmas at my house because I am going to have Christmas at my cousin's house this year. I really want to have it at my house! I usually do have Christmas at my house.

Erin Rooney
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be to get a new pair of skis to go skiing in Vermont. That would be my wish!

Mark Kelly
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be to have peace on earth. Then nobody would die because of wars.

Steven Stentford
Parker, Gr. 5

It would be that for one day all the world would live in peace. We would live in peace. We would be friendly to everyone in the world and they would do the same. I'm sick of all the fighting!

Nick Chimi
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

I don't like to hear about people getting killed! For my wish to come true I'd have to wish for all of the guns, bombs, and weapons to turn into soup. That way no one would fight for one day. In that day I would have a meeting on a small island somewhere. I would invite all the presidents in the world to a meeting. I would try to convince them that peace is better than war.

Joanne Timbome
Squantum Gr. 5

It would be to buy a new house. The house we are living in now is old and small. We need a house big enough for ten people.

Michael Cen
Parker, Gr. 3

It would be to make sure everyone is very happy this Christmas! I know that not everyone can celebrate Christmas because they don't have enough money to buy a tree. They don't even have enough money for a food. They need a home, food, and clothes. They need warm clothes, especially right now, because it's freezing!

Donna Peruzzi
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

If I could have one wish it would be that everybody would be friends and no more war and that everyone would be happy.

Nick Chimi
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be for all the world to stop the wars and have Christmas, New Years and Chanuka.

Anthony P. Bragdon
Atherton Hough Gr. 5

It would be to stop war and that all of the people get presents and Christmas trees.

Kenny Ledwak
Parker, Gr. 5

To go to Disney World. I've gone before, but I loved it. I went three years ago. I really would like to go again.

Kenny Ledwak
Parker, Gr. 5

It would be that everybody would be loving and caring in the world, instead of fighting and being mean to others. It would be so good to have everybody love each other and be caring for others. It would be so quiet if people would be loving. People should help people if they get hurt. When people teach you how to drive, when teachers help kids to learn words and your ABC's and to add and to subtract, also how to read, it is nice. The world should be like that.

Kara Alibrandi
Parker, Gr. 3

If I Could Have One Wish Come True...

It would be to stop the older kids from destroying the Welcome Young Park, because when the little kids come from Day Care they like to play on the swings, but they are usually broken. Last summer the teenagers started bouncing on the tennis net and, when parents went over, they could not play tennis. The city had to come and take the tennis nets down. One thing is that they should stop throwing rubbish all over the place. If they want to throw rubbish, they should throw it in the trash can.
Jennifer Skarzenski
Squantum, Gr. 5

It would be to be a millionaire. I would buy a mansion for my family. We would have an inground pool. We would own lots of cars too. We would have lots of maids and lots of pretty clothes. I think it would be fun to be a millionaire.

Mary Chenette
Merrymount School, Gr. 3

It would be to have everybody get along with each other in the world, and try to help poor and homeless people so they can have happy lives, too.

John Conlan
Squantum, Gr. 5

It would be all the homeless people would be adopted and have a nice family and friends. If someone will adopt a homeless person I will try to be friends. I hope some of the homeless will have a family for themselves. I hope they will not go around asking for money. I hope they will go to work and go to school to learn and be smart like some of us.

Jodi Malvesti
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be for homeless to have a happy New Year, shelter, and lots of food. Next year I would wish for the same wish. That's my New Year's wish.
Rodney Marcial
Squantum, Gr. 5

My wish would be to have everybody happy and no more war or hunger or sickness in the world. Some of us are really lucky. We have loving, caring families and big dinners and presents. On the other side of the world there's war, fighting and hunger, so all I want for Christmas would be for everyone to remember the people who helped us have a free country and peace everywhere.

Lauren Keith
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

It would be to see Santa and to go to the North Pole and meet all his elves. I would make some toys and then give them out to people who don't get presents on Christmas morning.

Jill O'Connell
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be that all the poor people could have a home. They don't have homes. I wish they did. I wish they had food, clothes, and all the things we have. I also wish that all the little children could go to school.

Denise Suttie
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

I would want the earth to be cleaned up and to have clean water like the Connecticut River once was. I hope everyone has a Happy New Year.

Ben Immonen
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

If I could have one wish it would be no more wars. When we have wars people and soldiers get injured and sometimes die. I wish President Reagan could talk to Gorbachev so all of us could be friends. If I become president I am going to talk to Russia's leader. Then I would make sure everyone lives in peace.

Tony S.
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

It would be that everyone could share the beautiful feeling of giving and sharing during Christmas. All the poor people would be given the things that they deserve and they would be able to gain the Christmas spirit. The kids would always get the toys they only dreamed about and the adults would pass along their gifts, seeing their children's faces shining as they jump around, up and about. I wish all the homeless people and families could enjoy a special Christmas dinner and be able to feel the happiness and share a joyous attitude with everyone.

On Christmas morning I would like to be able to go out in the streets and see kids running and dancing with a sparkle in their eyes, parents cooking dinner, sending a beautiful aroma through the air, decorations every which way I turn, all smiling faces and no frowns, and Christmas trees shining from inside houses. I would like Christmas to be everyone's best memory.

Jeffrey Jones
Atlantic, Gr. 8

It would be a blessing for my whole family. I love everyone in my whole family the way I love myself. I don't think of myself. I think of my love.

Kathleen O'Donnell
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be for my family to be all together on Christmas Eve. I would love that wish to come true. I hope all the families in the world have a great Christmas like me. Merry Christmas to all.

Erin Barry
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be to be in the Olympics. I want to be the best gymnast in the world. It would be fun to have posters of yourself all over the place. Everyone would cheer for you. When you go to do gymnastics you feel good in side.

Danielle Robertson
Point-Webster, Gr. 3

One very special wish. I would have is that all sick people could enjoy better health. It is very sad to see people suffering with their illnesses, especially during Christmas. The Christmas holidays should be a joyous time for families to be together. Why should some people have to miss out on this happy holiday because they are too ill? My wish is that at least for that one special day those who are ill can experience a day free of pain and suffering.

Lisa Chenette
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

If I had one Christmas wish I would wish for all the poor, homeless and unfortunate people to have a warm place to sleep and a hearty Christmas dinner to eat. I think it's a shame that people have to sleep in alleys and spend holidays alone. Also, for Christmas I would wish for the men, women and children who have sicknesses to become well so that they can have happy holidays for many years to come.

Steven Fernald
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

I would want to have everyone in my family that is still in Viet Nam come to America. I would like to see my grandfather, and uncle, aunt and cousin again. I know that they would like it here in America. They have heard a lot about America from letters so I know that they would like to see for themselves what America is like. This would be my one wish for Christmas.

Loc Uyen Pham
Broad Meadows, Gr. 8

My wish would be to have a time machine.

I would go back about 60 years and try to stop my grandmother from smoking. The reason I would go back so long ago is because she is hospitalized. I feel real bad because she smokes at least 3 packs a day. Maybe if I had that time machine she could be doing things alot of other people her age are doing.

If I Could Have One Wish Come True . . .

It would be that my family and I lived in a house. My family and I have always wanted a house with a big back yard. It would be so nice to have a house.

Kelli Lee Bennett
Lincoln Hancock
Gr. 3

It would be to go see my family. I miss them so much but I miss my grandma the most. I can't see them this Christmas because my car broke down on the highway and we had to get it junked. It won't be a very nice Christmas. I will miss my family so much. I might even cry. I will send them a few gifts and a few cards. I will try to make the best of it this Christmas.

Kate Hutchinson
Lincoln Hancock
Gr. 3

I wish my brother has a safe trip. He is in the Navy. I want him home for Christmas. He will be here for six days. He's been gone for almost a year. I want him home because I love him.

Kerrie Corkery
Wollaston Gr. 3

I would wish that my cousin Joe would get better and the doctors would take off the tumors on his lungs. I hope he comes home. That would make Christmas nice.

Andrew Ristano
Wollaston Gr. 3

I would wish for health for the sick so they can all live.

Daniel Hynds
Wollaston Gr. 3

It would be that I could see my grandpa and great grandmother's grave. Even though my great grandma could not speak English very well, I loved her very much. A month after she died, my father told me I could visit her grave, but I never did. My grandpa was funny, and he could speak English too. I loved him very much too. A couple of weeks after he turned 72, he died.

Emily Inferrera
Wollaston Gr. 3

It would be that people wouldn't have to work for money, so my mom wouldn't work. This is the first year my mom will not be with us at Christmas. My mom works a lot! I don't like it. So, I wish money would grow on trees-Christmas Trees.

Erin Tormey
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

It would be for people who don't have homes to get homes. It will snow soon and people could freeze. People that live on the streets could die. I think that everyone should have a home.

Brian Hughes
Point Webster Gr. 3

It would be to share my Christmas with a poor family because Christmas is about giving. I would take them to a store to buy a gift for them. I would invite them to share my Christmas dinner. We would sing Christmas songs around our tree. This would be my gift to a poor family.

Erin Marie Green
Wollaston Gr. 3

It would be for my papa come out of the hospital. Papa and I tell each other funny stories. He makes paper airplanes for me. We play checkers together and sometimes catch. I enjoy him very much and hope he gets well soon.

Anthony Fasoli
Wollaston School Gr. 3

It would be to have a friend. When you are bored your friend could play with you. When you have homework your friend could help you.

Danny Leong
Point Webster Gr. 3

I would wish that Kimmy wouldn't be sick. If I could help her I would because she's my friend and I like her a lot for a friend. I care for her a lot.

Jennifer Hayward
Point Webster Gr. 3

This Christmas it would be to stop cancer and AIDS. Because a lot of people can die from it and I don't want them to die. It's not healthy at all. I also like people. Some people suffer with it. There is a lot of people who have it and I think there is too many people that have it. I think the President should try to do something about it.

Jana Bagen
Point Webster Gr. 3

It would be for the elderly people. I would like them to be happy. I hope they would find people to be like a family to them.

Francesca Lorenzano
Point Webster Gr. 3

It would be that North Korea and South Korea would be friends again. S. Korea and N. Korea have been fighting too much. If they were friends they would have lots of power together. They could make a team and they would be a whole country again.

John Lee
Point Webster Gr. 3

It would be peace around the world and people getting along with other people. And my wish is to help the homeless. I also wish all my relatives were alive.

Lisa See
Point Webster Gr. 3

It would be that I would have a new bike or a new skateboard.

Christopher Sweeney
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be for a kitten. It would make me very happy, but I still would be happy if I didn't get one.

Rebecca Mackey
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be for the apartheid in South Africa to stop. I think that the segregation of people is wrong and should be ended. If we all could just judge people by their inner selves instead of the color of their skin, the world would be a much more beautiful place to live.

Linda O'Neill
Broad Meadows Gr. 8

It would be that everybody would be happy on Christmas and the homeless could have food and shelter.

John Duffy
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

It would be that Mr. Grenim could be all better for Christmas.

Heather Wakelin
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

It would be all the homeless people get homes.

John Johnson
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

It would be that I could fly. I would look up at Santa. I could see his reindeer flying.

Erin Morrell
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be no wars. It's no use having wars because the only way you can win a war is if you kill the whole other country or if the other country surrenders because they don't have enough people to go to war. Who knows you could end up getting killed or your country could be captured by the other country. When there is a war that usually means that someone will drop a bomb. Then that country will drop a bomb on the other country and it just goes on like that. Then other countries get involved and take sides. Then that can lead to another World War. Imagine a World War III. That's just this world needs another World War might bring this world to an end.

Julie Petrella
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be world peace so everybody would be nice, caring, and loving to each other.

Paul Davis Jr.
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be for all my relatives to be together for Christmas. I would like all my relatives to be together because I would like to know where they are from and what the place where they came from is like. I have most of my relatives living in the states. I have some in Canada and in Germany. I'd like to know what Germany is like. I know what Canada is like. That's the one wish I want to come true this Christmas.

If I Could Have One Wish Come True . . .

It would be that there would be no drugs or alcohol in the world. Every week I hear that people have died from cocaine or crack, drunk driving or even killing someone else when they are drunk. I'm pretty sick of hearing people die from drugs. I think the main reason for dying is DRUGS. People hear other people dying from drugs and they still take drugs. I'm really scared that when I grow up some of my friends might push me into taking drugs. I'm scared for my little brother too. He would probably listen to anyone. The world has enough problems. Why does one of these problems have to be drugs?

John Marinelli
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be a computer that could change anything I want it to.

If I could have this wish come true I could change poor people to rich. I could change the weather. I could change wars to peace. I could change time, and so on.

Yao Wu
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be that I won $1,000. I want $1,000 for a new bike. I would buy Christmas gifts for everyone. I would buy a football and I would get my sister makeup and my brother a soccerball. With the rest I would save it for a college.

Kenny Lippen
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be to have a big, giant, huge mansion so I can help the homeless and give them housing. Then the homeless people would be happy and I would be happy too!

Esther Wang
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be that my sister would be able to get more money and get a better job. Then she could get a house of her own and have a happy life!

Timothy Bryan
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be for my family to be together at Christmas. My brother has been away in a special school for a very long time and we miss him very much. We don't get to see him much because my mom was in a real bad accident. If my family could be happy Christmas day that would be better than any present I could get in the whole world.

Michael Bryan
Squantum, Gr. 3

I wish my Nana could sleep over because she is too lonely. She would be so happy with us. I really hope she stays with us.

Tracey Burke
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be to have cleaner water because we're throwing away too much junk and all the junkyards do not have enough room for it. So all the oceans are getting too polluted. We can not have as fun a time swimming and playing at the beach as we used to. I hope this wish will come true.

Julie Dunn
Furnace Brook, Gr. 3

It would be to house the homeless. I feel sorry for all the starving homeless people in the United States. People are out in the winter freezing and have no food.

I wish they can go to gyms, shelters and homes. Then let them have a Christmas dinner. Many people do not want gyms and shelters put up next to their houses. I say they can build any gym and shelters there.

The homeless people do not have money for houses. People say they are bums but they are not.

John Hanalin
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be for all drastic problems to stop somehow. From AIDS to extinction of animals (or even us) I would even wish for all races (human, plant, and animal) to stay on this wonderful Earth forever.

Patricia Arnold
Montclair, Gr. 5

If I had one wish for Christmas I would wish that all the dangers and mad people and devil worshippers would vanish and all that would be left would be innocent people on this earth.

Maria Iorio
Merrymount, Gr. 5

It would be that all the POW-MIA would come home, so they and their families can be reunited. Then they can have happy holidays.

David Risitano
Merrymount, Gr. 5

It would be for all the homeless people to have a place to live so they could keep warm. One special wish is for all the paralyzed and handicapped people to be better and to walk and be normal again.

Paul Towne
Merrymount, Gr. 5

If I had one wish for Christmas it would be no more nuclear bombs and that the Russians would be friends with the United States.

Jodi Mackie
Merrymount, Gr. 5

I wish for peace in the whole world and no more nuclear wars. I wish this because I'm very scared of another war and peace should be everywhere.

Nicole Pyne
Merrymount, Gr. 5

My wish would be that the poor people would get a home. I also wish that we have a cleanliness with no papers around on the ground.

Kim Barry
Merrymount, Gr. 5

If I had one wish for this Christmas is that I would either win or receive lots and lots of "green stuff."

Andrew Myers
Merrymount, Gr. 5

I would wish for having no more war.

Paul Brown
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would have to be world peace between the U.S. and Russia. I don't want World War III to start. My grandfather was in World War II. He's told me stories about World War II. If I have to I will go on strike until all nuclear weapons are destroyed.

Brent Hannigan
Montclair, Gr. 3

For the government to stop letting people kill wildlife just for fur coats. These animals should have a long life and have a natural death. People should have coats made out of cloth and things that don't have to be killed.

Meghan O'Brien-Al
Montclair, Gr. 3

It would be for my family to be without fear. I'd like to have a quiet holiday. I'd like to go to visit my Grandmother in Florida and bring her a gift. I have not seen her for a year. I send her a post card every month and we write to each other. I sometimes talk to her on the phone too.

Alison Conners
Montclair, Gr. 3

It would be to have a summer house with a pool and a jacuzzi. I could have so much fun.

Matt Kisel
Merrymount, Gr. 3

I like Christmas because all of my family comes to my house. We all sing and dance. Then we all play Santa Claus. That's the fun part because we all open our presents. Then we eat and then I am going to Michigan. Then I spend Christmas there.

Erica DeGust
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would be for my family to live as long as they want.

Jared Downey
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would be for a keyboard. Because I like to play music.

Rebecca Kelsch
Merrymount, Gr. 3

I would wish for a Boom Box. With Twin recorder and tape player. I would have a D.J. Party and invite all my friends. It would be awesome to have a D.J. Party. It would run all night we would use my basement. It would be great to have a boom box. I would run the Boom Box as loud as I could. I would be so cool to own a boom box of my very own.

Shaun Walsh
Merrymount, Gr. 3

I like Christmas because I can give and get. I can see my friends and family. I like to eat the food.

Matthew Allen
Merrymount, Gr. 3

It would be to go to Disney World. I want to go there because my family is saving year after year so that this summer we hope to go to Disney World. I heard it was a big place with lots to do and see.

Susan
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be for me to sit on a dinosaur's back. I would let him carry me to school and to the store. Most of all his name would be Tyrannosaurus Rex! I would tell him to get back all of the people who call me names. I would let him take my mother to Shop and Shop to go food shopping. I would call him Charlie.

Derek McInerney
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be no thunderstorms because I hate the sound of thunder and I hate the flash of lightning because lightning might burn a house down and thunder hurts my ears very much. A thunder storm is bad for homeless people and people walking outside. A thunder storm is really really dangerous.

Eric Stimpson
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

If I could have one wish come true it would be to stop earthquakes, erupting volcanoes, and rocks falling because they can destroy living things like people, plants, animals, homes, or anything that can live on this planet. Scientists have discovered that once a while asteroids are making big holes on the Earth.

We have very few of them. Volcanoes ruin trees, wreck homes for people and animals and leaving them no place to live. Mt. St. Helens destroyed lots of trees and lots of plants have died. I do not like earthquakes because they shake the Earth and I get a little nervous when we have one.

Jason Moreno
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be to see my friend Tally. She lives in New York State. I hardly ever get to see her. We are pen pals. She has a farm of dogs. Her family raises the dogs every winter. One of her dogs had four puppies. Their names are Grizzly, Bruin, Kowla and Kotsack. She has twenty dogs and the puppies make twenty-four. One of her other dogs is having puppies soon.

Marisa Ross
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

To have a good Christmas. I don't want any fighting or fires. I want to have a good Christmas.

Patrick Pezz
Atherton Hough, Gr. 3

It would be that the world could put up shelters and all the people without food or houses could come for a celebration.

Jessica Quilty
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

It would be for Worldwide peace, no more wars, no more fights and that we could be one happy family.

Brian O'Donnell
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

To see my great grandmother and my two grandfathers again, I would do anything to see them once more for Christmas.

Kristin Guptill
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

That my mother could be home for Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. I hope that I can be with the rest of my family.

Sara Keefe
Atherton Hough, Gr. 5

It would be to make peace in the world. I want peace in the world because there are so many people who are getting killed, and soon there will not be any people left. If we have peace now, we will live in a very peaceful world.

Patrick McDonagh
Squantum, Gr. 5

It would be to have no more wars. I think wars are stupid. They can kill and I think there are probably some very nice people in this world who agree with me. There should be no more wars so we can save people's lives. This world could do very well without wars.

Jessica Foley
Squantum, Gr. 5

My wish is that I get a new bike. I want a bike because my other bike is too small, plus my other bike has a flat and I can't get a new wheel. I have not ridden a bike for a year. My old one is in bad shape. It bothers me when I see kids riding bikes. That is why I want a new bike.

Michael Noddin
Squantum, Gr. 5

My one wish would be to have peace, love, and harmony in the world for twenty-four hours (midnight to midnight). By peace I mean for all people to put down their arms. By love I mean that people open their hearts and give so that no one wakes up on Christmas Day hungry and no one goes to bed hungry. By harmony I mean that the world can wish their fellow man peace in his words and love in their hearts.

Caryn McNally
Montclair, Gr. 5

It will be world peace. I wish that people will stop fighting and blowing each other up. I wish that nuclear bombs, atom bombs and all weapons to disappear, and people will be nice to each other. Also stop each other and stop wars. The U.S.A. should apologize for anything it has done wrongfully against Russia.

John Brennan
Montclair, Gr. 5

It would be to try to stop all the people from using drugs. I would teach the kids that used them how bad they are. I would try to point out the pain to the family and friends that drugs cause. I would try to tell them how to stop using drugs. They would try not to think about it and try to think about a different thing else. I hope that all the people stop using drugs because the whole world would be much, much happier then before.

North Bows, Bounces Back

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy hockey team got off to a rough start last week as it was outclassed by a superior Arlington team, but bounced back to defeat Everett last Saturday night.

Kevin Jago's Raiders played Malden last night (Wednesday), will host Medford Friday at 7:50 at the Youth Arena and will be at Peabody Tuesday at 5 o'clock.

North was walloped by Arlington, 9-1, in its opener, as goalies Steve Sugarman and Jeff McClory were peppered with 50 shots.

Paul McGrath scored the lone Raider goal and Armando Mancini played well on defense.

Arlington, always one of the top teams in the state, proved the romp over North was no fluke when it rolled over Newton North, 8-0, last Saturday.

The Raiders rebounded with a fine two-way effort to defeat Everett, 4-1, Saturday.

Martin Feeney scored two goals and had an assist. Joe Keegan had goal and assist and Sal Manganaro a goal.

McClory had an outstanding game in goal with 26 saves. Rob Kane played scoring defense.

"The boys played well against Everett," said Jago. "The opening game was a combination of opening night jitters and being outclassed by a really fine team.

"We have a young team and are using a lot of underclassmen. After the Arlington game we had two fine days of practice and the boys were ready for Everett. When the underclassmen continue to improve, I think we will do all right."

Last year, following a 4-14-1 season, the Raiders qualified for the Eastern Mass. tournament for the fourth time in five years.

Penalties Take Toll On Quincy

Quincy's undermanned hockey team turned in an excellent performance in its opening game last Saturday night, but penalties took their toll on the Presidents, who lost to Malden, 6-3.

Quincy's scheduled opener earlier in the week at Everett was postponed due to a mixup in the schedule. The game actually was scheduled for Tuesday but Quincy had the game listed on Wednesday. The game will be made up later in the season.

The Presidents played at Medford last night (Wednesday), will be at Peabody Friday at 6 o'clock and will host Revere Tuesday night at 7:50 at the Youth Arena.

Malden jumped out to a 1-0 lead but Tim Mann tied it up for Quincy.

Mike Bamber put the Presidents ahead, 2-1, only to have Malden tie it up.

Mike Noonan scored and Quincy led, 3-2, but Malden tied it up again and put the game away with three goals in the last period, the final one into an empty net.

"Penalties hurt us considerably," said Coach Bob Sylvia. "We don't have the players to play short-handed. The boys played hard and did a good job."

Sports

Squirt Bs Skate By Pembroke, 6-2

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team, sponsored by Cablevision, turned in an outstanding two-way performance to defeat Pembroke, 6-2, in its first game since being moved up the open division in the Greater Boston League.

Shawn McTomney, John Barron, Jimmy Gallagher, Joshua Wingate, John Manning and Jimmy Kelley scored the goals. Manning had three assists and Kelley, Chris Grant, Wingate and Bruce Stenberg one each.

Quincy did some fine backchecking led by Tommy Moriarty, Manning, Billy Barron, Gallagher and Kelley. It was a total team effort with Wingate, Grant and Mike O'Brien playing well on offense. John Ryan was named defensive player of the game and Manning the offensive player. Goalie Timmy Sheehan, who has allowed only 12 goals, the best record in the league, was a standout as he posted his 11th win.

Eric Oliva and Joe Bracken also played strong games.

Pee Wee As Win

The Quincy Pee Wee A hockey team, sponsored by the Quincy Elks, beat previously unbeaten Belmont 6-4.

Quincy had one of its better games of the season as it improved to 6-2. Until it played Quincy, Belmont had only allowed three goals in eight previous games.

Leading the way in scoring was Brian Wood and Matt McGowan with two goals each. Michael DesRoche and Jamie Schatzl had one each. Rob Guarneri had three assists and Miller, Boylen, Nolan, Barrett and Schatzl had an assist each.

Mite As Win Big Pair

Quincy's Mite A hockey team, sponsored by DAV Post 79, rolled to big wins over Pembroke and Needham after tying Canton and Belmont.

The team finished the first half of the Greater Boston League season in second place behind arch rival South Boston. The Mite A's will compete in the 15th annual Santa Claus Tournament at Pilgrim Arena in Hingham during the Christmas break.

Robbie Winter scored four goals and had an assist in a 7-1 win over Pembroke. Michael trick and Eric Wood two goals. Ryan had three assists and Jim Wood two.

Jason Smith and Billy Graney provided excellent backchecking and solid playmaking.

Goalie Brian Beaton was outstanding in a scoreless tie with Belmont with several spectacular kick saves. Defensemen Betsy Stone, Jim Wood and DiMattia provided excellent coverage in front of the net and Derek McTomney was strong defensively. Ryan, Cooper, Eric Wood and Winter peppered the Belmont goalie, but were turned back.

Quincy tied Canton, 2-2 with John Barron and Winter scoring the goals and Eric Wood having an assist. Brian Degan and Langille were strong defensively and Beaton had another fine game in goal.

Quincy Girls Off To Slow Start

The Quincy's girls' basketball team is off to a slow start as it dropped decisions to Greater Boston League opponents Medford and Peabody last week.

Doug MacFarlane's First Ladies played Everett Tuesday night, will host Somerville today (Thursday) at 5 o'clock and will play in the annual Christmas Tournament, this year at Quincy Voc-Tech, next Wednesday and Thursday nights. They will face Weymouth North Wednesday at 6:30 in the first round and the consolation game will be Thursday at 6:30 and the championship game at 8.

Quincy dropped its opener to Medford, 35-22, despite some excellent rebounding by Chris Barrett and Amy Baker. Last Friday it lost to Peabody, 56-33.

"The girls played hard but Medford and Peabody had too much size and experience," said MacFarlane. "We are starting pretty much from scratch and have no experience or size. We will come along but it will take us a little while to get going."

• Executive League

Lewis Sparks Grumpy's, 6-2

Kevin Lewis had two goals and an assist to spark Grumpy's Pub to a 6-2 win over P. J.'s Flyers in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Jack Erickson, Joe Flibotte, Jim Cooney and Mark Paolucci had a goal each. Paolucci, Doug MacLean and Rich DiPietro had two assists each and Dave Casey, Mike Manganaro and Cooney one apiece. Dave Mullen and John Ryan scored for the Flyers and Rich Gibbs, Stan Lisowski, John Farren and Ed Lenihan had assists.

South Shore Bearing defeated Emmott's Electric, 4-3, as Jay Powers had his first hat trick of the season. Ed Grogan had the other goal. Jack Aldred had three assists, Chip Linscott two and Steve Dymont and Jack Hurley one each. Marty Tolson, Ralph Gibbs and Mark Boulter scored for Emmott's and Ed Nolan, Don Harrington, Chet Brunstrom, Dick McCabe and Tolson had assists.

Adams Sports and Beacon Sports tied, 3-3. Scip Manganaro, Don Fawcett and Fred Cobban scored for Adams and Fawcett, Mike Flaherty and Bibby Lewis had assists. Kevin Jago, Fred Cashman and Joe Verlicco scored for Beacon. Artie Boyle, Art Boyle, Charlie Watt and Bob Boyle had assists.

North Girls Lose, Bounce Back For Win

The North Quincy girls' basketball team got off to a disappointing start last week, losing to Everett, 52-44, but rebounded for an easy 50-22 victory over Malden last Friday.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes played Arlington Tuesday and will host Peabody today (Thursday) at 5 o'clock.

Numerous turnovers hurt North in the opening period against Everett and it trailed, 12-10, after one quarter. North took a brief 15-2 lead as Paula Tolson and Kellene Duffy led the way. Duffy consistently disrupted the Everett offense with her tough defense, while Tolson was finishing from all angles and hitting the half with 13 points. North trailed, 27-23, at halftime.

North trailed throughout the third quarter despite six points from Tolson and four from Deirdre Murphy. The Raiderettes tied it at 35 early in the fourth quarter but Everett ran off 10 straight points and led the rest of the way.

Tolson led all scorers with a career-high 24 points, had eight rebounds and three steals. Duffy, who played an excellent overall floor game, had seven points, a school record 11 steals, five rebounds and four assists, and Murphy had 11 points and 11 rebounds.

North raced to a quick 18-3 lead over Malden as a variety of defensive looks totally confused the visiting Malden team. Tolson hit for eight first-quarter points and Duffy and Murphy had four apiece. Tolson also had five first-half assists.

North extended its lead to 31-7 at halftime with Kerry Tolson scoring four points. Kara Sullivan and Debbie Panaro played well with several steals and rebounds.

Bregoli substituted freely in the second half. Senior Tricia Mitton played a strong half with three assists and Karin Reister and Joanna Rugnetta had three blocked shots each. Tara Miles, sophomore guard, hit three long jump shots in the final quarter and junior guard Theresa Dwyer also played well.

Tolson gain led all scorers with 13 points and had four assists and five steals. Murphy had 10 points and 12 rebounds, Duffy and Kerry Tolson six points each. Sullivan four points, five rebounds, five assists and five steals.

Presidents Match Last Year's Wins

The basketball season is only a week old, but the Quincy boys' team already has as many wins as it did all last year.

Last year the Presidents suffered through a 2-18 season and last week they opened up with a pair of impressive wins over Greater Boston League opponents.

Quincy opened with a 65-53 victory over Medford and followed up last Friday with a 62-46 decision over Peabody. The Presidents played at Everett Tuesday night, will be at Somerville tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 and will play in the annual Christmas tournament, this year at Weymouth South, next Wednesday and Thursday nights. They will play Weymouth South in the opener at 7:30 and the consolation game will be Thursday at 6 and the championship game at 7:30.

"I am very pleased with our showing in the first two games," said Quincy coach John Franceschini. "The boys played good, aggressive ball and played fine two-way games. The addition of Iody Beauchamp (a starter the last two years for Jeremiah Burke High of Boston) has made it impossible for the opponents to key on Mike Perkins and Joe Russell, as they did last year."

In the opener against

Medford Perkins scored 22 points and had eight rebounds, while Beauchamp scored 21 points and had 10 rebounds.

Jim Sugrue had nine points and Russell had nine assists.

The score was tied at the half, 30-30, but the Presidents went to a full-court trap in the third quarter, took a quick 39-30 lead and never looked back.

Last Friday against Peabody Perkins paced the attack with 20 points and had eight assists. Beauchamp had 17 points and eight rebounds and Perkins added 14 points and had a big night on the boards with 15 rebounds.

Oscar Laro, playing his first varsity game, played an outstanding game on defense.

Raiders Slow

The North Quincy boys' basketball team got off to a slow start last week as it dropped decisions to Greater Boston League opponents Everett and Malden.

Ted Stevenson's Raiders played Arlington Tuesday night, will be at Peabody tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 and will play in the annual Christmas tournament, this year at Weymouth South, next Wednesday and Thursday nights. They will play Weymouth North in the opener Wednesday at 6 and the consolation game will be at 6 on Thursday and the championship game at 7:30.

North dropped a 54-52 overtime decision to Everett in the opening game after Erik DeBoer tied the game at 46-46 with a three-pointer to send the game into overtime.

Everett took a 36-20 halftime lead but pressure defense by Kipp Caldwell and Jeff Calvert to open the second half helped bring the Raiders back into the game.

Derek Goodson paced North with 18 points and DeBoer scored 16.

Last Friday Malden defeated North, 76-57.

DeBoer had 21 points to lead the Raider's offense and Caldwell chipped in with 16.

Matarazzo Team Leads St. John's

Joe Matarazzo's team moved into a top tie in St. John's Holy Name Bowling League by sweeping six points while Art DiFulvio's team lost six points.

The standings: DiFulvio and Matarazzo, 40-26; Bob Salun, 38-28; Lew MacLennan, 32-34; John Grande, 30-36; and Tom Feltrup, 18-48.

Saluti rolled the weekly high single of 126 and Bud McAllister had 110. Saluti also had the high three of 338 and McAllister rolled 305.

Saluti's team had the high team single of 462 and MacLellan's team rolled the high three of 1415.

The Top Ten: Saluti, 106.37; Grande, 102.09; McAllister, 94.20; DiFulvio, 92.64; Dan Dieso, 92.17; Charlie O'Brien, 91.85; Richie Warner, 91.33; MacLennan, 91.11; Don Gilliland, 90.47; Feltrup, 90.17.

Panther Cheerleaders Reach $10,000 Goal For Trip To Dallas

The Quincy Point Panther cheerleaders have reached their $10,000 goal and will represent New England in the National Cheerleaders Association championship next Wednesday through Saturday (Dec. 27-30) in Dallas, Tex.

The Panthers are the first New England junior high-age cheerleaders to compete for a national title.

After winning the N.E. crown, the Panthers' organization formed a fundraising committee of boosters and parents, while the 14 cheerleaders held a tag day and a bowl-a-thon together with the Panther football players to defray the cost of the trip.

The Panthers, also the two-time Eastern Mass. champions, will depart for Logan Airport next Tuesday at 5 a.m. on the Braintree Veterans' Taxi shuttle and will fly via Northwest Airlines and arrive in Dallas at 11 a.m.

After a welcome party that evening and final practice at the hotel, the girls will compete at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday. More than 380 teams (5000 cheerleaders) from as far away as Hawaii will compete.

Donations are still being received in support of the trip. The latest donations were from the North Quincy Apaches football team and cheerleaders, Charles Transportation (Ron, Barbara and David MacMurdo), the Jachnig Family, Mike Brusin, James and Mabel McCollum, Beechwood Community Life Center's 'Beechnuts', Rev. Joseph Downey of St. Joseph's Church, Tom and Judy Carter and DelGrecio Coins.

Other businesses that contributed to the fundraising drive were Quincy Firefighters Association Local 792 and Business and Mail Services on Temple St. in Quincy Center.

Throughout the seven-week fund-raiser, contributions came from New Hampshire, California, Nova Scotia and Boynton Beach, Fla.

The cheerleaders are Capt. Lynne Feeley, Co-Capt. Maureen Wood, Michelle Minichello, Jennifer Walsh, Maureen Mancuso, Karen Curran, Debbie Russell, Amy Murphy, Vicky Comeau, Jennifer Kelley, Katie McCarthy, Kelley Dyer, Cindy Cedrone and Christine Curran.

The girls will be chaperoned by coaches Patti and Kathy Myers, Christine Cedrone, Anita Curran, Charlene Feeley, Mary Mancuso and Susan Blowers.

THE QUINCY POINT Panther cheerleaders, complete with their cowboy hats, are all set to compete for the national championship at Dallas after surpassing their goal of $10,000 to defray expenses. Front row, left to right, Jennifer Kelley, Debbie Russell, Jennifer Walsh, Co-Capt. Maureen Wood, Capt. Lynne Feeley and Maureen Mancuso. Back, Amy Murphy, Kelley Dyer, Katie McCarthy, Cindy Cedrone, Christine Curran, Vicky Comeau, Karen Curran and Michelle Minichello. In front is mascot Laura Feeley.

City Council Commends Point Panther Cheerleaders

The coaches and members of the Quincy Point Panther Cheerleading Squad were commended for their achievements this year by the City Council Monday night.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro presented the commendation to coaches Patti and Kathy Myers and the 15-member team which won the New England Junior-High-Age Cheerleading championship.

They will represent New England in the National Cheerleaders Association Championship in Dallas to be held Dec. 27-30.

They are the first New England Junior-High-Age cheerleaders to compete in the national championship.

The commendation reads: "In recognition of the pursuit of excellence in defending their Eastern Massachusetts title and for being the first New England Junior-High-Age team to compete for a national title against 350 other teams from all over the United States.

"The citizens of Quincy are extremely proud and wish you all the best in Dallas."

In addition to the commendation, each member was presented a lapel pin that commemorates their championship and the 100th anniversary of Quincy as a city.

After the presentation, the cheerleaders performed a cheer in the Council Chambers to the delight of all those in attendance.

WEEK OF: December 22,

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Ambition is your middle name. You set your sights on a goal, then persevere until you achieve it. Some find you overreacting, but all agree that you have a delightful sense of humor. The first half of the new year spotlights travel, some of it related to career. From mid-1989 onward you make key advances in professional or educational pursuits.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
Not the best week to break, or even to bend, rules. Out-of-town family member may arrive ahead of schedule. Creativity is a strongpoint, especially in the kitchen.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
Dealings with teachers and coworkers are favored. Campaigning is part of the week's scene, and public speaking is your strongpoint. Reconciliations emphasized after weekend.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
Series of obstacles are removed from your work path and you make significant strides. Personal relationships are enhanced thanks to a mutual willingness to compromise.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22
Festivities this year may include a surprise appearance from a favorite friend. Job tensions ease, thanks to intervention of a mystery person who admires your abilities.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
Constructive advice comes your way -- try not to resist it too strenuously. A shy friend is more outgoing thanks to your upbeat character. Older family member delights with his generosity.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
Thursday highlights career decisions, while Friday - Sunday favor family events. Monday - Wednesday may include an announcement of an upcoming major celebration.

LEO — July 23 - August 22
Thursday - Friday highlight money matters, while the whole weekend spotlights family and friends. Monday - Wednesday include chance for travel and may bring a small financial windfall.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
Your ideas should be put into action before someone borrows them. Relationship changes directions several times within the week, keeping you on your toes and out of breath.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
Your upbeat attitude makes you a popular and helpful friend through this period. Week may have an exotic feel as you meet people from various corners of the world.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
Confidence in your own ideas can lead to their successful implementation. If signing agreements, be sure to read the finest of fine print. Postponement proves blessing in disguise.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
Your role in a career or family project is more important than you realize; added prestige arrives by the weekend. Partner is showing signs of greater enthusiasm.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20
Long-awaited announcements are delivered; now the planning can begin. Be a little wary of self-appointed financial advisors. Leadership role is yours for the asking.

BORN THIS WEEK
December 22nd, conductor Pierre Charles; 23rd, actor Harry Guardino; 24th, actress Ava Gardner; 25th, singer Barbara Mandrell; 26th, actor Alan King; 27th, singer Marlene Dietrich; 28th, actor Martin Milner.

Holiday Activities For Children At Main Library

A variety of holiday activities and films is scheduled for children at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Square.

Beginning Saturday, Dec. 24, self-directed activities will be featured in the Central Children's Room from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Children, ages four and older, can assemble a "felt-board" snowman, identify familiar holiday tunes, and create a dragon mask for Chinese New Year. These activities, as well as others, will continue during the following week, Tuesday, Dec. 27 to Friday, Dec. 30 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

An hour-long film festival will be offered at the library Tuesday, Dec. 27 at 7 p.m. Bring the family and enjoy a selection of films which depict the holiday preparations of Curious George, Santa's toys, and a young boy and his donkey.

Due to the holidays, the library will be open Saturdays, Dec. 24 and 31 from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The library will be closed all day on Mondays, Dec. 26 and Jan. 2.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

MERRY CHRISTMAS, HAPPY NEW YEAR . . . This age-old greeting retains its youthful zeal and continues to express the best wishes of friends.

We make no apology for using the ancient phrase in extending holiday greetings to our readers . . . our friends.

If you are MERRY, as we wish you to be, you will enjoy the holiday season as friends and loved ones surprise you with the evidence of their affection and as you experience the purring content of a well-satisfied innerman. If you are HAPPY, as we hope you to be, you will have shared the Christmas spirit in the giving of your self and your substance to others.

To be both MERRY and HAPPY in this world of ours, one must enjoy the material and experience the spiritual. One must be well in body, satisfied in mind and aglow in spirit. The way is clear; accept with genuine gratitude, enjoy with moderation and give with generosity. Never forget that "it is more blessed to give than to receive" and that "inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

So, now you understand why we say to you, simply and sincerely:

"A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By prearranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you L.I.F.E. a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your L.I.F.E. Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

Mary G. Kenney, 86

A funeral Mass for Mary G. "Mac" (Fennessy) Kenney, 86, of Quincy, was held Dec. 17 at St. Joseph's Church.

Mrs. Kenney died Dec. 16 at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness. Burial was in New Calvary Cemetery, Boston.

Born and educated in Boston, she lived in Jamaica Plain before moving to Quincy 15 years ago. She was a secretary to the administrator of Long Island Hospital for the City of Boston for 20 years.

Mrs. Kenney was a member of the Senior Citizens Group at 1000 Southern Artery.

Wife of the late John Kenney, she is survived by two nephews, Francis Fennessy and James Fennessy, both of Boston; three nieces, Marie Buckley Winne of Dorchester, Mary Conley of Needham and Kathryn Driscoll of Stoughton, and many grandnephews and nieces.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals.

Donations may be made to the school building fund of St. Joseph's Church, 556 Washington St., Quincy, MA 02169.

Thomas M. McDonald, 66

Past VFW State Commander Active In Charitable Causes

A funeral Mass will be celebrated Thursday at 10 a.m. in Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, for Thomas M. McDonald, 66, of North Quincy, past state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and long active in civic and charitable causes.

Mr. McDonald died Monday at Carney Hospital in Dorchester following a heart attack suffered shortly after delivering gifts to the needy.

Mr. McDonald was a past commander of George F. Bryan VFW Post, a member of the American Legion and the Quincy City Club, and was a past commander of the Quincy Veterans Council. He served in the Navy in the South Pacific during World War II.

He was State Commander of the VFW from 1979-80.

Mr. McDonald was a member of the Quincy Sun based Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee which has raised over $1 million to help fight muscular dystrophy.

He was also involved in getting the Nursing Home Patients Night Out rolling. The Bryan Post was host to 150 patients from nursing homes in the city for dinner and entertainment.

In 1987, he ran unsuccessfully for the Ward 3 City Council seat. He focused mainly on the issues of development and traffic.

Dr. Astro A. DiBona, 78 Retired Hospital Anesthesiologist

Dr. Astro A. DiBona, 78, of Milton, and formerly of Quincy, an anesthesiologist at Quincy City Hospital until his retirement in 1980, died Dec. 15 at the hospital after a long illness.

Dr. DiBona was associated with Anesthesiologist Associates since 1950.

He opened a private practice in Quincy in 1936. He was a Quincy city physician from 1936 to 1942 and served as an examiner physician for the Selective Service System for the city from 1940 to 1970.

He was a physician for the School of Nursing at Quincy City Hospital from 1948 to 1980.

Dr. DiBona was a member of the American Medical Association, American Society of Anesthesiologists, the International Anesthesiologist Society, the Massachusetts Medical Society and the Norfolk South Medical Society.

Born in Chester, he had lived in Quincy before moving to Milton 26 years ago.

He graduated from Quincy High School in 1927 and from Tufts Medical School in 1933. He served his residency at Cambridge City Hospital from 1933 to 1935.

Dr. DiBona was an active member of the Wollaston Golf Club.

He is survived by his wife, Virginia (Harriman) DiBona, a son, Gerald F. DiBona of Iowa City, Iowa, three daughters, Joyce DiBona Weiss of Boston, Claire DiBona Graves of Nantucket, and Ann DiBona Reed of Revere; a brother, Ferrer DiBona of Braintree; a sister, Anna Greene of Braintree and four grandchildren.

The funeral service and burial were private.

Donations may be made to the Joslin Diabetes Foundation, Joslin Place, Boston.

Helen F. Miller, 91

She died at home Dec. 13 after a long illness. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Miss Miller was one of the oldest members of the Bethany Congregational Church.

She was a lifelong resident of Quincy.

Bridie Donlan, 84

A funeral Mass was celebrated Dec. 15 at Sacred Heart Church for Bridie (Clancy) Donlan, 84, of Quincy, a retired cafeteria worker for John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., Boston.

She died Dec. 13 at the John Adams Nursing Home after a long illness. Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Boston.

Miss Donlan was born in Ireland and had lived in Dorchester before moving to Quincy 21 years ago.

Wife of the late John Donlan, she is survived by two sisters, Sarah Clancy of Quincy and Julia Curran of Ireland; two nieces, Mary Hunter of Quincy and Maureen Robertson of Randolph, and a nephew, Joseph Naughton of Braintree. She was the sister of the late Katherine O'Loole, Mary Naughtan, Ann Clancy and John Clancy.

Funeral arrangements were by St. Kevin's Funeral Home, 64 Hancock St., Quincy.

Local Hiring Preference Reintroduced

(Cont'd from Page 8)

"If unemployment reached a certain percentage then a clause would kick in requiring the hiring of Massachusetts residents on a preferential basis and the Supreme Court has ruled that this is unconstitutional," McCauley said Oct. 12.

He added, "If the state cannot do this legally, neither can the city of Quincy."

Another change to the original ordinance deals with fines if the ordinance is violated.

Instead of a $500 fine which exceeded the maximum fine allowed under state law, the modified ordinance calls for a $300 fine.

Like the first ordinance, the revised version calls for the hiring ratio after the employer's foreman or supervisor and two key employees have been employed for a one-week period.

Also, both ordinances state that minorities and women should be given additional hiring preference.

In explaining the changes, McGrath called the ordinance a step "in the right direction."

"I feel that we have an obligation where we have so many development projects in the city of Quincy, that the people who live in the city, I think ought to be sharing the benefits of those projects by being hired to work on those projects."

"We have all seen cases of people being brought in (to Quincy) and being used by certain people in the construction industry, and some of them even being brought in from other countries illegally," McGrath said.

PERSONALS

PRAYER OF APPLICATION TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, who light all roads so that I can attain my goal, you who give me the divine gift of forgiveness and forget all evil against me and who in all instances of my life are with me, I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you and even in spite of all material illusion, I want to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine.
Repeat this prayer 3 consecutive days. After 3 days the favor will be granted even though it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after favor is granted without mentioning the favor.

No Hint On Re-election Plans McCauley Mid-Term Address And Ceremonies Jan. 3

By JANE ARENA

Mayor Francis McCauley will deliver his mid-term address Tuesday, Jan. 3 at 10 a.m. ceremonies in the City Council Chamber in Old City Hall.

In his address, the mayor will review the major events in the City of Quincy in 1988 and look ahead to 1989. He will also comment on the City's 100th Anniversary.

McCauley declined to say whether his address would include announcement as to whether he will seek re-election to a fifth term. He told the Sun he will make that announcement "sometime in January."

"In all fairness to my supporters and to my opponents, I will make the announcement sometime before the end of January," he said, "but I won't say the date right now."

"I've got the date (of the announcement) in my head, so I won't procrastinate," he said.

During the mid-term ceremonies the City Council will organize for 1989. Councilor Patricia M. Toland is expected to be elected for her second year as City Council President. Jeanne Reardon is expected to be re-elected as Clerk of Committees.

The agenda for the mid-term ceremonies:

- Mid-Term City Council Meeting Called to Order by City Clerk.
- Roll Call of Members.
- Francis X. McCauley's

mid-term address.

- Nomination and Election of Clerk of Committees.

- Swear into Office Clerk of Committees.

- Nomination and election of President of City Council.

- Swear into Office President of City Council.

- Authorize Clerk of Council to have Council Calendars printed.

- Authorized Mayor to Execute Deeds for Adams Temple & School Fund.

- Election by ballot of two Members for the Board of Supervisors - Quincy City Hospital.

- Election by Ballot of Two Members to the Adams Temple and School Fund.

Collins Undecided

Nigro Won't Seek Re-election To School Committee

School Committee member, Margaret "Peggy" Nigro announces she will not seek re-election in 1989.

Elected to a four-year term three years ago, Nigro, who also works as a receptionist for Continental Cable, said she feels that another term would not be fair to her family.

"It's very hard to do everything," she said. "My commitment to the School Committee has been, I feel, 100 percent, and I'd like to give a little back to my family at this time."

"I still have another year to go," she said, "and I hope to give another 100 percent."

Nigro also has a three year commitment to the Northeast Regional Training Center Drug Rehabilitation Program and said she would continue her work with that. "I will still give that my all," she said, "I do not intend to give up community service I'd like to be involved, especially in the school issues."

A possible second vacancy could occur on the School Committee.

Vice-chairwoman Mary Collins, who was elected North County Commissioner says she has not yet decided whether she will seek re-election to the School Committee in 1989.

"I will wait until April 1," she says. "By that time, I will know for sure."

She is waiting to see if she will be able to carry out the duties of both jobs without a time problem involving meetings.

Collins will take the oath of County Commissioner at a unique ceremony scheduled for Wednesday morning, Jan. 4 at City Hall.

She has asked permission from Gov. Michael Dukakis to have "two good friends" Mayor Francis McCauley and City Council President Patricia Toland administer the oath. Dukakis will name McCauley and Toland as commissioners to administer the oath.

Collins, commenting on Nigro's decision not to seek re-election, said:

"I am sorry and disappointed that Peggy has decided not to run for re-election. She has done an excellent job and will be missed by the School Committee and the City."

1988 In Review

A Year Of Decisions And Surprises

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Some major announcements, tough decisions and a few surprises marked 1988 in Quincy, the year of the city's centennial.

Early in the year, it was announced that the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority and the city had reached an agreement allowing the authority to site and operate an interim sludge treatment plant at the former General Dynamics shipyard.

In return, the MWRA would pay the city $1.6 million for each year of operation.

The former shipyard was also the focal point of some other major announcements as former shipbuilders, trying to open a portion of the yard for maritime uses, made several significant steps towards that goal.

As for tough decisions, the School Committee approved the consolidation of the Point and Sterling Middle Schools.

The decision, called "tough" by Mayor Francis X. McCauley, drew criticism from School Committeeman Frank Anselmo, Ward 2. Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro and parents who collectively said the move was unnecessary.

Near the end of the year, the School Committee would again face a difficult decision when it was learned the Central Middle School roof and learning center balcony had structural defects.

After several meetings and much discussion, the committee voted to divide the displaced students by class and send them to three different schools while Central underwent repairs.

The decision overturned a prior vote which would have made the 476 students attend double sessions at the Broadmeadows Middle School.

As for surprises, sudden and intense downpours one day in July caused major flooding throughout several sections of Quincy, damaging approximately 400 homes and prompting the mayor to declare Quincy a local disaster area and ask the state for assistance.

The year 1988 was also an election year and although he did not win the White House, Quincy preferred Gov. Michael Dukakis over Vice President George Bush for president.

Voters also filled the vacant state representative seat in the Second Norfolk District when they overwhelmingly elected first-time candidate Arthur Stephen Tobin.

The city also embarked on a year-long centennial celebration marking Quincy's transition from a town to a city form of government 100 years ago.

On a sad note, Quincy lost some prominent figures, including former state representative and city councillor Joseph E. Brett, 80, and Thomas M. McDonald, 66, past VFW state commander and long active in civic and charitable causes.

Highlights of 1988 included:

January

In his inauguration address at the Quincy Vocational Technical School, Mayor Francis McCauley began his fourth term by saying he would "reluctantly" seek to establish a sewer user fee for the small commercial and residential property owner.

"I am submitting (this) rather reluctantly, but I feel it is necessary, that its time has come," McCauley said, noting the large increases in sewer assessments to the city.

McCauley also said he would resubmit a home rule petition which would increase the terms of office for the mayor and city council from two to four years.

The petition had first been introduced by McCauley in his inaugural address in January of 1986.

In addition, McCauley said he would submit an order, at the request of Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue, which would restrict and control smoking in restaurants and eating places in Quincy.

McCauley said another proposed ordinance change would place responsibility on property owners in Quincy to not only keep their own property clean, but also the adjacent areas.

History was made at the ceremony when Councillor Patricia Toland was unanimously elected president of the Quincy City Council, making her the first woman to hold that position in the city's 100-year history.

During her address, Toland said "in a city steeped in some of the most glorious chapters in American history, I am pleased that it will be footnoted in the history books in the city of Quincy's centennial year, the City Council voted its first woman president.

Toland said she would submit to the Council an order creating a commission called Quincy Pride to work towards a clean community.

She also said she would work towards revitalizing downtown Quincy and would create a data processing committee to help expedite computerization of all city departments.

Mary Collins, a veteran school committee member, was elected vice chairman of that body.

During her address, Collins said the direction of the committee will be positive and productive.

"The deliberation and vote on the major issue of middle consolidation will be occurring soon and hopefully, will end any discussion of school closings for many years to come," Collins said.

After resigning in September of 1987, Quincy's Auxiliary Police Department returned to the city.

"This is where we want to stay," said Anthony Siciliano, chief of the 25-member auxiliary. It had resigned four months earlier after its duties were sharply reduced because of the threat of legal liability. The auxiliary had planned to move to Braintree but that never occurred.

Mayor McCauley welcomed their return, saying "we need them and we want them."

Ward 1 Heating Up

The old political pot seems to be on the front burner in Ward 1 and getting ready to start steaming.

The 1989 city elections — preliminary and final — are still months away but a number of potential candidates are lining up for a run for the Ward 1 City Council seat.

A likely vacant seat has caused all the interest.

Incumbent Michael Cheney has made no official announcement one way or the other but he has indicated he will run for councillor at-large next year.

The indication has been strong enough to move several prospective candidates to the "I'm thinking about running" stage.

Names being mentioned include former City Councillor Charles Shea, Denis Tardo, Peter Kolson and Jack Nigro.

Shea was elected to the Ward 1 seat in 1959, was re-elected and then ran for mayor unsuccessfully in 1963 against Amelio Della Chiesa, a political powerhouse and a stone wall for Shea.

Incidentally, Shea's decision to run for mayor instead of re-election in 1963 turned out to be opportunity knocking for a young Frank McCauley who was elected to the Ward 1 seat that year.

Shea made a comeback the following year, winning the Second Norfolk District state representative seat. He edged Robert Denvir, 5,471 to 4,058. Denvir now is city purchasing agent and parking meter czar.

Shea later became city auditor, is now dabbling in real estate and would like to get back into the political arena.

Shea will run only if Cheney vacates the seat.

5 Quincy Students On Don Bosco Honor Roll

Five Quincy students have been named to the honor roll for the first quarter at Don Bosco Technical High School in Boston.

David D. Gardiner of 45 Grossman St., a senior, received first honors; Michael J. Leonard of 28 Blake St., a senior, second honors; Brian J. Hegarty of 145 Wilson Ave., a junior, second honors; Thomas M. Leonard of 55 Fenno St. and Kevin P. Mantville of 51 Forbes Hill Rd., both freshmen, both second honors.

A political pepper-pot, he lived up many a city council meeting never backing away from a controversial issue.

Tardo, who ran unsuccessfully for the Republican nomination for state representative in the Second Norfolk District in the September primary is considering either a run for the Ward 1 seat or for councillor at-large.

A Merry Mount resident, he is maintenance foreman for the Bureau of State Office Buildings and president of the Quincy Tenants Organization.

Kolson is a vocal civic activist in the Germantown and Adams Shore areas and supervisor of maintenance for the Quincy Housing Authority.

Would there be a conflict for Kolson serving as city councillor and holding his Housing Authority job? Apparently not if he served in the City Council without salary.

Nigro has been active civically and politically in the Houghs Neck area but not as a candidate. He was campaign manager for Cheney when the latter won the Ward 1 seat vacated by Leo Kelly in 1984.

The fact that Nigro is even thinking of running is seen as further evidence that Cheney is giving up the Ward 1 seat to run at-large.

the husband of School Committee-woman Peggy Nigro.

Kelly has indicated he might run for councillor at-large next year which would put another Ward 1 name on the ballot.

Kelly, incidentally, might also have to forfeit the City Council pay to be able to serve without conflict as he is project manager for the Quincy Housing Authority.

Could be one of Ward 1's hottest years, politically speaking.

157th Infantry, 158th Field Artillery Members Sought

The 157th Infantry Association is trying to locate former members of the 157th Infantry Regiment and the 158th Field Artillery.

These units were part of the 45th Infantry Division during World War II and fought in Sicily, Italy, France and Germany.

The association holds annual reunions and sends a quarterly newsletter to its members.

Especially being sought is William Murphy who is known to have lived in Quincy many years ago.

Anyone who has served or knows of someone who has served, with either of these units, is asked to contact Ralph Fink, 19 William St., Hershey, PA 17033 or 717/533-5482.

This Week In History

This week in 1845, Congress admitted Texas to the Union (12/29). In 1961, "Slow Boat" opened in New York City (12/27). In 1973, an Eastern Airline L-1011 crashed enroute on approach from New York to Miami, killing 101 people (12/29). In 1976, a Russian Aeroflot TU-104 crashed at Moscow's Sheremetyevo airport, killing 72 people. In 1985, Palestinian terrorists murdered 20 people at airports in Vienna and Rome.

WHAT IS HAPPENING TO AUTO INSURANCE RATES?

As you may have noticed auto insurance rates are climbing! Many of our clients are perplexed about the rapid rate of increase. Several factors contribute to this situation. Some are beyond our control. Other factors, however, can be changed through the individual and collective responsibility of drivers themselves.

Inflation obviously plays its part. Every area of coverage by auto insurance is affected by inflation. The rising cost of medical care and materials and labor to repair your vehicle are examples of increases beyond our control.

A major reason for soaring rates, however, is increasingly poor driving habits of the public. Did you know, for example, that in Massachusetts in 1986 insurance companies lost 374 million dollars?

We review everyone's auto insurance needs on an individual basis. If you are a responsible driver we may be able to save you money.

For professional advice on all of your insurance needs please contact the experts at Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. Call us at 471-6200 or stop by our office at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

Crane Library Designated National Historic Landmark

(Cont'd from Page 3)

The Quincy Housing Authority was awarded a $1.7 million grant from the Executive Office of Communities and Development. It was earmarked for the rehabilitation of low income housing units in the city.

The Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Center, was designated a national historical landmark by U.S. Secretary of the Interior Donald Hodel.

The 106-year old library was one of 17 sites throughout the country named national landmarks by Secretary Hodel.

City Councillors Stephen McGrath and Michael Cheney were named chairman of key committees by Council President Patricia Leland.

McGrath, former council president, was named chairman of the Finance Committee, a post he had held previously.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney was appointed Ordinance Committee Chairman.

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley was named vice chairman of both committees.

Mayor McCauley introduced an ordinance change to the City Council which would allow self-service gas stations in Quincy.

If the change is approved by the Council, the License Board would approve or disapprove the stations in individual cases.

Former State Rep. Thomas Brownell was sworn in as an associate justice of Plymouth County by Gov. Michael Dukakis.

The issue of calling a special election to fill Brownell's vacated Second Norfolk seat in Quincy was raised by Republican Party Chairman Ray Shanie.

Quincy Police Sgt. Liquor Inspector Richard Laracy submitted a letter to the city's License Board requesting that it ask Quincy liquor establishments not to hire anyone under 21 years old or under 20 years old to serve alcohol.

According to Laracy, during his first five months as liquor inspector, he had found that minors serving alcohol were a large problem with underage people obtaining alcohol and people obtaining too much alcohol and becoming intoxicated.

Richard J. Koch Sr., a leader in charitable and community causes for four decades, was selected posthumously as The Quincy Sun's "Citizen of the Year" for 1987.

Koch, who died in August of 1987, was the choice of a special panel of judges that made its selection from 35 nominations submitted by Quincy Sun readers.

During a television interview with Sun Channel 26, Congressman Brian Donnelly said he was not satisfied with the way the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority acquired the former General Dynamics Shipyard.

"A public agency should not act in private and that's basically what the MWRA did," he said.

The Quincy Police Department strengthened their unit when McGruff, the crime-fighting dog, permanently joined the ranks. Working with Crime Prevention Officer Bob Hanna, McGruff was assigned to the Crime Prevention Program for elementary schools.

Deaths during January included: Anna B. Eckl, a retired supervisor of nursing at Quincy City Hospital; Lorraine Melzard, 39, a member of the Boston Commission for the Blind; Laban H. Whittaker Jr., 64, a prize-winning photographer who worked for the Boston Herald, The Patriot Ledger and The Quincy Sun; Michael Veneto, 73, president of P. Veneto & Sons Builders of Boston; Jens Thornton, 95, designer of the Oak Ridge, Tenn., plant where the atom bomb was produced; Frank L. Schaller, 91, oldest retired Quincy Police officer; Anthony Princiotta, 61, retired employee of the Quincy Highway Department; Roger B. Clapp, retired purchasing agent at the former Home Savings Bank of Boston; Olive C. Carson, 101, former teacher and elementary school supervisor in Quincy.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Della Chiesa First Mayor Of Italian Descent

Amelio Della Chiesa, a veteran of 10 years in the City Council, became Quincy's first mayor of Italian descent when he was elected to the Plan E post by a 7-2 vote of his fellow councillors.

Those voting against him were former Mayor David S. McIntosh and Alfred G. Helfrich, who voted for each other.

Edna B. Austin, who was starting her sixth term on the Council, was elected vice chairman, the first woman to be so honored.

A. Wendell Clark was re-elected to a ninth consecutive one-year term as vice chairman of the School Committee. He had been a committeeman for a dozen years.

Aileen Peterson Wed To David Croasdale

Aileen Alexander Peterson and David P. Croasdale, both of Quincy, were married recently at Quincy Point Congregational Church.

The Rev. Fred and the Rev. Carol Atwood-Lyon officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Muriel M. Peterson of Quincy, while the bridegroom is the son of Thomas and Patricia Croasdale of Manchester, N.H.

The bride was given in marriage by Alexander A. Hutton, her uncle.

Heather W.P. Hicks, of Quincy, twin sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Paula J. Dailey and Mary F. Parsley, both of Braintree; Diane D'Alessandro of Milton; and Lauren Serino of Weymouth.

John A. Willis of Cape Cod was the best man. Ushers included Kevin M. Cummings of Boston; Matthew Levandowski of Manchester, N.H.; Peter Flynn of Coconut Creek, Fl; David A. Marshall of Manchester, N.H. and Charles Manelas of Fort Lauderdale, Fl.

Heather Croasdale of Manchester, N.H., a niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Washington Ballroom, Quality Inn in downtown Boston.

The bride, a graduate of Quincy High School, is a graduate also of Aquinas Junior College, Milton, where she was a member of Phi Theta Kappa. She is now a medical assistant.

Mr. Croasdale, is a graduate of U. Mass. at Amherst, and McGill University in Montreal, Canada, where he is a member of Theta Chi. A CPA, he is a controller for Crown Colony Management Corp. in Quincy.

Scottish Seamen From World War II Seek Quincy Families

Scottish seamen who served on the British ship H.M.S. "Rodney" in 1941 have written to Mayor Francis McCauley for aid in their search for Quincy families who took them in while their ship was undergoing repairs in Boston during the summer of 1941.

The seamen and their host families are as follows:

Seaman Gerry Glover was a guest of the Cameron family who were originally from Glasgow, Scotland.

Fred Walker and Peter Mooney, both of Scotland, were guests of the Hindmarsh family, then of 105 Chubbuck St.

Mayor McCauley has located a daughter of that family, Lois Hindmarsh Ritchie, who now owns an insurance company on Liberty St. in Quincy. He spoke to Mrs. Ritchie on the matter and she recalls the sailors visiting Quincy in 1941. Her name and phone number have been forwarded to the sailors.

Bob Campbell was the guest of a Quincy family originally from Glasgow, Scotland. The family had two brothers, George and Sam, the latter who had married an Irish woman.

The seamen are interested in hearing from any of these families or their relatives in order to plan a reunion visit to Quincy in the coming year.

Anyone with information may contact Bob Campbell, 418 Canada St., Fredrickton, New Brunswick, Canada E3A 4A6, or call him at 1-506-472-0071.

LaRaia Promises 'Aggressive' Campaign On Pressing Issues

JOSEPH LARAIA

Former Mayor Joseph LaRaia who narrowly missed upsetting incumbent Francis McCauley last year is the first candidate in next year's mayoral ring and says he will campaign "aggressively on a number of issues."

LaRaia was defeated by 474 votes by McCauley in the 1987 race.

He served from 1974 to 1976 as mayor, wrestling the office away from Walter Hannon by 483 votes in a recount. LaRaia then lost to Arthur Tobin in the 1977 race.

In an interview with Quincy Sun Channel 26, LaRaia said he will campaign "aggressively" for the office and will focus on a number of pressing local issues.

"Ironically, a year and a half ago," he said, "I brought up issues, many of which are still with us, in fact have grown in intensity," LaRaia said.

"We've still got environmental problems with our polluted bay. We've still got problems of adequate programs and facilities in regard to our school system. We have the problem of rubbish disposal, our traffic gridlock throughout the city is still a problem."

LaRaia said he would also pay particular attention to Quincy Center.

"One particular priority I have is to enhance the image of Quincy Square, to make it a place for people to go to, for shopping and socializing as opposed to a place to avoid."

LaRaia also has concerns with the issue of development in the city. A supporter of the six-story limitation and other ordinances concerning the development in Quincy, LaRaia maintained that restructuring should be done to enhance the city as a community.

"Many of the developments in the city, I think, have been private developments for the owners' purpose and not for the common interest in the city."

On issues relating to the Quincy school system, LaRaia called middle school program cuts the one issue that "stands out."

"The middle school system has lost much of its punch with the loss of extra-curricular activities and some of its basic programs, like the language program. I think it's important that we do what we can to improve in this particular area."

LaRaia also called for improvements in the area of school facilities.

"It's important that we get them in top condition because they'll only be a further drain on the finances available to the City of Quincy," he said.

The text of LaRaia's announcement

"I am officially announcing my candidacy for Mayor today and I am looking forward to campaign aggressively for this office. I will be outlining specific agenda for the solutions to the problems facing Quincy and its citizenry in the weeks ahead."

"The hopes of our citizens rest in many areas of city government. They all fall under the umbrella of the quality of life. Parents seek to acquire confidence in our school system with adequate programs and facilities. We have to work to improve the image of our community which is reflected in our downtown area. This center of activity should be attractive for people of all ages, a place to go rather than avoid. We blueprint for its future as my demonstrated desire to fulfill that objective."

"A top priority is our environment which has been set back by a polluted bay and the contamination of our ground water by outdated systems. We will closely monitor the work of the MWRA as it affects our environment."

"Our traffic mobility has been hampered by uncontrolled traffic and parking. We have spent thousands of consultants and solution but those problems become more intense. We will work to aggressively untangle the gridlock in our community."

"The Mayors office must be accessible and responsive and that quality will be our credit for gaining the confidence of our citizenry."

"Along with my immediate family and political family look forward to meeting those challenges."

City, MWRA Sign Sludge Agreement

(Cont'd from Page 5)

February

Budget requests from city department heads for fiscal 1989 amounted to more than $112 million, an increase of about $16 million over last year's budget.

But Mayor Francis McCauley said he expected the requested amounts to be reduced when the budget session began early in the month.

"The budget will still go up from fiscal 1988 because of salary increases and fixed charges but there will be some cuts in department requests," he said.

Included in the budget were $7.8 million worth of expenditures on capital outlay, landfill and refuse disposal from the free cash account.

One major increase was in the school budget, up $4.2 million.

The city treasury became more than $2 million richer thanks to the repayment by Three Heritage Associates of an outstanding UDAG loan provided in March of 1983, the mayor reported.

The loan covered the construction of the office building and garaged known as Monarch II at Three Heritage Drive, North Quincy.

The mayor said the repayment would go into a separate account and be invested. He said the money would be available for spending in a broad area.

A loud, mysterious noise heard by some residents throughout Quincy early one morning was never fully explained. It was described as a possible thunderclap or a supersonic activity. However, spokesmen from Quincy Civil Defense and the National Weather Service said those possibilities were unlikely.

A two-alarm fire which officials believed was set caused an estimated $100,000 damage to Lefty's Lounge, 160 Hancock St., North Quincy. There were no reported injuries, according to Fire Chief Carl Valenti who said the fire apparently began in the cellar of the one-story, wood frame building which was gutted.

The city received a $33,000 grant from the Executive Office of Communities and Development through the Gateways Cities Grant Program. The money was divided among the Quincy Police Station, Manet Community Health Center and Urbanistics.

The Gateways program is designed to assist new arrivals in various cities throughout the state.

The School Committee voted 5-1 to consolidate Point and Sterling Middle Schools, drawing criticism from Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro and School Committee member Frank Anselmo. Only School Committee member Frank Santoro voted against the plan.

Anselmo, who did not attend the meeting because of an illness, said he would have voted against the plan.

DeCristofaro said the merger was an "unnecessary disruption of the Quincy Point students."

The plan combined 162 students who attended Quincy Point Middle School on Edwards St. with 201 students who attended the Sterling School on Granite St. The plan called for students to be bused from the Quincy Point area.

Numerous parents opposed the plan, with one parent charging that the consolidation places the neighborhood's "emotional security in jeopardy."

Parents also cited the poor conditions at Sterling building and grounds and threatened not to send their children there until conditions were improved.

Transportation questions were also raised, both at the School Committee meeting and during a protest walk in which about 25 parents trekked the 1.25 mile distance between the two schools.

While calling it a "tough decision" Mayor McCauley said the consolidation was an educationally sound move and, in the long run, was the best action to help the city's declining middle school enrollment.

"This is a case where we have two schools and just don't plan have enough people in them," he said.

The plan became effective in September.

The city and the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority reached an agreement for the authority to site an interim sludge treatment plant at the Fore River Shipyard.

Under the terms, Quincy would receive some $1.6 million annually when the treatment of interim sludge begins at the yard, which will probably begin in 1990.

The MWRA purchased the yard in the summer of 1987 for $49 million.

After making the announcement, McCauley said, "I think it's a very fair agreement."

In addition, the MWRA planned to establish a comprehensive job training program for both students and adults for jobs available or anticipated at the shipyard or other MWRA facilities.

The Authority intended to advertise all employment opportunities at the facility in a local newspaper and said it would hold periodic job fairs in the city.

Redevelopment of the shipyard portions that the MWRA does not need was also planned, with emphasis on water-dependent activities and replacement of job opportunities.

George Riley, a veteran in the insurance business and the founder and former president of Riley and Riley Insurance, was named executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association. Riley succeeded Kenneth

'Feast Of Light Service' At Sacred Heart Jan. 8

The 13th annual Ecumenical Epiphany Feast of Lights Service will be celebrated Jan. 8 at 7:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, North Quincy, sponsored by the Inter-Church Council of North Quincy and Wollaston. The public is cordially invited. There will be ample room for all.

This service will feature the Eastern Nazarene College A Cappella Choir of 40 voices and Brass Ensemble, marching in under the direction of Prof. Robert Howard.

The Treble Women's Choir, of 30 voices, directed by Prof. Timothy Shetler, will be accompanied by the Organist for the evening, Lambert Brandes, of Eastern Nazarene College. Fr. Donald O'Connell of the Host Church will deliver a brief homily. Clergy and laity from all 12 churches will participate.

A Candle-lighting ceremony is a central feature, the event representing the Light of Christ entering the world and "gradually spreading through time and space" climaxes with each worshiper holding a lighted candle to carry forth into the world.

Following the service, all worshipers are invited to a collation served in the school cafeteria across the street. The offering will be used to further the mission of Christ in our Community through the work of the Quincy Crisis Center and the Quincy Sheltering Coalition (Fr. Bill's Place).

Buses will be available to pick up and return persons to 91 Clay St. — 6:50 p.m.

'New Beginnings' Sermon Topic At Bethany Church

For New Year's Day there will be two services of worship at Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, located at Coddington and Spear Sts., in Quincy Center.

The chapel service will be held at 9 a.m. and the sanctuary service at 10 a.m.

The congregation will celebrate the coming of 1989 by sharing together in Holy Communion, with Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, leading the worship and preaching the sermon, entitled "The Trouble With New Beginnings."

William F. Greene will be the lay Scripture reader in the chapel and Sylvia A. Hofsepan will read in the sanctuary. The communion commentary — for the radio only — will be given by Irene Belcher.

Charles Blue, Bethany's organist and choir director, will be at the organ console. He will direct the chancel choir.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for children through eighth grade. Excellent nursery care for babies is also provided. Our Early Childhood Coordinator, Pamela Curran, will be present to supervise the care of infants through first graders.

The worship service will be broadcast over WJDA, 1300 kc. at 10 a.m. In addition a cassette tape of the service can be obtained for $2 by contacting the church office.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship, learning, and fellowship of Bethany Church.

For more information about Bethany's ministries and activities call the church office at 479-7300.

'Seize The Opportunity' Sermon Topic At First Parish Church

"Seize The Opportunity" is the title of the sermon to be delivered during the 10:30 a.m. service this Sunday, New Year's Day, at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), Quincy Center.

Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will deliver the sermon.

Norman Corey, music director, will play organ works by Daquin, Pachelbel, Frescobaldi, and Bach.

Historic First Parish, "Church of the Presidents," established in 1639, will celebrate its 350th anniversary this fall. An early leader in liberal religion, the church has been Unitarian since 1750.

Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams were lifelong members and their tombs stand in a stone crypt within the church, together with those of their wives Abigail and Louisa (Adams).

The church is located at Hancock St., Quincy Sq. 1, 773-1290.

Gideon Bible Society Topic At Covenant Congregational

Leonard Gallagher of the Gideon Bible Society will be the guest speaker at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., on Sunday at the 10:45 a.m. worship service.

A special door offering will be taken for the Gideons.

Sunday School will be omitted. Communion, usually served on first Sundays, monthly, will be served on Jan. 7.

The choir will be directed and accompanied by Richard Smith, organist.

Thursday, Jan. 5, at 7:30 p.m. the full board of the church and the pastoral search committee will meet with Rev. George Elia, Conference Superintendent.

Sunday, Jan. 29, sandwich luncheon and 10:30 a.m. Annual Meeting will be held following worship.

Sunday, Jan. 29, Pulpit Exchange Sunday will be observed. Rev. Alder Johnson of Waltham, Covenant Church will preach in Quincy. Rev. Fred Lawson will speak at the Waltham church.

Readathon For Homeless To Benefit Father Bill's Place

Father Bill's Place Shelter for the Homeless will benefit from a "Readathon for the Homeless" being sponsored by the Britannica Learning Center, Braintree.

For each 20 minutes of outside reading completed by Learning Center pupils, the Center will donate 10 cents to the shelter. Parents, friends and neighbors of the children are being asked to match the Center's contributions.

The readathon will continue through Jan. 4 when funds will be donated to Nancy Powers, executive director of Father Bill's Place.

(Cont'd from Page 9)

Fallon Jr., who retired in January.

Sean Munroe, an outstanding wide receiver for the Quincy High School football team, signed a letter of intent to attend Boston University after accepting a four-year scholarship.

At a meeting of the City Council's Human Services Committee, Jane Reikard, executive secretary of the Rent Grievance Board said, "affordable housing is the subject of much discussion, but not enough action. 'The effect of condominiums on the housing market has been devastating,' she told the committee.

"The builder's profits are unequalled, and it's about time some of the profits were put back," said Mrs. Reikard, who suggested that units be donated.

Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, chairman of the committee, said he planned to submit a linkage-inclusionary zoning ordinance to set aside a certain amount of affordable housing.

"People getting something out of the community ought to put something back," Chretien said.

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley "strongly urged" the committee, comprised of all the city councillors, to hold off any action until a six-month, $20,000 report by Connery Associates is completed.

The final report was due in June.

Nurses from the Quincy Public Schools picketed in front of City Hall to protest stalled contract negotiations. The group's contract had expired in August of 1987.

Fr. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church in Quincy Center, was presented the South Shore Chapter of the American Red Cross "Good Neighbor of the Year Award." He was honored for his many accomplishments throughout the area.

Deaths during February included: Florence Picard, 77, founder of the retired City of Quincy employees groups and past president of the North Quincy Catholic Women's Club; Joseph F. Brett, 80, former state representative and Quincy City councillor; Margaret L. Curtin, 86, wife of the late Laurence J. Curtin, former Quincy City Council president; Sgt. John J. Curran, 37, a Massachusetts Army National Guard recruiter; C. Willis Garey, 94, past commodore of the Quincy Yacht Club; Marion L. Welch, 82, past president of the Quincy Women's Club.

March

George Bush and Michael Dukakis, each of their party's eventual nominees for president, rode to big victories in Massachusetts and in Quincy in the Super Tuesday primary.

Dukakis, who would later win the Democratic nomination but lose to Bush in November, led the field with 7,019 or 54 percent of the Quincy vote.

On the GOP side, then Vice President Bush topped the Republican candidates with 2,080 or 59 percent of the vote here.

Missouri Congressman Richard Gephardt was far behind Dukakis with 14 percent and barely ahead of the Rev. Jesse Jackson with 13 percent.

Tennessee Senator Albert Gore, who won a handful of states in the South, finished with five percent of the Quincy Democratic vote.

Kansas Senator Robert Dole finished a distant second to Bush with 21 percent of the vote here.

The primary attracted 37 percent of Quincy's electorate.

A total of 13,091 votes were cast in the Democratic presidential race while 3,498 were coasted on the Republican side.

Other winners in Quincy Super Tuesday were:

- Bernice Mader who carried Quincy with 5,849 votes in the race for Democratic State Committeewoman. Rosemary Wahlberg who had attempted to have her name withdrawn from the ballot and urged voters to elect Mader, received 4,173 votes.

- Andrew Card of Holbrook topped William Devine in the race for Republican State Committeeman, polling 1,627 to Devine's 1,311.

- Robert E. Gibbons of Quincy, the only candidate on the Democratic State Committeeman ballot, received 8,087 votes.

It was the first election in Quincy under the new ward and precinct lines which were made equal by population and reduced the number of voting precincts from 39 to 30.

The $6 million restoration of the Quincy-built USS Massachusetts could be the first project of Mass. Shipbuilders which was trying to buy a portion of the General Dynamics shipyard, announced Sen. Paul Harold.

"The timing of the project should coincide with the purchase of 75 to 80 acres at the shipyard (by the employee buyout group)," Harold said.

The project was scheduled to go out to bid but at the request of Harold and others, the Massachusetts must be repaired in Massachusetts and the Quincy shipyard would be the only one in the state large enough to handle it, he said.

The senator noted that there was a question whether the battleship could be transported from Battleship Cove, Fall River, to Quincy for restoration because of cement used as ballast.

If it could not be transported, the project could still be done by Mass. Shipbuilders as an off-site project, he said.

Although the final vote had not yet been taken, Mayor Francis McCauley's proposal to increase the terms of mayor and city councillors from two to four years appeared doomed for a second time.

The City Council Ordinance Committee voted 5-2 to recommend to the council that the proposal not pass.

Voting against the proposal which would put the question on the ballot for the voters were Councillors Timothy Cahill, Thomas Nutley, Charles Phelan, James Sheets and Michael Cheney, committee chairman.

Councillors Ted DeCristofaro and Larry Chretien voted in favor of the putting the question in the hands of voters.

Councillors Stephen McGrath and Patricia Toland were absent from the vote.

McCauley had originally submitted the proposal two years ago but it was voted down by the council.

Richard J. Koch Sr., described as a man who gave generously of his "time, talent — and heart" to Quincy over four decades, was honored posthumously as The Quincy Sun's "Citizen of the Year" for 1987.

The award was presented to his wife, Simmy, at a reception at the Quincy Sons of Italy Social Center attended by more than 100 persons, including city officials, family members and representatives of the many organizations he was associated with.

Nominated by Fr. Cornelius Heery, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, Mr. Koch was selected from 34 nominees.

A Purple Heart was awarded posthumously to Timothy J. Lynch Sr., a long-time Quincy resident who died in December of 1987 before knowing he was to receive the medal.

The medal was accepted by his son, Dr. Timothy J. Lynch, Jr., of Quincy during a special ceremony at Fort Devens.

Robert Colman, owner of Colman's Sporting Goods Store, and founder and past president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, was elected its president again by the QCBPA Board of Directors.

Signs proclaiming Quincy's 100th year celebration were being installed at entrances throughout the city.

An electrical malfunction in a truck parked in a North Quincy business was the probable cause of a three-alarm fire which caused an estimated $100,000 damage to the Jones Ornamental Iron Co. on Arlington St.

Quincy School Committeeman Stephen J. Durkin announced his candidacy for the then vacant state representative seat in the Second Norfolk District.

Durkin was the first official candidate for the seat which eventually attracted five candidates.

Fire Chief Carl Valenti announced he would retire June 24 after almost 31 years with the department.

"I've accomplished all I can on the job. It's time to start a new chapter in my life," he said.

Chief Valenti worked his way up through the ranks of the department and was named acting chief and then permanent chief in 1985. He succeeded Chief Edward Barry who retired.

Hoping it would act as a deterrent, the City Council voted unanimously to raise the fine for public drinking from $50 to $100 for the first offense. The fine was increased to $200 for each subsequent offense.

Councillor Patricia Toland became the second candidate to formally announce her candidacy for state representative in the Second Norfolk District.

Dancers could not waltz and twist legally on Sundays after the city's License Board voted to ease the ban which had prohibited dancing on Sunday in Quincy except at weddings and christenings.

James McGettrick, owner of Nostalgia on Quincy Shore Drive, was the first applicant to receive Sunday dancing permission by the board.

A tentative, three-year contract agreement was reached between the city and the 425-member local unit of the Hospital, Library and Public Employees Union.

The contract called for four raises from July, 1987 to Jan. 1, 1990, including six percent pay hikes in 1989 and 1990.

William E. Buckley of Holbrook pleaded innocent in connection with the December 1986 murder of Lois Damon of Quincy, co-owner of a Baintree convenience store. Buckley was arrested and charged with first-degree murder, assault with intent to rape and armed robbery.

Mario and Eleanor DeVecchio of Phipps St., Quincy Center, made Megabucks history when they won $7.3 million, the biggest single jackpot since the game began in 1982.

The city's Fire Department Stations marked Vietnam Veterans' Memorial Day by raising eight Missing In Action-Prisoner of War flags simultaneously at fire stations throughout the city.

Deaths during March included: Roger Galante, 51, Baintree sub shop owner and commissioner of the Quincy Men's Softball League; Cora I. Mann, 82, wife of Dr. Edward S. Mann, past president of Eastern Nazarene College; Alice Zildjian, 93, wife of the late Avedis Armand Zildjian who brought the Zildjian cymbal-making firm to Quincy; Theodore R. Silva, 83, former Quincy teacher and principal; Lillian Stevens, 94, who aided victims at the Coconut Grove nightclub fire; and Louis McLaughlin, 70, a retired Boston Fire Department captain.

McCauley To Campaign For 4-Year Terms

April

After the City Council narrowly voted to put it on the November ballot, Mayor Francis McCauley said he would campaign for his proposal to increase the terms of office for mayor and city councilors from two to four years.

"I'll make myself available to speak to groups," the mayor said, one day after the council voted 5-4 in favor of his proposal, thereby giving Quincy voters the likely chance to decide its merits.

The proposal would also need legislative approval before it could be placed on the ballot.

The City Council's action was a reversal of a preliminary 5-2 vote against the proposal by the council's Ordinance Committee held in March. At the council meeting, two councilors, Patricia Toland and Stephen McGrath, who had not attended the ordinance committee meeting, said they were in favor of the mayor's proposal.

The swing vote was cast by Councilor James Sheets, who switched his vote from against to for the proposal, thus making it 5-4 to put the issue on the ballot.

"Since the vote was so close I decided I would vote to let the people make the decision," Sheets said.

Councilors also in favor were Ted DeCristofaro and Lawrence Chretien.

Those against were Timothy Cahill, Thomas Nutley, Charles Phelan and Michael Cheney.

McGrath, speaking for the majority, said, "We were elected to make a lot of decisions but a basic question such as whether the mayor and city council should serve four-year terms is a charter question.

"Let's put it on the ballot and see if the voters vote it up or down," he said.

Cheney summed up the minority's feeling this way:

"There isn't any interest (in the proposal). I don't think the people will vote for it. It was killed once by the council.

"To take one part of the charter and put it on the ballot is not in the best interest of the people," he added.

Quincy residents were spared, at least for the time being, a separate sewer user fee which could have cost a typical family of four $95 this year.

After much discussion, the City Council voted 5-4 against the fee proposed by the mayor to offset a 48 percent increase in charges by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

The increase would have been used to help fund the cleanup of Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay.

Councilors against the fee were: DeCristofaro, Sheets, Nutley, Toland and McGrath. Those in favor were Councilors Cahill, Lawrence Chretien, Phelan and Michael.

Arthur Stephen Tobin became the third Democratic candidate in the race for the vacated state representative race in the Second Norfolk District.

Owned by the O'Connell Management Co. of Quincy, it was raised to determine the cause of the sinking.

A revitalization plan for downtown Quincy by Councilor Cahill received an enthusiastic reception by members of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

"By the end of the 1990s, we want Quincy Square to be a place people can be proud of," said Cahill, chairman of the council's Downtown and Economic Development Committee.

His presentation included plans for a designated zone in Quincy Square which would allow up to 10-story buildings in selected areas.

Several winter storms did a number on the city's snow removal budget.

The mayor said the storms cost the city nearly $600,000, almost double what it had budgeted for snow removal last year.

The city had earmarked $300,000 but snow removal bills totaled $593,863.

Complaints of a heavy soap smell at the Proctor & Gamble Plant in Quincy Point prompted Health Commissioner M. Jane Galloway to request a meeting with the plant engineer.

The problem turned out to be a faulty dust collection filter.

Former City Councilor Leo Kelly ended speculation that he would run for the vacant state representative seat in the Second Norfolk District when he announced he had decided against it.

"I've decided against entering the race," said Kelly, a project manager for the Quincy Housing Authority.

Under a federal regulation, Kelly would have had to resign his position to run.

The city's License Board granted a common victualer license and an all-alcoholic license for a new tent with a seating capacity of 788 at Marina Bay.

John McDuff announced his Republican candidacy for state representative in the Third Norfolk District, challenging incumbent Robert Cerasoli, a Democrat.

Another Republican, Denis Tardo, tossed his hat into the political ring when he announced he was running for state representative in the Second Norfolk District.

And still another Republican, Richard Harris, announced he was a candidate for the same seat Harris would win the Republican nomination in September but lose to Arthur Stephen Tobin in the general election.

Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish celebrated its 50th anniversary dinner at a dinner at Lantana's in Randolph.

Building Inspector Matt Mulvey estimated that a half a million dollars worth of illegal construction is done each year in Quincy. Mulvey said this is caused by too much work and not enough inspectors. The mayor responded to Mulvey's request for more inspectors when he budgeted money for three more inspectors to start work in July.

Council Defeats Clean Property Ordinance

(Cont'd from Page 12)

Market in Quincy Center was identified by police as Paul Cosgrove of Concord. Firefighters discovered the body while extinguishing a brush fire. The site had been a "hobo camp" for years, police said.

Police were searching for a man wanted in the Easter Sunday kidnapping and sexual assault of a seven-year-old girl in Quincy Point.

The suspect was described as a white male between the ages of 20 and 30, with brown hair and a thin build, according to a spokesman for Norfolk County Dist. Atty. William Delahunt. The girl was kidnapped as she walked with her brother and her friend on Mount St. in Quincy Point.

About two hours later, she was found in an industrial park on the Malden-Medford line. She was hospitalized for several days and then recuperated at home.

The issue of speeding MBTA buses in Quincy Center and Wollaston was brought to the attention of General Manager James O'Leary by Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien.

"The people I represent appreciate your bus service," Chretien said in a letter. "They are also concerned about safety, especially the safety of children and senior citizens."

Bobby Tobin, 12, of Quincy, who received national attention in March of 1987 when he won the "U.S. Acres" Create A Character Contest, was featured in the April issue of National Geographic World Magazine.

Arthur Tobin, clerk magistrate for Quincy District Court, was presented the James R. McIntyre Award for distinguished service in government and law during the annual Law Day ceremonies.

Quincy Junior College's new building was dedicated with a ribbon cutting ceremony attended by city and school officials.

May

Despite concerns expressed by the City Council's Public Safety Committee, Mayor Francis McCauley said Quincy was receiving adequate police protection.

Concerns expressed by councillors, as well as the Quincy Police Union, regarded an apparent problem with manning 13 patrol cars and five walking beats.

"I've never seen a bigger mess on the streets than now," said Paul Quinn, president of the Quincy Police Betterment Association.

The mayor responded that "like any department, occasional shortfalls occur." He said he was in the midst of adding 10 new officers.

In terms of finances, McCauley pointed out the police personal services budget has risen 34 percent and the current expenses budget has risen 21 percent since 1984.

Still, Chief Francis Finn told the council he was operating his department under strict budget constraints.

"The mayor said we couldn't overrule our budget. We've tightened our grip on the budget considerably. 'There isn't any danger,' Finn said.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney said a computer system should be brought on line at the department to help officers gain information.

Councillor Stephen McGrath said the council should monitor the issue and investigate the idea of adding a supplemental budget to the department.

Six city employees were honored by McCauley during the mayor's Annual Employee Appreciation Ceremony at City Hall.

Those honored were: Mary Rossi of Wollaston, a nursing assistant at Quincy City Hospital; Charles E. Middendorf Jr. of Hingham, a Quincy Police Department patrolman; Bruce MacDonald of Quincy, department head and English teacher at Quincy High School; Margaret "Peg" O'Connor, of Quincy, a social service technician in the Planning Department; Lucy Marchant of Quincy, a payroll supervisor in the Auditor's Office; and William Wright, Squantum Ave., a working foreman in the Sewer, Water and Drain Departments for his outstanding diligence to public service.

Mayor McCauley expressed disappointment after the City Council defeated his proposal which would have required property owners keep their property and adjacent area clean or face warnings and a fine up to $100.

The proposal, which McCauley called an ordinance update, was deemed uncontrollable and unenforceable by the council.

"We should try to educate people rather than talk about fining them," said Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro.

"The city is attempting to make people do what the city should do," said Councillor Stephen McGrath.

The issuance of parking tickets and the collection of fines were on a record pace and if the trend were to continue, the city would collect more money in any time since it took over the operation from Quincy District Court five years ago.

According to Parking Clerk Robert Denvir Jr., some 71,500 parking tickets had been issued from July, 1987 to May, 1988.

Through the end of March, the city had collected $258,239, said Auditor Robert Foy.

During 1987, the city issued $71,300 tickets and collected $330,986.

Denvir attributed the pace to a crackdown on illegal parking by Quincy Police and the return to full force of the city's four traffic control officers or meter maids.

McCauley announced he would propose an ordinance which would impose a four percent excise tax on hotel or motel rooms rented in the city. Figures from the Assessors Department showed that the city could have raised $77,000 with such a tax in 1987.

Speaking for the city's motel owners, Loren Strout, owner of President's City Motel, said they are unhappy with the idea.

"We pay a substantial tax as it is," he said.

After reporting that he had collected 300 fraudulent identification cards from minors in the city in 10 months, Quincy Liquor Inspector Richard Laracy said the only way to fight this problem is to change the way the cards are issued.

Laracy, who looks for underage drinkers at Quincy drinking establishments, said the best way to stop minors from obtaining phony duplicates licenses and Mass. liquor purchase ID cards is to abolish them.

Instead, he said only licenses and Mass. ID cards should be issued and only after close scrutiny.

Quincy residents, especially the Asian community, were reminded by Public Health Commissioner Jane Gallahue that the city does not issue family permits for the digging of shellfish in restricted and closed areas of Quincy.

Posters written in both English and Chinese were distributed and posted in areas where Asians meet and in Asian newspapers.

Deputy Chief Paul O'Connell, a 15-year veteran on the Quincy Fire Department, was in line to become the next chief after he passed a Civil Service exam.

However, O'Connell had not yet decided to accept the $58,279 position and become the successor to Chief Carl Valenti who would retire in June.

Others who took the exam were Deputy Chiefs Joseph Jackson, Thomas Gorman Jr. and Francis O'Hare.

Former City Councillor Richard J. Koch Jr. joined the Brewster Police Department.

Koch had expressed interest in a law enforcement career while he served as a city councillor from 1982 to 1987.

A pre-fabricated steel animal shelter which would replace the aged structure on Broad St., Quincy Center, was proposed by DPW Commissioner David Colton. Originally, the city had planned to spend $450,000 to $500,000 on a new shelter but bids came in much higher than expected at $818,000, $875,000 and $887,000.

Colton said a pre-fabricated steel facility, much like one in Pembroke but only larger, would save the city several hundred thousand dollars.

An eye-catching blue, red and green city seal was affixed to the Southern Artery side of the Quincy Police headquarters as part of a $8.9 million renovation project.

The cast aluminum seal is six feet in diameter, weighs more than 500 pounds and cost $10,000.

After meeting with members of the city's Planning Department, developing fields as well as the business and neighborhood communities, Councillor Timothy Cahill said he hoped to come up with a revitalization plan for downtown Quincy.

"We want a downtown that contains an equal mix of commercial office space, residential living and retail businesses that will bridge the gap between historic Quincy and the needs for Quincy's future," he said.

Cahill called for the seminar to get input from community leaders and activists concerning the revitalization of downtown Quincy.

Some 60 business and community leaders as well as local officials, developers and members of the clergy attended.

The City Council unanimously approved a $107 million budget for fiscal 1989, an $11 million increase over last year.

The budget was about $2 million lower than the one submitted by Mayor McCauley.

A bolt of lightning struck and shattered the chimney at the Atherton Hough Elementary School in Houghs Neck, causing an estimated $20,000 and closing the school for the day.

The sixth annual Senior Olympics attracted a record number of entries with many of them having entered every year since the event's inception.

Deaths during May included:

James A. Gilmore, 45, former poster child for the March of Dimes Polio Fund; Mable B. Wilbur, 91, former Quincy elementary school teacher; James Moncreiff, 90, a former deacon at the Houghs Neck Congregational Church, George V. Flavin, 75, former state DPW Commissioner; Walter C. Fuller, 85, retired Army colonel and Quincy Civil Defense director.

June

The month began with an announcement by Mayor Francis McCauley that the city had filed suit against General Dynamics Corporation, alleging that the firm violated the tax agreement entered into with Quincy in 1983.

The agreement provided that Quincy pay General Dynamics $19,029,000 in taxes plus $8,900,000 interest for overassessing the shipyard for fiscal years 1977 through 1983.

According to the mayor, General Dynamics violated the agreement terms that states "that in any year that the city levied taxes in accordance with the agreement and if GD applied for an abatement of taxes in that year, the city would be entitled to a rebate of 75 percent of the interest paid rather than the 50 percent rebate provided for the agreement."

Although Quincy adhered to the agreement for fiscal 1987, GD filed for an abatement in violation of the agreement, McCauley said.

The interest rebate difference amounts to more than $300,000.

Many people have forgotten the true meaning of Memorial Day was the message conveyed by retired Chief Petty Officer and Pearl Harbor survivor Luke Trahin during the city's Memorial Day Services at Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

"Throughout our land today, we have people who do not recognize this day of remembrance," Trahin said. However, said he found Quincy to be a place where patriotism is alive.

The third annual John F. Kennedy Regatta held at Marina Bay drew a record number of entries under perfect weather conditions. Nearly 200 boats kicked off the racing season under sunny skies, steady breezes and 70 degree weather.

A $208,000 project to update 10 traffic control signals along route 3A in Quincy and Weymouth was scheduled to begin this summer, Sen. Paul Harold announced.

Purpose of the project was to help regulate traffic flow along the busy route, especially during the morning and afternoon commutes.

Deputy Chief Thomas F. Gorman, a lifelong Quincy resident and a 25-year veteran of the Quincy Fire Department, was appointed acting fire chief by Mayor McCauley.

Gorman, 50, succeeded Chief Carl Valenti, 60, and a 30-year veteran of the department after the latter retired June 24.

Gorman was named acting chief after Deputy Chief Paul O'Connell, 38, the only candidate from within the department to pass a recent Civil Service chief's examination, told the mayor he could not accept the $55,445 annual post because he felt he was too young.

Gorman is the son of the late Thomas F. Gorman, who served as Quincy's fire chief from 1947 to 1967.

The new chief was planning to take another civil service exam in hopes of becoming permanent chief.

Commencement exercises for the class of 1988 were held for the city's college and three high schools at Veterans' Memorial Stadium.

A total of 330 students from Quincy Junior College, 270 from Quincy High, 337 from North Quincy High and 77 at Quincy Vocational Technical School received their diplomas.

Timothy Tobin of Quincy was presented his degree from Quincy Junior College posthumously from College President Dr. O. Clayton Johnson.

A brother, Kevin Tobin, and a sister, Terry Tobin, accepted the degree for Timothy who was one of four good friends who were killed in an automobile accident Thanksgiving morning in 1987.

According to two consultants for promoting affordable housing in Quincy, nearly one in four of the city's 37,200 households is "becoming severely stressed by the current housing situation."

Robert Catineau and Roll Goetz, the city's consultants.

Centennial Celebration Officially Opens

also said that in order to meet Quincy's emerging needs over the next decade, the city needs to create, identify and acquire 8,700 units of affordable housing.

Councillors and residents agreed more affordable housing is needed in Quincy but some disagreed over the mechanism to promote it. Among the issues discussed were inclusionary zoning, linkage and accessory apartments.

The city of Quincy's Centennial Celebration marking 100 years as a city officially opened with a festive event at McIntyre Mall at City Hall.

During the celebration, a tree with a centennial marker was planted, a woman who was two years old when Quincy became a city was introduced, and music was played by Baron Hugo and his orchestra.

The occasion was also marked by speeches made by Mayor Francis McCauley, Sen. Paul Harold, Councillor Patricia Toland and School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins.

Mrs. Rose Drohan of Wollaston, age 102, and an 80-year resident of Quincy, smiled and waved as people cheered and applauded her introduction.

The centennial baby, Caitlin Marie Kelly, born Sunday, June 12 at Quincy City Hospital, was scheduled to appear but could not because of the hot weather.

The first child of Susan and Frank Kelly, 81 Emerald St., Quincy, she was born the day after Quincy officially became a city 100 years ago on June 11.

At an earlier ceremony, the Centennial Flag was hoisted for the first time at McIntyre Mall.

The blue and white flag, bearing the centennial logo designed by John McCarthy, a 1987 North Quincy High School graduate, now flies with the American flag atop the flag pole at City Hall.

A North Quincy home and the steeple of the Glad Tidings Church in Quincy Center were destroyed by fire after lightning struck them minutes apart during an intense thunderstorm that moved through the area.

Fire officials estimated the total damage at $400,000.

The house fire at 250 Billings Rd. left two people homeless.

A recycling feasibility study, prepared for the Quincy Recycling Task Force by Alternative Resources, recommended that the city begin recycling newsprint and composting as early as this fall, said task force chairman and Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien. If implemented, Chretien said the city would be saving thousands of dollars by 1993.

A 120-unit, one building development project to be built by the Quarry St. Realty Trust Co. of 6 acres of land in West Quincy was approved with 21 conditions by the City Council.

The project called for 60 one-bedroom and 60 two-bedroom units in a building eight stories high in front and seven stories high in the back. When originally proposed four years ago, the project had 260 units and five buildings.

An entry by Nick Panarelli of Quincy was judged the prize winning logo in the Quincy Historic Trail Logo Contest sponsored by the Quincy Tourism Association. The logo, a "Q" with a tri-corner minuteman's hat on the top of the letter, will appear on signs along the Quincy Historic Trail.

Two well-known Quincy priests, Fr. Daniel Graham of St. John's and Fr. John McMahon of St. Mary's were bid farewell by their parishioners.

Fr. Graham left St. John's to become assistant pastor of St. Brendan's in Dorchester and Fr. McMahon retired after 25 years at St. Mary's.

Four year-old Pamela Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jacobs of 16 Turner St., and Joseph Peters, 5, son of Mrs. Ann Peters of 335 Rock Island Rd., were selected Miss and Mr. Houghs Neck during the Houghs Neck Community Council family field day.

Citing several problems of a proposed mobile methadone clinic in Quincy including location and the merits of such a program, eight city councillors voiced a resounding no against the proposal while the remaining councillor said the clinic might lower the crime rate and help stop the spread of a deadly disease.

In going against his colleagues, Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien expressed reservations over the wording of the council's resolution which stated the city is against a clinic in Quincy.

Chretien said the clinic may lower heroin-related crimes in the city and also slow the spread of AIDS, especially among heterosexuals.

Other councillors, including Timothy Cahill, said they were against it because it replaces one drug for another.

"I don't feel in my heart that this is the correct method that we should be taking, that we should be advocating," he said.

Deaths during June included: James E. Dhooge, 86, an employee with the Quincy Highway Department; Joseph A. McEachern, 62, a retired firefighter in Germantown; Sara M. Rouleau, 89, a member of the Quincy Chapter of Gold Star Mothers; Frank J. Wainionpaa, 81, a caretaker at Quincy City Hospital; Joseph Tangherlini, 89, owner of the former Franklin St. Garage in South Quincy; Martha L. Zamagni, 71, owner and operator of Zamagni & Son

July

The return of shipbuilding to the former General Dynamics shipyard took a big step forward as Gov. Michael Dukakis signed into law a bill allowing the owners of the site to transfer some of its land to former GD employees for shipbuilding purposes.

"This is a giant step closer to renewing shipbuilding at the shipyard," said Michael Morrissey.

Sen. Paul Harold called the legislation "vital" to the shipbuilders who want a section of the land for shipbuilding purposes.

With the legislation, the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority which owns the 182-acre site could now enter into a lease or sales agreement with Mass. Shipbuilders who want a portion of the land for maritime uses only.

The city's sewer consulting firm began door-to-door inspections of homes and businesses in South Quincy and the Faxon Park area to identify possible sources of rain water into Quincy's sewer system.

The extensive inspections, the first of its kind in the city's history, were part of a $224,700 study being conducted by Weston and Sampson, Inc.

The study was seen as a way of locating and correcting drainage problems and as a result, improving the environment and saving the city and taxpayers money in the long run.

Quincy was the first stop of a petition circulated by the Citizen's Commission on Human Rights urging congressional investigation into the increased use of the psychiatric drug Ritalin and related drugs Cylert and Exedrine.

In a 90 minute span, 70 signatures were collected in Quincy Center from people concerned about the important side effects of the drugs prescribed to combat attention deficit hyperactivity disorder.

Quincy's Bob Seamans, age

59, and a veteran marathon runner, finished the grueling 100-mile Same Day Western States Endurance Run in 29 hours, 36 minutes.

The Quincy Bay Study Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC) was commended and recognized by the City Council for their enthusiasm, support and assistance with all aspects of the federal government's recently published report on marine life in Quincy Bay.

The eight members, appointed by Mayor Francis McCauley, were: Leo Kelly, chairman; Rosemary Coffee, a representative of Congressman Brian Donnelly; Water Hurley, Maureen Mazrimas, Raymond Connerty, Paul Donnelly, Donald Riley, and Jane Gallahue, the Quincy Public Health Commissioner.

During the commendation,

Intense Flooding Damages 400 Quincy Homes

Kelly said more studies should be done on marine life in Quincy and issued a warning if the subject is neglected.

"If the marine life goes, we're not too far behind. That may sound a little corny to some people but it's the dead honest truth. 'If that's gone, we are too,' he said.

A multi-million dollar agreement was reached between the city and the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority concerning interim sludge processing at the former General Dynamics shipyard, the mayor announced.

The 14-page agreement, or memorandum of understanding, was signed by McCauley and MWRA Executive Director Paul Levy.

Under the terms of the agreement, the MWRA pays Quincy $2,250,000 a year plus additional payments of up to $610,000 annually for municipal services in connection with MWRA activities at the shipyard.

"I think it is an excellent agreement for the city," the mayor said.

The MWRA is expected to operate an interim sludge processing facility at the site from 1990 to 1996. The agreement will end when the long-term sludge processing program is fully operational.

Saying "it is like having a front row seat to history," Mayor Francis McCauley traveled to Atlanta as a correspondent to the Democratic National Convention for The Quincy Sun.

During his stay, the mayor interviewed a number of delegates from around the country and found the Democrats confident of a victory in November with Gov. Michael Dukakis and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen as their ticket.

The biggest environment fair on the South Shore featuring more than 50 exhibits for viewing and participation was held at Quincy Junior College.

Chairman Leo Kelly said the fair was set up as an opportunity for adults and children to become aware of the numerous and often complex environmental issues of today.

"It's a blow to the city of Quincy but we'll weather the storm," declared Mayor Francis McCauley after it was announced that Quincy would lose $1.2 million in state aid as part of a $91 million aid veto by Gov. Michael Dukakis.

Despite a shortfall of about $3 million in Quincy's budget, the mayor said "they'll be no drastic cuts or any (Prop 2 and half) override or layoffs of personnel.

"We'll close the gap by transferring funds from reserve funds," he added.

A new $3 million State Police barracks, to be built at the site of the former Howard Johnson restaurant on the Southeast Expressway in West Quincy, was included in the 1989 fiscal budget passed into law by the governor.

This will be a great location for them," said Rep. Michael Morrissey who had worked on the project for three years.

Dawn Larkin, 16, a blonde, blue-eyed beauty from Weymouth was selected Miss Quincy Bay of 1988 before an audience of 1,000 people during the annual Quincy Center Sidewalk Bazaar. Jill F. Livermore, 19, of Norwell was chosen first runner-up in the pageant that drew a field of 25 contestants.

Leo Nunnari was installed as exalted ruler of the Quincy Lodge of Elks.

A more appropriate name for the Snug Harbor School would be the Snug Harbor Community School said Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney who advocated the change.

To rename the school, the change would have to be approved by the School Committee. If approved, it would be the second community school in Quincy behind the Lincoln-Hancock Community School.

Quincy's auxiliary police were in the news again after the executive board of the Quincy Police Patrolman's Association stated "there is no room in the city of Quincy" for them.

In a released statement, board members said the auxiliary police volunteers "are an untrained group people who are not equipped for the many complex matters in today's world."

In response, Civil Defense Director and Auxiliary Deputy Chief Tony Siciliano said his group is a supplement to the Police Force who must pass stringent guidelines. Siciliano also said that there is room for his group in the city.

Despite some sewage pollution reported at Wollaston Beach due to some heavy rains, city beaches would remain open, said Quincy Public Health Commissioner Jane Gallahue.

"We feel it is very difficult to close a beach and enforce the closure," she said after several days of steady rain had caused the fecal coliform count to rise above the acceptable level at one section of Wollaston Beach.

"We feel a better way to inform the public about the suitability or unsuitability for swimming is to let the media know...and to let them know what the levels are," Gallahue said.

A long time Quincy landmark, the Houghs Neck water tank atop Great Hill, was demolished by workmen with cutting tools and a crane.

Once relied upon by the Quincy Fire Department for emergency help in extinguishing neighborhood fires, the tank has not held water, nor its apparatus pumped water for a number of years.

While it was undergoing demolition, neighbors paused and sighed with regret as they looked upward to their lost landmark.

DAWN LARKIN, 16, of Weymouth, was crowned Miss Quincy Bay of 1988 during the annual pageant held in July, the highlight of the Quincy Center Sidewalk Bazaar.

Deaths during July included Ruth Higginbotham, 74, a former teacher at Central Junior High School; George Tassellari, 97, chef for the Vanderbilt family in Newport for 50 years; Arthur L. Gerwer, Jr., 45, computer company vice president; Annie Coffin, 91, mother of the Rev. Alicia Corea; Marion L. Sprague, 63, board assistant at Quincy Cooperative Bank; and Avis MacDonald, 69, former Merrymount School teacher.

August

Quincy was declared a local disaster area by Mayor Francis McCauley after heavy downpours caused $500,000 in flood damage to 400 homes throughout the city, particularly West Quincy, South Quincy, Wollaston and Quincy Center.

Several relief programs were set up to aid the victims, including a disaster center at the Furnace Brook School by the American Red Cross. Several hundred people were helped at that program alone.

The mayor had also asked the governor to declare Quincy a state disaster area but that request was turned down.

The frequent downpours caused an already high Furnace Brook to overflow its basin. Several streets in West Quincy, such as Alrick Rd., as well as other sections of the city, were virtual riverways as storm drains were unable to handle thousands of gallons of water.

About 75 DPW workers, as well as 60 Civil Defense volunteers, manned with pumps and flood equipment, worked around the clock bailing out residents. Sewer and drain personnel also assisted.

Emergency personnel rescued people, evaluated property damage and assisted pumping operations.

Shortly after assistance began, help from the state DPW and the Massachusetts Civil Defense was called in.

A candlelight vigil and peace march in remembrance of stabbing victim Robert Lingoes, a friend to many, was held in his Germantown neighborhood.

Eulogies were delivered by neighbors, including youths from the area. His friends also conducted a fund drive in an effort to help Lingoes' mother, Patricia, pay for his funeral.

Lingoes, affectionately known as "Quakie," was murdered outside his Germantown home after trying to break up a fight.

A $1.7 million Community Development Grant for trying to break up a fight.

Corey Grier, a friend of Lingoes, was practical in describing the fund drive he set up for his late friend's mother.

"Giving her money isn't going to bring 'Quakie' back, but it'll help to let her know that people care."

A large colonial house was moved from Bigelow St. to the grounds of St. John's Church in Quincy Center during a day-long event in the rain that closed several streets to traffic.

The two-story house, built by Henry Faxon at the beginning of this century, was donated by the South Shore Chamber of Commerce and will be used for lodging women.

The city was preparing to take foreclosure action on approximately 125 delinquent real estate tax titles if the taxes totalling about $140,000 were not paid.

If not paid on time, the titles would be taken and then the foreclosure process would begin, said tax collector and treasurer Diana Childs.

Jamie Boire, 11, of Quincy, who was involved in an auto accident that took the lives of his mother, Mary, and Raymond Ward in Hingham, was recovering at Massachusetts General Hospital from injuries.

Jamie, a member of Quincy's Squirt C hockey team last season and scored 24 goals, was expecting visits from former Bruin great Bobby Orr and members of the current team.

preservation and upkeep of safe and sanitary housing in Quincy was awarded to the city by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"This award will enable Quincy to maintain the quality of social services they have provided for residents in the past," said Congressman Brian Donnelly.

As an effort to help boost Quincy's flood relief program, the city was planning to purchase six additional flood pumps at a combined estimated cost of $7,000.

According to Mayor McCauley, the equipment would "beef up" the city's flood management and relief effort.

To further help the program, the mayor said two major projects designed to alleviate potential flooding were being planned:

A Wollaston home purchased by Sharon Beaman, a 35-year-old deaf woman, was being set up as an educational center for seven deaf men and women.

The house, which is now rented to On Our Way, Inc., a non-profit organization, provides educational programs in independent living skills for deaf adults.

A lack of communication by the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering was hindering the interim use of the Quincy municipal landfill in West Quincy, Mayor McCauley said.

In a letter to DFEQ Commissioner Daniel S. Greenbaum, the mayor cited several instances of the DFEQ's staggering bureaucracy and the department's concern with only "big" problems.

The city had made several requests to the DFEQ as an attempt to keep the landfill open on an interim basis subject to DFEQ approval and on a more expanded basis subject to environmental review.

"The situation is critical," the mayor wrote.

"The landfill could be reopened on a temporary basis in an environmentally sound manner and in conformance with law, regulation and order, thus affording some relief to the Massachusetts solid waste crisis."

A 23-year-old out-of-state construction worker fell more than 70 feet to his death while dismantling the Squantum Water Tower. Kenneth Long, 23, of Madisonville, Ky., was pronounced dead from traumatic cardiac arrest due to multiple trauma at Quincy City Hospital.

Long, who apparently wasn't wearing safety ropes or a harness, fell inside the tank's frame and landed atop large sheet metal scraps. It was the second construction accident in Quincy in five days.

About a week prior to Long's accident, Jeffrey Cosman, 26, of Sharon, fell five stories at a Marina Bay construction site. He was listed in serious but stable condition at New England Medical Center.

The 51st edition of Quincy Bay Race Week survived some of the trickiest winds in several years and enjoyed another highly successful week of racing.

The only races that had to be cancelled were the Turnabout competition because those boats are manned by youngsters age eight and nine years old.

Doug MacGregor of Hingham Yacht Club, a five-time national 210 champion, won that competition again.

Quincy's Pat Riley was the overall winner in the White Fleet division race.

Despite meeting with one another for almost an hour one day, Mayor McCauley and Rep. Robert Cerasoli were still at odds over two pieces of legislation concerning Quincy, including one that would change the term for mayor and city councilors to four years.

The two met to discuss two home rule petitions filed by McCauley.

One would increase the terms for mayor and city councilors from two to four years while the other would change the position of executive secretary of park and forestry from Civil Service to a mayor's appointment.

McCauley supported the two measures while Cerasoli objected to them.

Cerasoli, who requested the meeting with media present, said he is personally against four year terms for mayor and councilors and opposed the other petition for procedural reasons.

The petitions, passed by the Senate, would not pass the House. Cerasoli predicted because of unfavorable reports given them by two House committees.

If they did pass, they would be put on the November ballot.

Three new building inspectors, including the first woman in Quincy's history, were appointed to the city's Building Department by Mayor McCauley.

Selected for the $31,107 a year job were Kathleen Nugent, 25, of Turner St.; Joseph Prondak, 29, of Hull and Eugene Caruso, 31, of Braintree.

The first annual Dick Koch Memorial MDA Softball Doubleheader raised $1,500 to help the association continue its research and patient care.

Besides MDA, other winners were the City Officials who defeated the News Media All-Stars 9-8 and Quincy Police who downed the Fire, 6-1.

Deaths during August included: Alfred DePaulo, 87, a well-known clarinet player who played with Baron Hugo's Orchestra; Judge Paul C. Reardon, 78, who served on the State Supreme Court for 14 years; Kathyann Sweet, 30, who lapsed into a 15-year coma from injuries suffered in a bike accident in 1973; Enos G. Reggiannini, 74, a welding supervisor at the Fore River Shipyard; Robert Y. Cook, deacon at Memorial Congregational Church of Atlantic; and Anthony F. Palmer, 70, political activist who was Quincy's official greeter for President John F. Kennedy's visit.

September

At its first meeting of the fall session, the City Council passed a $250,000 appropriation paving the way for a $1.1 million street and sidewalk repair and reconstruction project throughout Quincy.

The project included resurfacing all portions of 43 streets and sidewalks as well as repairing and reconstructing sidewalks. The work was scheduled to begin this fall.

Ward 4 Councilor James Sheets requested City Solicitor Joseph "Jay" to prepare a home rule petition for submission to the state legislature providing a rebate of taxes to cover damages done to homes during July's flooding.

The home rule petition would allow the City Council to create an ordinance determining a procedure for verification of losses and a schedule for rebating tax money.

The rebating would include money not compensated for by insurance or other provisions. Such losses would be verified by the owner to the satisfaction of the City of Quincy.

A request for brighter lights along a stretch of Quincy Ave., the scene of a fatal accident, was made by Mayor Francis McCauley to the Massachusetts Electric Company. He was asked to make the request by Ward 2 Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro who said brighter, sodium vapor lights should be installed along the city's section of the busy street.

The request came days after Kellie Yorston, 22, of Weymouth, was killed after the pickup she was driving lost control and was hit broadside by an MBTA bus. Four people were injured in the accident.

As part of its 125th anniversary celebration, St. John's Church of Quincy Center held an outdoor Mass and family picnic at Marina Bay, Squantum. Several hundred parishioners attended the festive gathering.

For the first time in its 41-year history, WJDA was planning to cover Quincy and North Quincy night football games.

Work was scheduled to begin shortly on the Furnace Brook Parkway Bridge over I-93 in West Quincy.

The work would include removal of existing top materials and the cleaning and painting of structural steel and the replacement of concrete slabs of the existing deck. The $960,000 project was scheduled to be completed in late October.

A total of $78,743 was raised by the five candidates running for the vacant state representative seat in the Second Norfolk District, with an overwhelming portion collected by the three Democratic contenders.

According to released reports, Democrat Arthur Stephen Tobin raised the most money, a total of $33,863. Tobin was followed by fellow Democrats Patricia Toland, who raised $26,256, and Stephen Durkin, who collected $16,364. The candidates combined for $76,483.

In comparison, Republicans Denis Tardo and Richard Harris raised much less money. Tardo collected $1,555 while Harris raised $705 for a total of $2,260.

Funding was approved by the Massachusetts Department of Public Works for the installation of school zone crossing signs at the Wollaston and Montclair elementary schools.

A drug help and information hotline for Quincy students was established at the Quincy Police Station and signs declaring the number were posted at all schools.

The hotline number is 328-4527.

The 70th annual American Legion convention marked the end to the reign of Quincy's John P. (Jake) Comer as national commander of the American Legion.

More than 100 students, parents, teachers and friends attended the dedication of the Quincy High School-Vocational Technical Pride Room.

The refurbished room, dedicated to the students, family, faculty and friends of Quincy High and the Vo-Tech, consists of several championship trophies, jerseys worn by past stars, photos, newspaper clippings and other memorabilia.

By winning their party's respective primary, Democrat Arthur Stephen Tobin and Republican Richard Harris were to meet in the November final election for the vacant Second Norfolk District state representative seat.

Tobin, a first-time candidate, scored a stunning victory over challengers Patricia Toland and Stephen Durkin to win the Democratic nomination.

Tobin topped the ballot with 2,826 votes or 52 percent. City Council President Toland had 1,489 (28 percent) while Durkin, a member of the School Committee, finished third with 1,019 (19 percent).

In the GOP race, Harris, a Quincy school teacher, edged Tardo, president of the Quincy Tenants Union, by 61 votes. The final tally showed Harris with 307 votes to 246 for Tardo.

In the primary's other contested race, Mary Collins of Quincy defeated incumbent George McDonald, also of Quincy, to win a seat on the Norfolk County Commission.

The primary, held on a Thursday for perhaps the first time in history, drew 23 percent of Quincy's voters to the polls.

Turnout in the Second Norfolk District was 40 percent.

A redevelopment plan that would return shipbuilding to the former General Dynamics shipyard was given strong support by former shipyard workers as well as state and local officials during a public hearing attended by more than 60 people.

The plan was part of a purchase bid by the Massachusetts Shipbuilders Corp. to acquire about 50 acres of land at the former shipyard site for maritime purposes.

The hearing was sponsored by Land Bank, the financial group that was to vote in the near future whether to award MSC $3 million for necessary equipment and inventory at the yard.

The purchase agreement was believed to be the largest in the country by an employee group.

If approved, the next step would be to work out an agreement with the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, who owns the 182-acre site.

Members of the School Committee were voted a $1,200 annual pay raise by the City Council, an increase from $2,400 to $3,600 a year.

A new computer system could be in operation at the Quincy Police Station sometime next year if all goes according to plan, announced Data Processing Director Robert Brennan.

The system, which Brennan estimated between $200,000 and $300,000, would enhance and increase the city's crime reporting and fighting ability. "If we don't do it (install the system), we're going to fall behind," he said.

The $15 parking ticket for public safety violations went into effect in Quincy after the City Council approved an ordinance amendment.

The ticket, which was $5, covers these violations:

double parking, parking at a fire hydrant, crosswalk, sidewalk or intersection; at a posted tow zone, within 20 feet of an intersection as well as at a bus stop or in a restricted place.

Quincy Parking Clerk Robert Denvir said the fine increases were in the interest of public safety.

After meeting with City Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue, Mayor McCauley said the "City of Quincy strongly supports the Federal and State Health and Environmental officer's recommendation that residents have their homes tested for the presence of radon gas."

The mayor and commissioner discussed ways in which the city could help residents test their homes at a reduced cost for the test kits, the analysis of test kits and information on remedial work, if required.

A 96-page, two-section special issue of St. John's News commemorating the parish's 125th anniversary was included in the Sept. 22nd issue of The Quincy Sun.

The following week, The Sun celebrated a milestone of its own with a 20th anniversary issue highlighting the major news stories to affect Quincy the last two decades.

Saying the selection process was flawed, Paul Anderson, Quincy's representative to the MWRA, vowed to fight against a recommendation to build a permanent sewage sludge processing plant at the Fore River shipyard.

Councillors Patricia Toland and Stephen McGrath urged the mayor to appropriate money for an alarm system for City Hall which was broken into one early morning, the third break-in in two years.

Three electric typewriters valued at $3,500 and a television of unknown value were stolen. The city's computerized ballot counter was also damaged, a loss of $5,000.

Deaths during September included: Warren J. Corbett, 80, retired Quincy Police officer; Alfred Petta, 84, former Quincy Highway Department foreman; Edward M. Flavin, 82, who was in the real estate business for 60 years; Lorna S. Donahue, 93, a handpainter of greeting cards; Robert F. Spink, 37, a graphic artist in the production department of Quincy Public Schools; William E. Graney, 59, MDC motorcycle police officer; Joseph Sapieza, 74, ham radio operator and barber; John G. Pocock, 68, retired math teacher; and Mary E. DeCoste, 69, a school crossing guard.

October

Quincy homeowners got a break while business owners received a slight jolt when Mayor Francis McCauley signed an amended version of his own tax classification plan, creating a residential tax rate of $12.65 and a commercial, industrial and personal property tax rate of $24.71 for fiscal 1989.

The amended tax classification, based on 157 percent full cash value, was approved by the City Council 7-1. Prior to the meeting, the mayor had requested a tax classification plan based on 150 percent.

Under McCauley's plan, the residential tax rate would have been $13.03 and $23.61 for CIPP.

The amended tax plan, proposed by Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, saved homeowners money but put CIPP rates higher than the 150 classification.

Councillor Timothy Cahill was the only member to support the mayor's plan.

With the 157 plan, residential taxes rose 43 cents and $1.10 for CIPP. If the 150 plan had been enacted, the residential rate would have increased 81 cents and the CIPP would have gone up $1.20.

In terms of tax payments, the average homeowner would now pay $1,485 in residential taxes, an increase of $55 over last year. Under the mayor's plan, residential taxes would have increased an average of $99.

In advocating the 157 percent classification, Chretien said the burden on residential taxpayers would increase without it. He also said a slightly higher CIPP rate would not hurt businesses.

In casting the lone dissenting vote, Cahill said he favored the mayor's classification plan because it was fair to both residents and business owners.

"I felt 150 percent was very fair. If we push too hard and tax too much, we'll drive business out of Quincy."

"Keeping the residential tax down could come back to haunt us," Cahill added while noting the plan had been 150 percent since 1984.

The city received some good news regarding its credit rating when the mayor announced it had been upgraded by two New York rating services.

Moody's Investor Services upgraded the city's rating "one notch" from Baal to A while Standard and Poors upgraded their rating "two notches" from A- to A+.

With the new ratings, the city stood to save a half of a percent to a percent or $10,000 to $20,000 in borrowed money. The city had borrowed $4,245,000 to finish work on the new Quincy Police Station.

More than 300 people attended a brunch sponsored by the Quincy Democratic City Committee which featured guest speaker former Atty. General Francis X. Belotti of Quincy who discussed the need for party unity this election year.

Dovens of state and local officials attended the brunch and heard Belotti, a possible gubernatorial candidate, say that the Democratic Party is alive in the City of Presidents.

Citing insufficient parking, the Logan Airport Shuttle bus stop at the Quincy Adams MBTA station in South Quincy will most likely be relocated, possibly to Braintree, sometime in the near future, a spokesman for Massport said.

The spokesman said Massport would like to construct their own parking facility and hinted at the possibility that bus stop would be moved to the former South Shore Drive Inn in Braintree.

Calling the measure restrictive and unconstitutional, Mayor McCauley vetoed a City Council order that would have given Quincy residents hiring preference on construction projects wholly or partially funded by the city.

In vetoing the order, which unanimously passed the council, McCauley said a similar regulation adopted by the state was found to be unconstitutional.

"If the state cannot do this legally, neither can the city of Quincy," he said.

As passed by the Council, the order would have required contractors to hire qualified Quincy residents by a two to one ratio on any construction project funded in whole or in part by city funds.

Contractors would have also been required to give further preference to minorities and women living in Quincy.

Other reasons expressed by the mayor for his veto were that the ordinance would cause a "virtual end" to several city programs and that the city lacks the resources to monitor the ordinance's enforcement.

The Council could override the veto with a two-thirds vote.

A state-wide police chief examination was called for Feb. 4, 1989 by the mayor as a way to open the position "to superior officers" throughout the state, McCauley explained.

Commenting on the mayor's decision, Chief Francis Finn replied, "It's his choice," adding that better than 90 percent of Quincy Police officers are formally educated beyond high school.

The decision drew some criticism from city councillors who said the next chief should come from within the department.

Quincy school officials were optimistic that two new alternative programs would keep high school students from dropping out and help those who do.

Assistant Supt. Carol Lee Griffin said the School Department would work with South Coastal Career Development to help as many as 16 high school students who leave school.

Another program with high hopes was the Heritage Program, designed to help students participate in more individualized studies rather than traditional classroom work.

Despite strong opposition from several Quincy officials, there appeared to be no legal way the city could block the opening of a methadone treatment clinic in Quincy.

"We don't see any legal right to prevent them from coming into Quincy," said Mayor McCauley. "I have discussed the issue with City Solicitor (Joseph) Jay MacRitchie and he feels there are no grounds to go to court."

Earlier, the state had announced its intention to have mobile methadone treatment vans based in several communities, including Quincy.

Fight of Quincy's nine city councillors were on record against the plan.

The issue of affordable housing in the city was again in the news after a public hearing attended by residents, housing officials and business leaders who agreed it should be promoted but disagreed how to do so.

About 75 people gathered before the City Council to discuss a proposal for a home rule petition which would establish an affordable housing trust fund in Quincy. The measure was introduced by Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien.

Under the order, a trust fund would be established to promote various forms of affordable housing. The fund would be used by local residents and be supplied by a four percent fee on commercial developments in the city.

Virtually everyone present said they were in favor of promoting affordable housing but many from the business sector voiced disapproval on the four percent fee, saying it would hurt the business climate.

Twenty-seven people went on record in support of the fee while 13 signed in opposition. The tally did not include the 10 people who spoke for the proposal nor the 10 who spoke against it.

Parking meters in downtown Quincy increased from 30 minutes to one hour and legal parking on the westerly side of Hancock St. from Granite St. to School St. was created after the measures were approved by the mayor and city council.

Twenty-five legal spaces were created by the ordinance.

A new exhibit titled "One Hundred Years and Counting: The Centennial of Quincy Becoming A City," opened at the Quincy Historical Society.

The exhibit, consisting of more than 300 items from the Society's collection, is on display until April 1.

A plan that would have made displaced Central Middle School students attend double sessions was overturned after the School Committee unanimously approved a plan to divide them up and send them to three other city schools.

The decision was made after the Central Middle School was found to have structural hazards in its roof and learning center balcony.

At an emergency meeting, the School Committee had voted to send the 476 students to double sessions at the Broadmeadows Middle School.

But at its next meeting, the committee voted to send the students by class to North Quincy High, Broadmeadows and Squantum Elementary School while the school was being repaired.

Parents and students told the committee that they would rather have the students stay together as a class and attend another school than stay together and attend double sessions.

School officials announced that they would be implementing an "Educational and Enforcement Plan" intended to establish a better understanding between the white and Asia cultures in the school system and also as a means to enforce rules against racial discrimination and civil rights violations.

The call for the program was prompted by a fight at Quincy High School between a white and Asian students in which five students were suspended for 10 days.

An 80-seat Chinese restaurant with take-out in the former Tag's building on Hancock St. was given the green light after the License Board granted approval.

Deaths during October included: Mabel Owens, 75, a retired school teacher; Mabel Thomas, 91, genealogical assistant librarian; Ethel C. Marks, 89, past president of Women's Union of Atlantic Memorial Congregational Church; Edward M. Williams, 75, namesake for the Ed Williams Bowling League at Olindy's; George E. Martineau, 70, a youth football coach; William J. Brabazon Sr., 69, chief legal assistant for the MBTA for 15 years; John F. Ford, 72, retired executive chief; and George W. Stratton, 82, Meals on Wheels volunteer.

November

During a visit to The Quincy Sun, Senator Edward M. Kennedy vowed he would help the former shipyard workers seeking to reopen a portion of the former General Dynamics shipyard in Quincy and acquire Navy shipbuilding contracts.

"I am going to do everything I can possibly do to see what's going to be available for contracts from the Navy point of view," Kennedy said at The Sun during a campaign stop through the South Shore.

Kennedy, who was up for re-election and a member of the Senate's Armed Services Committee, said, "There's a good deal of Navy work that is generally available and I know they're going to be interested in repair work, both from the private sector as well as potentially from the government or contractors."

After 34 years of darkness, some of Houghs Neck's best kept secrets were brought out into the daylight at 42 Fensmere Ave. when pieces of the Old Houghs Neck carousel were taken out of storage for refurbishing purposes.

Owned by the late Dominick DeAngelis Sr., the carousel included several wood-carved horses, a giraffe, lion, tiger, ostrich and a deer.

Other pieces such as a dozen ornate mirrors, three chariots, posts and bars were also brought out for viewing.

The carousel was sent to Ohio where it will undergo refurbishing at a cost of about $150,000. Once it is completed, it will be worth $600,000 to $700,000.

Benedict "Ben" and Ethel Solari celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary at the Quincy Nursing Home where Ethel, 88, is a resident.

Tony Siciliano was honored by the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post as its "Citizen of the Year" for his distinguished service to the community as Quincy Auxiliary Police Chief and Deputy Director of the Quincy Civil Defense.

Henry Bosworth, editor and publisher of The Quincy Sun, was the guest speaker at the ceremony held at Beth Israel Synagogue in Quincy Point.

Quincy was in step with Massachusetts but out of step with the nation as it gave Gov. Michael Dukakis the nod over Vice President George Bush in the Presidential Election.

Dukakis and running mate Senator Lloyd Bentsen carried the city by a 52-46 margin over Bush and Vice Presidential candidate Daniel Quayle.

Nearly 80 percent of Quincy's electorate turned out, a slightly higher figure than predicted by City Clerk John Gillis.

In all, 41,057 of the city's record-high 51,536 registered voters turned out.

There were 1,201 blanks cast in the presidential election in Quincy.

Quincy also went with the state trend in several other races.

Sen. Ted Kennedy, 62 percent, defeated Joseph Malone, who had 36 percent.

Brian Donnelly received 80 percent while opponent Michael Gilleran took 19 percent in the race for congressman in the 11th District.

Peter Eleey totalled 57 percent while challenger Charles Harrington collected 24 percent in the Governor's Council race.

Locally, Democrat Arthur Stephen Tobin won the state representative seat in the Second Norfolk district by a large margin over Republican Richard Harris.

Tobin, a first-time candidate for public office, received 73 percent of the vote to Harris' 26 percent.

In the Third Norfolk District, incumbent State Representative Robert Cerasoli turned back a challenge by John McDuff. The final tally in that race was 74 percent for Cerasoli and 25 percent for McDuff.

Senator Paul Harold, who ran unopposed, topped the ballot in Quincy with 32,089 votes.

As for the state-wide referendum questions, Quincy went with the state trend there as well, giving a resounding "No" to the four questions.

And what could have been looked at as a surprise, voters in the First Norfolk District voted 60 percent to 40 percent in support of a non-binding resolution that posed the question: should the representative from this district vote in favor of restoring commuter rail service from Boston to the South Shore on the so-called "Old Colony" railroad.

The proposal to restore service on the Old Colony Rail had been attacked by several local leaders, including city councillors.

Elected unopposed was Mary Collins of Quincy for Norfolk County Commissioner.

The city's leased parking areas were on a record breaking revenue pace which could total $1 million once the five-year contract expires in the spring, Mayor Francis McCauley announced.

The mayor said the city had collected about $750,000 the past four years. If Kinney, which operates three city parking areas, collects $600,000 this year, Quincy's share would be $250,000 for a grand total of $1 million.

In the past and as well as recently, several city councillors have criticized Kinney's operation, particularly because of the trash and graffiti in the parking areas.

Councillor Stephen McGrath urged a complete review of the Kinney system contract with the city prior to any contract renewal next April.

Christmas sort of came early for some Ward 2 residents when up to 500 real estate tax bills for the first half of 1989 were "lost in the mail."

Residents who had not received their real estate tax bills were asked to call the Tax Collectors office.

The issue of revitalizing downtown Quincy got a new twist when Councillor Stephen McGrath proposed an amendment to an existing plan which he said is "less disruptive" since it was not a large scale rezoning proposal.

Under his proposal, McGrath said each parcel would be judged on its merits. In addition, a special planned unit development (PUD) zone in Quincy Center with specific dimensional requirements would be created.

The plan was offered as an amended version of a revitalization plan introduced earlier by Councillor Timothy Cahill.

Under Cahill's plan, a specific "central business district" would be created in Quincy Square.

In addition, height limitations would increase from 80 to 110 feet for commercial and residential projects but only in the designated zone.

Also included would be the creation of a special permit granting review authority, similar to a board proposed by McGrath.

Both bodies would essentially give the Council more control over the type of structure proposed by a developer.

Two seminars on the topic of causes and prevention of teenage suicide were sponsored by the student council of North Quincy High, Quincy High and Quincy Vocational Technical School through a grant by Dennis Sweeney of the Sweeney Funeral Homes of Quincy.

"The schools were very obliging to the program," Sweeney said. "It was very well-run by the student councils and the students themselves were very open to it. It was well accepted."

It appeared the closed Central Middle School would stay closed until sometime in the spring at the earliest after a two-phase repair schedule devised by Quincy officials and the city's engineering firm was announced.

The repairs included: stabilizing the roof system with some horizontal "ties"; stabilizing the roof beams with bracing; and removing the entire learning center ceiling and balcony.

A decision to open the school will be made once the permanent repairs are made, said School Superintendent

Dr. Robert Ricci.

If all went according to plan, the permanent repair work would probably be completed sometime next spring, Mayor McCauley said.

Newly-elected State Rep. Arthur Stephen Tobin said one of his top priorities is to file a bill that, if passed, would make Quincy residents exempt from any Massachusetts Water Resources Authority rate increases.

Tobin said his plan to file the bill stems, in part, from his concern that significantly higher water bills would burden city residents, especially fixed-income households such as the elderly and low-income people.

Revenue from the higher bills will fund the $6 billion cleanup project of Boston Harbor.

The city and the Quincy Police Department reached a contract agreement which included pay raises for patrolmen and superior officers.

Seven new firefighters to the Quincy Fire Department were sworn in by City Clerk John Gillis at a ceremony in the Mayor's Office.

Red Sox stars of past and present, including Hall of Famers Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr, attended a tribute to former Red Sox player Sam Mele of Quincy at the Neighborhood Club in Quincy.

City officials, neighbors and youths gathered in Germantown to dedicate the Taffrail Road Park and Basketball Court in the memory of Robert "Quackie" Lingo, a well-liked 18 year-old who died tragically this summer.

More than 600 young residents of Germantown petitioned the Quincy Housing Authority to dedicate the park and court in Lingo's memory.

years, was one of 186 people honored by the hospital.

The Quincy High School girls' volleyball team won the state championship by sweeping Bishop Feehan 3-0. The First Ladies, which won the tournament in 1982 and 1984, compiled a 21-2 record this year.

Deaths during November included: Anna M. Sullivan, 71, past commander of the State Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary; Thomas A. Owens, 51, building company owner; G. LeDru Nickerson, 83, theater officer; Paul D. Kane Jr., 84, founded senior citizens group; Frieda C. Dirks, 75, special needs teacher in Quincy; Paul A. LaHive, 71, retired Quincy police captain; Frank A. Kacmar, 72, owned Luongo Shoe Repair; Elsie C. Halonen, 80, Quincy school teacher; John J. Kennedy, 72, Long Island Hospital chauffeur; Florence M. Kennedy, 83, retired Quincy City Hospital nurse; Adolph A. Fabrizio, was on city treasurer's staff; Charles E. McGuigan, 87, former tax collector; and Philomena McCormack, 88, former secretary for the city's retirement board.

December

The project manager for the proposed restoration of the Old Colony Railroad through Quincy by the MBTA ran into some stiff opposition at a three hour public hearing as one state representative, several city councillors and area residents spoke out against the idea.

Project manager Stephen Polechronis gave the MBTA's point of view if the diesel rail service were allowed to run non-stop through Quincy.

Among the issues raised were noise and vibration, traffic, air quality and Red Line service as well as cost and the possibility of transporting freight on the line.

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley, chairman of the council's Public Transportation Committee, led the charge against the proposal.

He was joined by other city councillors, residents and State Representative Robert Cerasoli who shared the sentiment that the restoration would not benefit Quincy and would instead lead to increased traffic and noise pollution.

Only one person, a resident of Norwell, spoke in favor of the plan.

Polechronis, on the other hand, said the restoration would improve traffic and pollution in the city by diverting about 4,000 daily vehicle trips through Quincy.

Because of a legal matter, the Wollaston Fire Station was left without a ladder truck as truck No. 2 was sent out for repairs for three months.

Originally, the Quincy Fire Department had arranged to borrow a ladder truck from the Boston Fire Department as requested by Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien.

However, this arrangement was discarded by Mayor Francis X. McCauley because of a problem with liability.

According to Fire Chief Thomas Gorman, the decision not to borrow a truck from Boston came after he notified the BFD Boston he did not clearly state who would be responsible for the truck in an event of an accident or breakdown, the City of Quincy or the City of Boston.

"It's a matter of who's going to get sued. It's more of a legal thing than anything else," Gorman said, adding he agreed with the mayor's decisions.

Instead of having the holiday spirit, someone or some party with a mean streak vandalized the nativity scene at history Hancock Cemetery by smashing the baby Jesus and a lamb statue.

Ray Cattano, director of the Park and Cemetery Department, said he was "totally disgusted" with the vandals.

The baby Jesus statue, valued at $75, was replaced but the lamb, which cost $125, was not since there were other

North Bows To Peabody

By TOM SULLIVAN

After defeating Arlington for its first win of the season, the North Quincy boys' basketball team suffered through a horrible shooting second half last Thursday as it lost to Peabody, dropping its record to 1-3.

Ted Stevenson's Raiders are in the annual Christmas tournament, at Weymouth South last night (Wednesday) and tonight. They faced Weymouth North last night and tonight will face either the Quincy-Weymouth South winner in the title game at 7:30 or the Quincy-Weymouth South loser in the consolation game at 6. North will host Newton North in its Suburban League opener Tuesday at 5 p.m.

The Raiders led Peabody, 32-31, at halftime but went ice cold in the second half to lose, 63-45.

"We just couldn't put the ball in the basket and scored only 13 points in the second half, including just one basket and five points in the final quarter," said Stevenson. "I don't think we'll have a worse half all season."

Derek Goodson led the North scoring with 15 points and Erik DeBoer added 11. Jeff Calvert played an excellent game at point guard.

Earlier in the week North almost lost a big lead but held on to defeat Arlington, 66-62.

North's front court trio of Kip Caldwell, Mike Ainsley and DeBoer combined for 51 points.

Arlington, behind Matt Frandham's 18 points, closed a 55-41 fourth quarter deficit to two points. It took a steal by Caldwell, who had 19 points and 10 rebounds, and a late basket by DeBoer, who had 15 points and 12 rebounds, to clinch the first victory.

Ainsley had 17 points for the Raiders, who led, 34-29, at halftime.

Quincy Suffers Two Setbacks

The Quincy boys' basketball team, which won its first two games to equal last year's total wins, suffered two setbacks at the hands of Greater Boston League opponents last week as its record fell to 2-2.

John Franceschini's Presidents played in the annual Christmas tournament, this year at Weymouth

South, last night (Wednesday) and tonight. They played host Weymouth South last night and tonight will face either the North Quincy-Weymouth North winner in the championship game at 7:30 or the North Quincy-Weymouth North loser in the consolation game at 6. Quincy will play at Brookline Tuesday at 5 o'clock in its Greater Boston League opener.

Last Thursday night the Presidents lost to Somerville, 62-55, after coming from 16 points behind to take a 51-50 lead with 2:15 left in the game.

Somerville led at the half, 32-23, before Joe Russell and Jody Beauchamp, who scored 14 points apiece, got hot. Russell had three three-pointers during the run.

Mike Perkins scored nine points for the Presidents.

Earlier in the week Quincy lost to Everett, 77-61, despite 18 points each from Perkins and Beauchamp.

Quincy trailed by 10 points at the half and its chances of coming back in the last two quarters were hurt by poor foul shooting.

KEITH EGAN of Quincy, a graduate of Abp. Williams High, recently completed his junior year as a starting defensive tackle for the Norwich University football team. He had 19 solo and 39 assisted tackles while recording 10 tackles for losses and 3.5 quarterback sacks. He is the son of William and Catherine Egan.

North Girls Rebound For Win Over Peabody

The North Quincy girls' basketball team had a bad shooting night and lost to Arlington last week, but rebounded to play its best game of the year and hand Peabody its first loss of the season last Thursday to even its record at 2-2.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes play in the annual Christmas Tournament, this year at Quincy Vo-Tech, last night (Wednesday) and tonight. They faced Weymouth South last night and tonight will play either the Quincy-Weymouth North winner in the championship game at 8 o'clock or the Quincy-Weymouth North loser in the consolation game at 6:30. They will play at Newton North Tuesday at 5 o'clock in their Suburban League opener.

North outscored previously unbeaten Peabody, 20-6, in the second quarter to upset the Tanners, 49-39, paced by Deirdre Murphy, who scored a career-high 23 points, including 10 in the second quarter, and grabbed 16 rebounds.

Trailing by two points after the first quarter, the Raiderettes applied pressure defense to change things around before halftime.

"Everyone played really well, shooting, rebounding and playing great defense," said Bregoli.

Tri-Capt. Paula Tolson had six of her 13 points in the second quarter, but was shaken up at the start of the fourth quarter when Peabody made a run. Tricia Mitton came off the bench to shoot Tolson's free throws and made one to break the momentum and Murphy's six points put Peabody away.

Tri-Captains Debbie Panaro and Kellene Duffy had outstanding defense.

Things were different earlier in the week when North shot only five for 23 from the floor in the second half and Arlington won easily, 50-29.

Murphy had 10 points and 10 rebounds, Tolson had eight points and Panaro seven.

Sports

Quincy Kiwanis Youth Hockey Opens Feb. 20

Quincy Kiwanians are making plans for their 16th annual International Youth Hockey Tournament to be held during school vacation week, Feb. 20-26 at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Rev. Richard Malmquist, tournament chairman, reports that the Division I AHA-sanctioned tourney will feature teams from Bantam, PeeWee, Mite and Squirt divisions. Beverly Reinhardt, manager of the Quincy Youth Arena, has already registered teams from Denver, Colo., New York State, Toronto, Nova Scotia, Maine as well as local teams from Brockton, Burlington, Framingham, Melrose, Medfield, South Boston, Milton, Westwood, Needham and Quincy.

Proceeds of the week-long event are used to support several charitable causes including Scholarships, Camperships, the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Center at the New England Medical Center and the club's Major Emphasis Committee's program of meeting the needs of children in the Quincy Public Schools who are referred by the school guidance counselors.

Quincy Defeats Somerville

The Quincy girls' basketball team snapped a three-game losing streak by defeating Somerville, 42-33, last Thursday for its first win of the season.

Doug MacFarlane's First Ladies played in the annual Christmas tournament, this year on the Quincy court, last night (Wednesday) and tonight. They played Weymouth North last night and tonight will face either the North Quincy-Weymouth South winner in the championship game at 8 o'clock or the North Quincy-Weymouth South loser in the consolation game at 6:30.

Tuesday they will open their Suburban League season at Newton North at 5 o'clock.

Sophomore Chris Barrett scored 10 points and had 10 rebounds to lead Quincy over Somerville.

Maureen Shea had eight points and 11 rebounds and Jennifer Dondero had five steals and four assists to play a prominent role in the season's first win.

Earlier in the week the First Ladies had a bad shooting night and lost to Everett, 64-28.

Quincy shot only 27 percent from the floor as Everett raced out to a huge 37-10 halftime lead.

Barrett and Amy Baker scored six points apiece for the cold-shooting First Ladies.

North Comes Back To Defeat Medford

The North Quincy hockey team rebounded from a frustrating loss to undefeated Malden and defeated Medford last Friday to even its record at 2-2.

Kevin Jago's Raiders played at Peabody Tuesday, will host Revere Friday at 7:50 p.m. at the Youth Arena and will be at Somerville next Wednesday night at 8.

Joe Keegan scored two first-period goals and Sal Manganaro added a third in Friday's 3-1 victory over Medford.

With a 3-1 lead after two periods, defenseman Paul McGrath and Jim McCarthy helped stop the Medford attack to preserve the win.

Jeff McClory had had an outstanding game in goal for the Raiders with 27 saves.

North suffered a very disappointing 7-6 loss to Malden earlier in the week.

Trailing, 4-1, the Raiders scored five unanswered goals to take a 6-4 lead into the final period. However, Malden came back with three goals to pull out the victory.

Manganaro had a hat trick for North and Joe Fasano, Marty Feeney and Mark Kelleher added a goal apiece.

Quincy Drops Pair

The Quincy High hockey team hoped to make Bob Sylvia's 25th anniversary as coach a happy one, but the Presidents have had tough sledding and their record fell to 0-3 with two losses to Greater Boston League opponents last week.

Quincy played Revere Tuesday, will be at Somerville Friday at 5 o'clock and will host Arlington's undefeated powerhouse next Wednesday at 6:40 at the Youth Arena.

Last Friday the Presidents got off to a 3-0 lead but Peabody came back to breeze, 9-3.

Tim Mann, Scott Curtin and Mike Noonan scored to give Quincy a 3-0 lead but Peabody came back with two goals in the first period, added three goals to take a 5-3 lead into the final period, then scored four times.

"It becomes a question of being worn down," said Sylvia. "We got off to good starts in our games but lack the manpower to stay with the other teams. The boys are playing hard and keep giving me 100 percent, but we just don't have enough players on our squad."

Earlier in the week Quincy dropped a 6-2 decision to Medford.

Squirt Bs Win In Double Overtime

Quincy's Squirt B hockey team, sponsored by Cablevision, edged the Seahawks, 5-4, in a thrilling double overtime game Monday in the annual K of C tournament at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Chris Grant had a big day as he had a hat trick, including the winning goal with a minute left in the second overtime period. He was awarded the game puck.

Jimmy Gallagher opened the scoring for Quincy with Grant assisting. Shawn McTomney scored the second goal with John Manning assisting and Grant scored the next three goals.

Gallagher and Tom Moriarty assisted on his first two and Gallagher and Manning had assists on the winning goal.

Molloy Earns Varsity Letter

Mark Molloy of Quincy, a graduate of Boston College High and a freshman at Wesleyan University, earned his first varsity letter in football this past fall.

The son of John and Betty Molloy, Mark was a two-time football letter winner and three-time basketball letter-winner as well as a tri-captain and all-star in basketball at B.C. High. He is a junior varsity basketball player at Wesleyan.

• Track

Brockton Too Much For North Quincy

The North Quincy boys and girls' track teams opened their seasons last week against Brockton, which has two of the top teams in the state.

The North girls lost, 57-29, while the boys were overwhelmed, 79-7.

The North teams will face another Suburban League power, Cambridge Rindge and Latin, next Thursday, Jan. 5, and will send several athletes to the Dartmouth Relays on Jan. 7.

The girls got off on the right foot with a win by Capt. Robin Guilfoyle in the 50-yard dash. Tristen Mastrogiamo placed third in the hurdles. Sherrin Quinteiliani won the mile, Karen Cashman and Amanda Young were 1-2 in the 1000 and the Raiderettes were right in the thick of things.

However, Brockton's experience was too much as Jenn Flynn could only manage a third in the 600, Carol Wirtz third in the 300 and Cashman third in the high jump. Guilfoyle took second in the shot put and Bridget Toland and Joanna Moriarty were 2-3 in the two-mile.

"Many of the young girls were running in their first meet ever and showed a lot of poise and potential," said coach Jeff Hennessy. "After the meet we all felt that by season's end we can run with anybody. Brockton has an upperclass lineup, while we have lots of freshmen and sophomores. It is tough to go against the iron early, but we're not discouraged. I think the kids know what we have here and we'll come together as the season progresses. It is going to be a learning experience."

The boys showed potential as well with the largest indoor track team in history with 49 members.

Ryan Craig took third in the 50, Keith Gott third in the 300 and Brian Barrett third in the two-mile. Brian Mahoney and Hiep Ngo were 2-3 in the high jump. Nearly everyone turned in their best times and distances ever, but it wasn't enough.

"I saw many encouraging signs in this meet," said assistant coach Ken McPhee. "In any other league we have a tough, well-balanced lineup, but in the Suburban League it's tough. You are looking at two of the best teams in Eastern Mass. in Brockton and Cambridge."

Maver Named Coach For Shriners Game

Bill Maver, former all-scholastic end and head coach at Quincy High, who led Acton-Boxboro to the Dual County League championship this fall, has been named one of the coaches of the North squad for the annual Shriners High School All-Star Football Classic on June 16 at Boston College's Memorial Stadium.

The other North coaches are Dennis Murphy of Greater Lowell Regional, Jamie LaMoreaux of Ayer, Bob Connors of Wakefield, Steve Hayden of Pentucket Regional and James Agnetta of Everett.

The South coaches are Bob Lynch of Dedham, Jim Cotter of B.C. High, Ed Winslow of Falmouth, Larry Larocque of Norton, Rene Langevin of Bartlett and Archie Cataldi of Clinton.

In anticipation of the final selection of the 44-player squads by the coaching staffs early in January, nomination forms have been sent to the football coaches in 250 eastern and central Massachusetts high schools.

All proceeds of the 11th all-star game will go directly to the support of the Shriners Burns Institute in Boston and its 21 sister Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children in North America.

Henley Memorial Road Race Jan. 8

The eighth annual Ed Henley Memorial 10K road race, sponsored by the South Shore Striders, will be held Sunday, Jan. 8, at 10 a.m. starting and finishing at Weymouth South High School.

Divisions include male and female 29 and under, 30-39, 40-49, 50 and over, Weymouth student, first place team (five members on race day) and wheelchair.

Entry fee is $6, pre-registration, and $7 post-registration. Checks should be made payable to South Shore Striders and sent to South Shore Striders, P.O. Box 161, East Weymouth, 02189.

Evening Winter Sports Broadcasts On WJDA

Radio Station: WJDA (1300 AM) will begin a 26-game winter sports broadcast next Tuesday, Jan. 3, with the North Quincy-Newton North boys' basketball game.

WJDA began broadcasting evening sports earlier this year and will be covering the home games of Quincy and North Quincy high schools. In addition to the boys' basketball games, the station will broadcast three girls' basketball and eight hockey games.

According to station sales manager/sports director John Nicolson, the winter sports were an exciting part of WJDA's evening broadcasts in 1988. "We look for even more excitement in 1989," he said. Charles Ross will do the play-by-play for both basketball and hockey and Ed Donahue will provide the color.

In addition to the high school games, WJDA is the flagship station of the Beacon Sports Network broadcasts of Harvard University basketball away games.

Women's Gym-Swim Program at Lincoln Hancock

1988 In Review

Task Force Urges Halt To Incinerator

lamb in the scene.

A new gift gimmick for the Christmas season hit the shelves when Ike and Selma Kravitz of Quincy began bottling the now famous Boston Harbor water.

The bottles, filled with "100 percent Authentic, Undiluted, Polluted" brownish-grey murky water, came complete with bits of seaweed and an occasional dead bug.

The product, with a $2.99 price tag for six ounces, was selling at Colman's Sporting Goods in Quincy as well as a store in Wellesley and Boston.

In order to help Quincy homeowners identify possible sources of the harmful radon gas, test kits for the gas and information materials were distributed during the city's flu clinic at the Quincy Vocational Technical School.

The results of the tests were to be compiled by the health department for use in identifying areas in the city with high radon levels and thus begin developing a knowledge base to determine radon preventive measures for homeowners and builders.

Nearly 700 elementary school children and their parents turned out at North Quincy High School to hear Sarah Edwards, co-host of WBZ-TV's "Evening Magazine," discuss some straight talk about drugs.

Unseasonably high temperatures brought out a record number of spectators for the 37th annual Christmas festival parade in Quincy Center as an estimated 350,000 people lined the 2.8 mile parade route.

Joe Morgan, manager of the Eastern Division Champion Boston Red Sox, was the grand marshal.

In the float competition, the Woodward School won best float with their entry, "Christmas is Out of This World."

In THE GAME, Quincy High School earned bragging rights for the year as the Presidents came from behind to defeat North Quincy High, 29-21 before 10,000 spectators Thanksgiving morning.

Quincy's quarterback, Chris Noble threw three touchdowns for 22 for the season and had a hand in everyone of his teams points in the 56th meeting between the schools.

With their victory, Quincy improved its series lead over North, 28-23-5.

Citing the importance of English classes for the city's growing Asian population, Mayor Francis X. McCauley approved funding for the classes for the rest of the fiscal year.

In an effort to help matters concerning alleged civil rights violations of Asians in the city, the North Quincy Human Relations Subcommittee asked Police Chief Francis Finn for a second officer to be assigned in this area.

The subcommittee, as part of the City-wide Quincy Human Relations Committee, requested that another officer work with Civil Rights Officer Sgt. Thomas Casey.

Finn told The Quincy Sun that the "matter is premature" at the time but said he would look into it.

In a letter, the subcommittee stated:

"We wish to make it clear that given the increasing number of incidents involving whites and Asian newcomers, Sgt. Casey's workload exceeds anything appropriate for one person.

"The matter is the Subcommittee's first priority."

After inspecting phase one of the Central Middle School's repairs, School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci announced the chances were better than before that the displaced student body would be allowed to return before the end of the current academic year.

Possible ways for Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree and Weymouth to recycle and compost cooperatively were discussed during a regional meeting sponsored by Quincy's Committee on Recycling held in the Council Chambers of City Hall.

Charles Ryder, owner of Ryder's Curtain and Drapery Shop of Hancock St., was named the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association's member of the year.

The $8.9 million Quincy Police Station project, which was proceeding according to schedule and its budget, has the features that could make it a model facility, said Project Manager and Superintendent of Public Buildings David Colton.

"As a whole, this station brings the Quincy Police Station up to the present and into the future. I think this one will be used as a model for other stations, especially the jail cells," Colton said.

The multi-million dollar project, which began 19 months ago, should be completed next July, he said. Several hundred citizens attended a gala evening at the Neighborhood Club which marked the closing days of the Quincy City Centennial.

Other events coming up were:

Mayor Francis McCauley's mid-term address at City Hall

JOE MORGAN, manager of the Eastern Division Champion Boston Red Sox, was the grand marshal in this year's Quincy Christmas parade.

(Jan. 3).

An official commemorative supplement to be published by The Quincy Sun in conjunction with the city and the Quincy Centennial Committee (Jan. 5).

The official implementation of Quincy's city government, 100 years to the day that Quincy's first mayor, Charles H. Porter took office, (Jan. 7).

Mary Pratt, long-time coach and physical education instructor in the Quincy school system and one of New England's all-time great female athletes, joined her idol, Ted Williams, in the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Mary, one of more than 300 women who played in the All-American Girls Professional Baseball League in the Midwest from 1943 through 1954, was one of the league's 150 players who visited the Hall of Fame for the introduction of the museum's newest exhibit, "Women in Baseball."

Members of the Quincy Environmental Task Force called for a halt to the permit process for a proposed rotary kiln incinerator by Clean Harbors, Inc., near the Quincy-Braintree line, saying more specific and detailed information regarding potential health problems needs to be collected.

Specifically, the task force called for more information pertaining to meteorological effects and air quality in the area near Germantown, Houghs Neck and Quincy Point.

"We firmly believe that this is not the site," said chairman David Smith, who also noted the area is very densely populated.

Just when it was beginning to sound like Christmas in Quincy Square, 15 loud speakers wired along rooftops of Hancock St. businesses that played holiday music for shoppers, were stolen just day after being installed.

Fourteen of them were taken over a weekend period and the last was removed the following Monday evening. Valued at $95 each, the total loss was $1,425.

The tape player was not taken.

However, the holiday sound returned to Quincy Square about a week later when new speakers were installed on the walls of businesses for better service.

The call for a new Thomas Crane Public Library bookmobile was answered as a brand new one, valued at $95,000, rolled into Quincy for service.

A total of 370 food baskets, toys, games, articles of winter clothing as well as shelter and a holiday dinner were donated by several local organizations to many of Quincy's needy families and children as a way to make their holiday season more merry and happy.

The Koch Club, Quincy Lodge of Elks, Salvation Army, Father Bill's Place and many churches, other organizations and residents combined efforts to bring holiday cheer to those less fortunate.

Deaths during December included: Eunice Gilford, 76, former headmistress for the Woodward School for Girls in Quincy; George H. Summerville, 85, retired principal of the former Quincy School in Atlantic; Frank W. Kerwin, 78, former assistant principal at Quincy High School; Joseph C. Pacciorretti, Sr., owned oil company in West Quincy; John B. Walsh, veteran of three wars, Daniel J. Mahoney, 74, retired Quincy Police sergeant; Albert B. Skoglund, 66, retired circulation manager at the Patriot Ledger; and Thomas M. McDonald, 66, past VFW State Commander who was active in charitable causes.

ConCom To Meet Jan. 3

The Quincy Conservation Commission will meet Tuesday, Jan. 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Second Floor Conference Room in the City Hall Annex.

The public is invited to attend.

The meeting will include a hearing concerning a notice of intent filed by Roger and

Deborah Ormon to construct an addition at 234 Rock Island Rd., Quincy.

WEEK OF: December 29

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Ambitious and persevering, you size up a situation and then take positive action. Some say you're plodding, but those in command appreciate your methodical approach. Financial planning is all-important, especially through the first three months of what can be an upbeat year.

AQUARIUS -- January 21 - February 19

Rules have to be more closely followed -- but by the new year you find that it was all worthwhile. A more offbeat approach may help you sort out problems in a relationship.

PISCES -- February 20 - March 20

You may have doubts about a friend's actions, but a light touch is all important. Good week for making resolutions that pertain to overcoming a fear of something or other.

ARIES -- March 21 - April 20

New friend of the opposite sex proves to have more in common than initially suspected. Group ventures are generally favorable, provided each participant's responsibilities are made clear.

TAURUS -- April 21 - May 22

Stalled project comes back to life just as the new year is dawning. Some financial belt-tightening is in order. Children give you a good reason to celebrate.

GEMINI -- May 23 - June 21

Travel features some detours -- but there are discoveries as well. A magnetic personality may enter your environment at this time. Small financial sacrifice is worth the effort.

CANCER -- June 22 - July 22

Be wary of an urge to splurge; the year should begin on a financially prudent note. Friend, meanwhile, is surprisingly generous, especially with his or her time.

LEO -- July 23 - August 22

Personal relationships appear less strained as the old year turns to a new one. Spontaneous travel may be on tap now and the week is generally favorable for planning travel.

VIRGO -- August 23 - September 22

Try to answer outstanding letters before the end of the year, as early 1989 is sure to offer an abundance of distractions. Be careful of what you say and to whom.

LIBRA -- September 23 - October 22

More discipline in various spheres -- notably financial -- is in order at this key time of year. Tend to legal matters diligently. Partner may surprise you with minor rebellious streak.

SCORPIO -- October 23 - November 21

Good week for adding a flourish or two to a project or a party. Weekend cancellation may prove a blessing. There may be some good money news.

SAGITTARIUS -- November 22 - December 22

A recent lull in activities is more than compensated as you tackle interesting projects with a new burst of energy. Don't wait till January to work on improving willpower.

CAPRICORN -- December 23 - January 20

Quincy Hospital Technician 'Scrabble' TV Show Champion

Bob Bradbury, of Braintree, a Baptist minister who works part time as a lab technician at Quincy City Hospital, recently appeared as an undefeated champion on television's "Scrabble" game show.

Bradbury won the maximum of five games and won a total of $27,000, all of which he has donated to a Philippines orphanage.

A friend of Bradbury's, a missionary in the Philippines has long wanted to set up an orphanage in that country, and the donation will allow the project to get underway.

Bradbury has appeared on other game shows, including "Password Plus" and the "25,000 Pyramid" and has donated that money to charity as well.

Central Tied For National First Place In Math Competition

Students in the Advanced

Placement Program at Central Middle School have completed two rounds of the Continental Math League and are tied for first place in the nation.

Three hundred schools, both public and private, are competing in the competition.

Central Middle School students with perfect scores after two rounds are Robert Gorden, Kevin Price and Christie Richmond.

Math instructors in the program include Jean Healy, Edward Steele and Charles Caldwell.

Bank Of New England Collects Over 1000 Gifts For Local Needy

Father Bill's Place Shelter and the Quincy Community Action Organization's Southwest Community Center each received over 500 holiday gifts this Christmas through the efforts of the Bank of New England's Quincy Center office.

According to Gary Cappuccino, Banking Officer for the Quincy Center office, each region of the Bank of New England South chose two charities to benefit from the drive.

"We filled up a whole room," he said, "and we've got half a room left now."

Cappuccino said that Father Bill's Place and the Community Center are being contacted to receive the remainder of the donated gifts.

About Antiques

While it may be difficult to imagine, Gothic style churches of the 14th century had a strong influence on furniture designers. One such designer was Augustus Welby Northmore Pugin, an English architect and designer who worked in the early 1800s. He developed furniture and interior fittings based on Gothic churches. In fact, he created furniture in this style for Windsor Castle. The Gothic Revival, as it was known, carried forward into jewelry, wall-paper, fabrics, metal work, buildings and porcelain.

Pugin died in 1852, but his ideas remained in practice. Today, Gothic Revival Victorian furniture of the 1850s to 1870s is back in vogue. The traditional Gothic arch, pillars and copies of Gothic tracery can be found on tables, cabinets and chairs.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"A new broom sweeps clean," is a phrase often used. It is also a useful tool as we prepare for the ending of the old year and the beginning of the new.

Bad news and tension often leave a residue even after the problem is resolved. Worry and lingering despair are often left behind to gnaw at what should be a new day. So, grab that new broom and sweep out all those bad thoughts and fears. While you're at it, knock down the cobwebs left from personal problems and worries; they only serve to keep you from enjoying the good things which come your way.

Starting the new year with a clean broom does not mean you should forget the old year; it only means that the good things, the ones which are valued and worth saving, will remain. Like the pesky cobweb, you may find those worries creeping back, unless you are ever-watchful and nip them before they get a good hold. A new broom sweeps clean; it also allows us to keep the new year bright and happy.

We at the Deware Funeral Home wish for a new clean-sweeping broom for every home this year; may it give you the freedom to enjoy each day as it comes... HAPPY NEW YEAR ...

ORDERED:

November 21, 1988

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy that the revised ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976 are further amended upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Health. In Chapter 13, Article IV add the following:

Section 55 - Infectious Waste Disposal

INFECTIONOUS WASTE DISPOSAL ORDINANCE

Section 1.

Rationale: A potential public health hazard exists from exposure to improperly disposed infectious waste. Stringent federal and state regulations require that specified methods of infectious waste storage, packaging and disposal be practiced by both the generator and the disposal contractor. At the same time, this geographical area is experiencing diminished landfill capacity, thus promoting incineration as the preferred disposal method. Although incineration is most commonly used by hospitals, the largest quantity generators of infectious waste, problems of incinerator acceptability by the public greatly restrict this disposal method. As a result, disposal costs continue to escalate, particularly for the small quantity generator of infectious waste. All of these factors contribute to the increased potential for the improper disposal of infectious waste.

Section 2.

Legal Significance: Pursuant to Chapter 111, Section 31 of the Massachusetts General Laws, the City of Quincy adopts the following ordinance which is designed to impose strict penalties upon persons and/or entities responsible for any infectious waste which is improperly disposed of within the boundaries of the City of Quincy. This ordinance shall apply to all generators and all disposal contractors affiliated with the disposal of any type of infectious waste.

Section 3.

Definitions:

a) "Infectious Waste" - Waste which because of its infectious characteristics may cause or significantly contribute to an increase in mortality or an increase in serious irreversible or incapacitating reversible illness and which may pose a substantial present or potential hazard to human health or the environment when improperly treated, stored, transported, disposed of or otherwise managed. Infectious waste includes: Isolation wastes, cultures, and stocks of etiologic (disease causing) agents, Blood and blood products, Pathological wastes, Contaminated laboratory wastes, Sharps (syringes, needles, scalpels, etc.), Dialysis Unit waste, Animal and Body parts, Biologicals and Contaminated food and patient-care wastes.

b) "Infectious Waste Generator" - Any person or entity which produces infectious waste. Generators may include: Hospitals, Doctors Offices, Home Health Care Facilities, Health Maintenance Organizations, Teaching Facilities (biology laboratories, etc.), Research and Development Laboratories, Clinics (all types, ie chiropractor, acupuncture, sports medicine etc.) veterinary facilities, nursing homes, funeral homes, dental clinics and offices and a single or group of individuals.

c) "Infectious Waste Disposal Contractor" - Any person or company responsible for the proper and legal disposal of solid waste, including but not limited to hazardous infectious waste. Cleaning contractors responsible for the cleaning and removal of waste from the property of an infectious waste generator shall be considered a disposal contractor for the purposes of this ordinance.

d) "Proper Disposal of Infectious Waste" 1. All infectious waste designated for off-site disposal excluding sharp wastes, shall be placed in non-permeable three (3) mil. polyethylene (or equivalent) bags which are to be securely sealed and placed into a second bag or similar construction which shall also be securely sealed. This sealed double bag shall be placed into a rigid or semi-rigid container and sealed. The container must be labeled according to Department of Transportation regulations. Incineration of any infectious waste so contained in a Type 4 D.E.Q.E. approved incinerator or the landfilling of treated (sterilized) infectious waste similarly contained, and as per D.E.Q.E. (for out of state equivalent) regulations, shall constitute proper disposal.

2. Sharp Wastes, which can include hypodermic needles, syringes, pasteur pipettes, broken glass, Scalpel blades, disposal razors and suture needles, which have come in contact with infectious agents during use in patient care or in laboratories must be rendered unusable and placed in rigid, puncture-resistant containers immediately after use. The containers of sharp waste shall either undergo incineration (in a type 4, D.E.Q.E. - approved incinerator) or be processed by grinding (or another similarly effective method) to eliminate the physical hazard of the sharps and then disposed of in a sanitary landfill approved by D.E.Q.E. (for out of state equivalent). Either method shall constitute proper disposal of Sharp Wastes.

c) "Improper Disposal of Infectious Waste" - Any action or lack of action which causes infectious waste to be disposed in a manner contrary to the definition of proper disposal as specified above.

f) "Responsible Party" - Any person or entity who by definition, is a generator of infectious waste and/or who, by contract, agreement or otherwise, directly or indirectly, arranged for or participated in the improper packaging, improper transport or improper disposal of infectious waste.

Section 4. Implementation: The generator and/or disposal contractor shall make every effort to ensure that infectious waste is packaged and disposed of in the manner specified in these regulations and as per the regulations of the Mass. Department of Public Health and the Mass. Department of Environmental Quality Engineering. Persons or entities responsible for the transport of infectious waste shall adhere to the appropriate U.S. Department of Transportation and Mass. Department of Public Works regulations regarding transportation of infectious waste on state and Interstate Highways.

Failure by a responsible party, to properly dispose of infectious waste shall constitute a violation of this ordinance and as such shall be subject to penalties and/or fines.

Section 5. Penalties and Fines

The responsible party or parties shall be held liable for the costs of emergency clean-up and proper disposal of infectious waste found to be improperly disposed in the City of Quincy.

The responsible party or parties shall be assessed a fine not to exceed $200.00 for each separate offense of the improper disposal of infectious waste. Each individual article of infectious waste shall be deemed a separate offense and fined as such.

The Commissioner of Public Health, or any agent of the Health Department may, in their discretion, dispose of any violation in a manner provided by M.G.L. Chapter 40, Section 21D.

Section 6. Severability: If any section, paragraph, sentence, clause, phrase or word of this ordinance shall be declared invalid for any reason whatsoever, that decision shall not affect any other portion of these regulations.

Section 7. Effective Date: This regulation shall take effect thirty (30) days after final approval of this ordinance.

Preble To Run For School Committee

Long time Hough's Neck resident Mike Preble announces he will run for the Quincy School Committee in 1989.

Preble, a 1984 graduate of Quincy High School, said he will take his campaign to the street in the spring.

"I feel that this is the best way to reach the voters and concerned residents of Quincy," Preble said.

"I believe that there are some problems with the education system in the city, and the only way to correct the problem is from the top."

Although Preble concedes that the problems have been going on for some time, he believes that the current School Committee has been ineffective in their handling of the problems.

Preble has been a community activist since his return to the area after a short stint in the U.S. Army. He currently serves on the Executive Board of the Hough's Neck Community Council, and also is a member of the Quincy Citizens Association.

"I plan to bring my enthusiasm, ideas, and most importantly my integrity to the School Committee. I hope to make quality education a reality for the children of Quincy. I will be an advocate for the Children of the city," Preble said.

Preble said there are many issues in the city at this time and he plans to make the citizens of the city aware of these delicate issues. Preble said he supports more money in the school budget, a preventive maintenance program set up to avoid another near catastrophe like the one at Central. Preble also supports a better discipline plan than the one that is on the books now.

"We have to find more ways to keep the children in the school system and not more ways to get rid of them," Preble said.

"I hope to meet as many of the residents of Quincy that I can before the election, so that you the people can tell me what you want and what you feel a School Committee Member should be and do."

43 Taxpayers On State Refund List

Forty-three Quincy residents are among more than 3,000 state taxpayers who are entitled to refund checks totaling $539,820 from the Massachusetts Department of Revenue.

According to Commissioner of Revenue Stephen Kidder, "All these people had their refund checks returned to us by the Post Office as undeliverable."

"These refunds range from $1 all the way up to $40,000, with the average amount coming in at $175," Kidder pointed out, adding that taxpayer confidentiality prohibits DOR releasing the amount of an individual refund to anyone other than the taxpayer.

Taxpayers who see their name can call their nearest DOR office to claim their money or 1-800-392-6089.
